ORDINANCE ALLOWING A FAST INTERURBAN CONDEMNED BY PROPERTY OWNERS

COMMITTEE HEARS PROTESTS

Attorney M. D. Mann Pleads for a Trial of the Fast Line, and if in Three Years It Does Not Prove Satisfactory, It Can Be Stopped—No Action Taken by the Aldermanic Committee on Streets.

An audience of 500 persons packed the council chamber last evening to protest to the aldermanic committee on streets against the passage of the ordinance granting to the street railway company the right to operate a fast interurban line on University avenue.

There were over a score of speakers, and but two of the number spoke in favor of the ordinance. The two who thought it would be a good thing were M. D. Mann, attorney for the street railway company, and Pierce Butler, Mr. Mann was outspoken in his views, while Mr. Butler touched the matter very delicately, taking the ground that rapid transit was desirable if it was possible to have it without impairing the present interurban service.

Mr. Mann said that he was not fifty or sixty feet from the railroad street line in the last legislature who favored the ordinance. By the fast line but one class of citizens would be benefited.

Mr. Mann advanced the idea that the ordinance should be passed on the proposition of the kind before the council granted it.

James Everington, secretary of the South Minneapolis Improvement association, said he was going to fight the ordinance which had passed in Minneapolis.

George Whitcomb, representing the manufacturers' union of St. Anthony Park, protested on behalf of that association against the ordinance.

Victims of a Hold-Up Say the Police Arrested Wrong Men.

Michael Needham and Patrick McDonough, arrested on the charge of complicity in the assault and highway robbery perpetrated upon Wenzel Scheerer and Charles Ghode, near the Fourth street tunnel, a week ago, were discharged yesterday, upon motion of the prosecuting attorney. According to the victims of the robbery there were five men concerned in the attack. Three arrests were made the night of the robbery, while Needham and McDonough were arrested several days later. When called upon to identify the two men in the court, yesterday, both Scheerer and Ghode said positively that neither Needham nor McDonough were among the men that assaulted them.

FOUND A FLOATER

Body of an Unknown Man Found in the River Near Snelling.

The body of an unknown man was found in the river near Snelling yesterday afternoon. There was nothing to establish the identity of the dead man. From the appearance of the clothing it is believed the body is that of a laborer.

The body has evidently been in the water some time. It is that of a man perhaps thirty-five or forty years of age, of medium build and sandy complexion.

SHALL FERGUSON HANG?

Gov. Lind Finds the Question Proposed to Him Twice.

First to come before Gov. Lind in his official capacity for the fixing of the date for executing the death penalty, George J. Ferguson is likewise to come before him, and the other members as an applicant for a pardon.

Ferguson was convicted in Itasca county of having murdered and robbed Frank Noggle last March and is under execution of death.

It is claimed that he and Noggle left E. W. Backus' lumber camp, twenty-six miles from Grand Rapids, March 17, last, intending to walk to Grand Rapids, Noggle had in his possession a pay check for $120.50, payable April 1. Ferguson appeared at Grand Rapids alone between 3 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the same day, and had Noggle's check cashed at a bank, indorsing it as Frank Noggle. He remained about town three days and then went to Iron River, where he told what a tough place Grand Rapids was, and how a man had been found with his throat cut just out of town.

April 16 two women found the body of Noggle in a ravine near town. The skull had been crushed, evidently with a club, and the throat cut.

Ferguson's defense was that the murder had been committed by two other men, whom he met in houses of ill-repute at Grand Rapids. He claimed to have told these men that he had no money, but that another party coming behind him had a check for a large amount.
