SHE IS NOT INSANE

PROBATE COURT'S FINDING IN THE ALICE BINGHAM RUSSELL CASE

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI SPLIT

Lively Discussion of Varsity Athletics at the Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association, Which Finally Adjourned Without Taking Any Action in the Matter—News of Minneapolis.

GLOBE'S MINNEAPOLIS OFFICE, 50 WASHINGTON AV. SOUTH. Telephone—Main 2013 Advertising—Subscriptions—2790—J-4.

"The court and commission find that this woman is mentally deranged, but that she is not sufficiently insane as to warrant her commitment under the statute, as it is not reasonably certain that she has that dangerous tendency and propensity to crime as to require legal restraint."

The above was the result of the inquiry into the charges of insanity preferred against Mrs. Alice Bingham Russell, after a session that commenced yesterday forenoon and lasted until after 6 o'clock last night.

Dra. J. D. Moore and A. P. Williamson sat as a commission of inquiry and Assistant County Attorney Pulliam represented the state.

Mrs. Russell told the court that she did not desire an attorney, despite the fact that some of her friends had retained Frank M. Nye to represent her, so Mr. Nye withdrew from the case.

The chief witness against her was a pastor, who said she had become a nuisance. John D. Douglas corroborated this.

J. W. Arcander testified that she had written him rambling and incoherent letters in which she called him her spiritual adviser, and to her having created a scandal at his office, which was verified by his clerk, Lloyd Fay. Later on Mrs. Russell denied this, saying that Mr. Arcander had locked her in a room and treated her shamefully.

MANY DEFEND HER.

A large number of witnesses were sworn for the defense, among them being H. Putnam, Mrs. Hennessey, who had known her for twenty-five years, and D. M. Scribner, and while they thought her eccentric in some things they did not regard her as being crazy.

Dr. Eaton, a woman physician, did not consider there was anything remarkable about her, as all people, she said, had their peculiarities.

zealous woman. Other witnesses thought her mentally sound.

Judge Hovey asked Mrs. Russell if she intended to keep away from the church and stop writing letters.

"I will give my word that I will not go near the church nor write again, and more in that, I will keep it," she replied. "I never intended to harm anyone."

KEPT POLICE BUSY.

Paul Robinson, the Wife Shooter, is Known Here.

Paul Robinson, who shot his wife through the shoulder Friday, in the office at Indianapolis, where Mrs. Robinson was employed as a stenographer, is quite well known in Minneapolis.

About a month ago, Robinson, who says he is a nephew of Charles Robinson, of this city, was arrested in consequence of his strange behavior. His dementia disappeared, however, and he was released, but within four or five days friends again brought him to the county jail.

Robinson said that he came to Minneapolis to locate permanently, and that his wife was going to follow him. His father, he said, was a member of a Kansas sect called "Disciples of God." Robinson was released the second time, and is supposed to have gone East to find his wife.

POORER AND WISER.

Minneapolis Woman the Victim of a Smooth Dentist.

Marie Obermeyer, who married Dr. Charles Westher Nov. 22 in Milwaukee, has returned to Minneapolis and resumed her occupation as housekeeper of the hotel at 1012 Washington avenue south.

In November last Miss Obermeyer went to Milwaukee to visit her sister and while there met Dr. Westher, a dentist and likewise a polished individual having the command of six languages. They were married Nov. 22 and went to Chicago, where the doctor also pretended to have a practice. The couple stopped at the Hotel Rainier, selected a household outfit, and the doctor secured $280 from his wife to pay for the goods. Miss Obermeyer has never seen the doctor since.

The newspapers of Nov. 30 had a brief mention of the case, but as the name came over the wire as Datsy Stover no one connected it with Miss Obermeyer. Miss Obermeyer's own mission in life, she says, is to find the doctor.

from La Crosse. Up to last night their efforts had been without avail.

WOLF IN TOWN.

He Picks Out Hawthorne Park as Recreation Ground.

Friday afternoon a genuine timber wolf made its appearance in Hawthorne park, at Thirteenth street and Hawthorne avenue, in the very heart of Minneapolis. A butcher boy first noticed the animal running through the park. It ran into the yard of James MacMillan, at 1229 Linden avenue, and darted into a shed, pursued by a dog. The wolf fought the dog off, and men with ropes and wires snared the wolf and tied him down. He was taken to the home of Mr. Carver, 1211 Linden avenue, where he can be seen.

Park Board Election.

The greater part of the annual meeting of the board of park commissioners, held yesterday afternoon, was devoted to the reading of reports. Following the reports of the old officers were re-elected as follows: President, W. W. Folwell; vice president, S. E. Adams; secretary, J. A. Ridgway; attorney, C. J. Rockwood; superintendent, W. M. Berry.

MINNEAPOLIS BREVITIES.

Homeopaths from the Twin Cities and from various parts of the state last night gathered at the new Homeopathic hospital, at 211 East Fourteenth street, south, to formally open that institution in a social manner. The visitors were met by the president of the Homeopathic faculty of the university.

A Nelson Van Dyke salesman for a patent brass polish, got into an altercation with Mrs. Van Dyke last evening at their home, 211 East Fourteenth street, because she let the fire go out while he was taking a nap. He is alleged to have struck her, and she called Officer Tom Kelley, who arrested Van Dyke on a charge of drunkenness.

A dwelling house at 215 Morgan avenue north was damaged to the extent of about $200 by fire early last evening. The fire department was also called to the Milwaukee shops at Twenty-fifth street south and Hiawatha, where an incident of a blaze was extinguished with no material damage.

Robbed His Bedfellow.

SAUK RAPIDS, Minn., Jan. 20 (Special).—A colored man giving his name as Jordan, Byron H. Timberlake, Geo. Beland, C. H. Van Campen and others expressed their opinions on the advisability of the change, and often these opinions were quite forcibly put forth. Those who opposed the change claimed that it virtually meant going back on the alumni, and turning the direction of athletics over to an outsider, and this, they thought, would be a very dangerous thing, as past experience has shown. After an hour or so of animated discussion the following resolution was introduced: "Resolved, That this association favors the adoption of a permanent athletic director, but that alumni coaching be fostered and continued as an aid." This was from the side who favored the securing of Dr. Knipe of Iowa. The opposition immediately came forward with a substitute which provided for the establishment of an athletic directorship, but which was to be filled by an alumnus. This was favored by some parliamentary juggling, and at last the chair was able to get an opportunity to put the first substitute motion, and it was found that the vote was a tie. The chair refused to settle the matter, and a motion to adjourn was carried.

EACH WAS DISARMED

HISTORY OF THE FIRST FIGHT WHICH ORIGINATED THE COLSON-SCOTT FEUD

COLSON WAS VERY HOSTILE

Did Everything in His Power to Provoke a Quarrel, and Finally Succeeded—Bravery Displayed by Lieut. McKay in Separating the Blood-Thirsty Combatants at Imminent Risk of His Own Life.

WASHBURN, Wis., Jan. 20.—Company K, of this city, was on provost duty at Anniston, Ala., in January, 1890, and First Lieutenant John McKay gives an interesting account of the first fight between Col. Colson and Lieut. Ethelbert Scott at that point on Jan. 13. McKay was an active participant, and by his bravery probably saved a number of lives at that time. His story is as follows:

About midnight of the 12th, Capt. O'Neil (provost marshal) and Lieuts. Beckman and Scott were eating at a table together in the Mammoth restaurant. Lieuts. Phelps, Crims and myself were seated at another. Col. Colson entered the restaurant and a citizen who was present cried: "Look out, there will be hell to pay now; Colson is after Scott."

Colson stopped immediately in front of the table where Scott was seated and glared at him. Scott never raised his eyes. Colson then grabbed a chair by the back and slammed it down, trying to provoke Scott into noticing him. As that did not avail, he reached over the table, and taking Lieut. Beckman by the ear, twisted it until the blood came. Scott then said: "I would not do that. He is a friend of mine."

Colson then whipped out his revolver and fired at Scott, who returned the shot. Capt. O'Neil ordered his officers to disarm the men. Phelps tackled Scott, and showing a revolver in his face, made him drop his gun. I grabbed Colson and ordered him to surrender his weapon, which he not only refused, but tried to aim the revolver at me. I dived him, both falling in a stairway. After Colson had emptied his weapon trying to hit me he dropped it. I then released him and he reached into his belt and drew an other forty-five caliber revolver, saying: "I have got you now."

As it was a case of get shot or disarm Colson, I went at him hard and pounded him into insensibility, using no weapon but what nature gave me. Phelps and myself were unacquainted with Colson or Scott, and the report that we assisted Scott is false.

The official report not only exonerates but praises both officers for their bravery in disarming the men.

Former City Clerk of Mankato Was Short in His Accounts.

MANKATO, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special).—At a meeting of the city council last evening it was decided to bring criminal proceedings against Henry W. Brown, former city recorder. Brown was recorder a number of years ago, and a short time ago re-elected to the office. It was discovered that he was several hundred dollars short in his accounts, and an opportunity was given him to make the money good without making a public matter of the affair. This he refused to do. He was succeeded in office by Calvin Smith, who was forced to resign because he was behind in his accounts.

Mr. Brown was again elected to the position, and it appears that he made hay while the sun shone. Last summer an expert from Minneapolis examined the books, and Brown was discovered to be about $1,800 short. While the expert was making his examination Brown left town, going to Mineral City, Va., where he is employed by his brother-in-law, Mr. Mann, manager of a coal mine. An attorney here has been representing Brown, and for a time it was thought a settlement could be reached, but nothing has been done in that direction. Brown's case will be brought to the attention of the grand jury, which meets here in February.

Brown in connection with other deals, is alleged to have taken money paid into the police court by inmates of houses of ill-fame, the recorder contending that he had as much right to them as the city.

Mr. Brown's family is residing here, and all are well connected. Mrs. Brown being a direct descendant of one of the most prominent generals that fought for the colonies in the Revolutionary war. It is said that if Brown is brought back here and he is placed on trial, sensational developments are expected, involving certain persons who were in office during his term as recorder.

REFUSE TO MIGRATE.

Ducks, Geese and Blackbirds Prefer Minnesota Winter.

GRACEVILLE, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special).—The condition of the ice on Big Stone lake is such as to make it unsafe traveling and the weather for this time of the year breaks all records. Flocks of ducks and geese are still seen in the cornfields feeding and quenching their thirst at air holes in Big Stone and Traverse lakes. Large flocks of black birds are, contrary to their usual custom, seen feeding in the fields, and only the song birds have migrated.

REFUSED A PARDON.

Gov. Fancher Turns Down an Application of a Pembina Lifer.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special).—The application of Joseph Till, now serving a life sentence at the state prison, for a pardon, has been refused by Gov. Fancher. Till was convicted on circumstantial evidence of killing a man named Miller, at Pembina five years ago. The case has been thoroughly reviewed by the governor, who, in the absence of any new evidence, and with the counsel of the state's attorney, cannot see his way clear to grant the application.

A pardon has been granted to Ivor Jacobson, a Cooperstown anti-trust sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Jacobson has been out on parole, and his term would have elapsed in December, with his good behavior allowance.

ROMANCE ENDS HAPPILY.

Young Couple Combine Business With Their Love Affair.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Jan. 20.—At the United States land office today
