TORN BY CANINE JAWS

MRS. MARY GRAVES IS FRIGHT-FULLY LACERATED BY A HUGE MASTIFF

IN SAVING A PET POODLE

She Receives Injuries Which May
Cost Her the Use of Her Right Arm, Which Is Badly Hurt at the Elbow—Taken to St. Luke's Hospital on the Advice of Her Physician.

While endeavoring to save a pet dog from the attack of another canine, Mrs. Mary Graves, living at 225½ West Seventh street, was herself attacked by a third dog, a big English mastiff, belonging to Fred Hubbard, 146 Smith avenue, at Fifth street and Smith avenue yesterday afternoon, and was badly bitten about the right arm. The flesh on the under side of the arm, from the elbow to the shoulder, was crushed between the mastiff's jaws, and the elbow joint is so injured that permanent disability may result. Mrs. Graves was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Mrs. Graves was walking along Smith avenue, followed by her diminutive canine pet, when a strange dog jumped upon the smaller one. The two brutes fought about the walk for a moment, when the little one commenced to yelp with pain. Mrs. Graves rushed to the assistance of her pet and succeeded in driving the strange dog away. As she leaned over to pick her pet up in her arms she was started by a savage growl at her side, and before she could move, a huge mastiff grabbed her by the arm. The mastiff, hearing the dog fight in front of the Hubbard home, had jumped through a screen door and flew at Mrs. Graves with the fury of a tiger. With its teeth sunk deep in Mrs. Graves' arm the animal shook and tore savagely, throwing the woman to the walk. Mrs. Graves screamed with pain and fright, but the brute only took another grip lower on her arm and ground the flesh between its teeth. Finally Mrs. Graves succeeded in freeing her arm and gaining her feet. She started to run when the mastiff jumped at her again, catching her dress and throwing her down. By this time several men who had witnessed the attack rushed to Mrs. Graves' assistance, and with shouts frightened the big mastiff away. Mrs. Graves was weak and faint from the fight with the dog, but retained consciousness while assisted to a near-by residence, where she received medical aid. The serious nature of the lacerations on her arm decided the physician to send her to the hospital.

The explanation given for the apparent savagery of the mastiff is that the brute is at present a sing for a litter of puppies. Its owner thinks the mastiff, aroused by the yelping near the house, acted upon the instinct that its young were being molested. The mastiff jumped through the netting and leaped over the fence, close to where Mrs. Graves leaned over her pet. According to Mrs. Hubbard the yelping poodle was one of its own puppies.

RINGLINGS' ANIMAL ISLAND.

A Unique Animal Farm to Be Founded by These Popular Showmen.

Ringling Bros. are about to resume their enterprise, interrupted by the war with Spain, of establishing a farm for breeding and rearing wild animals. Two years ago they took the initial step in this unique undertaking, and went as far as to purchase a site for a tract of 1,000 acres, in Southern Florida. But the purpose for which they wanted it soon became known and the whole country chafed at the idea of a man who had made his money by exhibiting animals in the way of impregnable barriers to keep the Ringlings, restraining them from people insisted that an occasional escape could not be prevented, and they pictured all the horrors of a raging lion going about seeking who might devour, of tigers eating their cattle and elephants and hippopotami trampling down their growing crops, tearing down fences and spreading havoc and devastation around generally in large chunks. The upshot of the agitation was that the matter was taken into the courts and the citizens secured a permanent injunction against the Ringlings, restraining them from stocking their proposed wild animal farm.

Foreseeing that the same opposition would develop in any other community, the Ringlings next conceived the idea of buying or leasing a small island off the southern coast for the purpose. Negotiations were entered into for the purchase of some small islands among the smaller Florida keys. Before the negotiations were completed war with Spain was declared, and in the prevailing excitement in that section, the negotiations were suspended. They were resumed, however, after peace had been declared, and culminated in the Ringlings securing control of three islands, each containing 6,000 acres. They were eminently fitted for the object in view. They are practically isolated, being several miles distant from any other islands. They are too far from the coast for the animals to be a source of danger and near enough to be in easy sailing distance. The climate is as nearly tropical as the continent affords and suitable for animals native to the tropics, and fresh water creeks and rivers will give ample water supply. There are no farms to be devastated, nor cattle nor people to be devoured, or there will not be when they are disposed of by the new owners. The Ringlings therefore expect no opposition nor vexatious litigation in the premises.

OMAHA'S SUMMER SHOW.

Typical Expo Planned to Excel the Trans-Mississippi.

The Greater America exposition will open its gates in Omaha July 1, and somewhat elaborate ceremonies, including addresses by Senator Manderson and George L. Miller, president of the exposition. The promoters of the undertaking feel assured that it is to be accorded a patronage fully as great as was given the Trans-Mississippi exposition of 1898. The exposition has been planned on broad lines, including great expenditure of time, care and money, and visitors there to be destined to enjoy as great an educational and amusement treat as was afforded the people of Omaha a year ago.

The basic theme of the exposition is a representation of the peoples' products and resources of the lands acquired through the war with Spain, and carefully selected exhibits from the Philippine islands, Cuba, Porto Rico and Hawaiian Islands have been secured through the kindly assistance of the heads of the departments of the national government, who have manifested a deep interest in this phase of the exposition. The people of these respective lands will be assembled in characteristic villages of their native habitations, and when it is considered that but few Americans have ever seen a native Filipino or any inhabitant of either of the other islands named, with the possible exception of Cuba, the interest that must attach to the exhibits of people and products from these lands can be readily conceived.

In other directions the Greater America exposition promises to excel. In the line of manufactures there is promised an unrivaled manifestation of American industry and ingenuity, and among over 80 exhibitors in this department something like 25 per cent will present live exhibits or model factories in actual operation, turning out the finished product ready for the market, with every process visible to the eye of the observer. The art exhibit, it is said, assured, is vastly Emoluments.

Postmaster Smith yesterday received notice that the street car mail service between St. Paul and Minneapolis will not be discontinued, according to the former order, which provided for a train service after July 1. The continuance of the service is the result of the recent visit of Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger, who went into the matter quite thoroughly while here. The street car company had been receiving $2,000 per year for the service which the company thought to be inadequate. They refused to bid on a renewal of the contract until after July 1. As a result of a conference with Gen. Shallenberger, however, the company officials submitted another bid of $2,700, which has been accepted. The renewal of the contract means the continuance of the present hourly interurban service. However, hereafter the cars carrying the mails will not bear the sign "U. S. mail," which will only be on the letter boxes.

Notice has also been received that five additional substations will be established in St. Paul with facilities for the sale of postal supplies and with money order and registry departments. The order will go into effect on July 1 and the substations will be located as follows: No. 12, at 175 West Seventh street; No. 13, 118 South Robert street; No. 14, 1028 West Seventh street; No. 15, at 400 Broadway; No. 16, 464 Blair street.

Raises of salaries have been granted by the department to the following employees of the postoffice to commence July 1: Distributors Joseph W. Blanchard, Ernest W. Lux, Randall A. McDougall, Thomas Murnane, William T. Naughton, Henry Peter, John W. Shugart, Assorters Patrick B. Borden, Dennis Healy, Matting Clarke, Joseph J. Eagan, John P. Hanvey, Louis Ramaley, John B. Sackett, Edward F. Scanlan and John A. Welschberger, inquiry clerk, and to $300 per annum; Assorter Fritz Moe, Mailing Clerk John Messenburgh, Distributor Ernest C. Tauscher to $300; Mailing Clerk T. E. Broderick, Assorter F. D. Smith, Registry Clerk Mary L. Williams to $700; Mailing Clerks Ernest M. Burns, Albert B. Fowler, General Delivery Clerk E. W. McLean and John W. Lee to $1,000; John B. Pandell, superintendent money order department, to $1,000; John Godkin, inquiry clerk, to $1,000; John W. Keith, directory clerk, to $1,000. In every instance the raise is $100 per year over the present salary, except in the case of H. J. Hadlich, superintendent of mails, who goes from $1,200 to $1,350.

PHINNEY'S BAND AT COMO

TWO CONCERTS GIVEN YESTER-DAY BEFORE IMMENSE
THROUGHS OF PEOPLE

Popular Programmes Marked the Opening Day of a Two Weeks'
Engagement That Promises a Popular Success.

Fully 5,000 people, according to Supt. Nussbaumer's list, attended the concert given last evening at Como park by Phinney's United States band, and there was a similar large crowd at the matinee concert. The street car service on the Como line had been doubled in the evening and there was none of the delay and overcrowding that made the events at Como last season memorable.

An ample supply of seats had been provided near the pavilion and the band was stationed on the floating stand, moored a short distance from the shore. The strains of music floated over the water was made doubly attractive with the accessories of a splendid evening and the overhanging reflection of the lights on the water. Hundreds of people enjoyed the concert from boats out on the lake.

It was pre-eminently a popular concert with an admirably arranged programme acceptably rendered. The opening number was "The Old Battle Flag" and was well received, but the favorite was a cornet solo, "The Volunteer Polka," by Mr. John Fletcher, and a melody of popular songs arranged by Director Phinney. There was a touch of rag-time in "The Honorable Bell" and "Cotton Blossoms," the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," and the closing number was a selection from the "Porphy of Miss Florence Marion Pace, soprano, and Miss Gertrude Sans Souci, pianist, gave a parlor concert Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. J. Earley, 417 Chippewa Falls, Wis. The two young ladies will repeat the programme given at that concert next week at Superior and the residents of the town and vicinity were responded to at the concert given Tuesday evening.

Percy B. Churchill will sing for the octet "O God, have mercy" from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, this morning.

Miss Thekla Pleins will close her studio in the Radenbush block July 1 and go to Duluth for the summer.

A song service will be held this evening at the Park Congregational church, under the direction of Mr. Rhymer, organist and choir master. The programme, which will be made up of choral and solo selections from Handel's "Messiah," follows: "Every Valley," N. P. Vold; chorus, "And They Shall Purify," solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," Mrs. M. A. Graves; chorus, "Behold the Lamb of God," solo and chorus, "O Thou That Tellest Glad Tidings," soloist, Miss Beatrice Ridgway.

Mrs. S. V. Harris, favorite St. Paul soprano singer, is spending a few weeks on the Penobscot at Passadunuch, Me. Last Sunday afternoon Mrs. Harris sang at a reunion of the Order of Foresters, held in the town hall. She sang "Save Regina," "Not Ashamed of Christ," "Tos-tia's Prayer" and Mascagni's "Ave Maria," and the patriotic air, "The Flag Went Up a Stair." Mrs. Harris was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Edward Rogers, of Le Roy, N. Y., who, with her, is visiting at the old homestead of her grandfather, the late Herd Chapman.

Under the auspices of the local branch of the Century Road club a number of cyclists last evening started in to ride a "moonlight" century. Nearly forty riders started on the trip, but this number had dwindled to twenty-two enthusiasts when the first half of the task had been accomplished. The riders started on the Lake Minnesota course shortly after 8 o'clock, and concluded the first fifty miles at Weller's restaurant, at 1 o'clock, when a substantial banquet was partaken, preparatory to finishing the last fifty miles. The party left the restaurant at an hour when it was estimated that the run would be concluded by 6 o'clock the morning after. Twenty women were in the party. During the trip the century riders met Mrs. J. McIlraith, who started Friday evening in an effort to make a quadruple century. Those who reached the restaurant in time for the spread were:

Archibald Mathews, Mrs. Archie Mathews, James McIlraith, Mrs. James McIlraith, Henry Young, Mrs. Henry Young, Albert Burdett, S. S. Winslow, F. E. Low, Miss Nelson, H. R. Morrison, Ralph Henry, D. E. Scott, E. S. Winslow, O. S. Tiller, W. F. Henze, W. M. Sawyer, F. Fabian, A. Payne, M. A. Gathan, M. C. Harrison, Mrs. M. C. Harrison.

TURNERS OF THE STATE.

They Will Picnic Today at Lake Park, Minnesota.

The Twin City turners' excursion and Minnesota state turnfest will be held today at Lake Park. There will be large delegations from Minneapolis and St. Paul, and a thousand or more turners from New Ulm. The programme of sports is as follows:

Hop, step and jump. Active turners. (To be counted both in the class and individual contests). Individual prize competition exercises on the high parallel bars and on the high horizontal bar.

Calisthenics. Youths' class of the New Ulm Turn Verein.

Indian club exercises. Ladies' classes of the New Ulm Turn Verein and the West Side Turn Verein, St. Paul.

Class prize competition exercises on apparatus to be selected by each class.

"Battle ball" game. West Minneapolis Turn Verein.

Singing by the singing section of the West Side Turn Verein, St. Paul; formal exhibition, turning, games, etc.

EARLY FIRECRACKER.

It Caused a Trio of Runaways in East Eighth Street.

A bright specimen of young America, prematurely inspired with Fourth of July patriotism, set off a firecracker among half a dozen delivery wagons standing at the Eighth street entrance to the Golden Rule yesterday afternoon and started three runaways. One of the horses dashed up Eighth street, but was headed off by the firemen at central fire headquarters, while another horse ran east on Eighth street, and a third damaged the wagon to which it was attached by prancing around among the other wagons. As the wagons were being loaded nobody was in any of the vehicles so no one was hurt. Each of the wagons, however, was more or less damaged.

TUESDAY IS "CIRCUS DAY."

Chief of Police Warns People
Against "Camp Followers."

As a rule there are numerous petty robberies when a circus is in town, and in view of the fact that Tuesday is "circus day" Chief of Police Goss desires to warn residents against leaving their homes unprotected. While families are absent watching the parade or attending the performances, either in the afternoon or evening, the police say the gang of thieves usually following a circus accomplish their work. In order to be absolutely safe Chief Goss suggests that no house be left entirely alone Tuesday.

The chief also warns the public against pickpockets and "short change" artists who may seize upon circus day to ply their trade.

U. S. Gov't

on Foods.

(See Below.)

GRAPE NUTS

Solve the Problem.

The U. S. government has been attempting to instruct the people regarding the purchase of food that would give the best advantage to the system with the least expenditure of money. A report has been made by Prof. A. W. Atwater, the famous chemist, and the subject is of great interest.

This is an age of specialists, and the work of the food specialist is of great importance. Persons who do not care to go into all of the details and statistics, can secure practical results by using Grape-Nuts, the breakfast food, which is probably the most scientifically made food in the market. It is made for a purpose and was originated by a food expert of unquestioned standing.

The elemental principles contained in Grape-Nuts are selected for their value in rebuilding the brain and nerve centers in the human body. The subject is worth any brain worker's attention.
