IN THE DOMESTIC GOODS DEPT.

We are still selling a lot of the standard 64 square Indigo Blue Dress Print at 3½c per yard. The wholesale price of these has advanced to 4½c per yard, but our stock was bought before the rise, we have lots of them and so we can and do sell them at, per yard..... 3½c

Our new Sea Island and White Star Percales are the best in the land, both as regards style and price, and the styles do their own talking. Our price is, per yard..... 10c

Those new Dress Gingham that we are selling at 53 a yard are ahead of anything in this town for the price—and there are hundreds of styles to select from.

IN THE JACKET AND SUIT DEPARTMENT.

We are not letting any grass grow under our feet, that is, we are doing quite an active business in the Jacket department, and we have to, as we contemplate a radical change in this department and have to get the big end of the stock sold before the season is very far advanced. We need the room and are making prices as attractive as the styles. Our Jackets, Capes and Suits for ladies and misses are down-to-date both in styles and prices, and we invite your special attention to this department at

GERMANS A CAULDRON

ALL SORTS OF PUBLIC MATTERS ARE ON THE FIRE AND RESULTS BEING ANTICIPATED

AMERICA THE LEADING THEME

Evident Anxiety on the Part of the Germans for a Friendly Understanding With the United States Samoan Question Is Discussed Dispassionately in Berlin Press—Philippines Situation Summed Up.

Copyright by the Associated Press. BERLIN, April 22.—The meat inspection bill, in the reichstag, and the midland canal bill, in the diet, have engrossed the attention this week throughout Germany. The Agrarians and reactionaries oppose both measures, and the ultimate fate of the bills will be interpreted as evidence of the fighting strength of the parties.

The midland bill occupied more time in the diet than did the meat inspection bill in the reichstag, the first reading of the latter requiring two days, while the former took five days. Both bills have gone to special committees, where they will probably be much altered, possibly more than acceptable to the government, in which case they may be withdrawn.

The ranks of the opponents of the canal bill were strengthened this week by the accession of Baron von Stum, also called the "coal king," and former bosom friend of Emperor William, a fact which is much commented upon in view of his majesty's predilections. The government thus far does not fear the entire failure of either measure.

The correspondent here of the Associated Press learns from the best sources that while the state department at Washington has from time to time instructed the United States embassy to present American view of the differences, which have arisen on the subject of the "most favored nation" clause in the commercial treaties, formal instructions have not been received at the Berlin embassy looking to the negotiations for an entirely new reciprocity treaty.

The excitement over the Samoan situation has almost died out, and the general expectation is that all the points at variance will now be amicably and fairly adjusted by the special committee. Some of the leading papers, in their desire for fairness, even their communications from members of the British mission at Samoa, controverting some of the statements of Dr. Raffel, the German president of the municipal council at Apia, regarding the relations of Tanu and Chief Justice Chambers with the missionaries. The Vossische Zeitung, referring to the utterances of Dr. Lohr in presenting the Samoan interpretation in the reichstag, said:

"It clearly seems there is also a jingo element in German politics." "The Alle Deutsche Verband made a weak demonstration by passing a resolution to the effect that its members expected the minister for foreign affairs, Baron von Bülow, to stick to his declarations, and see that 'neither Germany's treaty rights nor the national honor are in any way sacrificed at Samoa.'"

GERMANS IN AMERICA.

The demonstration of the German-Americans in Chicago against an American-British alliance is discussed in the press, even the semi-official organs devoting considerable space to the matter. In one of several editorial utterances the Post said:

"The direction of American policy will not be influenced thereby, even if a small minority makes conflict of their hearts the subject of a political discussion. If the Americans consider their interests require an alliance with Great Britain, they will surely not be hindered therein if the citizens of German extraction should before their eyes the dangers of war with Germany, and therefore appeal to their adopted country not to put them in a situation where they would be obliged to fight their fathersland. The result, so far as the German-Americans are concerned, would only be an intensification of the bitter feeling of belonging at the same time to two countries, while the American politician, cynically looking down upon this mixture of patriotism, heart and intellect, reflects on 'whether it will pay to catch the Dutch vote.'"

Another editorial in the Post says it is hoped the movement of the German-Americans may show the Americans that the two countries ought to be and might be friends, referring to the late articles of Senator Davis and others to the same purport.

"The discussion of the Duke of Connaught's succession, several of the Coburg and Gotha and some comments are quite radical. The Cologne Gazette says quite bluntly that 'the people will not view the matter with any sympathy, as a person of another race and speaking another language, no matter how excellent in his private capacity, ought not to sit on a German throne.' A number of other papers speak in the same vein. The National Liberal Correspondence, and the Deutsche Zeitung, replying to statements in the British press, declare it to be 'an undesirable anomaly which ought to be speedily corrected, that a man belonging to a country which recently talked warlike and fiercely against Germany should, as one of the German rulers, be put in possession of all the secrets of the defense of the country.'"

The press generally is friendly and calm in its comments on events in the Philippines, several of the leading papers expressing confidence that America can energy and pluck will soon restore complete order in the new colonies.

FAIR OF THE EMPEROR.

Emperor William this week indulged in his favorite pastime of alarming the Berlin press, a proceeding which, as every man and officer, no matter how engaged, to hurry in full field equipment to the Templehof, where the usual manoeuvres are carried out in the presence of his majesty. With remarkable speed and exactness the whole corps was divided into a west and east force for the purpose of a sham battle. In his majesty's suite were a number of French officers who are now stopping in Berlin, to whom he showed much courtesy, inviting them to lunch.

The approach of May 1 again brings up the question of Labor day. The Vorwärts strongly favor the celebration of what it calls the "world's labor holiday," but abetted by the press, and the cessation of work. The other socialist organs boldly insist upon a holiday, and a number of employers have already decided to grant a holiday, owing to the favorable position of industry and the labor market this year.

It is reported in commercial circles here that the Hamburg-American line has awarded a Philadelphia firm a contract for the construction of two of its new liners.

In a long American correspondence printed in the Tageblatt on the subject of the Philadelphia export exhibition and the large German co-operation foreshadowed editorially the Tageblatt says:

"The Americans are quite convinced that in order to play the leading role in the world they must first conquer the lion's share of the market, and the way thereto seems to run via Philadelphia." Emperor William will visit Urville on May 5, where the empress has preceded him. His majesty will stay there for a week.

FATE OF MRS. GEORGE

IT WILL SOON BE IN THE HANDS OF THE JURY THAT HAS LISTENED TO TESTIMONY

ARGUMENTS NEXT IN ORDER.

Defense Closed Its Case Saturday and the Court Adjourned Till Monday — Efforts to Introduce Testimony to Show That the Prisoner's Character Was Not of the Best Checkmated by the Judge.

CANTON, O., April 22.—The jury has heard all of the evidence for and against Mrs. Annie A. George, on trial for the murder of George D. Saxton. The last testimony was given at 2:33 this afternoon, when the state closed in rebuttal. At that hour court adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when arguments in the case will begin. These arguments, it is anticipated, will occupy all of Monday and Tuesday's sessions, and possibly extend into Wednesday morning's session. They will be followed by the charge of the judge, and the case will probably be with the jury some time Wednesday afternoon.

The court will not limit the arguments, it is now understood, but an agreement will probably be reached by the attorneys at the Monday morning opening, as to what time will be occupied. The state will open and close, the two attorneys for

HUMOR CURE

For All Who Suffer from Skin and Scalp Humors.

To successfully treat torturing and disfiguring humors of the blood, skin, and scalp, with loss of hair, requires a humor cure, and such is CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor expelling remedies.

Cuticura Resolvent

Extends its purifying influence by means of the pores to the surface of the skin, allaying irritation, inflammation, itching and burning, and soothing and healing external humors, because of its power to neutralize HUMOR-GERMS which float in the blood and circulating fluids. Hence its success in the treatment of distressing humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, which fail to be permanently cured by external remedies alone.

Cuticura Resolvent

Exerts a gentle but constant influence upon the bowels, liver, and kidneys, purifying the fluids of these organs, and maintaining them in a normal condition of health, thus removing a common cause of yellow, mothy, greasy skin, and more or less of pimples, blotches, and blackheads.

Cuticura Resolvent

Used on every occasion possible, with CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, externally, is the readiest means of insuring a speedy, permanent, and economical cure, and realizing that greatest of human blessings, "a skin without blemish and a body nourished with pure blood."

the accused speaking between the two attorneys for the state.

The court put a very close limit on the evidence in rebuttal. Most of the proffered evidence was in regard to Mrs. George's conduct in regard to men other than Saxton. Among this was an affidavit she signed while in South Dakota, declaring that her separation from her former husband was not due to Saxton's solicitation, but because of the former husband's cruelty. Also two letters identified as being in her handwriting, from the same place, at about the same time, to a Canton business man other than Saxton, in which she sought appointments with him on her return to Canton, before meeting Saxton. There were also a number of witnesses on hand testified in regard to troubles between the accused and her former husband, and to alleged improper relations with other men, all of this was barred.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

Only one important question was asked Dr. Walker at the afternoon session, and he vacated the stand in favor of Mrs. Nettie McAllister, to whom Mrs. George had told her life story in connection with a number of threats against Saxton's life. This witness was recalled to tell of Mrs. George's relations towards other men in 1896, when the accused pretended to be preparing for her marriage to Saxton. Excluded on objections by the defense were Whelling, who lived in the Saxton block, in 1887, when Mrs. George and her husband lived there, was called to testify in regard to quarrels between husband and wife, and Mrs. George's relations to other men. This was also barred.

Two letters identified as having been addressed and signed by Mrs. George while in South Dakota were excluded on account of an insufficient identification. Testimony tending to show illicit relations between Florence B. Kilinger and the accused, the alibi witnesses, was excluded.

William H. Little was prevented from testifying that Saxton offered no resistance to officers seeking to replenish goods in the Saxton block on the morning brought by Mrs. George, and that his only opposition was to Mrs. George going into the room. This was one of the appraisers in that case.

A map of the city, offered to aid the jurors in routes described in testimony, was excluded.

The court reversed the decision of the morning about tracing Mrs. George to the afternoon, and allowed witnesses to locate her at the supper table at the time Mrs. Lindeman swore she was at (Mrs. Lindeman's house). These witnesses were S. A. Kirk, proprietor, and Miss Mauder and Miss Hug, waitresses at that restaurant at the time, who swore positively that Mrs. George was in the restaurant at 4:40 or 4:45 o'clock the afternoon preceding Saxton's death, and that she remained there until a few minutes after 5.

This concluded the testimony in rebuttal and the defense offered none in sub-rebuttal.

Court then, at 3:33, adjourned to 10 a. m. Monday, when arguments will begin.

The London Times Complimentary. England's greatest newspaper, the London Times, in its issue of the 19th inst., in a recent issue to American railroads, has awarded a Philadelphia firm a contract for the construction of two of its new liners.

HE TOLD THE TRUTH

SO SAYS CAPT. COGHLAN, OF THE RALEIGH, OF HIS UNION LEAGUE UTTERANCES

NAGGED ALMOST TO DEATH

But for the Coolness and Patience of Admiral Dewey There Would Have Been War With Germany—Startling Statements Made by the Raleigh's Commander to the New York Army and Navy Club.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Army and Navy club gave a reception to Capt. Coghlan and the officers of the United States cruiser Raleigh, at the club house, tonight. Capt. Coghlan made a speech in which he reiterated what he had said before the Union League club on Friday night. He said in part:

"I feel inclined to say only a few words this evening, because what I said last night was taken umbrage at by some one at Washington who protested at what I said. What I did say last night was true, and what I did say will say again. (Great applause.) I said it because I felt it. I am certain that we all felt that we were being nagged to death. There is such a thing as being nagged to death, and I am ready for them. I had read a great deal in the newspapers of what occurred at various places in the Philippines, and I thought the newspapers had not placed that grand old man, Admiral Dewey, in the proper light, and that is the reason I thought I was justified in placing him in the proper light.

UNPLEASANT TRUTHS.

Utterances of Capt. Coghlan Evoke Widespread Comment. WASHINGTON, April 22.—The German ambassador, Dr. Von Hellebrand, called on Secretary Hay today, which led to reports that attention of the state department had been called to the remarks of Capt. Coghlan, of the cruiser Raleigh, at a New York banquet last night, relating his personal observations of a rebel and threat administered by Admiral Dewey to the German naval commander at Manila. It was stated positively, however, that no protest or representations were made, as it is understood to be the view in German quarters that this is a matter which the authorities here should be left to take the initiative. At the same time it is known that Capt. Coghlan's remarks cause considerable displeasure in high diplomatic and naval quarters, mainly, because they are contrary to the policy which the two governments have adopted, of giving as little public expression as possible to the friction which may have occurred at Manila. In naval quarters there is a disposition to regard Capt. Coghlan's statement as giving some rather ugly truths which have heretofore been glossed over on grounds of public policy. The responsible naval officials have, however, shared the policy of minimizing the frictions at Manila, but in the present case, owing to Capt. Coghlan's splendid services, they are not disposed stopped, and they never moved a hair afterward."

"I did think at one time we were that close to killing them (Great applause.) One word, one act would have done it." Here Capt. Coghlan stopped and was about to cease altogether when the audience cried: "Go on, go on." "I do not care to go on and repeat what I said last night, although I am willing to do it, because I do not want the unenviable reputation of being a one-speech man. I would place our admiral and our officers in the right light. We were all able and more than ready to uphold the honor of our country and stand by our admiral.

"No matter what the difficulty was, there was no man in the country more able to meet it than our gallant admiral (A voice, 'He's a Jim-dandy.') You're right. He's a Jim-dandy." No matter what the occasion or what the difficulty might be he always rose superior to it. No matter what his duty he made no mistake. We at home may make mistakes in telling about it, but he who was on the spot committed no error."

BERLIN, April 22.—Letters recording the excellent relations now prevailing between the Germans and Americans in the Philippines have reached here from official quarters. Prince Henry of Prussia, it appears, wrote to Admiral Dewey, "pleasantly and conciliatory," and when the Irene returned from Iloilo Admiral Dewey placed them at the disposal of the Kaiser's Augustus, received American meat, ice and coal. At Hong Kong, it is added, the Monterey and Baltimore crews associated cordially with those of the German ships. A number of similar instances are mentioned.

SALOON MEN WIN.

Cases in St. Louis Court for Sunday Violation Are Quashed. ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 22.—About two hundred saloonkeepers who have been indicted during the past two months, keeping open on Sunday, won the first battle today. Judge Clark, in the court of criminal correction, announced that he had decided to sustain the motion of the defense to quash. All the cases were then thrown off the docket, and the saloonkeepers superior to the higher courts.

$100.00 a Month and Expenses This Summer.

Trustworthy men and women who are honest and industrious should write and engage with The World Mfg. Co., 455 World Bldg., a reliable firm and one of the largest concerns in Cincinnati, Ohio, who offer splendid inducements to sell their Quaker Brand Toilet Soap. Experience not necessary, for the firm furnish everything and teach you the business. This is a splendid chance to make money and the books of this company prove that they paid their agents for last month's work $46,840.00. The demand for this remarkable Quaker Brand Soap is something enormous, as there are millions of families all over this country who have no bathing facilities. Those who have bath tubs have discarded them since the invention of this Soap, for it opens the millions of pores all over the body, steams out the poisons that cause itching and gives the most refreshing, invigorating Turkish, hot air, and hot vapor baths at home for three cents each. It is a regular hot cleaner and system purifier known, far superior to poisonous drugs, saraparilla, tonics, etc. It is a regular hot springs at your home, and not only cures the most obstinate diseases, but also kills the germs, eradicates them from the system and prevents disease. A good position is offered to those who mention the St. Paul Globe and write them at once, giving age, references and experience.
