

SWEET CURE

AFTER LONG NIGHTS OF TORTURE!

The agony endured through loss of sleep can only be appreciated by those to whom a merciless fate has brought this experience. To lie in bed, minute after minute, hour after hour, night after night, unable to sleep; to roll and toss, to walk the floor, longing for sleep to close the aching eyes and rest the tired brain! Do you realize that biliousness accounts for three-fourths of the insomnia of today? Such is the fact; and it is equally true that no surer or safer remedy is known than that great liver invigorator, Warner's Safe Cure. Biliousness causing loss of sleep if neglected may lead to insanity—that awful state in which one is lost to himself and friends forever. No excuse for neglect. Warner's Safe Cure is procurable in every town in the United States, and you are making no experiment in using it. Thousands have already testified to its curative merits in liver and in kidney disease.

MR. DALY PLEAS IT

ASSERTS THAT HE DID NOT CONTRIBUTE MONEY TO CORRUPT ANY ONE IN MONTANA

SMILES ON THE STAND

Admits That He Did Give a Fortune to Further the Contest of the Seat of Mr. Clark in the United States Senate—Finally Pleaded Weariness, and Was Excused Until Today—Inquiry Nearing Close.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Marcus Daly, the millionaire of Montana, was the principal witness of the senate committee on privileges and elections today. He was on the stand for about two hours and at the expiration of this time was excused on the plea that he was not well, and the questioning process fatigued him.

Mr. Daly confessed that he had contributed $20,000 or $25,000 to the prosecution of this case, but asserted that he had not entered into any conspiracy before Mr. Clark's election to injure him. He had not contributed any of the $30,000 used in the Whitesides exposure. In conclusion he tendered his checks and check books for the past five years for the inspection of the committee.

Mr. Clark listened attentively to Mr. Daly's testimony.

"When asked if he knew that Mr. Clark became a candidate because of fraudulent primaries, Mr. Daly said this could not be the case, as the primaries were not fraudulent and were not so attacked until Mr. Clark had been defeated at one of the county conventions.

Mr. Daly said he did not know the other contributors to the campaign, except that he understood Mr. Clark gave $500. As to the campaign in Silver Bow, he said he thought the candidates furnished most of the money. He had given $2,500 to Silver Bow and the candidates had taken care of the rest.

"This was a small contribution," mused Mr. Faulkner.

"Yes," answered Mr. Daly, "I was not much interested."

"Then when you are interested," pursued Mr. Faulkner, "you pull out more freely?"

MR. DALY'S PURSE
"It depends upon how much I am interested," answered Mr. Daly.

The witness preserved a smiling face throughout the investigation.

Mr. Daly said his secretary had made the advances to prosecute this case. He himself was sick, so that after being present at the conference when the agreement to contribute was made, he told his secretary to advance the sums to Mr. Campbell as it became necessary.

He did not place a limit upon the advances. He had kept no personal account of it, but three or four days ago he telegraphed from New York to the bookkeeper at Anaconda and learned that the amount was $20,000 to $25,000. He said his promise to contribute was after Mr. Clark had accused him and others of a "villainous conspiracy."

Mr. Daly explained his acquaintance with Mr. Whitesides who had built a block at Butte for a firm in which Mr. Daly was interested.

Mr. Faulkner then took the witness over the conversation with Corbett, and Mr. Daly denied the conversation as given by Corbett. He denied having said that every one of Clark's family would be sent to the penitentiary.

"I have not the slightest personal feeling against Mr. Clark or the members of his family," declared Mr. Daly, "and my statement of that kind is a villainous lie."

Members of the committee suggested that no testimony had been given that Mr. Daly was unfriendly to Mr. Clark's family.

LAUGH ON FAULKNER.

"But I am dealing with that chap's question," answered Mr. Daly, amid a roar at his designation of Mr. Faulkner as "that chap."

Mr. Daly declared that he had not sent a telegram to State Senator Cullen before the meeting, telling him (Cullen) that he (Daly) would be on the train the next day. Cullen was then a conductor on the Northern Pacific, and Mr. Clark, he said, said it was not probable that he would have discussed the senatorial question with him. He was quite positive that he had not told Mr. Cullen that any man who would do that was "a dishonest as a hoodler and a bribe-taker."

He remembered casually talking with Cullen as he passed through the train, but no reference whatever had been made to the senatorial question. "I am sure of that," said Mr. Daly, "for I was not sufficiently interested in the subject at that time."

Mr. Daly also denied authorizing the sending of money into Flathead county during the state campaign. He also said he knew of no money being spent in the legislature for the passage of House Bill No. 124. "I wish you would go into that," he added.

"Neither the Anaconda company nor the Anaconda Copper company supplied a cent for that purpose. I believe that Mr. Clark and his friends contributed as much as any one to the passage of that bill, because they were interested, but whether they contributed money I do not know. I do know that I did not contribute money nor authorize any. My instructions were to use no money for that purpose, and that I would spend no money in that direction."

Mr. Daly said no doubt Mr. Toole's estimate of the amount of money contributed in behalf of Anaconda during the capital contest was about right. He had not handled the money, but he did not think the amount exceeded $50,000. The company which might be described as subsidiary to the Anaconda company had given $200,000.

CAPITAL CONTEST.

Continuing the discussion of the capital contest, Mr. Daly said that unquestionably some state money was sent to Clark to influence the result, but he was sure no such sum as $50,000 had been sent there in Anaconda's interest. He denied that he had promised the people of Montana to build a railway in Missouri county. The witness declared he had supported the Democratic ticket in 1894, and that he had not advocated the election of Hon. Lee Mantle for the senate.

Asked what part of the state was distinctly Democratic, Mr. Daly smiled and, looking at Mr. Clark while he pointed to himself, replied:

"The western part of the state, where I live. Mr. Clark and both live in that part, and that may account for it."

In reply to a question concerning the campaign of 1898, Mr. Daly gave testimony in conflict with that of Mr. Clark. He said he had promised at first that he would not meddle, but later he had decided that he could not give Mr. Clark his support, and he added that the majority of the people took the same view, according to the returns.

"Do you remember a conversation you had with J. R. Toole, previous to the meeting of the legislature in which you said you would put up $75,000 to beat Mr. Clark?"

"I never had any such conversation with Mr. Toole or any one else."

Mr. Daly gave figures as to the number of the men employed by him in various parts of the state, making a total of almost 6,000. He said he had kept his checks and that they were subject to the inspection of the committee if it desired to examine them.

"The Boers at Crocodile Pools notified Col. Plumer that fearing the natives would attack the wounded, they had placed their hospital within the laager. Col. Plumer replied that the ambulance would, of course, be respected, but the Boers were not to expect anything else from the natives while they were invading the territory of the natives."

CECIL RHODES' TALK.

It is Characterized as Remarkable and Original.

KIMBERLEY, Saturday, Feb. 24.—Mr. Cecil Rhodes, presiding at a meeting of the De Beers company, delivered a remarkable speech, which was received with enthusiasm. After announcing that the year's profits of the De Beers company amounted to $2,000,000, he spoke of the Chartered company's transactions with the De Beers, and said that shares were divided into two classes, imaginative and unimaginative. The latter, he said, passed their lives filling money bags that were dissipated by their owners on their return to the mother country. To the latter class he stated that the transaction with the Chartered company had closed satisfactorily, as the De Beers company owned all the diamonds wherever its charter existed. To the imaginative he drew an eloquent picture of these mines 100 years hence as mirroring European civilization in the far South.

"The latter," he said, "feel a glow of satisfaction at the thought that the immense riches taken from the soil have not been merely devoted to the decoration of the fair sex."

Speaking of the war, he considered it a puzzle why it had arisen. The Transvaal and the Free State were not republics, he declared, but oligarchies, and had been long conspiring to seize British South Africa. Each government was simply a small political gang who humbugged the poor Dutchmen, appealing to their patriotism and dividing the spoils among their coteries. The Afrikaner had been working twenty years for independence. He said that the former president, Retz, of the Orange Free State, had been long conspiring to seize British Africa. He was to drive England out of Africa.

After showing how Kimberley had been defended by citizens, of whom 120 had been killed or wounded, and thanking Mr. Rhodes for his gallant ride, Mr. Rhodes closed brilliantly, asserting "we have done our duty in preserving and protecting the greatest commercial asset in the world—her majesty's flag."

WOULD MAKE NO DIFFERENCE.

Boer Authority on Effect of Surrender by Gen. Cronje.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Even if Gen. Cronje wanted to surrender, his men would not let him do so. Everyone in the world is watching the situation and determined to fight to the bitter end. Therefore American newspapers are in error when they state that the general is foolishly resisting so desperately. This statement was made to a reporter by Phillip Lonter Wessels, of Bloemfontein, brother of the president of the volksraad of the Orange Free State, who arrived here several days ago to raise funds for Boer widows and orphans.

"And even if Gen. Cronje's force should surrender," added Mr. Wessels, "that would not end the war. We have done the British no wrong and we have never deserved the underhand tricks they have employed upon us since the first."

George Van Slielen, president of the American Boer council, announces that he has just forwarded $2,000 for Boer widows and orphans to Treasurer C.

Devilleers, of the Afrikaner committee of the legislature at Cape Colony.

BRITISH NAVAL ESTIMATES.

Mr. Goschen Says There is Nothing Sensational in Them.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—In introducing the naval estimates in the house of commons today Mr. George J. Goschen, the first lord of the admiralty, said there was nothing apocalyptic or sensational therein. The total, with the expected additions, he added, would be $30,000,000. There had been complaints that the estimates would be sensational, but the government fully realized the situation and knew the nation expected the navy to be prepared for all emergencies and the estimates were framed on that footing. Nothing, he continued, had been put down for the mobilization of the fleet. If mobilization should be necessary, the government would not hesitate to mobilize and come to parliament for money, but he thought the time had not arrived for taking that course, and he hoped that it would not arrive.

Continuing, Mr. Goschen said that Great Britain was not menaced by any naval power. Europe knew her strength, and the President of the United States knew there were times when a demonstration was advisable, but the government did not think it advisable upon this occasion.

BAYONET CHARGE.

Winston Churchill Tells of the Death of Gen Paul's Grandson.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Winston Churchill, in a dispatch to the Morning Post from Frere Camp, dated Sunday, says:

"The idea that the Boers are raising the siege of Ladysmith is premature. The advance is being pursued in the face of the most stubborn opposition and energy. President Kruger's grandson is among the killed."

Mr. Churchill then proceeds to describe heavy fighting last Friday, in which the Insklingers approached within 500 yards of the summit of a rocky Boer position, and then gallantly charged, in the face of a hail of bullets. He says:

"After repeated attempts, however, after having lost heavily, they recognized that they were unable to prevail. Nevertheless they refused to retreat, but lay down on the slope, behind a shelter of walls. The Cornaughts and the Dublin Fusiliers were sent to their support, but the light faded and the night closed in before the main attack had developed."

THEY MOURN ARNOLD.

Winnipeg Public and Private Buildings Fly Flags at Half-Mast.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—(Special.)—News was received here today that Capt. Harry M. Arnold, who was wounded in the Modder river engagement a week ago last Sunday, had died from his injuries. There was no more popular soldier in Winnipeg than Capt. Arnold, who, as major in the Nineteenth Winnipeg rifles, was widely known throughout Canada. Public and private buildings today fly the flags at half mast and the expressions of mourning are universal.

Another soldier, whose wounds proved fatal was Private McCreary, of New Brunswick.

Maj. Arnold was wounded in the arm at Franchburg, while teaching a charge against Cronje's laager with the Highland brigade Sunday, the 18th inst., which failed. To date twenty Canadians have been killed and ninety wounded in the Free State.

Wilkinson Criticises Buller.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Spencer Wilkinson's article in the Morning Post today is almost wholly devoted to the criticism of Gen. Buller's mistaken tactics in sending small forces to relieve Ladysmith and to re-organize reinforcements to these, as revealed in the dispatch from Winston Churchill. Mr. Wilkinson says that he is not a Boer sympathizer, but that he is not satisfied with the general's conduct in the matter, since his dispatches leave the middle, leaving the battle unfinished.

Bonds Bound Up a Point.
