

MINNEAPOLIS.

THESE ALSO SIZZLE.

State making of all sizes and shapes seems to be the order of the day in Hennepin county politics. This can truthfully be said of both parties, but particularly of the Republican party, which seems to have no end to the number of candidates for every office in sight. The new primary law, which will regulate the choice of candidates by popular vote, is likely to be the means of teaching the bosses a good and well merited lesson. Clubs may be organized, as they are being, in the interest of certain candidates, but it is safe to say that the men who seek the office will not succeed because they want to. This is the unpleasant feature of the new law which is worrying the bosses, and there is considerable talk in back rooms of the wisdom of testing its constitutionality. As it applies only to Hennepin county, the dictators think it might be declared void on the grounds of special legislation. The taxpayers, who furnish the powder for the hunters after offices, hope in case the law is tested that its constitutionality will be upheld.

Several days ago the Globe directed the attention of its readers to combinations which were being made to defeat Loren Fletcher for congress. Since then a few of those who are in the deal took particular pains to deny any such attempt on their part, but just the same they are fishing around for some man stronger than Mr. Fletcher. There is no denying the fact that a few Republicans are jealous of "Uncle" Loren, and in their desperation to place him high and dry, like the logs in the St. Croix, have given out a "feeler" in the shape of naming ex-Congressman J. B. Gillilan as Fletcher's most probable successor. Away back in the 80's Fletcher had congressional aspirations. That was the time when the old Fourth congressional district comprised Ramsey, Isanti, Chisago, Washington and Hennepin counties. The convention was held in St. Paul, and the Ramsey delegation, fearing that Fletcher would succeed, laid their plans to defeat him, and they did. They won over one Barker, of Isanti, who went to the convention, pledged to support Fletcher, but being a susceptible make-up, voted for Gillilan at the critical moment. Had Barker voted as he was instructed, Fletcher would have won out. The Ramsey delegation, knowing Fletcher's strength, selected Gillilan, and he was nominated and elected. He served one term, when he was laid away. As a politician he was a failure. Col. M. W. Glenn, who has participated in more political seances in Hennepin county than any other man, used to say that Gillilan was the only man he could ever find in midsummer, shed ticles over his grandmother's grave. Now he is being groomed for congress by a few Republicans who think Fletcher has had enough congressional honors. He will undoubtedly share the same fate that Nelson Williams shared when he wanted to be postmaster. Tom Shirlin is being urged to take the field against Fletcher, and for a time he thought well of the idea, but yesterday's developments indicate a change of front on his part. A personal friend of Mr. Shirlin said yesterday that the latter had some idea of making the run against Fletcher, but after looking over the field concluded he would support him. This undoubtedly would indicate that Fletcher is going to have a renomination without much opposition. Shirlin is a very popular man, has lots of good common sense and would make an ideal congressman. His withdrawal at this early date in Fletcher's favor indicates nothing less than the latter's renomination. How the opposition will take this is difficult to say just now, but it is safe to predict that they will continue their little war on "Uncle" Loren.

It is whispered in the inner circles of "good government" that the Citizens' League is determined to put up a candidate of their own for mayor next time. From time to time they have taken quite an interest in the local affairs, but when it came to untying their purse strings they were always slow to act. It is said now, on the best of authority, that they will go in next time to win. That means that those fellows with an abundance of "loosen up" a little and see what a few silver dollars judiciously invested will bring. Some of them have already declared in favor of E. J. Phelps, chairman of the board of trade. There are others who think Mr. Phelps too liberal for the place, and their choice is D. M. Chute. Mr. Chute is a man of large ideas of his own importance, and would, if nominated, be the easiest man in the city to defeat. He is not popular by any means, and therefore could not expect to be elected. On the other hand, Mr. Phelps is very progressive, of strong convictions, and would make a formidable candidate. It is, however, well known that he has no political aspirations; that his ambition is to build up the board of trade to a degree of power and influence never attained before. It is difficult to see at this time how he could be induced to enter politics with so many more important matters to be attended to.

Notwithstanding the fact that Comptroller Joshua Rogers sent a communication to the city council a short time ago warning the heads of departments against the fallacy of supposing they could overdraw their appropriations, Mayor Gray continues to fill vacancies on the police force. The police appropriation is already overdrawn some $3,000, and unless some more vacancies are created by his honor there will be some tall figuring to be done at the end of the year. It is possible the mayor figures on getting on the right side of "Uncle" Joshua, but those who know the "watchdog of the treasury" do not hesitate to say that when he says no he means it, and nothing less than a mandamus will force the old man to recede an inch.

Though it is almost six months before the city council will elect a chief of the fire department, the question of candidates is being discussed already. It is a well-known fact that ex-Chief F. L. Stetson is a candidate for his old place. Stetson is a Democrat, and it was on this account that Canterbury, a Republican, was put in his place. The day before the last annual meeting of the council Stetson was sure of reappointment, but when the time came he was out. This, the Republican allies did not hesitate to say, was due to the action of Mayor Gray in notifying some seventy-five men on the police force, who were regarded as Republicans, that he would soon dispense with their services. Stetson, though an ideal chief, was sacrificed to atone for the mayor's mistake. This is also true of ex-City Engineer Cappellen, who was also a Democrat. When these two heads of departments found themselves shelved because of Gray's course they waited upon the latter and told him in the plainest English what they thought of him. Stetson was always regarded as the best chief the fire department ever had, and Republican aldermen, who engineered his defeat, have since admitted that they made a mistake. This would indicate that when the city council holds its first meeting in 1900, F. L. Stetson will be placed in charge of the fire department, not because of his politics, but because of his fitness for the position.

An old familiar form again adorns the office of the poor department. It is that of Lars Ovre. For many years Mr. Ovre was assistant superintendent of the poor, but a couple of years ago was relieved to make room for another. Mayor Gray did a gracious act when he restored Mr. Ovre to the place he filled so long and so satisfactorily to his superiors and the public. He is one of the few men in Minneapolis who can speak and write almost a dozen different languages, and is, therefore, a most valuable man for the place. It is hoped that future administrations will recognize his worth and give him something even better than what he has at present.

NICARAGUAN REVOLTS.

Latest is Causing President Zelaya Serious Concern.

MOBILE, Ala., July 22.—Mail advices from Central America by the last fruit steamer indicate that the latest revolt in Nicaragua in the Meridional department, is causing the administration of President Zelaya serious concern. Since the rising of Gen. Reyes, in the Bluefield region, there have been a series of unsuccessful attempts against Zelaya, that he has subsided with the aid from the liberal administration of Honduras and Salvador. It is said in a letter received in this city yesterday that Zelaya has issued an order for a forced loan of $500,000, to be raised immediately, and that his proclamation instructs the departmental commanders to insist that every available man in the territory is Miss Sarah M. Burks, a jolly, sturdy and brave little woman about twenty-five years old, who carries the United States mail over the star route from St. John's to Jintown twice a week. The distance from St. John's to the end of the route is fifty-two miles, and it requires a good deal of stout-heartedness, a liberal supply of confidence and a dash of love of adventure for any one to make the trip.

Miss Burks' mail route leads through a wild and desolate region as one can well imagine. Rocky, barren, mountainous and blasted are weak adjectives for describing the wild streams there are poisoned with alkali. Naveyo Indians, and occasionally an Apache, who has left the reservation, are somewhat plentiful in that region,

BOOTH-TUCKER BUSY

WILL HAVE LITTLE TIME TO REST WHILE IN THE TWIN CITIES

HEAD OF SALVATION ARMY

In the West to Specially Study Labor Conditions and Also to Consider the Question of Establishing a Colony in Minnesota—Valuable Mining Property Involved in a Suit Begun at Minneapolis.

GLOBE-MINNEAPOLIS OFFICE, 20 WASHINGTON AV. SOUTH Advertising—Tel. 2790—J-1. Subscriptions—Tel. 2790—J-4

Commander F. DaL. Booth-Tucker, the head of the Salvation Army in the United States, arrived in Minneapolis yesterday morning, after five weeks of incessant travel. After greeting Brigadier William Halpin, Staff Captain A. E. Kimball and a score of visiting officers from the neighboring corps, he was conveyed to the home of former Mayor Robert Pratt, where he took a few hours of much needed rest before entering upon a local campaign.

Commander Booth-Tucker will remain in Minneapolis three days. There are six engagements for him today, and special services will be held all day in Century Music hall, at which place the visitor's voice will be heard several times. At 3 p. m. he speaks on the Salvation Army's colonies. Monday night he speaks at St. Paul and Tuesday night in the army hall in Minneapolis. Although injured by being thrown from a train at Dodge City, Kan., three weeks ago, Commander Booth-Tucker has continued to fill his engagements. Commander Booth-Tucker has been in Minneapolis before, and was here a little more than a year ago with Gen. Ballington Booth. This visit to Minneapolis is part of an itinerary which included New York, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Tacoma and hundreds of intermediate places. In coming to Minneapolis, Commander Booth-Tucker has in mind a special study of local labor conditions, with a view to establishing, if practicable, a Salvation Army lodging house, such as the army maintains in New York and dozens of other cities where there are congested communities of poor people.

The army does more than a simple hotel business. It takes an active interest in the guest's welfare. The average price charged for a lodging is 10 cents a night, with a guarantee of comfort and cleanliness. But the lodge is also given a chance to do something for himself and many of the regular lodgers have steady work.

Commander Booth-Tucker showed the liveliest interest in local conditions and interviewed the reporter sent to interview him at great length. "If I were not so tired out and had more time," said the commander, "I would spend a night in one of the lodging houses here and a day in investigating. Of course, when I sleep in one of those places I wear ordinary street clothes and take a bed just as any one else would. One cannot learn the facts of these places by remaining one hour. He must stay the night out. Of course, that means no sleep and an entire change of clothing in the morning. But one learns just what the conditions are."

Another thing which Commander Booth has in mind is the establishment somewhere in Minnesota of a colony similar to those now flourishing in Colorado and California. They were purchased for a nominal sum and are being utilized for the practical teaching of hundreds of tenement graduates, the blessings of intensive farming.

HEAVY DAMAGES CLAIMED.

Mining Property Said to Be Worth Millions Is Involved.

A $25,000 damage suit, involving mining property in Whatcom county, Washington, alleged to be worth $5,000,000, has been commenced in the district court of Hennepin county. The plaintiff is Julius W. Landulet, of Minneapolis. The defendant is Swanty Swanson, also a Minneapolitan. The light promises to be an important one, as the property has been improved with the latest mining appliances for placer gold mining, and will be ready to begin operations within two or three months. In fact, the case is already on its way to the supreme court. Judge Simpson yesterday morning having sustained a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

The suit, besides being rather unique in its grounds, raises an important question, viz., can the plaintiff sue the defendant for damages on account of an alleged breach of contract between the defendant and a third party? On that question hangs the whole case.

Pitman Injured.

The first accident to occur in the Minneapolis fire department as the result of the recent order promulgated by Chief Canterbury, requiring all members of engine and hook and ladder companies, excepting stokers and drivers, to drill with Pompey ladders, occurred Friday at Station A, where the drill is held. William Hagman, a pipeman of No. 3 engine, was struck in the face with one of the ladder's rungs, and another man of the drilling team, Hagman's hip was cut and an eye painfully bruised.

Avenue All Ablaze.

The celebration of the re-opening of Plymouth avenue through the business portion of that thoroughfare last evening was a success for the length of seven blocks where the new brick pavement has been laid was lighted with Pompey ladders, lanterns, colored lights and illuminations. Every store and house along the avenue was handsomely decorated, and the entire neighborhood had on its holiday attire. From 8 o'clock in the evening until 11 o'clock the avenue was thronged with thousands of people, the biggest crowd that was ever assembled on that street.

Big Crowd Coming.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis will bring a thousand excursionists into Minneapolis today on its special trains from the western division. On the Des Moines excursion, to be run a week from Sunday, there will be fully half this number, though the distance is considerably greater.

Woodmen Will Dedicate.

The first monument unveiling and dedicatory ceremonies of the W. O. W. men of the city in Minneapolis, will take place today at Lakewood cemetery, 3 o'clock. The oration will be by Frank M. Nye.

MINNEAPOLIS BREVITIES.

Mounted Patrolman Henry J. Johnson is lying seriously ill at his home, 2349 O'Connell street, suffering with an attack of appendicitis. He was taken ill Wednesday night while on duty.

Mrs. Ballington Booth, of the Volunteer Firemen's Association, of Company D, who acted the part of a Spanish prisoner. The uniform and arms were brought to this state from Manila by one of the Thirteenth Minnesota boys. The acting officers in the parade were Percy A. Walton, of Company D, as Gov. Lind; P. J. Murphy, of Company L, as General Minnie Frank Kallbauer, of Company F, as Gen. G. H. B. Smith, and Sergeant Joe Ehrmantraut, of Company A, as colonel.

The review and parade were held on the parade grounds. Gov. Lind was among the onlookers, and seemed to enjoy the maneuvers very much.

FAVORED THE BANKS.

Known Operations in Money the Past Week.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The New York Financial says this week:

The reduction of $12,000,000 in the deposits of the New York banks, last week, lightened reserve requirements about $3,000,000. The institutions, however, according to their current statement, lost $1,480,000. The reason the increase in surplus reserve was only $1,520,000, which brings present holdings $12,650,000 above legal requirements. The decrease in loans was nearly $19,000,000. In the New York banks have contracted outstanding loans—obligations no less than $24,000,000. In the same time, two deposits have been decreased nearly $1,000,000, while the cash in bank has remained stationary.

"It will be seen that reserves have been strengthened at the expense of outstanding commitments, and the process does not appear to have reached an end as yet. There is no question, however, that the banks are now gaining cash, even if the statement does indicate otherwise."

The week was decidedly one of money tightness. The current flow of money last week was decidedly in the hands of the institutions, the loss of $750,000 to the treasury having been offset by the gain of $1,000,000 to the interior. The current flow of money last week, but it is to be said that the losses shown, can be traced to two or three large banks, the remaining members having really strengthened their positions.

"As to the outlook, the opinion is that there is nothing in the situation at present to warrant an undue expansion in the money market. The liquidation, which began with July, has run its course, and a large extent, and while the present is a midseason period, the movement of money will probably continue this way for some time. Foreign exchange authorities agree that gold exports are special transactions, are at an end, and while the crop season is near at hand it is not anticipated that the demand this year will cause much drain from New York. Interior bank reserves are above the average, and this, coupled with easier rates for money abroad and the certainty that exchange will rule in favor of New York with the coming grain exports, seems to favor a relaxation rather than a rise in rates here for the time being."

TALLULA LYNCHINGS.

Little Fear That They Will Cause Trouble With Italy.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The lynching of five Italians in Louisiana yesterday promises to assume an international aspect through the action of the Italian government. Count Vinchi, the Italian charge d'affaires, called at the state department early this morning and made representations to the department concerning the atrocity in Louisiana. In order to get full information as a basis for action, the secretary of state, Mr. Hay thereupon requested the governor of Louisiana, requesting all the facts in the case. The affair is considered in official Italian quarters as much like that in the Mafia case in New Orleans, while Mr. Blaine was secretary of state, at which time the Italian minister, Baron Yvica, called for his transports and left the country. Bar Yvica is now in Rome on vacation, and during his absence Count Vinchi has charge of Italian affairs in this country.

BATON ROUGE, La., July 22.—Gov. Foster has received a telegram from the secretary of state at Washington announcing that the Italian charge has applied to him for information as to the recent lynching of Italians in the parish of Madison and demanding protection for other Italians in that section of the state. Gov. Foster has wired to the sheriff of Madison parish and requested him to furnish him all the facts.

FOURTH'S GALA DAY

GOVERNOR AND THE MEMBERS OF HIS STAFF THE REGIMENT'S GUESTS

ELABORATE MOCK PARADE

Function the Most Successful of the Season at Camp Lakeview—Quarters to Be Inspected Today by the Executive of the State—Weather Warm, But Not Hot Enough to Mar the Day.

CAMP LAKEVIEW, Lake City, Minn., July 22.—(Special.)—This has been the greatest day that the national guard has had at Camp Lakeview this season, owing in a great measure to the presence of the governor and his staff and other distinguished visitors. The weather might have been cooler, but still it was not hot enough to mar any of the pleasures of the day. Gov. Lind, his wife and two daughters, Jennie and Wilfred, and Miss Young, the daughter of Senator Young, arrived in camp last evening, and will remain until Monday morning. A tent has been set up near the hospital building for his accommodation.

The governor was astrir this morning early to look over the camp. This morning he visited the rifle range, and tried his hand at shooting with the rattling gun at 500 yards. In company with Maj. Edwards, of his staff, he called on the officers of the artillery camp, just before the noon hour. As soon as the officers saw the governor approaching orders were given for the batteries to fall in. Battery B tendered three cheers for the governor, while Battery A fired the regulation salute of fourteen guns, and also gave three cheers.

Governor's day is never complete without a mock parade, and accordingly the members of the Fourth participated in one this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was the finest mock parade ever held at this camp. The most novel attire in the parade was the Spanish uniform and side arms worn by George Ebert, of Company D, who acted the part of a Spanish prisoner. The uniform and arms were brought to this state from Manila by one of the Thirteenth Minnesota boys. The acting officers in the parade were Percy A. Walton, of Company D, as Gov. Lind; P. J. Murphy, of Company L, as General Minnie Frank Kallbauer, of Company F, as Gen. G. H. B. Smith, and Sergeant Joe Ehrmantraut, of Company A, as colonel.

The review and parade were held on the parade grounds. Gov. Lind was among the onlookers, and seemed to enjoy the maneuvers very much.

Those of the governor's staff who were present at camp today were: Gen. Stone, Ludlow and Lambert; Majs. Viall, Edwards and Whitcomb, and Col. Roland N. Hartley.

This morning the command was furnished with blank ammunition and marched to the parade grounds for battalion drill in extended order. On account of the mock parade the boys were excused from drill this afternoon.

Tonorrow morning the governor will accompany the colonel, surgeon and officer of the day through the camp, to hold the daily sanitary inspection. The regular Sunday morning inspection of the regiment and camp will be held by Capt. O. E. Lee.

Corporals Belden, of Company M, and Besset, of Company A, were ordered by brigade headquarters to accompany the guard detail for tomorrow as follows: Officer of the day, Capt. Holton, company B; officers of the guard, Lieuts. Clay, of Company E, and Meyerding, of Company A.

All flags were at half mast today in respect of Col. Shandrew's death. Governor Gray, of Minnesota, did not return home with the parade this evening, but remained in camp until this morning.

Last night, after band concert, Company D served a dinner for the members of the governor and a party of friends.

Mrs. S. G. Fulmer, wife of Lieut. Fulmer, of Company F, and securing quite a reputation for herself as a crack shot. At the range today she made a score of 37 out of a possible 50, with the regulation target.

Miss March, the young lady who was injured on the bluff yesterday, is greatly improved today and was able to go out in the ambulance to witness the mock parade.

Those of the governor's staff who came down on the fast mail this afternoon were: Gen. Bond, Friberger, Schow; Col. Hardy, Hawthorne, Hawkins, Bergmeier and Brandt.

Work at the 200-yard range was carried on in earnest today and a great many shots were fired.

Other guests who arrived to visit camp and attend the reception at Lake City this evening were: Chester R. Smith, of the St. Paul and Northern Pacific; Featherstone, of Red Wing; Miss Hartman, of Mankato; Mrs. Basson, of St. Paul; Miss Selzer, of St. Peter; Mrs. Bannister, of Mankato; Mrs. Wood and Miss Wood, of St. Paul.

BATTERY NOTES.

Maj. Libbey is very much put out at the manner in which he and his command have been treated by the medical department. He has no surgeon, no aid and has not had a sanitary inspection since they arrived in camp.

The gun drill this morning was the best executed in the history of the regiment. In limbering the pieces for action and loading and firing the guns, the men executed the orders very rapidly.

Corporal Williams is acting as guide for Battery B.

Mounted inspection will be held by Capt. O. E. Lee tomorrow morning on the parade grounds. The merrymakers were met by delegation of citizens and the Granite City band and escorted to Empire park, which had been fitted with seats and benches for the occasion. In the afternoon a programme of athletic sports for the employees only was indulged in.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF CANNON FALLS ADOPTS MR. SCOFFIELD'S PLAN

BELL WILL GIVE WARNING

Chief of Police Instructed to Keep a Lookout and to Sound the Signal Upon the Approach of a Dangerous Storm That People May Seek Places of Safety—Northwest News.

CANNON FALLS, Minn., July 22.—(Special.)—The village council of Cannon Falls has acted upon the plan proposed by James L. Scofield, of this place, to provide for warning of approaching cyclonic storms and has embodied his ideas in an ordinance recently adopted.

Under the terms of the ordinance the chief of police of the village is instructed to keep a look out for all dangerous storms, and if a tornado or cyclone should be seen approaching to give an alarm by three quick rings on the fire bell, followed by a short pause, repeating it in the same manner until all may know the nature of the signal and thus be warned to seek a place of safety. This signal will never be used for any other purpose.

The council will publish the ordinance in the spring of each year and will request the superintendent of schools to explain by illustration the signal to the pupils at least once a year. This will keep the signal familiar to the people. The place of observance will be publicly accessible to a fire or church bell, and will be elevated enough to command a view of the country to the west for at least three miles.
