HITCH IN THE PLANS

THE PROJECT FOR A NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MAY YET FAIL.

MEMBERS GETTING IMPATIENT

It Has Not Been Possible to Secure All the Property Desired, and, Failing in This, the Plans Must Be Altered in a Way Not Satisfactory to All Who Are Interested—News of the Mill City.

There is, apparently, a serious hitch existing or pending in the consideration of the plans for the new Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce building. While there is an indisposition on the part of those directly concerned to discuss the matter, the facts seem to be fairly well understood that Mr. Lowry's plans, notwithstanding that gentleman's repeated efforts to get them into acceptable shape, are not approved by the representatives of the chamber.

The general talk yesterday reflected a spirit of growing impatience over the delay, and some members of the chamber boldly put forth the suggestion that the courts should be called upon to annul the vote of the directors accepting Mr. Lowry's original offer.

SHOT TO DEATH.

James Birch Is Killed While Fighting a Policeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 21.—James Birch, who came to this city two years ago from Louisville, was shot and killed by Patrolman M. C. Warren, at Birch's home this afternoon. Before he was killed Birch shot the policeman twice, making serious, but not necessarily fatal wounds. Birch and his wife were entertaining a party of friends and were drinking beer. Trouble arose, and Birch, it is alleged, struck his wife with a fish. A woman living in the block called the attention of the police to the case and he went to make an investigation. When he stepped into the room Birch ordered him out. He refused to go, and Birch reached for his revolver. Warren struck him with his club and Birch then opened fire. Mrs. Birch ran between the men, and one of the bullets intended for the officer struck her in the arm. As soon as Warren could get hold of his revolver he fired five shots at Birch, all of which took effect.

WIPE OUT A TOWN

FIRE CARRIES PANIC TO THE RESIDENTS OF VICTOR, IN CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT.

BUSINESS PORTION DESTROYED

Two Million Dollars Will Not More Than Cover Losses Sustained by the Owners of Property Burned—Dynamite Used to Check Advance of Flames, but Failed, Owing to Inflammable Material.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Aug. 21.—A fire has utterly destroyed the business portion of the city of Victor, causing a loss estimated at $2,000,000. Beginning shortly after noon the fire raged until evening, consuming everything in its way. It had its origin, it is thought, in the Merchants' cafe, adjoining the Bank of Victor, on the corner of Third street and Victor avenue. A strong wind from the south fanned the flames and in a few minutes all the surrounding houses were afire.

MADE A CLEAN SWEEP.

The fire claimed the Bank of Victor, the postoffice on the corner opposite, crossed Third street and followed the row of blocks between Third and Fourth streets to the north, taking the Victor Banking company, the Western Union Telegraph company's office and the office of the Colorado Telephone company, the Hotel Victor on the opposite side of Fourth and the three shaft houses of the Gold Coin Mining company and its ore bins, among the largest in Cripple Creek district.

From there the flames were swept northward by the half hurricane which was blowing and never stopped until they had taken the Florence and Cripple Creek depots and the fine new depot of the Northern Pacific, which stands on the corner of Fourth street. All the buildings between those are a total loss, with practically their contents, for the flames were so rapid in their progress that nothing could be saved.

PEOPLE IN A PANIC.

The scenes of the great Cripple Creek fire were duplicated. Hurrying before the roaring flames went men, women and children, carrying what they could snatch from the flames. The crash of buildings torn asunder by dynamite and the crackle of the flames as they consumed the dry buildings and the river, and the pall of smoke added a terror to the spectacle.

A special train was placed at the command of this hour, and the Cripple Creek railroad and three companies of firemen, with apparatus, were rushed to the scene. They worked all afternoon in a vain endeavor to stay the march of the flames. The residence portion of the city has suffered comparatively little, but the business portion is paralyzed and the river is bound to follow. The burned area may be thoroughly designated as the space between the head of North street and Victor avenue, extending from the Gold Coin mine buildings on the west to a point near Second street, and down Third street almost to Diamond avenue. It is thought that about 6 p. m. the fire can be prevented from spreading any further. The loss has now reached $2,000,000.

The first house was built in Victor in October, 1893. In July of the following year the city was incorporated and six years later it contained 10,000 people. That is about the population now.

The Duluth delegation is working for the next meeting of the great council, as are also Walker and St. Cloud. The session promises to be very interesting and there are probably 300 visitors present.

He thinks a three days session will be all that is necessary to insure all the boys riding home free.

charges against him, even the most obvious and least important things, and in declaring himself ignorant of matters which should have been known to every officer of the general staff.

The witness said he was cognizant of Dreyfus' relations with those women. In support of this assertion, he mentioned an alleged voluntary statement made by Mathieu Dreyfus, brother of the prisoner, in the witness' presence, that he had been obliged to pull his brother from the clutches of a woman of this description living near the Champs Elysees.

M. Grillel recapitulated the discovery of the leakage at military headquarters, the arrival of the bordereau, etc., and dwelt on the system of espionage conducted under cover of diplomatic immunity, by agents "A" and "B" and "C."

DISCOVERY OF BORDEREAU. Maj. Lauth followed. He traversed the ground covered by the evidence before the original division of the court of cassation in regard to the circumstances under which Henry communicated the bordereau. He said that when the bordereau reached the intelligence department Henry was absolutely the only officer who knew the agent who furnished it, and was the only officer known to the agent. He explained the appointments with the foreign spy in question only on the evenings at 8 or 9 o'clock at night, at various places, so it was impossible for Henry to hand the papers received to Col. Sandherr, the same evening.

Next, discussing the petit bleu, Maj. Lauth said it reached Col. Picquart, enclosed in a packet, early in March. Incidentally, the witness mentioned the mission to Nancy on which Henry went, and said that when he was absent in the presence of servants, as a matter of fact, he added, the officers were very reserved before their families. Continuing, the witness proceeded to speak of Picquart's orders to destroy all evidence of the petit bleu having been torn, and to determine the office or origin by affixing a postmark.

Maj. Lauth's extremely long deposition was listened to in profound silence. He protested against Picquart's allegations against him in the course of the Traveller inquiry, when Picquart represented Lauth as the instigator, and perhaps also the writer of the Henry forgery.

UGLY ALLEGATIONS. Capt. Jukeke followed. He said he was a probationer simultaneously with Dreyfus, but in another department of the war office. He saw the prisoner a great deal and held conversations, in which, he alleged, Dreyfus spoke of great sums he had lost in gambling and intercourse with loose women.

"One day," the witness proceeded, "when we were visiting the Concours Hippique, we met three immoral women who bowed to us. Dreyfus returned their greeting, and I said to him: 'Well, for a married man, you have nice acquaintances.' He replied that they were old friends of his bachelorhood, and pointing to one of them, said her name was Valtresse and that she had a house on the Champs Elysees, where she gave nice parties."

An elevator was raised and blown several feet from its foundation on the railroad track. There was considerable damage in the country.

Missing Girl Reported. JAMES TOWN, N. D., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Jennie Dally, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Roadmaster Dally, of the Northern Pacific, disappeared mysteriously Sunday night, clad only in nightgown, and it was thought for some time that she had walked in her sleep and had fallen into the James river. Searching parties were organized and the river was dragged, but no trace of the missing girl was obtained. Late in the afternoon a telegram was received from St. Cloud, Minn., that the child was at that place. She had donned clothing belonging to her brother and in this attire had left town. At Valley City she was recognized by a conductor, who notified her parents.

UGLY REVENGE.

Incendiary Suspected of Wreaking Vengeance Upon a Minister.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The barn on the Horace Greeley estate at Chappaqua, N. Y., was partly burned early this morning. The blaze is believed to have been the work of an incendiary. Rev. F. M. Clendenin, rector of St. Peter's church of Westchester, which was burned last week, has been living on the Greeley estate this summer. When the church was burned Dr. Clendenin was at Chappaqua, and when the barn was burned this morning he was at Westchester. The burning of the barn will be regarded as strengthening the theory of incendiarism expressed by Dr. Clendenin regarding the burning of St. Peter's. Dr. Clendenin believes that St. Peter's was set on fire by some member of the "brood church" party, who had become bitter over the controversy that arose with Dr. Clendenin's protest against the ordination of Dr. Briggs in St. Peter's.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 21.—Rev. Father Stephen, rector of the monastery at Dunkirk, N. This makes Father Stephen superior of the order in North and South America, with control of the order in these two countries second only to the pope.

The governor, after a conference with representatives of different railroads, made a contract with the Burlington for transportation. The First Nebraska will be mustered out at San Francisco Wednesday.

NOT THAT OF DREYFUS.

Further Evidence of the Innocence of the Prisoner.

ROME, Aug. 21.—A prominent Italian politician, according to the Don Chistotto del Mancha, has in his possession one of the most complete documents referred to by him in his evidence in the Dreyfus case, and the handwriting is unquestionably not that of Capt. Dreyfus.

SCHNEIDER WILL SUE.

Another Sensation to Be Sprung in the Dreyfus Case.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—A dispatch from Ems says that Col. Schneider, the Austrian military attaché, whose alleged letter incriminating Dreyfus has been one of the principal weapons of the prosecution, has started for Paris with the purpose of instituting proceedings for forgery and the employment of forged documents against those responsible for the authorship and use of the letter, which he has already distinctly repudiated.

EVIDENCE EXISTS.

Can Be Shown That Dreyfus is an Innocent Man.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily News writes: "I am in a position to assert positively that both Germany and Italy have documents capable of proving that 'his French general staff had been victimized by swindling spies, employing forged and worthless documents, and that Capt. Dreyfus is in no way connected with the fraud.'"

RESORT TO FORCE.

Attack Is Made Upon House of M. Guerin.
