HANGING IN THE BARN.

COACHMAN FOUND DEAD AT HIS EMPLOYER'S, IN MINNEAPOLIS.

DIOCESAN CHURCH CLUB.

It Elects Judge Rensselaer H. Nelson, of St. Paul, President—Bishop Francis, of Indiana, is One of the Guests of Honor—Brief Narrative of a Busy Day in the City at the Falls.

GLOBE'S MINNEAPOLIS OFFICE.

20 WASHINGTON AV. SOUTH. Telephone—Main 2013 Advertising—Subscriptions—2790—J-4.

Alex McAr, a coachman in the employ of S. E. Olson, was found hanging by the neck in the barn of his employer in the rear of 243 First avenue south, late last evening. Life had evidently been extinct for several hours.

Coroner Nelson determined that the case was plainly one of suicide.

Nine-year-old John Molan, son of Daniel Molan, a Corcoran town farmer, died Monday, as the result of injuries sustained by falling from a wagon. While going to school Monday morning with his brothers and sister, they caught on the rear end of a wagon and John fell out backwards, striking on his head. He was picked up and taken to school, where he appeared to be all right, and attended his classes, as usual, until late in the day, when he was taken ill and the teacher sent him home. A passing farmer found him lying by the road and took him home, where he died within a short time.

Coroner Nelson decided that death was due to a concussion of the brain. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock this morning from the family home.

Bishop Francis responded to the address of welcome happily. Bishop Gilbert was detained at his home by illness and was unable to be present.

NEARED HIS CENTURY.

Daniel O'Sullivan Lacked but Two Weeks of It.

Daniel O'Sullivan, who was within one-half a month of 100 years of age, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Byrnes, 2 Cedar Lake road. Within one week of his death Mr. O'Sullivan was remarkably active, and retained complete possession of his faculties, reading the daily papers without glasses and taking a deep interest in the South African war. One week ago he was attacked with bronchitis, which caused his death.

The O'Sullivans came to America from County Kerry, Ireland, in 1847, settling at first in Michigan, and moving thence to Illinois. In 1854 the family came to Minnesota.

Minneapolis Fire Losses.

Fire Marshal John Hill, of Minneapolis, yesterday completed his annual report of fire losses for the year, by which the estimated loss in Minneapolis, estimated by the fire marshal's office, is reduced to $844,431.90. The fire marshal's figures, as published recently, estimated the loss at $850,000. The detailed figures which he now has reduces this amount to $844,431.90.

The loss upon the Donald block fire has been practically adjusted and aggregates $32,210, of which $17,150 was on the outside of the building. The fire took the stock intact and disposed of it, realizing better than they expected.

Dog Wrecked a Cyclist.

The eleven-year-old son of Henry Priebe, assistant driver of No. 14 steamer of the fire department, was seriously injured in that city by a dog on Tuesday third avenue north, near Bryant avenue. Two dogs ran into the street and, although he tried to avoid them, one of them, a large mastiff, collided with the bicycle and the boy was thrown some distance. He is now in the hospital, and his arm broken near the shoulder. The dog was passing a dairyman's house, and his father, who lives on the north side, where Dr. Wilcox attended him.

Dr. Charles A. Hunter, of the charter commission, yesterday told Judge Elliott that he would be unable to serve. A meeting of the judges will be held this morning, when the vacancies will be filled.

SMOOTH TRICKS.

By Which the Innocent 'News Butcher' Makes Money.

A railroad man who stops at the Clarion when in Memphis, being in a remissive vein this morning, told some of his past experiences of railroad life.

"My first days in the railroad business were spent as a news 'butcher.' On a new railroad a man had a great chance to make in the coin, and he generally availed himself of it."

"The railroad I ran on was the Pensacola and Atlanta, which extends through the pine region of Florida. The men who lived in that region were illiterate fellows, and were about the greenest I ever met up with. Buffalo Bill's books were all the rage with this class of people. They wanted them, and having money, paid high for them. The books had the price printed on the backs in plain figures, '50c,' but the 'c' looked exactly like a naught with a piece clipped out, and such was the stupidity, or rather the ignorance of the majority of men in that part of the country that they were easily 'conned' into paying a handsome price for the books. I want a couple of 'Buff' to Bill's books," said an old duck to me one morning.

"Well, here are his best," said I.

"Gosh! they come high. Five dollars apiece."

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," was my reply. "We are nearly at the end of the division, and I've done a pretty good business, so if you keep the thing quiet I'll let you have them at just what they cost me, $4.75 for the two." Of course, he jumped at it. They all did. And as the novels were checked out to me at 20 cents apiece my profit was something handsome. I had to always 'whack up' with the 'con,' though, in order to keep his mouth shut.

"Another great racket was a little book game we worked on the sports passengers. A butcher would take three small boxes of figs up to a fellow he had spotted as a good mark and, holding a $10 bill in one hand, would place it in one of the boxes and shuffle them around in his hands. 'Now, if you would like to take a draw, it'll be the little box that's got the 'c' in it.' He would only cost you the small amount of $1.00, and the man would always jump at it for the reason that there was a small pencil mark on the end of the box the butcher took the tender in. The wise guy would always see it and think he had a lead pipe cinch on the graft. When he made his draw he would be greatly surprised not to find the long green inside, but, sure, the two boxes would come out exactly in the same way and only one was turned toward the customer. In shuffling the boxes the butcher would turn the two around and the box the man would draw, thinking it was the one he had seen the bill placed in, would contain nothing but figs.

"It used to make big money getting whisky for the farmers in Walton county. Walton was a 'dry' county, and they'd give us $2 per quart for stuff that only cost us 50 cents.

"An old news man will tell you that Barnum was right when he said 'the American people like to be humbugged.'"

CRUSH HAT.

As a Substitute for a Silk One at Church as Well as Opera.

New York Times.

One of the best known lawyers in town suggests that it would be a proper thing for the leaders of fashion in the city to institute the fashion of wearing the crush opera hat on Sundays when going to and from church services. "The tall silk hat," says he, "is just a nuisance at the church as it is at the opera or the theater, so that every reason that applies for taking the crush hat to a place of amusement applies to wearing it at church. Then, should the fashion be adopted, aside from the comfort for the wearer, it would be a sort of badge that a man was on his way to church and was not out for a walk for the purpose of 'giving the girls a treat.' The crush hat is a sort of badge of fashion, showing that the wearer is accustomed to the usages of society, at least. The scheme would have economic merit as well, for a crush hat is a good rainy-day hat, which the silk one is not, and should the idea be taken up it would be a good thing for the hatiers, for every well-dressed man would have a crush hat that would be made in conformity with the prevailing fashion just as he now has a silk hat for business wear. Push the thing along, Mr. Heard About Town, and when the leaders in fashion adopt the thing there will be a host of followers of the style who would adopt it as a matter of comfort and for appearance sake, if for no other reason."

PATTEN RESENTS IT.

DULUTH MAN BRINGS SUIT AGAINST FRANK H. KRATKA AND CHICAGO LAW FIRM.

ASKS FOR HEAVY DAMAGES.

Alleges That the Defendants Attached His Bank Deposits on a Claim Which Had Been Secured by an Attachment Covering a Tract of Minnesota Land Conservatively Valued at $200,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—George A. Patten, of Duluth, has brought suit in the circuit court for the recovery of $20,000 damages which he declares he has sustained through the prosecution of suits against him. The defendants to the proceedings are Frank H. Kratka, of Thief River Falls, Minn., and the law firm of Tenny, McConnell, Coffin & Harding, of Chicago. Patten complains that attachments were issued at the instance of the defendants against his bank deposit in Chicago on a claim held against him by Kratka, though the claim for $5,000 was amply secured by an attachment covering a tract of land in Minnesota conservatively valued at $200,000.

PRO-BOER RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted by the Scott County Hibernians at a Meeting at Belle Plaine.

JORDAN, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special).—At a meeting of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Scott county, at Belle Plaine, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The citizens of the republics on the African continent, the Transvaal and Orange Free State, are at the present time engaged in a heroic fight for their liberties, their homes and their friends against the rapacious and avaricious greed of Great Britain;

Resolved, That we, the members of Division No. 1, O. H. of Scott county, Minn., do hereby extend to those valiant defenders of their country, and their homes our heartfelt sympathy, and pray that Almighty God may so crown their efforts that another day need not be given in America against the people of a fair-minded, liberty-loving people;

Resolved, further, That we desire to emphatically brand with the contempt and hatred it deserves, the policy of Great Britain, by which she, with her paid press and howling jingoism, tries to lead the people of this country into a policy of good will, and declare the same like unto a wolf in sheep's clothing;

Resolved, further, That we deprecate, and condemn in the most vehement terms, the actions of those few unprincipled and "hired Hessian" kind who are assisting England in her attempt to straddle the yoke of oppression on the neck of the liberty loving people that she has been chasing with an iron rod during the past century;

Resolved, further, That we commend the action of Senator Mason, Congressman Sulzer, and other patriots and others in congress who are not afraid to voice the sentiments of nine-tenths of the people of this country;

Resolved, further, That this division contribute $25 to aid the Boer Red Cross fund and that we urge all our members to use every lawful means at their disposal as citizens of this republic to keep the republic from being disgraced by the present disgraceful designs of England in South Africa and save from the blighting curse of the Transvaal, Rhodesia and the rich mines, the fertile fields and happy homes of the Free State and the Transvaal.

MORGAN'S OFFER DECLINED.

County Commissioners Decline Site Offered for a Poorhouse.

REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special).—The board of county commissioners, after a year's consideration, has declined the offer of the village of Morgan to donate a tract of land near the town for a poorhouse purposes. Over a year ago the county commissioners accepted the proposition, and later, at the April meeting, the Morgan people submitted a deed to the property and the board rejected it for the time, claiming there were too many strings tied to it. At the summer meeting another deed was submitted, but that was rejected as unsatisfactory, and the matter has hung undecided since. The vote was taken yesterday, and the proposition rejected by a vote of 3 to 2.

The sitting hen, he says, leaves the nest about once a day. On returning she settles down on the eggs and starts a movement of the wings and feathers which lasts for some moments. By so doing she turns the eggs once a day. This is shown by putting a mark on the eggs when the hen is away. Visit the nest the next time she leaves, and it will be found that the marks which were on top are no longer in sight, every egg in the nest having been turned half-way round.

Everything the hen does man has tried to make the incubator do, but here he has failed. There has never been a contrivance made which could turn the egg, or by which the egg could be turned, as the hen turns them.
