Mr. McGuigan Changes Place. An announcement that will be of interest to the hundreds of business men is to the effect that "Mac" has left the Dispatch Job Printing company, of which he has long been foreman. The position of superintendent with the M. S. Gray Printing company, "Mac's" full name is George McGuigan, known among his craftmen as "the man who can't set his name from one font. He has been with the Dispatch since 1889, and by a curious coincidence one of his associates in his new berth is H. A. Montgomery, the man who "taught Mac the boxes." Since that eventful period Mr. McGuigan has stuck faithfully to the "old press," and has considered one of the expert printers of the Northwest, one of a type of craftsmen rapidly dying out. He has many mechanical devices that are yearly being introduced in the art of printing. Mr. McGuigan also has a beautiful "bright" with a handsome umbrella from his fellow workmen, with a note saying that "the umbrella is not given to insinuate that you don't know enough to take care of the wet, but we want you to feel that you are covered with a friendly feeling through the storms of life."

During his long years of service with the Dispatch Job Printing company, Mr. McGuigan has made many friends among the business men of the city, and while his new employers are to be congratulated upon securing the services of so valuable a man his many friends will be glad to learn that Mr. McGuigan's interests are also advanced by the change.

BREAK FOR LIBERTY

DAN WHITMAN MADE A DASH LAST NIGHT FROM THE HOSPITAL

WAS A PRECONCERTED PLAN

Held to Answer the Charge of Larceny, and Had Been Sent to the Hospital With an Abscess Behind His Ear—The Prisoner Captured While Seeking Shelter at the Omaha Shops.

Handcuffed and attired only in a night-shirt and blanket, Dan Whitman, a prisoner awaiting trial on a charge of larceny, succeeded in escaping from the city hospital last evening. An hour later he was recaptured while seeking shelter at the Omaha shops, near the hospital. The escape followed the discovery of a pre-arranged plan on the part of Whitman and a fellow inmate to break for liberty.

Whitman was charged with the larceny of $2.00 from a store on Eighth street, near Jackson. About two weeks ago he was seized with severe hemorrhages and was sent to the hospital to be operated on for an abscess behind his ear. A week later James Burns, who is awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of burglarizing the store of S. Greenberg, was also sent to the hospital to be operated on. The beds of the two men were together, and they conversed together freely. Yesterday morning they were overheard discussing a plan of escape, and the hospital authorities took immediate steps to render their plans fruitless.

Burns was sent back to the county jail yesterday and Whitman, who shammed sickness, was adjudged too ill to be sent back. The operation was taken, however, of handcuffing the man, which was done with a pair of old-fashioned brass handcuffs.

Shortly before 11 o'clock last night, while the nurse was attending a patient in another end of the ward, Whitman made a break for liberty. Gathering a blanket around him, he succeeded in sneaking out of the hospital, and it was nearly a quarter of an hour before the escape was discovered. The police were immediately notified, and the recapture followed shortly after midnight.

DEMAND FOR HORSES IS ACTIVE

BARRETT & ZIMMERMAN REPORT MORE ORDERS THAN THEY EVER BEFORE RECEIVED

Firm Handles About 10,000 Head During the Year—Team of Montana Horses Can Be Bought for One-Third Price of Iowa Stock.

The activity which is so marked in business circles is not confined to any particular line, and as an instance of its general distribution the firm of Barrett & Zimmerman, which conducts the largest horse sale market in the Northwest, report more orders than at any time in the past five years. The commodious barns of the firm at University and Prior avenues present a busy scene just at present. The firm deals almost exclusively in draught and work horses and there is a lively demand for this class of animals. The firm has commenced this early in the season to secure stock for winter work and are purchasing large consignments. The logging men come from Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to Barrett & Zimmerman to secure stock and the supply bids fair to exceed the demand.

Prices have advanced 40 per cent, and even at this there are numerous orders ahead waiting to be filled. The firm handles about 10,000 head during the year, and this year the record will be broken as to the stock handled. Large numbers of Western horses are received by the firm and shipped to Iowa. The stock from the West is rather underpriced as compared to the requirements of the trade, in this section the demand being for much larger sized animals. There is one feature about the Western stock which commends them to purchasers who can use them, and that is the price. A team of Montana horses can be bought for about one-third the price of a team from Iowa, Wisconsin or Minnesota. In fact, a team of one of the best stock-raising states, particularly in the line of heavy work horses. The demand, however, fell off and the stockmen in Iowa practically went out of the breeding business.

Outside of the demand by lumbermen for horses this fall, there is a noticeable increase in the demand from farmers and stockmen in Dakota, Minnesota, and as far as Manitoba. One lumberman yesterday purchased sixty horses, and as soon as a consignment is received by the firm parties are on hand to secure them. Mr. Barrett, the senior member of the firm, is authority for the statement that the volume of business this year is double what it was last year, and that in the face of sharp advance in prices. The stock received is above the average and there is but little sickness, the prevalence of "legk eye" which is effected in a mild form in some of the city barns, not having made its appearance at the stables of Barrett & Zimmerman. The hospital for sick horses, conducted by the firm in connection with its entire stables, was nearly deserted yesterday, there being but half a dozen animals under treatment, and these suffering only from slight injuries received in transportation.

The electrical board appointed by Gov. Lind under a law passed by the legislature met yesterday afternoon and evening in room 14 of the state house, and examined a number of candidates for licenses. The board will hold frequent sessions between now and Oct. 29, and all applying will be examined. There are three classes of licenses—special, journeymen and masters. The fee charged is $2, $3 and $5 respectively.

WATER BOND PURCHASE.

Corporation Attorney to Investigate Legality of the Action.

The corporation attorney has evidently received the official copy of the resolution directing him to investigate as to the legality of the action of Comptroller McCarty in purchasing $100,000 of Ramsey county bonds for the water board sinking fund. Secretary Caulfield yesterday received a letter from the legal department, requesting information as to whether the water board had authorized the purchase of the bonds and such other information relating to the transaction as was in the possession of the board. The records and correspondence on file at the office of the water board covering the case will be forwarded to the corporation attorney for his consideration.

In connection with the purchase of the bonds by the comptroller for the water board sinking fund, the commissioners have on file an opinion from the legal department, given several years ago, by T. T. Chamberlain, then at the head of the department. The effect of that opinion was to the effect that the commissioners had no control of the sinking fund after it had passed into the hands of the city treasurer and had no right to decide or determine as to how it should be invested.

If Corporation Attorney Markham should follow the decision of his predecessor in the matter, the effect would be to render void the purchase of the bonds upon the authority of the water board would seem to be of little consequence, and the whole investigation will simmer down as to the authority of the comptroller to issue a city warrant for $119,000 without the advice or consent of the council.
