MONEY PAID OUT ILLEGALLY

Auditor Johnson Explains That Mr. Bourne Was Trying to Favor the St. Paul Tax Bidders at the Expense of a Minneapolis Firm—Will Give Public Examiner All the Assistance in His Power.

County Auditor W. R. Johnson was yesterday notified informally by County Attorney Bigelow that about $2,000, that had been illegally paid out by the county treasurer on auditor's warrants, must be returned to the treasury. Furthermore, a warrant presented yesterday for payment by Charles Clifford was refused, as the result of the investigation of the auditor's office is now undergoing at the hands of Bank Examiner Pope and his assistants.

Investigation of the books covering several days disclosed the fact that $2,324.43, that had been bid as premiums on the 1897 tax sales that took place last May, had been refunded to the bidders May, had been refunded to the bidders in alleged violation of the law that provides that the premiums must remain in the county treasury until the property covered has been redeemed. All day yesterday the state examiners were at work on the books, and last night it was developed that all of the money refunded, with the exception of about $2,000, was on property that has since been redeemed. This $2,000, County Auditor Johnson has been advised, will have to be replaced in the treasury.

A representative of Martindale & Co., of Minneapolis, who had purchased a number of the certificates, and who had not received his rebate, appeared in the office yesterday morning to present his claim, but was refused, after a personal interview with the auditor. Payment was also refused on a warrant that had been drawn in favor of Charles Clifford.

"I have no further statement to make in regard to this affair," said County Auditor Johnson last evening. "I shall await the report of the bank examiner. It appears the matter involves a much smaller amount than at first appeared. It seems that Mr. Bourne was trying to favor the St. Paul tax bidders at the expense of the Minneapolis firm. The latter instituted the system of bidding premiums, and Mr. Bourne was much opposed to it. It was never done prior to 1898. The county derived no benefit from the premium money under any circumstances. I intend hereafter to be kept informed in regard to all the details of this office, and shall have an understanding to that effect with Mr. Bourne when he returns from his farm, whither he went this morning. So far as this investigation is concerned I shall see Gen.

NOMINATED BY LAND

GOVERNOR SUGGESTS NAMES OF OFFICERS FOR THE NEW VOLUNTEER REGIMENTS

ALL POLITICS IS BARRED

High Committment Paid to Maj. Fred B. Wood, of the Second Minnesota Infantry, Who Served in the Same Regiment in Which Gov. Lind Was Quartermaster—Man of Unusual Tact and Ability.

Gov. Lind yesterday acted upon the telegram from the secretary of war of the 13th inst., requesting that he name two officers from the volunteer regiments for position in the proposed volunteer regiments.

Last evening he sent the following dispatch to Washington:

"In response to your telegram of Aug. 13 I would suggest the following names for the proposed volunteer regiments: Twelfth Minnesota—Albert Steinhagen, captain Company A; Perrin S. Smith, captain Company H; Fourteenth Minnesota—Alexander B. Coxe, first lieutenant quartermaster; Eugene C. Monfort, Company H. Fifteenth Minnesota—Amasa S. Crossfield, captain Company E; William A. Edwards, first lieutenant, Company L.

"No regard has been paid to the political affiliations of the officers named. All the men are of excellent character, vigorous physique and under 40 years of age, with the exception of Capt. Crossfield, who is 41 years old. If his age is a bar to his appointment I should be pleased to suggest another name in his place.

"Not being able to communicate with the officers of the Thirteenth Minnesota, I would respectfully request that I be permitted to submit the names from that regiment as soon as it arrived at San Francisco.

"I earnestly recommend the appointment of Fred B. Wood, major of the Second Infantry of Minnesota, late of Company G, Twelfth Infantry, M. S. N. G., as major. He is an excellent officer, splendid physique and possessed of unusual tact and ability in handling men. I was quartermaster of the regiment in which he served."

A Washington dispatch bearing upon the nomination of a new regiment, at Fort Snelling says: "It is quite probable that a battalion of the Second United States Infantry, now in Cuba, will be ordered to Fort Snelling before long. Secretary Root has decided to bring home a portion of the First, Second, Eighth and ninth regiments. Capt. Fremont, of the Second, will undoubtedly be assigned to Snelling. Col. Carter, in charge of organization, will be ordered to St. Paul and instructions were sent yesterday to the depot quartermaster to hasten all details."

TWO OF THE COLONELS.

Men Selected to Command Two of the Regiments.

Maj. E. A. Godwin, of the Eighth United States cavalry, yesterday received notice of his appointment as colonel of one of the new federal volunteer regiments, but as yet he does not know to which regiment he will be assigned or where he will be stationed. For the past few weeks this far and with excellent results, he has been in charge of the purchase of cavalry horses for the army. He has bought about two hundred horses thus far and will receive his unit further orders as received.

Maj. J. H. Dorst, who has been appointed colonel of the new Forty-fifth Infantry, and who will come to Fort Snelling, will be remembered as being the first officer to land troops on Cuban soil at the outbreak of the Spanish war. The commander of the Gussie expedition he led a company of the Twelfth Infantry over a heavy fire, his bravery winning the admiration of the entire army. The Gussie was the first of the new federal volunteers and while Col. Dorst engineered his part of the work the movements of the steamer had become known and some newspapers made much merit about it.

President Lowry expressed himself as very pleased with the condition of the line, which he said would be opened to the public travel Sunday morning.

VISIT FROM CONGRESS

PLANS TO HAVE THE REPRESENTATIVES VISIT THE PROPOSED MINNESOTA PARK

DETAILS OF THE JOURNEY

Will Come to St. Paul After Re-deavouring in Chicago—Will Be Divided Into Parties When the Region is Reached—An Itinerary Prepared for Them—A Trip Proposed for September.

The next step in the movement for the proposed Minnesota forest reserve will probably be a visit to the proposed park by congressmen. The subject of having as many congressmen visit Northern Minnesota was talked over at the recent meeting in Chicago and details for the trip are now being worked out. If the plans carry the rendezvous for the congressional party will be in Chicago. They will probably leave Chicago in the last week of September, it being the wish to interfere with the dates of the Dewey reception exercises, at which many members of congress will wish to be present. The time consumed in the trip will be about two weeks, from Chicago and return to the same city. When they reach St. Paul, to which the entire special train of perhaps more than 100 guests will be carried by the courtiers of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway, the party will be received by the Commercial club and given a banquet on the evening of their arrival. The handling of the party north of St. Paul will be one of those problems which are engaging the thought of several railroad men who are now up in the pine woods taking notes and making estimates.

As yet no such notes have been published, hence it may be interesting to take a map and figure out something of the problem from the advance sheets of the schedule suggested by one railroad man. It is likely that the program thus outlined may be followed in part, though it may be varied by taking some or all of the members of the party from Lake Itasca down the Mississippi river by rowboat to Bemidji, where the party will be taken to the proposed park. The party will be taken to Bemidji by boat and from there to the proposed park. The party will be taken to Bemidji by boat and from there to the proposed park. ## ENLARGEMENT OF COMO PARK

TESTIMONY REGARDING VALUE OF LAND TO BE TAKEN IS LISTENED TO

J. C. Quinby, Representing the St. Paul Realty and Investment Company, is Heard—Places the Value of Twenty-One Lots at $10,000.

The assessment for the enlargement of Como park was taken up yesterday by the board of public works, and testimony regarding the value of the land to be taken was introduced. The board of public works, at the order of the park board, has commenced proceedings for the condemnation of about sixteen acres of land which it is the intention of adding to the northwestern end of the park. The property proposed to be taken is owned by the St. Paul Realty and Investment company and Joshua Robertson.

J. C. Quinby, who is one of the parties interested in the real estate company, appeared before the board yesterday and was heard in regard to the value of the twenty-one lots, embracing about seven and a half acres. Mr. Quinby testified that the land was worth about $10,000, and that the assessment of $100 per acre was a fair and reasonable price.

Mr. Quinby also testified that the land had been held by the company, which had paid taxes and interest on the same without a chance of selling, as on that date the first order from the park board was sent to the board of public works directing the condemnation for park purposes.

R. L. Gorman, George H. Hazard and P. T. Kavanagh were called as experts by Mr. Quinby to testify as to the value of the land, and all agreed that the price fixed by Mr. Quinby was a reasonable one considering the circumstances.

Joshua Robertson places the value of the nine acres owned by him at $80 per acre, but no testimony was gone into to the value of this property. In November, 1888, the then board of public works made an assessment for the enlargement of the park and placed the value of the land at $1,750, but in order to even things up made the benefits at the same figures and assessed the amount on the adjoining property. The court interested took the assessment into account and had it set aside on a technical ground.

W. L. Chapin, who appeared for Mr. Quinby, testified that if the board did not fix the amount to be paid at a fair and reasonable figure the assessment would be appealed to the courts. He argued that the property benefited by the enlargement of the park would be that in the park, and in that case the charter provided that the amount could be paid from the general fund. This, he said, was the proper course, and if the land was taken the benefits should be assessed against Como park, instead of the adjacent property, and the money paid from the general fund.

The board adjourned the hearing for one week.

WILL ADVISE MR. HODGSON.

James C. Michael Appointed Attorney in Savings Bank Receivership.

The appointment of James C. Michael as attorney for Receiver E. J. Hodgson, of the savings bank of St. Paul, is the first that will, it is said, give a much satisfaction as was the naming of Mr. Hodgson for receiver. A number of receiverships had been in legal control of Mr. Michael, and he possesses complete information concerning his duties in the present case.

Yesterday receiver Hodgson was busy preparing his bond for the faithful performance of his trust. It is said there was considerable cutting and slashing of rates among the different bond companies, and the outlook may be considered good for the new receiver to secure his bond at a low figure. His acceptance of the trust has been filed by Mr. Hodgson, and he is expected to assume control of the bank's assets today, thus reducing the bank to a state of liquidation. It is the opinion of Mr. Michael that it will require three years in which to wind up the affairs of the bank so far as the duties of a receiver are concerned. The mortgaged securities will occasion the most delay, as in many cases foreclosure will have to be made, and then will follow the delay in acquiring title.

The office of the receiver will not be in the bank, but the quarters will be secured where the receiver and his attorney can readily communicate with each other.
