BILL BOARD BONDS. Assembly Committee on Streets Will Consider the Question.

The assembly committee on streets will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The ordinance providing for the erection and maintaining of bill boards will be one of the matters considered. At the last meeting of the committee the ordinance was amended so as to provide for the giving of a blanket bond of $25,000 where the person or firm had more than five boards. On this point Assistant Corporation Attorney Griggs has informed the committee that there is some question as to the point which should be raised at the time the blanket bond was given it covered only such boards as had been erected, and not for ones to be put up after the bond was given. The ordinance provides that persons or firms having five boards or less must give a bond of $5,000 for each one erected. Another matter to come before the committee is the final order for the paving of Nelson avenue, from Summit to Western avenue. Sentiment of the property owners is divided on the kind of pavement to be laid. A majority of the owners are said to be in favor of asphalt, while a number insist on brick being used. Petitions signed by those favoring both kinds of paving will be presented to the committee.

DIDN'T HOLD WATER. Dr. Ohage's Dairy Inspection Ordinance Is Dismissed.

The first attempt of the city legal department to enforce Dr. Ohage's dairy inspection ordinance failed in the police court yesterday, when John Hanson, the dairyman accused of refusing to pay the fees for having his cattle inspected, was discharged. The motion to dismiss was made by the prosecution. The step was taken because it was discovered that the ordinance had not been technically complied with. Hanson was arrested several weeks ago. It was the intention of both the city legal department and the dairyman's association that the Hanson case should be a test of the ordinance. Meantime the ordinance has been amended so that the complaint against Hanson under the unamended ordinance would not hold. The point at issue was that under the original ordinance it was necessary for a report of the refusal of a dairyman to have his herd inspected to be reported to the council. This was not done in Hanson's case. He agreed to allow Health Commissioner Minnie to examine his cows, but refused to pay the fees. He was forthwith arrested. Under the amended ordinance there is no necessity for a reference of a like case to the council.

VERDICT IS VITIATED. So Claims Attorney Hall in the Case of Franklin W. Bishop.

In the case of Franklin W. Bishop, who was alleged to have conducted a disorderly resort at 58 Wabasha street, who was found guilty in the police court, Friday, of selling liquor without a license, Attorney Hall, in his defense, yesterday argued a motion for an arrest of judgment. The ground of the motion was that the verdict was not entered on the record of the trial at the time it was rendered. This fact, Attorney Hall claimed, vitiates the verdict. Judge Hine took the matter under consideration until tomorrow. The penalty of Bishop's offense is ninety days in the workhouse or a $100 fine. They are the best. I would use no other, is the sentiment of the hundreds of possessors of the White Enamel Refrigerators. Inspect them at 409 Jackson.

Letter Carriers' Outing. The letter carriers will have their annual outing at Spring Park, Lake Umbagog, on Thursday, July 20. Col. Monfort and Capt. Hardacre are matched for a clay pigeon shoot. The Postoffice band will discourse sweet music during the afternoon and evening. Round trip tickets to Spring Park, including four of the lake steamer, may be obtained at the postoffice or from any of the carriers. The train will leave the union depot promptly at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, July 22. The carriers invite all their friends to come along and have a good time.

There is a towering monument of street cleaning in the city. It is not neglect the one staple article of food that is always upon your table—bread. In ordinary speech, the word "bread" means more than that satisfied. It means muscle and bone for the young people and delicious bread for everybody.

THE ST. PAUL SAVINGS BANK GET TOGETHER.

TRUSTEES AND STOCKHOLDERS OF ST. PAUL SAVINGS BANK GET TOGETHER.

THEY WANT TO REORGANIZE.

Subcommittee Wants on the Governor and the Whole Question Is Thoroughly Gone Into in the Most Friendly Manner—All Agree That the Appointment of a Receiver Should Be Avoided.

The trustees and such of the stockholders of the Savings Bank of St. Paul as could be reached held a meeting Friday evening to consider the best method of securing the depositors of the bank. After the discussion of various plans for reorganization a subcommittee was appointed which called upon Gov. Lind yesterday morning and had an extended interview with him, in which the condition of the bank, its future prospects and the wisest course to be pursued with reference to the interests of the depositors were fully discussed. It was the unanimous opinion that the bank could and should be promptly reorganized, and that by wise and judicious management there was great prospect for the payment of the depositors to nearly if not the full extent of their claims. While no definite conclusion was reached as to the exact plan to be followed, the committee and the state officials seemed to be fully in accord upon the leading propositions. It was agreed that any plan of reorganization should have as its main features, first, the avoiding of the appointment of any receiver; second, the preventing of any speculation or manipulation of the assets of the bank except in the sole interest of the depositors; third, proper safeguards to secure to the depositors every available asset as speedily as possible.

The trustees expressed themselves as feeling it to be their duty to use their energies to the work of protecting the depositors, in which expression they were joined by the stockholders. Gov. Lind expressed himself as highly pleased with the spirit manifested; stated that his services and time were entirely at the disposal of the committee, and that he would heartily co-operate with the committee in furtherance of any proper plan. Gen. Pope was absent from the capitol at the time the committee called, but the committee is confident that it will receive the same support from him as from Gov. Lind.

Before the application for a receiver comes to be heard in court, which will be the 20th inst., a well matured plan, which will meet with the approval of the Governor and Bank Examiner Pope will undoubtedly be ready to be submitted to the depositors.

THEIR PAY HELD UP.

TWO SIDEWALK INSPECTORS ARE ACCUSED OF NEGLECT OF THEIR DUTY.

ST. PAUL COMPANY PROTESTS.

Complainants Say That They Are Prepared to Substantiate All the Charges Which They Have Made Against John Hickey and George Bantz—In Accordance With This, McCurdy Refuses to Pay the Men.

Comptroller McCurdy yesterday held up the June pay of inspectors John Hickey and George Bantz, of the engineering department. The twain are sidewalk inspectors and are on the engineering department pay roll for $75 each per month. Hickey is chief cement, sidewalk inspector of the cement tiling. Hickey is supposed to do the outside inspecting, being responsible for the work done in laying the sidewalks, while Bantz falls the duty of inspecting the manufacture of the tiling at the plant of the Portland Stone company, which firm has the contract for doing the city work.

The action of the comptroller in holding up the June salaries of the two inspectors was done by the Portland Stone company. The protest alleges that the inspectors have neglected their duties and is based on an affidavit attached which is sworn to by Andrew J. Hohan, who is connected with the St. Paul Sidewalk company.

The protest says that the complainants are prepared "to furnish other detailed instances if desired and will substantiate the charges made in the affidavit by further evidence if the opportunity presents itself."

The affidavit of Hohan gives the following as specific charges:

The boulevard crossings at University and Kent and University and Macubin were constructed with an excavation not to exceed four inches, while specifications requires eight inches. The proportion of the foundation material was one of cement to seven of sand, instead of one of cement and three of sand, as specified. The work was done by the Portland Stone company.

In laying the sixty feet of sidewalk in front of 220 Osceola avenue, the excavation was not more than three inches. One portion of cement to ten of sand was used on the foundation; the tiles used were not inspected, and fully thirty-five of the number were cracked or broken. Work was done by Eureka Stone company.

An excavation for the sidewalk at the northwest corner of Grotto and Osceola was not more than three inches; one portion of cement to ten of sand was used;

there were twelve broken tiles. Work done by Eureka Stone company. At the northeast corner of Grotto and Osceola the Eureka Stone company was allowed to construct a walk with a two inch half-inch excavation; one part cement and ten parts of sand in foundation, and fifty-one cracked, cracked or broken tiles.

The sidewalk retaining wall opposite 325 Osceola avenue was built of shell rock, and was over two feet thick, with one portion of cement to six of sand. The foundation in the sidewalk at Nos. 1394 to 1396 Marshall avenue was not made more than three inches deep with one part cement to ten of sand, and some cracked tiles used. The Eureka Stone company was allowed to construct a walk with a two inch half-inch excavation; one part cement and ten parts of sand in foundation, and fifty-one cracked, cracked or broken tiles.

At Dewey and Perona the Portland Stone company laid a defective walk, the composition being one of cement to seven of sand. The same conditions exist as to sidewalks on Hague, both sides of Grotto, laid by the same concern.

Inspector George Bantz, it is charged, has not remained on duty at the shop of the Portland Stone company to exceed four hours a day on an average between periods of from half an hour to one hour a day. All this time the tiles were being manufactured for contract work. "That instead of inspecting and determining personally said proportions, he makes his report by taking the number of the unreported statements of the workmen engaged in said work; that one of the duties of said inspector is to mark the tiles manufactured each day with the number of the month and day, in order to keep a record of the number manufactured, which duty he has totally disregarded."

The comptroller after reading the protest and affidavit ordered the payment of June salaries to the two inspectors held up until he could hear from Mayor Kiefer, to whom the papers were referred for an investigation. Mayor Kiefer in turn referred the matter to the board of public work, noting on the papers that as mayor he had nothing to do with the employees of the city engineering department.

The board of public works had no meeting yesterday afternoon and consequently the charges were not discussed. The members of the board expressed satisfaction that the charges were brought in such a shape that a formal investigation could be made. The investigation and its understanding, will be taken up at the meeting of the board Monday.

City Engineer Rundlett, when asked about the matter last evening, said in his opinion there was nothing to them. The contract for laying cement sidewalk was let by the city this year to the Portland Stone company at 82 cents per square foot. The Eureka Stone company and the St. Paul Sidewalk company also handed in bids, but as both firms bid 92 cents per square foot the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, the Portland Stone company. Under the contract there were about seven miles of cement walk ordered this year and the work of manufacture and laying the walks had to be inspected. Last year the St. Paul Sidewalk company, of which Andrew J. Hohan at that time was president, had the contract for laying cement walks, the price paid being 11 1/4 cents. Last year the city inspected only the blocks and sidewalks laid by the city contractor. This year the council and board of public works had ordered that the city inspectors should not only inspect the private work, but also the work done by city contractors. Under his direction the inspectors had been giving the work done by private contractors attention and the specifications were strictly enforced.

Hickey and Bantz, the city engineer said, were both capable men. Hickey had been engaged in the work for a number of years and Bantz, who was a bricklayer by trade, had been working as in-
