REPORTED RAVAGES OF A FIERCE STORM IN SECTIONS OF SOUTHERN OKLAHOMA

SIXTEEN BUILDINGS WRECKED

Many Injured Persons Taken From the Ruins, and One Death Reported at Chickasaw—Three Lives Lost in a Storm Cave in Canton Township—Houses in the Path of the Storm Blown to Pieces.

SHERIFF IS ARRESTED

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE RIOT SITUATION AT WARDNER, IDAHO

STATE OFFICIALS DETERMINED Will Punish Those Who Incited as Well as Those Who Engaged in the Riot—Commissioner Boyle Refuses to Resign, and is Also Placed Under Arrest—Gen. Merriam Reports Progress to Washington.

WICHITA, Kan., May 6.—Meager reports reach here of a terrific wind storm that caused great destruction at several points in Southern Oklahoma. The most serious damage is reported at Chickasaw, Tongaw and Anadark. The storm struck Chickasaw at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and destroyed that part of the town north of the Rock Island railroad shops. Sixteen buildings were blown down, and the roof was torn from the railroad roundhouse.

Sixteen injured persons had been taken from the wrecks up to 6 o'clock, but only one death had been reported. J. H. Murray, a railroad man, was dead when taken from the wreck of a building.

Rumors of greater loss of life are heard, but cannot be confirmed. There is only one telegraph wire out of Chickasaw and there is little chance of getting a list of the injured tonight.

The storm came from the southwest, preceded by a heavy hail, and followed by a flood of rain. The path of the storm was right down Chickasaw avenue, the main street of the town, and nearly every building on the street was either wrecked or unroofed, and the contents exposed to the rain.

A dispatch received in Wichita from Tongaw says that in Canton township eighteen miles west, great damage was done by the tornado. The family of J. H. Ware took refuge in a storm cave which became so heavy from the constant rain that it fell in, killing three members of the family. The house of J. H. Teunel and S. H. Saunders were blown to pieces, and Teunel was badly injured.

Of the damage at Anadark nothing definite can be learned. The Rock Island extension up the Canadian valley to Anadark is reported to have been cut in three places and traffic is blocked.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 6.—A correspondent from Guthrie, O. T., writes that nothing is known there of any tornado in the territory. The railroads entering from Guthrie have received no reports of any serious damage.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The war department has received the following dispatch from Gen. Merriam, dated May 5: "Wardner, Idaho, Adjutant General, Washington. Three hundred and fifty arrests have been made so far; prisoners taken from Gen. Merriam's camp, and are being investigated. Understand the governor of Montana will surrender fugitives escaping over the mountain trails. I will furnish force to Idaho sheriff to secure them."

KEPT PRISONER

In a Tree by a Bear Until He Was Badly Frozen.

Peter Steinholtz nearly froze to death the other day in a tree, up which he had climbed to escape from a black bear. He was chopping wood on Diagram run, in the western part of Potter county. His lunch basket was about a stone's throw away from the log on which he was working. He had left part of his dinner untouched. Toward evening his attention was attracted by a growling. A good-sized bear had found the basket and was trying to force the lid off. Steinholtz started for the bear, thinking that the animal would scamper away. But instead of running away Bruin started for him. With his axe raised Steinholtz waited, and when the bear came within reach struck at the bear. But the bear was too quick. Steinholtz saw that his only chance of escape was to climb a tree. He managed to climb up a small white oak, resting in the first limb about twelve feet above ground. The bear tried hard to follow, but his short, clumsy legs could not embrace the slender trunk, so he finally contented himself with traveling round and round the tree, constantly keeping his eye fixed on the captive Steinholtz. Finally Steinholtz lost consciousness, and when he came to he had fallen from the tree; it was dark, but he was able to get to his feet, and he was rescued by a woodchopper hobbled off home. Both feet and both hands were frozen.

POT OF GOLD

Found Where It Had Been So Long That the Coins Were Caked In.

B. A. Dorsey, a hand on the farm of Mrs. Ellen Hardman, on the Old Town road, near Mayfield, a suburb of Cumberland, and within 300 yards of the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, plowed up an iron pot containing about $1,000 in gold. The gold was covered by a stone slab. The gold, from being buried so long, had caked into two pieces, each about the size of a quart cup. Dorsey has the gold in his possession, which has been loosened in, and shined piece of various denominations have been picked out. The gold was found near the house, under a plum tree, in ground that had not been plowed for some years. The farm is known as the Anderson farm, having been owned as far back as 1849 by James Anderson. Tradition has it that a man named Scott, said to be at that time the richest person in Cumberland, after collecting his rents would, in company with his negro servants, carry his money out by way of Devil's Hollow and bury it.

Straw Horseshoes.

In Japan most of the horses are shod with straw. Even the harnesses of cart horses wear straw shoes, which, in their cases, are tied around the ankle with straw rope, and are made of the ordinary rice straw, braided so as to form a sole for the foot about half an inch thick. These shoes cost about one cent a pair.

"MYSELF UND GOTT."

The poem published for the first time in this country.

MONTREAL, May 4.—The now famous poem which was published in the New York Herald some few months ago, and which was recited by Capt. Coghlan during his famous speech, was written under peculiar circumstances in this city, in October, 1887. The poem as it was in the original consisted of thirteen verses, not eight, as published throughout the world by the "Lakers" in this city.

The occasion upon which the poem was written was the Emperor William's speech upon the divine right of kings in the Reichstag, which was held at that time A. R. M. Gordon, a Scotchman by birth, and whose real name was A. McGregor Rose, was a member of the British House of Commons. He had been in the habit of writing verses upon different subjects, and was looked upon as a very bright fellow indeed, the city editor, turned to him, and said: "Give us a poem, Gordon, on the emperor."

In less than an hour's time he turned thirteen verses, which were entitled "Myself und Gott," in honor of the Kaiser. The matter was sent up to the printer just as it was written, and by some mistake the foreman of the composing room omitted eight verses in type, leaving the other five verses and the galley. The paper went to press, and Gordon, who was particular about his work, noticed the error, got one of the first copies of the proof, got one saw the mistake, and the form was recast, not, however, before a few hundred copies had been sent into the world, and the foreign mails had been sent. He only eight verses were copied in the papers which printed the poem at the time. The original edition it was given in full by A. R. M. Gordon in this city. Here is the poem in its original form:

Der Kaiser of his Fatherland
Und ich, ein Mann auf Erden,
Vile some men sing der power divine,
Mein Soldaten sing "Der Wacht," am
Und dank der health in a Rheinisch vein
Of Me und Gott.

COMPROMISE REJECTED.

The proposition was to the effect that the state board of mediation and arbitration should be asked to arbitrate the matter between the men and the contractors. Mr. Connors said he would do anything that was fair, but that he would refuse to abandon his contract in compliance with the request of the strikers.

At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon the committee announced that an agreement had been reached, but declined to give and inform the strikers of the details. At that time 2,000 of the men had assembled at their hall. The proposition was carried to the hall by the representatives of the labor interests, and was submitted first to President McMahon, of the new grain shovellers' union.
