JUNE 22 TO JULY 26

DATES FIXED FOR THE ENCAMPMENT OF THE MILITIA THIS SUMMER

SECOND INFANTRY TO BEGIN

The Third and the Artillery Dates Will Overlap, and the Fourth Infantry Reserve Will Be the Last to Take the Field—No Substitutes to Be Accepted in Camp—Only Fatigue Uniforms to Be Taken.

Adj. Gen. Lambert yesterday issued his annual national guard encampment order, giving the details for each of the three national guard infantry regiments and one battalion of artillery.

Each regiment will be in camp for ten days at Lake City, and will be reviewed during that period by the governor and his staff.

The regiments will go into camp on the dates named below, as follows: Second infantry, Col. Jos. Bobleter commanding, Thursday, June 22, ending July 1.

Third infantry, Col. Chat. A. Van Dusen commanding, July 5, ending July 14. First battalion, artillery, Maj. E. D. Libbey commanding, July 17, ending July 23.

Fourth infantry reserve, Col. Conde Hamlin commanding, July 17, ending July 23.

Dr. A. J. Stears, surgeon general, will assist two members of the medical staff to accompany each regiment on the trip. In addition to hospital stewards, drill instructors and other minor officials.

A squad of men from Battery A will take down one field piece a few days before the Second Regiment goes to camp, to be used in firing salutes and camp signals.

Adj. Gen. Lambert is busily engaged contracting for transporting the troops to Lake City. There are nearly thirty companies that will participate, and with the exception of a half dozen in the Twin Cities, they come from as many different points.

Positive orders have been issued regarding certain rules which there has been a tendency to violate in the past. Company commanders are directed to take only bona fide members of the company and substitutes cannot be taken to camp under any circumstances.

Private pay will be $1.50 per day for the time they are in camp, corporals $1.75, sergeants $2 and commissioned officers the same pay as allowed regular army officers of the same rank. To be eligible to any per diem whatever it is necessary for each soldier to be in camp for at least five days.

Gen. Lambert, in his order, requests company commanders to investigate all cases where employers of the militiamen intimidate them into staying at home, and where they are directed to take any one will be expelled from the company.

The boys will leave their dress uniforms at home this time, as only the fatigues will be worn while at camp. Regimental commanders will have full charge of the camp, and all rules are to be strictly enforced.

LOOKING FOR "FOSTER." When He Disappeared So Did Mrs. Hohmann's Jewelry.

A man with a new scheme has been operating in St. Paul, Mrs. Louise Hohmann, who conducts a boarding house at 236 Goodhue street, is his first victim, and for her knowledge of the man has paid out in an indirect manner, it might be stated, a considerable amount of jewelry and other valuables.

A man went to her boarding house Thursday, and giving the name of Frank Foster, requested that he be furnished accommodations. He was of genteel appearance, well dressed and apparently a business man of about fifty-five years of age. Mrs. Hohmann went down yesterday to do a little shopping and upon her return found her new boarder gone, in an indirect manner, it might be stated, a considerable amount of jewelry and other valuables.

The man who was identified from the description furnished, as a person who has recently been operating in Minneapolis as a hotel grafter. He is in the habit of approaching a night clerk and telling a story to the effect that he is without money, but expects a gold mine, and asks for a loan of jewelry and other articles of value.

When morning comes the man is invariably missing, and with him such articles of value as he can secure.

OLD INJURIES FATAL

EDWARD A. McDONALD DIED SUDDENLY, THE RESULT OF AN ANCIENT WOUND

HE HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS

As a Bridge Foreman He Had Met With Some Serious Accidents—Coroner Nelson Ascribes Death to Internal Hemorrhage Resulting From Some of the Former Injuries.

Ed A. McDonald, forty-five years of age and for eighteen years a foreman for James McClure, contractor, 775 Dayton avenue, was found dead in his bed early last evening at his home, 400 St. Anthony street. The coroner viewed the remains and rendered an opinion that death came about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon while the man was asleep caused by internal hemorrhage of a tumor on the right side.

Mr. McDonald was well known in St. Paul and the circumstances surrounding his death are unusual. Nine years ago he was injured by a falling derrick, which struck him on the right side, breaking five ribs and almost causing his death. He was confined to his bed for many weeks, but eventually recovered and resumed his work.

At another time he was the victim of an accident while at his work which fractured his leg and crushed his foot. Last Easter morning he fell on the sidewalk in front of his home, from which he has only been convalescent for a few weeks. His old injury has affected him almost constantly for eight or nine years and he has complained at times of stomach troubles, though he did not know its cause.

He rose and dressed yesterday morning and went out, returning to his home about 10 o'clock. After eating dinner he went to his room and lay down. That was the last seen of him in life. About 7 o'clock last night his little niece went to his room to call him for supper and found him lying on one side, apparently asleep. Some time later she was frightened and she went to her mother, Mrs. J. W. Garvey, and told her something had happened and she found her brother lying on the stairs and found her brother apparently for some time. She at once notified her husband, who is a fireman of Hook and Ladder Company No. 3, and he hurried to the house. An examination of his pulse showed that life was extinct and the coroner was notified.

The deceased was widowed and the father of three children, two girls and a boy, the youngest child living in Minneapolis and the next youngest in Superior. One daughter lived with him at St. Anthony street. His wife died three years ago and his bereavement has affected him greatly. He has frequently expressed a desire to die by her side, though being retired, he was not in the habit of speaking often of his personal affairs. His mother, Bridget McDonald, is still living and resides with a son, Henry McDonald, at 238 Tennessee street. Anthony McDonald, another brother and an employe of the C. W. Hardware company, resides at 908 Eighth street.

MAKE LITTLE HEADWAY. Fire Insurance Men Still Wrestling With the Local Situation.

The governing committee of the Western Union, which is at present in St. Paul, made little progress in the way of settling the local fire insurance agent's dilemma. The committee is endeavoring with the Chicago committee to make smooth the way for the new agent, who has not recently been in it, on an equal and footing with the others, recently imposed on the city. The committee is of the opinion that the local board is endeavoring to do the best thing for the city.

The committee was engaged last night in drawing up the board rules covering all the irritable matters of the business in St. Paul. These will be discussed at another general meeting today.

MRS. ZIMMERMANN'S FUNERAL. It Will Be Held Sunday From the Family Residence.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Bernard Zimmermann will be held at her late residence, Pleasant avenue, Sunday at 2:30.

Mrs. Zimmermann was born in St. Paul, May 18, 1841, and grew to manhood in her native city, although spending her native city in travel. She was a daughter of Michael Zell, a pioneer resident of the city, and was married in 1862 to Mr. Zimmermann, and two children were born of the union, Harry, aged fifteen, and Florence, aged twelve, both of whom survive.

A special meeting of the board of school inspectors has been called for 10 a. m. today to take suitable action upon the death of Mrs. Zimmermann.

HELD TO GRAND JURY. Charles Martin Finds It No Joke to Take Another's Horse.

Charles Martin, 39 years of age, was held to the grand jury in criminal court yesterday on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy belonging to D. W. Jamison. Mr. Jamison left his rig in front of the Sterling White house on Thursday evening. Martin and a friend passed and the former decided that riding was better than walking and day, and unthieved the horse and drove away. Mr. Jamison came out not long after, and notifying Officer Tschida, started to look for his property. The rig was found at the Richieu hotel, on Seventh street. Martin claimed that a friend lent him the rig, but the story didn't go and he was held under $1,500 bail.

Passavant Claims a Fee. Charles Passavant Sr. has brought an action in municipal court against Anton Mieson claiming $100 damages claimed to be due him for negotiating the purchase of the latter's damaged saloon. He alleges that Mieson engaged him to open negotiations with John Oelszewski, and the purchase was agreed upon at a price of $5,000. Since Mieson took possession of the saloon, he has made request for the amount claimed to be due, and has been refused.

Quarrelled About Chickens. Mrs. Grundski and Wittgang Stoeber, both worthy German burghers, appeared in municipal court yesterday in a dispute over some chickens. Stoeber objected to the chickens, and Mrs. Grundski secured an unwilling consent to their going where they willed through the force of her strong right arm. Both were fined $5 and ordered them to sign a bond to keep the peace.

Quebec and Return, $30.00—$500.00.

ANDERSON RAILROAD LAND TAXATION BILL HELD TO BE VALID

APPEAL TO BE TAKEN SOON

It Is Expected That the Root River Case Will Be Carried Up in Order to Secure the Judgment of the Court of Last Resort—Attorney General Douglas Jubilant Over the Decision.

Attorney General Douglas yesterday received a decision given by Judge James H. Quinn, of Wells, Minn., which sustains the state in the litigation over the Anderson bill, for the taxation of unused railroad lands. There are two cases on this subject now in the courts—United States supreme court and the state supreme court. The case has been carried to the United States supreme court and the case decided a few days ago by Judge Quinn.

While both cases involve different points of controversy, they both hinge on the constitutionality of the Anderson law, and Gen. Douglas thinks the case in the Jackson county court is by far the most important of the two, and he is accordingly jubilant.

It is, however, but the beginning of the litigation upon the subject that will not be ended until the United States supreme court, in the regular order of business, renders a decision, which usually takes two or three years. The state won both cases on the appeal, and should the railroad companies lose again before the nation's highest tribunal they will have to pay an amount almost double the tax for interest and penalties which will accrue on account of the tax being allowed to become delinquent.

The case in the United States court involves the right of the state to tax unused lands belonging to railroad companies operating under state charter. The case decided in Judge Quinn's court involves the same question as it applies to lands owned by companies chartered by the territory of Minnesota. The latter case was brought against the Root River and Southern Minnesota Railway company. The railroad is now a part of the Omaha system, and the land is owned and sold from time to time by a company that has no connection with the company owning the railroad. The attorney general held that there was a divorcement when the land parted from the railroad, and consequently it was not subject to the limitations of the charter. Another claim made by the state was that the land never had been made the subject of a contract. It is claimed that the state earnings tax is a contract between the state and the corporation, and that no contract can be imposed.

This point is the one claim tenable ground that the state has in the litigation and is the one that the railroad companies are contending very bitterly. The gross earnings tax is, the claim, all that they are compelled to pay.

There is but little doubt that the case decided in Judge Quinn's court will be carried up.

DENIED HIM A PARDON

STATE BOARD REFUSES TO EXTEND CLEMENCY TO FORMER

BIG DELEGATION PLEADED

Nearly One Hundred People Urged That the Pardon Be Granted, but the Board Does Not Think He Has Paid the Penalty of His Crime Yet—Was Convicted of Soliciting a Bribe.

The state board of pardons, at a special meeting held at the executive chambers yesterday afternoon, denied without prejudice the application of George A. Durnam, the Minneapolis alderman, for a full pardon.

The case was continued from the last regular meeting of the board in April, and was brought up for favorable consideration at the hands of the board by a delegation of over a hundred citizens of the Third ward, Minneapolis, who appeared in the former alderman's behalf. The board of pardons reviewed fully the testimony in the case, which was very exhaustive, as well as giving the friends and relatives of the prisoner a lengthy hearing. When the board denied the application for executive clemency without prejudice, it means that the denial does not prejudice future applications, if one be made.

Mr. Durnam was convicted of soliciting a bribe from the firm of Halvorson, Richards & Co., of Minneapolis, in his official capacity as alderman. The conviction was secured until the second trial was held, as the jury at the first hearing disagreed and another case was immediately brought against him. After his conviction the matter was carried to the state supreme court, last fall and decided a few months later. The strongest plea that was made for Mr. Durnam's release was that his family was in need of his support, and his wife, who is an invalid, was in a very precarious condition.
