

Women in Business

Business men often express the opinion that there is one thing which will prevent women from completely filling man's place in the business world—they can't be depended upon because they are sick too often. It is true that many women are compelled to look forward to times when they are unable to attend to social or business duties. Their appearance plainly indicates their condition and they are reluctant to be seen, even by their friends. Read what a business woman says to such sufferers:

Mrs. C. W. Mansfield, 55 Farrar Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "A combination of female ailments kept me awake nights and wore me out. I could get no relief from medicine and hope was slipping away from me. A young lady in my employ gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and was able to rest at night for the first time in months. I bought more and they cured me as they also cured several other people to my knowledge. I think that if you should ask any of the druggists of Detroit, who are the best buyers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they would say the young women. These pills certainly build up the nervous system and many a young woman owes her life to them."

"As a business woman I am pleased to recommend them as they did more for me than any physician and I can give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People credit for my general good health to-day."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y. — Our new book, PLAIN TALKS TO WOMEN, sent free to any address on request.

BROWN BREAKS OUT

MINNEAPOLIS YOUTH ESCAPES AGAIN, THIS TIME FROM THE COUNTY JAIL

BAD BOY IS HARD TO HOLD

Arranges a Bogus Attempt at Escape on the Part of Two Other Lads, and Under the Cover of the Excitement Makes His Own Way to Freedom—The News of the Mill City.

GLOBE'S MINNEAPOLIS OFFICE, 20 WASHINGTON AV. SOUTH, Telephone 2796 J-1.

Willie Brown is cut again. The small Minneapolis boy in knee pants has this time eluded the court officials and escaped from the Hennepin county jail, where he was confined after his recent recapture at the Harmonia theater. Some three weeks since he escaped from the central police station within ten hours after his arrest. His escape from the city prison cost Jailer McKenna his position and Matron Payne drew $10 less than her usual month's pay. It remains to be seen what will happen to the persons responsible for his escape from the jail.

The police had warned the jailers that the youngster was a very slippery individual, even if he was but fifteen years old, and they cautioned the turnkeys to watch him closely.

Willie and two other boys were confined in the boys' department, and yesterday while their quarters were being scrubbed the youngsters were kept in the men's corridor. After the scrubbing Deputy Lindquist escorted the trio back to their cells. Willie led the way and as the deputy stopped to close the door the two other boys made a dash for the door as it to escape into the outer corridor. Lindquist seized them and in the meantime young Brown climbed up the bars of the cage like a monkey and disappeared through an open skylight over the cells. The deputy was a close second and he saw Willie slide down a ladder leading from the top floor of the unfinished side of the building to the floor below. He quickly disappeared from the deputy's sight and somehow gained the street. Thus far no trace of him has been found.

The two boys who aided Willie to escape are prisoners from the state reformatory who are here as witnesses. Neither of them cared particularly about their own freedom, but when Willie suggested his own escape to them both were quite willing to aid him, and the entire plan was carried out to the letter. They told Lindquist that they had just been playing and that Brown must be a real bad boy to run away in such a manner.

The sheriff's officers could not take the trouble to notify the police department, consequently Brown gained considerable time and the probabilities are that he will not be recaptured very soon.

KILLED FOR CRUELTY

THE CHILDREN OF FRANK BOUTS TELL WHY THEY MURDERED HIM

SYMPATHY WITH CULPRITS

Judicial Proceedings Against the Fourteen-Year-Old Girl and Her Still More Childish Brother Are Not Probable—Story of the Affair, Which is Unique in Police Annals—News of the Northwest.

RAPID CITY, S. D., May 29.—Lena and Nicholas Bout, the children who were brought to this city by Sheriff Leedy from the western part of Pennington county, admit the charge of murdering their father, Frank Bout, a railway tie contractor for the Burlington railway.

In the county where the crime was committed no surprise is expressed, as the father had been notoriously cruel to his family, keeping them in poverty for years in a small cabin, with rags for clothing, and the scantiest and poorest of food.

There were three children in the family, two boys and one daughter, Lena. On the morning of the murder the mother and an older son were out in the timber several miles from the log hut called their home, cutting ties.

The father, it is said, usually stayed at home and made the children and their mother do the cutting, and when the payments for the ties were made by the railroad company pocketed the money and spent it upon himself.

The neighbors say the family has some days at a time without food enough for more than one person.

Lena, aged fourteen, and her younger brother, Nicholas, tired of this treatment, and early on Thursday morning, while the father was still asleep, the two children secured a rifle with which the girl shot her father through the head.

After firing the rifle Lena and her brother went out to the kitchen and prepared a big breakfast. They ate all they could hold of the things which the father had bought for himself, the first good meal the children had had for many a day.

After the breakfast the girl commenced to realize the necessity for making known her father's death, so with her brother she went out to find her mother and other members of the household. When Lena saw her mother she lost courage and said: "Papa is kicked the bucket." The mother made inquiries, but could learn nothing more. They all went back to the house, when the girl said calmly that she didn't know how her father killed himself.

Her little brother Nicholas was too frightened to say anything. The coroner at Newcastle, Wyo., the nearest place, was notified, and the two children were taken into custody.

When the girl was told by the sheriff that they would have to hang her brother Nicholas for shooting their father Lena weakened and confessed everything. The probability of the people here is that the children will be taken care of in a private family here, or they may be sent to the state reformatory. They are well-behaved children and a number of people have offered to take them in their families. The mother and older brother are still at their home. The father was buried at Newcastle, Wyo.

BUNCO KING DEAD.

Harry Bailey Passed Away in San Francisco Amid Deep Poverty.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—After getting all there is in life out of it at the expense of the gullest slyvan and equally creditable cosmopolitan, Harry Bailey is dead at the French hospital. He lived in luxury and died in poverty. During the heyday of his prosperity, when the purchasers of gold bricks were counted by the hundreds, he prided himself on his title as "king of the bunco men." But of late years his market has been limited and where once he had been able to do anything short of starving gold he grew content with the humble nickel.

More than once during his career he stood at prison doors with the machinery of the law striving to place him on the other side of the threshold, but he always managed to retain his liberty on a legal technicality.

He operated extensively in Cincinnati, Detroit and Chicago, and was a native of the metropolis of Ohio.

AMERICAN DELEGATES TO CZAR'S CONFERENCE WILL SUPPORT BRITISH SCHEME

ARBITRATION HAS A CHANCE

Will Not Necessarily Prevent Nations From Going to War, but Will Hasten Negotiations for Settlement of Differences—Active Hostilities Not to Stop Arbitrators From Peace Efforts.

LONDON, May 31.—The Times correspondent at The Hague says: "A proposal will be submitted at the meeting of the drafting committee of the arbitration committee today (Wednesday), under which a nation which sees a danger of grave disagreement with another state may apply to some third state not having an interest in the case to act on its behalf with a view to mediation. The other party to the dispute will then have an opportunity of taking a similar course, and the mediating states will investigate with a view of finding a peaceful solution."

"If, however, in spite of this, war should break out, the mediating states would still seek to influence the belligerents without interfering with their neutrality with a view of bringing about peace."

"An important advancement was made in the direction of a scheme of arbitration, combining the British and American proposals. The representatives of these nations arrived at an agreement which seems to find general acceptance. The British and American proposals, Sir Julian Pauncefote, with Sir John Low and Mr. Hillis, and both the British and American proposals were examined, with the result that the United States will support the Pauncefote scheme for a permanent tribunal."

PLANNING PEACE.

Work of the Delegates to the Czar's Conference.

THE HAGUE, May 30.—The Brussels conference section of the International peace congress, after adopting the second reading of articles 22 to 34 which deal with prisoners of war, discussed questions relating to flags of truce, capitulations and armistices, as contained in articles 43 to 54, and adopted upon which an agreement was reached.

The Red Cross section considered the extension of the Geneva convention to naval warfare and adopted slight modifications of the articles relating to material, leaving the other two categories, general and personal, for future consideration.

Hett Vadeland prints today the text of the Russian proposal regarding mediation and arbitration. It provides as follows: "In cases of divergence, causing international litigation on local circumstances, which cannot be settled by ordinary diplomatic means, but do not involve honor or vital interests, the governments interested agree to institute a special commission of inquiry to investigate impartially all questions of fact. Each government shall appoint two members of the commission. These four shall choose a fifth, who shall be president of the commission. If the votes are divided as to this an appeal shall be made to another government, or to a third party, to appoint a president."

After the investigation the commission shall submit a report signed by all the members to the governments interested. The report shall in no way have the effect of a judgment, but shall leave the conflicting parties at liberty either to conclude a friendly arrangement on the basis of the report, or to have recourse to arbitration by concluding an agreement ad hoc, or else by referring to active hostilities in the mutual relations between nations."

SAGE NOT SATISFIED.

Despite Changes in Franchise Tax Law He Calls it Mischievous.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Senator Sage said today that, notwithstanding Senator Platt's juggling with the franchise tax bill, he still believed that it is a "mischievous measure."

"I read Senator Platt's statement," said Mr. Sage, "in which he declares that franchisees are a proper and necessary subject of taxation. I held that I do not agree on that subject. I held at the beginning of the agitation that the bill was a mischievous measure, and I have not changed my mind."

"What I object to is its stinging out of one thing, like a franchise, and, without notice, suddenly putting a tax on it. If it were necessary to tax everything under the sun, then all right, but it isn't."

"The law should be enforced with great discretion. It may work hardship in many instances. I am not prepared to discuss the changes Mr. Platt had made in the original bill."

LOST AT SEA.

Probable Fate of the Steamer Pelican, Long Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—The Merchant exchange here received from Capt. Thunell, of the American schooner Hermann, a clue to the missing steamer Pelican, which left Puget sound for China in the early part of last year. In a letter dated Kodiak, May 18, Capt. Thunell says he picked up a bottle on the shore of Portage bay containing a slip of paper on which was written: "Latitude 50 north and 135 west. The ship is sinking. We are leaving it in trail boats."

M. Pattison, First Officer.

The Pelican was never heard of after her departure, and it was supposed that she was blown out of her course and foundered. The small boats were doubtless sunk and lost.

SPANKING BOARD FATAL.

Fatal Termination of a Woodmen Initiation at Heppburn, Ia.

HEPBURN, Iowa, May 30.—Frank Focht, of this city, who was buried Sunday at Morton's Mills, his former home, died as a result of injuries received while being initiated into a lodge of Modern Woodmen here on May 18.

The degree team was using a spanking board supplied with blank cartridges upon him when the accident occurred. The cartridges were supposed to explode and terrify the candidate, but the wrong end was applied and the paper wad entered Focht's thigh and was not removed for several days. Meanwhile blood poisoning set in and lockjaw ensued, resulting in death.

Focht was only a social member and not an insurance beneficiary, but the lodge hastened to settle with his widow and bear all expenses of his burial.

Ex-President Harrison Was Orator of the Day.

PARIS, May 30.—A large throng gathered in the cemetery of the Invalides to assist in the annual decoration by the Americans of the tomb of Lafayette. The interest of the occasion was enhanced by the knowledge that ex-President Benjamin Harrison would speak.

Gen. Porter, the United States ambassador, opened the ceremony with a brief address, and Mr. Harrison followed with an oration that was frequently applauded.

He spoke of the deep respect shown to Decoration Day in the United States, and the reverent care taken of the graves of American soldiers, remarking that the chief value of such observances was in impressing the hearts and minds of the people with the lessons of self-sacrifice and heroism.

CURIOUS WAYS

Which Some People Have of Carrying Their Money.

Few classes of men have a better chance to see the queer ways people have of carrying their money than bartenders. A Fifth street man tells a number of good stories along this line. It would appear that frequenters of such resorts are inately averse to carrying their coin after any manner known to the balance of mankind. "The man who just left here is entitled to a premium," says the mixologist in question a few days ago. "Ordered a glass of apollinaris and drank it as if he was thirsty. Then he reached down on the inside of his vest and pulled out what looked to be a big roll of newspaper. Around the roll was wrapped a long piece of twine.

"I thought I was going to be made the victim of a bunco game until the man began to unwrap the roll. He took off at least six newspapers before he got down to what he was after. This proved to be a one-dollar bill. He pulled it out of the bunch of newspapers and laid it on the counter. I took out 5 cents and handed back the change. Carefully counting it, the man slowly and deliberately wrapped the coin up in the newspaper again and went out. I haven't seen him since, and I don't want to. Life is too short to wait for his unwrapping process. Another instance, almost as aggravating, was that of a young fellow who happened in the other day. He had several friends with him and ordered a round.

"I served it, and when the time came for paying the young fellow went through his pockets vigorously. Then his face grew scarlet.

"'Humph!' he exclaimed, 'I had some money. Oh, I know where it is, now.' "Sitting down on a chair, he pulled off one of his shoes and from the bottom thereof fished out a $5 bill. The crowd that was with him laughed loudly, and the little episode cost him another round. Lots of people come in here who carry their money in the form of pure pocket money. Some day I expect to have a man order a drink and pull the money out of his mouth with what to pay for it. If he does, I won't let on but that it is the regular thing."

Giant Music Box.

The largest music box ever constructed will be exhibited for the first time at the Paris exposition in 1904. Its inventor and builder, Antonio Zaborni, an Italian, devoted fifteen years of his life to construct it. He has bestowed upon his masterpiece the imposing name of Antoelektro-phon.

The music box plays every style of concert music in the most finished manner. In it are concealed 60,000 pieces of musical apparatus, which required an outlay of 60,000 francs.

Magnificent Tomb.

The most magnificent tomb in the world is the Taj Mahal, in Hindustan. It was erected by Shah Jehan to the memory of his favorite queen. It is octagonal in form, of pure white marble, inlaid with jasper, corallian, turquoise, agate, amethysts and sapphires. The work took 22,000 men twenty years to complete, and, though there were free lifts and labor was free, the cost was $20,000,000.

"It doesn't cost a cent."

An elderly lady living on Market St., Camden, N. J., has been through a most distressing ordeal. "For the past three years," she says, "I have had stomach and bowel trouble, and as I am a woman advanced in years, I had supposed there was no relief for me. In the fall of 1895 I was confined to my bed, and my physician had great difficulty in checking a severe attack of stomach and bowel trouble. Since then, up to four months ago, I had these attacks often, each one more weakening than the other. My health became so impaired and I lost flesh so rapidly that I became alarmed. My son, who suffered from chronic nervous troubles and had obtained beneficial results from using Ripans Tablets, often asked me to try them, but I never had any faith in patent medicines, and considering my case hopeless I concluded not to experiment. But while suffering great distress he one day persuaded me to try the Tablets. I took one and it gave me relief. I sent out for a package and, after using that, was so much relieved that I now only take one occasionally, but I have them constantly in the house."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABLETS in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at four drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (the label can be had by sending forty-eight cents to the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 19 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABLETS) will be sent for five cents.
