OPINION POISON DID IT

CAUSE OF THE DEATH OF THOMAS P. O'BRIEN AT THE PITTSBURG

HIS IDENTITY IS UNCERTAIN

Had a Number of Tallow Marks on His Body—On His Breast Were the Words "Tom and Martha"—Police Trying to Find Out Who the Man in Who Took the Deceased to the Hotel.

Mystery still surrounds the death of Thomas P. O'Brien, the stranger who was found dead at the Pittsburgh hotel, Sunday afternoon. An autopsy, conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner Nelson and Dr. Finnel, showed that O'Brien died from opium poisoning. As O'Brien is said to have been a habitual user of morphine it is believed that he accidentally took an overdose of the drug. The police are endeavoring to ascertain something about O'Brien's history, but up to date have learned very little about him.

It is believed that O'Brien formerly lived in Chicago, as he registered from this place. He talked little about himself at the hotel, and no one seems to know who his relatives are, if he has any, or where his home was. As yet the police have been unable to learn who the person was that took O'Brien to the hotel early Sunday morning. At this time the night clerk says O'Brien appeared to have been drunk before leaving the hotel, however, O'Brien borrowed a dollar from the proprietor, and informed the proprietor that he was going out to "hit the pipe." The stranger, who took O'Brien to the hotel, said he found the man near Eighth and Broadway streets. The fact that a Chinaman conducting a laundry in this locality, has several times been arrested for conducting an opium joint, leads to the belief that O'Brien may have been suffering from the effects of too much "dope," rather than from an indulgence in liquor. In his room was found several morphine capsules, such as users of the drug take. It is a question whether O'Brien died from too vigorously "hitting the pipe" or took an overdose of morphine after returning to the hotel. There seems to be no indication as to whether O'Brien had no money nor jewelry when he left the hotel.

His methods of living had led the police to believe that he had reasons for suffering from his habit of indulging in the reticence he observed concerning himself. He had no regular employment, but always had money enough to pay for his habits. He spent much of the daytime at the hotel, and was frequently absent until late hours at night. Nothing was found in the dead man's room to throw any light upon his identity. On an envelope was found the address of Loren Lively, Morrison, Ill., while a collar bore the initials J. W. F.

The autopsy yesterday a number of marks were found on the body, identification of the dead man, was found upon the body. On the breast were the names "Tom and Martha," surrounded by fanciful ornamentation. On the left hand was tattooed a ship, with four sails spread. On the right arm there is the head of a sailor, a star and an anchor. It is believed that O'Brien may have been at some time a sailor.

Detective Campbell is working on the case, and if any facts develop warranting an inquest Coroner Nelson will conduct a fuller investigation.

MEETING THE PAYMENTS.

State Auditor Says Farmers Are Able to Pay What is Due.

State Auditor Dunn returned yesterday from Mills Lake and Sherburne counties, where he held state land sales last week. "Not 5 per cent of the farmers holding state land failed to pay up on their delinquent interest," said Mr. Dunn yesterday, "and I believe Mills Lake and Sherburne counties are a good indication of the best of the rest of the state. There is no doubt that the next school apportionment will be the largest ever made in this state. Our returns from the payment of past due taxes on state land certificates will bring a very large revenue into the state, and the June settlement of taxes promises to be the largest made in some years."

PROCEEDINGS IN COURT

NINE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS, WITH THREE REVERSALS, HANDED DOWN

LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDER

Ruling as to What Is Not a Proper Counter Claim in an Action by a Judgment Creditor—The Street Railway Wins on an Appeal in the Albert N. Watson Damage Suit.

Judge Collins, of the supreme court, yesterday handed down nine decisions, reversing in three cases the findings of the lower courts. The first case is that of a stockholder for the debts of an insolvent corporation. The supreme court un-derstands an interesting controversy in which the stockholders set up a counter claim against the corporation. The syllabus is as follows:

Joseph C. Helm, respondent, vs. The Smith-Pee Company in its corporate capacity, and Watson S. Moore, appellant. Syllabus—1. A claim against an insolvent corporation by a stockholder is not a proper counter claim in an action brought by a judgment creditor under the provisions of section 1894, ch. 76, to enforce the stockholder's liability. Such a claim should be presented by petition or complaint filed in the original action.

2. When a claim against an insolvent is filed as above set forth all of the investigations therewith connected are to be taken as settled and must be proved unless expressly resented by a petition or complaint in the original action. No answer or reply to such a petition or complaint is necessary.

3. The case of the Northwestern Telephone company vs. the Milwaukee Railroad company is of special interest because it declares that telephone companies are not subject to the same rights of eminent domain as the latter. In this case, however, the railroad company, through its agent, the Milwaukee telephone company of its right of way in Martin and Jackson counties.

The judgment of the lower court in favor of the telephone company is reversed. The case of the Northwestern Telephone company vs. the Milwaukee Railroad company is of special interest because it declares that telephone companies are not subject to the same rights of eminent domain as the latter. In this case, however, the railroad company, through its agent, the Milwaukee telephone company of its right of way in Martin and Jackson counties.

LABOR'S FIELD

Leather Workers' Union No. 19

Leather Workers' Union No. 19 nearly equalled the carpenters last night a number of members initiated. The number taken in was twenty-three, as follows: Frank Zschacke, J. A. Mungler, Leslie A. Gosa, C. M. Bush, E. W. Drake, H. Davis, F. C. Schott, Nat. B. Beucs, James McNeil, E. Schoemaker, P. J. Pederson, H. W. Whitmarsh, H. H. Hochkirch, William Normanville, J. E. Kugler, H. A. Bring, H. A. Metzger, H. J. Metzger, A. L. Muggles, E. H. Ellis, William Cropp, Thomas Penath and R. Ball. A committee from the Minneapolis leather workers' union was present to confer with Jacob Hittel, Ed. O'Connor, William Reinhardt, T. J. Metzger, Frank Zschacke, C. E. Hansley and C. W. Wood, the St. Paul committee, to make arrangements for a joint picnic. The date chosen was June 17. The committee on ball arrangements, which affair was voted on April 18, reported no proceeds at $75.50. Total receipts of the evening, $124.65; expenses, $1.

Plans for Debs' Coming.

J. F. Krieger, C. Guiney, William Brown, E. Lott, S. Cushman, Chas. Hillman and J. A. McDaniel are the sub-committee appointed by the trades and labor assembly to secure a hall for the lecture of Eugene V. Debs, on June 25. At a meeting last evening no quorum materialized. The next meeting is this evening, but it is understood that the Grand opera house will be the place for the lecture. A very reasonable offer has been made by Manager Hays.

Machinists' Union.

Machinists' Union No. 112 held its regular meeting last evening in Odd Fellows' hall, Washburn and Fifth streets. Routine business was transacted and reports from shops received.

Meetings Tonight.

Carpenters' union and plumbers' union will hold their regular meetings this evening at Assembly rooms, corner Washburn and Third streets.

ST. PAUL ELKS VISIT TO FARGO

THEY INITIATED A CLASS OF TWENTY-THREE INTO THE ORDER

And Supplemented the Work With a High-Class Programme—What the Argus Said About the Visitors From This City.

The St. Paul Elks who went to Fargo Saturday night returned yesterday. The Sunday Argus of that city had the following account of their visit:

"Yesterday night a party of twenty-three members of the Elks who were present at the initiation of the class of candidates, which numbered twenty-three, and the festivities which followed.

"Among the many out-of-town members of the Elks who were present were the following officers and members of the St. Paul lodge of Elks: Exalted Leading Knight J. H. Mitchell, Exalted Loyal Knight J. P. Healey, Exalted Lecturing Knight A. W. Johnson, Lew Wilkes, the well known, jovial general manager for the Northwest of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York; Al Flournoy, the well known comedian; J. H. Dickory, Pat Scanlon and H. P. Hall, the well known writer and publisher. These gentlemen are a part of the minstrel troupe which will play at the Fargo opera house. To say that their play was excellent is to be mildly indeed. It was out of sight, big, tremendous, laughable and extremely funny.

"The Elks' full orchestra was in attendance and while the boys and their friends were enjoying the spread furnished by the only George Pirie, sweet and lively music was furnished that would have pleased the hearts of the gods of Elysium.

"After lunch the minstrel fled upon the stage, under the management of Mr. Lew Wilkes, with Al Flournoy and W. J. Tompkins as emcees. The boys are singers of great ability, and sang 'The Stars and Stripes' with a gusto, accompanied by the waving of flags, that actually captivated their audience at the outset. Mr. Nash followed with a beautiful ballad, entitled 'Because,' which took amazingly well with the audience. Immediately upon his finish, Flournoy, who by the way is 'jest' full of music, sang a cute parody on 'Down on the Wabash, Far Away,' which was heartily applauded. They came a little sledgehammered, Mr. Wilkes and Flournoy, as a colored comedian, and some good original puns were sprung, one being upon 'Fin-an-Addie' and another upon 'Tompkins, the other emcee, with a new song, 'Till Tomorrow the Baby,' took with the audience like wildfire. His voice is well trained and his singing excellent.

"Mr. Churchill, the well-known baritone, was the next singer and sang a selection from the opera 'Robin Hood' in a manner which clearly showed that he was not a novice in the art of singing, and he was heartily applauded and pleased all. Another bit of excellent side play was engaged in by Mr. Wilkes and Tompkins, who sang a duet, while all the while Al Flournoy sang a duet, new and original, one of them was of especial interest as the party sang the but of the joke was our city treasurer, Mr. Tompkins, who had missed Mr. Tompkins all the afternoon and wanted him to give an account of his absence from the lodgeroom, whereupon Tompkins answered that he had been engaged in getting a historical book published entitled 'Economy,' by Charley Mitchell. This brought the house down with a roar of laughter. Just the same Flournoy sang 'Miss Nancy' and other comic songs, in colored, Jewish and Irish dialects. In connection with the first part of the entertainment Mr. Churchill sang one verse of 'There's Just One Little Girl for the whole gathering joining in the chorus.

"Al Flournoy favored the audience with one of Lew Dockstead's songs entitled 'Tomorrow,' Mr. Churchill favored the audience with an excellent selection and responded to a hearty encore. Tompkins reappeared and, in a most humorous and pleasing manner, could play anything, do anything and do anybody. He favored the audience with selections on the slide trombone, banjo, fife and other instruments and played ivory like a possessed. He played the 'Georgia Camp Meeting' cake walk and the audience came near walking the house down. H. P. Hall, ex-publisher of the St. Paul Globe, was next called upon and made a few remarks. He also sang a verse of 'Just One Girl' in a manner truly scandalous. Mr. Johnson was introduced as a patriot and in a manner truly creditable. Henry Dellafield, of the Boston clothing house, St. Paul, was introduced and talked about piano music; his selections were revelations of harmony and sweetness, one of them being of his own composition.

"To cap the whole thing, Lew Wilkes, 'Loud-Lunged Wilkes,' sang 'Enjoy Yourself,' in a manner that was truly inspiring and was so heartily encored that he gave the boys another treat which was also enjoyed.

notes. In effect the judgment amounted to a dismissal.

Held, that the deposition of a non-resident taken in the former action was admissible on the trial of this, under the general rule and by virtue of the provisions of General Statutes supra section 681.

5. The party offering evidence taken by deposition is not obliged to offer, or to read the whole deposition. He may offer and read parts subject to the order of the court that the whole be read at the same time. Order reversed.

—Collins, J.

The syllabi in the other cases follow: J. Ervin Chase, appellant, vs. Oliver P. Carter, respondent.

Syllabus—1. In order to review a ruling made on the trial before the return to this court must contain the verdict, if one there was, or the decision of the court, if made, or if a judgment has been entered, what it is.

William Lindeke Land Company, respondent, vs. Joseph C. Helm, appellant, and Watson S. Moore, respondent.

Syllabus—1. A claim against an insolvent corporation by a stockholder is not a proper counter claim in an action brought by a judgment creditor under the provisions of section 1894, ch. 76, to enforce the stockholder's liability. Such a claim should be presented by petition or complaint filed in the original action.

Charles G. Bates, respondent, vs. Geo. H. Walton et al., defendants; E. M. Newport and Edward Simonton, appellants, vs. Geo. H. Walton et al., respondents.

Syllabus—1. Held in an action upon a bond against the principal obligor and his sureties that facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action against the sureties in the complaint. Order affirmed.
