

In Labor's Field.

There is no change in the situation as regards the woodworkers since Monday. For the time being the union has decided that further conferences with the manufacturers are useless, and backed by a liberal donation from the International Council, they have resolved to stay out until their demands are complied with.

Neither have the manufacturers taken any further action toward a settlement. They apparently are determined not to recognize the union, and will endeavor to run their factories with non-union employees.

If the strike continues it may lead to serious complications, for it is understood the stand taken by the woodworkers has been endorsed by the Building Trades Council, and a boycott may be ordered against all the firms who persist in their refusal to recognize the union.

When interrogated yesterday about the statement that labor troubles in St. Paul this spring caused the suspension of $1,000 in building, Acting Agent Stafford, of the Building Trades Council, produced the improvement bulletin for the last fifteen days showing that the permits issued in St. Paul exceeds in amount over $200,000 those issued in Minneapolis for the same period.

Stafford declined to say what action in reference to the present trouble had been taken by the Building Trades Council, but gave as his opinion that a settlement would be reached as early as date.

Minnesota woodworkers will deal no longer with the four manufacturers who persist in holding out against according to the building trades union. The committee appointed Monday evening to confer with representatives of the manufacturers, reported that they could not reach an agreement last evening that its labors had been fruitless.

Coopers on Strike. As reported in these columns about a week ago, the coopers have been having trouble with the Hamm Brewing company, and as a result the members of that union are now out on strike.

The journeymen have asked for an increase of 25 cents on the regular rate, and 50 cents on day work over the remuneration they received last year. The Hamm Brewing company signed the new agreement when first presented, but the other half-dozen firms in the city have refused, and accordingly the men have walked out to await developments.

The executive committee of the Trades and Labor Assembly held a special meeting last night to consider the situation. At this meeting a subcommittee was appointed who will interview the bosses to-day and report at a special meeting of the coopers, which will be held in Assembly hall tonight.

There are thirty members in the Journeymen Coopers' union, but eight of these, who are employed with the Hamm Brewing company, are not affected by the strike.

In this strike the conditions are such that an adjustment will be reached within a few days is almost certain.

Carpenters Increase Membership. There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the carpenters last night. Eight members were initiated and seven new applications were received and referred to the executive committee.

Sick benefits were allowed four members. The subject of election of delegates to the convention of the State Federation of Labor was laid over till next Tuesday night.

LOOPHOLE ON WHICH AN ALBERT LEA OFFENDER ESCAPES SENTENCE

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Two of the Lower Court's Recent Rulings Are Reversed by the Higher Tribunal.

Because of a defective indictment Nels Nelson, of Albert Lea, charged with keeping a hotel in the hot machine in his place of business, is allowed to escape sentence. The syllabus is as follows:

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Nels Nelson, appellant. Syllabus—An indictment which alleges that the defendant is accused of having committed an offense (keeping a hotel) which does not directly charge that the defendant committed the offense, is insufficient as against an objection that the indictment does not charge a crime or state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense. Order reversed.

Other decisions filed yesterday were: Flora E. Morton, appellant, vs. William Syllabus—An action brought by a judgment debtor against his judgment creditor to set aside the judgment, held: That the judgment debtor may without prejudice as to an attorney lien upon the other judgment, offset the mutual judgments, provided the action for that purpose be commenced without notice of the attorney's lien. Order reversed.

Peter Steinhach, respondent, vs. John Brant, defendant, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway Company, intervenor, appellant. Syllabus—An assignment of wages to become due, without final account or time, and without acceptance by the employer and without notice to an attaching creditor is void as to such creditor. Order affirmed.

D. E. Jones, respondent, vs. Isahak H. Bradford, appellant. Syllabus—Evidence examined and held to support the verdict.

Board of County Commissioners of Cook county, appellant, vs. William Fisher et al., defendants. Syllabus—Under General Statutes 1894, section 297, in counties where the valuation of taxable property does not exceed the sum of $1,500,000, the salaries of county auditors are computed upon the following basis: Six mills on each dollar of the first $100,000, and one mill on each dollar in excess of said last-named sum, following County of Mower vs. Williams, 27 Minn. 25. Order affirmed.

Patrick Tally, as administrator of the estate of G. E. Withr, deceased, appellant, vs. G. J. Talling, respondent. Syllabus—Held, following Walker vs. Run River Boom Company, 31 Minn. 71, that objection to a counterclaim as to proper subject of counterclaim is waived by failure to demur.

General Statutes 1894, section 435-20, provides that an administrator commence an action against any one to recover in the interest of the estate, the claim he has against the deceased, instead of presenting it to the probate court. This offset may be made even if the estate has been distributed, it is immaterial that the time for filing claims has expired, following Gerdtzen vs. Cockrell, 52 Minn. 51. Order affirmed.

THE GATOR FOR COMO

PARK BOARD WILL HAVE ONE, BUT HE WILL NOT BE AT LARGE

MIGHT RUIN BOAT TRAFFIC

If He Ate Up an Occasional Small Boy or an Oar Now and Then.

The park board met last night, and Leon Chamberlain, recently appointed by the mayor, took his seat the first time. Secretary Johns read the mayor's letter making the appointment, and president Wheelock thrust further honors upon the new member by appointing him a member of the auditing committee of the board.

The monthly pay roll, amounting to $2,846.65, for men and boys employed in the park, was read and approved, and Supt. Nussbaumer said the old and unsightly peanut stands at the end of the street car line in Indian Mounds park should be removed by the city, and a new and attractive appearing pavilion be erected within the park. He was granted authority from the board to endeavor to find some one who would pay for and operate such a stand in the park.

On petition of property owners on Fairmount avenue, between Dale and St. Albans streets, requesting the planting of shade trees in grass plats, the superintendent was instructed to comply with the request. The superintendent then reported the sale of seven boats from the stock at Como lake, and was instructed to complete the sale of the old boats and arrange for the purchase of five new ones. It was further reported by Supt. Nussbaumer that the new electric launch would be ready for use May 15. He was instructed to charge 10 cents for tickets entitling the purchaser to one ride around the lake.

The superintendent reported the offer of a gift to the board of an alligator from a citizen named Gleason. He was instructed to accept the gift, and the clerk was directed to write a letter of acceptance and thanks on the part of the board. The gator will be kept alone in a small pool fenced with wire. The superintendent was further instructed to call on the street railway officials and urge them to supply chairs for the pavilion at Como in accordance with the agreement between the park board and the company. Another resolution provided for the expenditure of $600 for two two-horse teams, wagons and two double sets of harness.
