TO COUNT THIS DISTRICT

SUPERVISOR AT LAST MAKES KNOWN THE CENSUS ENUMERATORS

THEIR NAMES ARE FAMILIAR

To Those Who Have Paid Attention to the Course of Politics in This Congressional District.

Now that the congressional convention has been held and Congressman Stevens has been duly renominated, the names of the 156 persons appointed to take the census in the Fourth congressional district are publicly announced.

To those who are from circumstances forced to, or for their own edification, read the list of delegates chosen to Republican conventions, the list of census enumerators will seem familiar. The list of enumerators was approved by the census department at Washington some ten days ago, but for some reason, known only to Census Supervisor Yanish, were not given out. Mr. Yanish, aside from his duties as census supervisor, is also chairman of the Fourth congressional committee, and this might have had something to do with the holding back of the list until after the congressman had been nominated Monday.

The enumerators are all males, the names of three women, which were approved by Supervisor Yanish, and forwarded to Washington, having been assigned being that women cannot in all cases fulfill the duties.

Beginning next week a school for enumerators will be held at the office for those who are to take the census in St. Paul. The enumerators will be called in by postal cards and instructed as to their duties. Ninety-eight will take names and other data in St. Paul. The list for the district follows:

WITH RAZOR AND PISTOL

ANTON NACHTIGALL, HAZEL PARK RESIDENT, KILLS HIMSELF

WAS TEMPORARILY INSANE

After Cutting Arteries, He Died of Bleeding to Death Was Too Slow, and Shot Himself.

Anton Nachtigall, living at 1913 Hyacinth avenue, Hazel Park, made a determined and successful attempt to kill himself at his home shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning. Severing the arteries of his wrists with a keen razor, Nachtigall, impatient with this slow process of death, shot himself in the right temple, ending his life instantly. Mental aberration is believed to have caused Nachtigall's rash act.

That Nachtigall might attempt to do himself violence was not unsuspected by his wife, who had maintained a close watch on her husband for several days. He frequently spoke of enemies persecuting him and threatened to end his life. In his disordered mind, Nachtigall remained away from his employment at the Wood Harvester works and brooded about the house. Monday evening he was more restless than ever and declined to retire, though during the early morning hours he went to sleep with his clothes on. His wife maintained a vigil beside him all night.

Shortly before 6 o'clock in the morning two young children of the family, sleeping in an adjoining room, awoke, and the mother went to attend to them. When she returned her husband was awake and appeared in a more easy frame of mind, expressing determination to go to work. The door to Nachtigall's room was locked, but Mr. Jensen broke it open. Nachtigall's body was found lying in a pool of blood, close to the door. Life was extinct. An examination of the room showed that Nachtigall had first slashed his wrists and then paced back and forth, leaving a trail of blood up and down the room. Then, finding death by loss of blood too slow, he set the pistol and sent a bullet crashing into his brain.

In Nachtigall's pockets were found several incoherent letters, indicating that he had planned to kill himself. Deputy Coroner L. A. Nelson viewed the body and had it removed to the county morgue.

Nachtigall is survived by a wife and two children. He was thirty-four years of age, an Austrian by birth, and had lived in this city about ten years.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Is Done in St. Paul.

Sometimes the back aches with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless, sometimes pain shoots across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use plastering or rubbing the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. To exchange a bad back for a new and stronger one, follow the example of this St. Paul citizen:

Mrs. Andrew Sullivan, of 118 West Cook street, says: "Mr. Sullivan suffered dreadfully from backache. Learning about Doan's Kidney Pills, he went to F. M. Parker's drug store, got a box, used it strictly according to directions, and in a few days the backache ceased. What is of much more importance, up to date there has been no recurrence."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

RECEIVED TO CLEAN UP

RETIRING OFFICIALS AGREE TO PUSH CERTAIN LEGISLATION

VARIOUS ISSUES COMBINED

Ordinances Granting Franchise Rights to Be Considered and Passed, and, if Necessary, Veto Overthrown.

The board of aldermen assembled last night, but adjourned without transacting any business.

Ald. Kenny objected to adjournment, declaring it was nonsense. Ald. Murphy explained that adjournment was necessary because the city authorities had found it impossible to complete arrangements for the closing of the Rice street bridge before next Thursday and prompt action was desired on the matter in order that the public be inconvenienced as little as possible.

Ald. Kenny then made a remark about the board doing nothing but looking after franchises, but as the vote had been recorded it was not effective.

It is believed there is an understanding between the promoters of the Edison and South St. Paul ordinance to agree on action on these measures in order to cement their strength. The combination is also said to include three members who will vote on the proposition to pass the Manhattan street gift resolution over the mayor's veto, should his honor take such action today.

POISON IN COAL TAR DYES

USED TO MAKE "STRAWBERRY" FOR SODA FOUNTAINS.

The state dairy and food commission has been called upon to make examinations of materials used in soda water in several St. Paul establishments, the product of a Cleveland manufacturer, and some startling disclosures have been made as a result. The investigation was started upon the application of one of the largest department stores for a chemical analysis of the ingredients of "strawberry," used as a flavoring syrup in soda served at the fountain. Several people who were served with soda flavored with the strawberries were taken ill, and finally, when one of the employees broke a jar of the concoction, several par-took of the berries. The result was that three of the clerks became violently sick, and it was then that the firm decided to ask for the assistance of the state in determining the nature of the flavoring preparation. State Chemist J. A. Hummel made a careful analysis of the sample submitted, and found that it contained coal tar dye, used to give the berries their fresh red color.

The name of the firm manufacturing the preparation was taken, and many of the downtown stores where soda is served visited by Assistant Commissioner B. D. White. Samples were secured at nearly all the places where the coal tar dye's goods were used in the preparation of soda water. The samples subsequently taken have not been submitted to an analysis as yet.

Maj. Butler, state dairy and food commissioner, will continue his investigation until he is able to determine whether the practice of adulterating flavors by the manufacturers is general or not. The department store using the flavoring preparation is an innocent party, and one of the members of the firm stated to Assistant Commissioner White that he had no idea the package contained adulterants, as it was labeled "strictly pure."

The pure food laws of Minnesota cover the adulteration of all food products placed on the market and sold under the guise of genuine goods.

Maj. Butler intends to push the investigation instituted by the department, and will prosecute the manufacturer, if possible to reach it under the name of Minnesota. The firms selling the adulterated article are liable to prosecution, but it is not likely that they will be prosecuted as in most cases the innocent purchasers. However, if they persist in selling the goods, after being warned by the state officials, there will be no recourse left to the commission other than to commence proceedings under the pure food laws.

CHILD RUN OVER BY TEAM

KNOCKED DOWN AND INJURED WHILE CROSSING STREET.

An accident that came very near having a fatal result occurred shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the corner of Washaba and Tenth streets. A colored man, driven swiftly around the corner, started to cross the crowded street with an older girl. There were a number of bicyclists crossing the corner, and these with the crowd of pedestrians hurrying home from work seemed to be under the two children.

They became separated when half way across the street, the older one reaching the other side in safety. The smaller of the two, however, tripped and fell, and before she was able to pick herself up she was struck by the team, which was in the corner, made directly for the prostrate little figure. Before the child was rescued she was kicked on the head by the horse and rendered insensible.

She was taken into Heller's drug store and soon regained consciousness so that she was able to go home in charge of a woman. The child gave her address as 80 Rice street.

THERE ARE MORE WRECKS CAUSED BY THE KIDNEYS THAN BY ALL THE DANGERS OF TRAVEL.

KID-NE-OIDS

are the little health savers that keep the kidneys off the rocks of disease.

Any physician will tell you that the vast majority of the diseases, and sicknesses that humanity suffers are caused either directly or indirectly by the kidneys. They seem to be that fountain head from which the little stream of disease begins that eventually makes a wreck of the constitution and ends in death.

Disordered Kidneys are first indicated by pains in the back, distress or fullness after eating, scanty or scanty urine, weakness and chills, pains in the loins, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of vitality, swelling in limbs or body or both, and sediment in the urine.

Kid-Ne-oids are little yellow tablets, easy to take, but body in results. They are never sold in less quantities than a box of 50 cents. The first dose often makes you feel better at once. A repetition of the dose will eventually restore health to your kidneys.

Mrs. W. H. CORNELL, 20 Central Avenue, says: "I was afflicted for about eight months with a dull, heavy pain across the small of my back. I used plasters on my back for kidney backache, and used different kinds of kidney remedies, but was not relieved until I commenced to take Morrow's Kid-Ne-oids. Kid-Ne-oids relieved me completely of backache, nervousness and stomach trouble, and, in fact, all other symptoms of kidney disease.
