

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

In Labor's Field.

The weekly meeting of the Plasterers' union was held last evening, at which Alex Gray filled the secretary's chair in the absence of Secretary J. Purvis. August Coles was initiated.

A communication from the Minneapolis union, asking the St. Paul union to join a baseball contest, was received and accepted. P. Leo Jr. being appointed captain of the St. Paul club.

It was stated that the recent trouble had been satisfactorily adjusted and all members of the union were employed. A donation of $25 was made to the striking plasterers in Chicago.

Teamsters and Team Drivers' Union.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Teamsters and Team Drivers' union held last night was largely attended. Fourteen new members were enrolled and twenty applications received and referred to a committee composed of Thomas Cullin, A. Monbrin, Daniel Cotter, John Cook and James McCarver were appointed to wait upon the new council to ask them to compel James Forrester, esq., to employ only union teams.

It was stated that teamsters refusing to sign an arbitrary agreement tendered by the Forrester company were dismissed. James Page and F. Schlitz, were elected to the Treasurers and Local Council. Receipts, $49; disbursements, $45.50.

Woodworkers' Union.

A special meeting of the Woodworkers' union was held last evening. Theo. Cline acted as their representative to the State Federation of Labor. E. S. Husby and J. T. Sullivan were allowed $10 each for expenses in attending the State Federation of Labor.

The invitation of the Boer reception committee to attend the reception of the Boer delegates was received and accepted, the union appointing H. M. Hemerson as their representative.

Bookbinders' Union.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bookbinders' union was held last evening and was largely attended. A delegation from the newly organized Bindery Girls' union attended the meeting. The secretary was instructed to attend the international Bookbinders' association, now in session at Cleveland, to hold its next biennial session in St. Paul.

The picnic committee reported the picnic as having been a financial and social success. Receipts, $35; disbursements, $5.50.

Cabinetmakers' Union.

A meeting of the Cabinetmakers' union was held last night, at which a delegation from the woodworkers' council, headed by Louis Hansen, were in attendance. The question of amalgamating the Cabinetmakers' union with the Woodworkers' union was considered and rejected. John Laska received and accepted as delegate to the State Federation of Labor. Two new members were initiated.

Lathers' Union.

A meeting of the Lathers' union was held last evening. It was decided to hold an open meeting next Wednesday night, to which all were invited. Receipts, $17.50; expended, $7.

LABOR ITEMS.

The following unions held meetings to-night: Bricklayers, press-freeters, stero-typers, tinsmiths and horseshoers. The Coopers union held a short special session last evening. Their meeting was secret.

Advertisement for 'CATHARTIC' medicine, featuring an illustration of a woman and text describing its benefits for various ailments like kidney trouble, constipation, and general weakness.

YOUNG TRUE TO TRADITION

IT IS THE MONTH OF BRIDES, TRULY, IN ST. PAUL.

CHAPMAN - REIF NUPTIALS

Fashionable Wedding Service Last Night at the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Hassel Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Chapman, of Holy Avenue, to Mr. Herbert Kemper Reif, was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock at the Church of St. John the Evangelist. Rev. Edgar Haupt, the bride's uncle, performed the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated in white and green, the work of the Altar guild, of which Miss Chapman has long been a member. Henry W. Knauff played the wedding music. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Chapman, as maid of honor, and by Miss Frances Reif and Miss Marian Chapman as bridesmaids. Rev. Harvey Officer was best man and Herman M. Chapman, of Grand Rapids; Fred G. Bradbury, W. S. Every, H. L. Donahoe acted as ushers.

The bride was gowned in white satin made with a demi-train, the skirt finished with an accordion pleating of Brussels net. The corsage was of shirred net with jacket of Chantilly lace. The overdress of Chantilly lace was an heirloom, having belonged to the bride's grandmother. A bouquet of Bride roses was carried. The maid of honor was gowned in blue mousseline de soie and carried marguerites. The bridesmaids wore white Persian lawn trimmed with Valenciennes lace and carried yellow roses.

Following the ceremony there was a reception for relatives and friends at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Reif left last evening for a two weeks' visit in the East. They will be at home, after their return, in St. Paul.

Harmony Camp Royal Neighbors gave a delightful dancing party last evening to the members of Unity Camp Modern Woodmen at Paul Martin's opera house on the West side. There were about forty couples present. Music for the dance was furnished by Hilgard's orchestra. The reception and arrangement committee was composed of Mrs. Julia Lehman, Mrs. Max Hope, Mrs. Frank Louckner, Mrs. Henry Korfhage, Mrs. John Garriough and Mrs. Swenson.

The last pupils' recital of the season was given at St. Joseph's academy yesterday. Those taking part were: Misses Twoby, Snow, Hilger, Webb, Leonard, Guthrie, Laughlin, O'Conner, Rieck, Fraiser, Jewett, Stevens, Parr, Pope and Delamere.

Mrs. Frank Dunn and H. K. Cole, soliciting freight agent of the Northern Pacific railway, were married Tuesday. They left for a coast trip.

An all-day reception will be held today at the Church Home for Aged Women, 60 Lafayette Avenue. Bishop Whipple and the visiting clergy will be guests of honor.

Myrtle Temple No. 2, Rathbone Sisters, gave a progressive euchre party yesterday afternoon at Bowley hall. On the committee were Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. Robert Grady and Mrs. J. G. Earnhart.

Miss Trumbull gave a dinner last evening at her home on Lehigh street, entertaining the members of her bridal party.

The board of managers of the Catholic Infants' home gave a euchre party yesterday afternoon in the white parlors of the Edgemoor. Mrs. M. F. Kennedy and Mrs. John G. Donnelly had charge.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. James' English Evangelical Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Benston, 715 Sherburne Avenue, at 3 p. m. today.

The wedding of Miss Halle H. Beane and Carl E. Miller took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Mahon, Grand Avenue. Rev. E. B. Cowgill, D. D., of the First M. E. church, officiated. The wedding was a quiet one, only relatives of the bride and groom being present. The groom has for some time been prominent in Epworth league effort. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left last evening for the East, and after July 1 will be at home at 152 West Minnehaha street, Hamline.

Miss Gertrude Marie Lamb, daughter of Mrs. M. Lamb, 770 Hague Avenue, and F. Moyer, of Cedar Rapids, were married last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. Ambrose McNulty, of St. Luke's Catholic church, was the officiating clergyman. Only relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Moyer will reside at Cedar Rapids.

Mrs. D. A. Monfort, of Dayton Avenue, is expected home from the East today. Mrs. W. W. Miller, of Bertland Avenue, has returned from Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Milham, of St. Anthony Avenue, will go East this month to attend the annual convention of the Smith College, where Miss Milham graduates.

Mrs. Morton Bowens, of Lincoln Avenue, is visiting in Ashland.

Miss Robert Lorimer, of Aurora Avenue, has gone to New York. She will sail June 9 for Europe.

MAJ. A. G. WILCOX DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly at His Home at Hugo.

Maj. A. G. Wilcox, editor of The Farmer, died suddenly at his farm home, near Hugo, yesterday morning. He was apparently in his usual health at the preceding, and in the evening did some editorial work for the paper. As he had long been a sufferer from rheumatism it is supposed that he had been affected by a sudden attack. He was found dead in bed. Alfred Gould Wilcox was born March 31, 1841, in Madison, Ohio. He lived on a farm, attended common schools and academy until 1859, when he entered Oberlin college. He was in the junior year when the call for troops came under which the 16th Ohio was organized. He was commissioned first lieutenant in Company F, participating in all the raids, battles and skirmishes to the close of the war; was promoted to captain and assigned to Company F; mustered out as such, but later brevetted major. Soon after the war, having chosen a literary occupation, he served as apprentice as city editor of the Cleveland Leader. Afterwards he became consecutively owner of the Journal, of Fremont, Ohio; Telegram, Richmond, Ind.; and Courier, New Castle, Ind.; removed to Minneapolis in 1872, when he became manager of the Daily News, and afterwards the Tribune. Later he became subscription book publishing, his greatest success being the Buckeye Cook Book, which has reached a sale of about 1,000,000 copies. In connection with these publications he issued the Housekeeper, which, under his management, obtained a circulation of 125,000 in 1887. During this time he devoted much of his time to agricultural interests. Together with Col. W. M. Lisgett he opened up the Grand View Stock farm at Benson; he was also owner of the famous Brookside farm at Kerkhoven, and has had much to do with introducing Holstein-Friesian cattle into Minnesota, and for three years has been secretary of the State Live Stock Breeders' association. For the last five years he had resided with his family on his farm, near Hugo, on the St. Paul & Duluth road, and for the last four years has been editor of the Farmer, of St. Paul. He leaves a widow and six children.

A timely "Orangeine" powder supplies just the necessary aid for perfect health and good spirits.

NIGHT OF TOWN SIKES

IT IS WORRYING THE NIGHTS OF SECRETARY OF STATE BERG

HIS SALARY NOT STOPPED

But There Are Troubles at Warroad That Are Causing Him Some Hardship and Anxiety.

Judging from reports from the shores of Warroad, the political situation is not as rosy for Secretary of State Berg as might have been expected for an official situated as he is—that is, able to draw state salary, while carrying on extensive town-site and other operations in a far distant part of the state. Fact is, so reports go, that our Republican secretary of state has something like a fire in the rear. It is said that friends who hitherto encouraged his activity in Roseau county have come to the conclusion that all Mr. Berg is after is to be elected to the state legislature from the district in which he has taken up residence. They say that the large gentleman really expected to be nominated for congress in Eddy's place, in the early days of the Eddy opposition, but that the legislature is now quite big enough for him, and they think that this place is all that Secretary Berg is now after.

Then there is said to be continued friction in the townsite operations, where, instead of one good promising town, three are now struggling to get themselves an existence. One feature connected with this has to do with Senator Knute Nelson, who is said to be severely criticised for the special legislation of congress connected with the crossing of Rainy river by the expected Canadian railroad. This secured the privilege of the bridge, but, a fact not generally known, the act provided for giving a tract of land along with the franchise right. There is feeling against this bonus, and some connect Secretary Berg with the same. Not only this, but the secretary has been accused of having broken promises as to the railroad itself, which no one as yet has heard puffing and wheezing hither and yon, along the muddy shores of Warroad and the Lake of the Woods.

And so, altogether, reports are not the most encouraging as to Secretary Berg's political affairs in the North.

Leut. Gov. L. A. Smith will not be a party to any trade that will put him out of the fight for renomination on the Republican ticket. The lieutenant governor spent several hours in Minneapolis yesterday afternoon.

"I am in this for renomination for lieutenant governor and nothing else," said he. "I will not be a party to any scheme that will put me out of the race and if I am dropped and receive the nomination for railroad commissioner I will receive the same as if I were not moved a finger to secure it. The story that already I am preparing to satisfy myself that the county Republican press is strong for me. The politicians of the Twin Cities see a cloud on the horizon in John Lind, and there is a fight ahead for the machine which is beyond question favorable to the Winona man. If the ranks of the machine withstand the assaults of the Twin City element that wants Clapp or some other available, aggressive candidate, I do not believe I am entitled to it. I do not believe in this talk that the proposed switch is a scheme to get rid of Stairs."

With the state convention only a few weeks away, the Republicans are uncertain about their prospects. Van Sant has never loosened his grip and has the whip hand. He has been a candidate two years and the county Republican press is strong for him. The politicians of the Twin Cities see a cloud on the horizon in John Lind, and there is a fight ahead for the machine which is beyond question favorable to the Winona man. If the ranks of the machine withstand the assaults of the Twin City element that wants Clapp or some other available, aggressive candidate, I do not believe I am entitled to it. I do not believe in this talk that the proposed switch is a scheme to get rid of Stairs."

Chas. A. Towne, Populist nominee for vice-president in the state caucus yesterday, Mr. Towne will remain in the city today to have a part in the reception to the Boer envoys.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

HE COULD NOT FIND THEM.

Edward Uhde Did Not Locate His Wife and Child.

Edward Uhde, who walked to this city from Aitkin county several days ago, to find his daughter, returned to the central station last evening, after a vain search about town. The separated father from his wife some time ago, and Mrs. Uhde came to this city with a young daughter. Uhde remained farming in Aitkin county until a longing to see his child impelled him to come here to search for her.

He visited South St. Paul yesterday, where he says his sister-in-law lives. The sister-in-law told him, he says, that his wife had been in town, but that she had since the total separation. He says he learned that his wife and daughter were both in St. Paul, but that the sister-in-law would not tell him where he could find them.

LEUDEK WAS ACQUITTED.

No Evidence to Connect Him With Sale of Meat.

Herman Leudek, who conducts the Northwestern Produce Company, was acquitted in the municipal court yesterday of the charge of selling meat without a butcher's license.

Prosecution of Leudek was undertaken at the instance of the Retail Butcher's Association, it being alleged that Leudek had sold thirty pounds of veal to Daniel Noeman, proprietor of a restaurant at 24 E. Seventh street. On the trial it developed that Noeman had purchased the meat from a peddler, who made out the bill on a bill head bearing the name of the Northwestern Produce Company. This was the only evidence to in any way connect Mr. Leudek with the transaction and he was promptly discharged.

FOR FIRING TIMBER.

Two Men Are Held for Trial in Heavy Bail.

J. M. Dickey, assistant in the United States district attorney's office, has returned from Walker, where he represented the government in the prosecution of a number of cases before the commissioner. One of the offenses was the malicious firing of the timber on the Winnepigoshish Indian reservation.

Charles E. Seavey and Harry Shearer were held in bail in the sum of $1,000 each, which they furnished. It is charged that incendiaries operated last April, and that as a result about 200,000 trees were damaged.

BURNED BY GASOLINE.

L. Weltzman, a Tailor, Injured by an Explosion.

In attempting to extinguish a fire starting from a gasoline stove explosion at his tailor shop, 462 Robert street, yesterday morning, L. Weltzman was severely burned about the hands. His left arm was blistered to the elbow. Mr. Weltzman was attended by a physician, who pronounced the burn no dangerous.

The fire department extinguished the blaze before serious damage had been done.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of the Kind You Have Always Bought.

SUNDAY, JUNE 10TH.

Popular Excursion to New Ulm.

Round-trip tickets only $1.50. Train leaves St. Paul 8:30 a. m. From Minneapolis & St. Louis depot, Broadway, foot of Third street; returning, leave New Ulm 8 p. m.

AND THEY BEAT LARSON?

POLICE ARREST ANDY FALLEN AND HENRY MCCOOL FOR THE ASSAULT

LARSON CANNOT RECOVER

Two Versions of the Cause of the Attack Sunday Morning Are Given by Police Officers.

The mystery surrounding the case of Charles Larson, who has remained in a state of unconsciousness, at Bethesda hospital for several days, was partially solved last evening, the police claim, in the arrest of Andy Fallon and Henry McCool, who are accused of assaulting Larson. The injured man is suffering from hemorrhage of the brain and has grown steadily worse, so that the physicians said last evening that he could scarcely recover. The charge against Fallon and McCool is as yet but assault and battery.

What led to the assault upon Larson is not fully explained; in fact, there are two stories of the affair, one to the effect that Larson engaged in an ordinary street fight with Fallon and McCool, while the other is that Larson tried to force an entrance to McCool's home, 199 Payne Avenue, and was attacked in mistake for a burglar. From Larson little of the affair was learned before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Larson, who has been in the city since last fall, lived at the home of Nels Nelson, 127 Payne Avenue. He was about several Payne Avenue saloons Saturday night, drinking heavily, the police say, and started for home shortly before 1 o'clock. Larson returned at about 1:30 Sunday morning. He complained of no pain nor of having been hurt, but to Miss Nelson told a story of having had a fight while Fallon attacked him, and spoke jokingly of the encounter. The only indication Larson showed of the fight was a badly discolored eye. He went down town and spent the day about the home at such a time as the Payne Avenue district. Late in the afternoon he returned home and complained of not feeling well. Dr. Whitney was called to attend him and advised Larson to go to bed. During the night Larson became unconscious and as he did not rally the next day, Dr. Whitney had him taken to the hospital. Here it developed that he was suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain and was in a critical condition. He has grown steadily worse and is now not expected to live.

The case was called to the attention of the police Tuesday. Subsequent investigation led to the arrest of Fallon and McCool.

According to Officer Cashman, who arrested McCool, the latter admits having attacked Larson, but says he found Larson trying to break into his house early Sunday morning. Not understanding why any one should be trying to forcibly enter his house, he fired a shot. Larson, Officer Cashman says, McCool explained to him that he grappled with Larson and had a short fight before he could drive the alleged intruder away.

Assuming Officer Cashman's version to be correct, it is not clear what connection Fallon had with the attack upon Larson, but a different story is given out by the Market police station. Sergeant Larson, who has been directing the investigation, says Larson's story of the fight with two men early Sunday morning is correct. He says that he was in the house at such a time as the Payne Avenue district. Late in the afternoon he returned home and complained of not feeling well. Dr. Whitney was called to attend him and advised Larson to go to bed. During the night Larson became unconscious and as he did not rally the next day, Dr. Whitney had him taken to the hospital. Here it developed that he was suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain and was in a critical condition. He has grown steadily worse and is now not expected to live.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

When locked up at the Margaret station both McCool and Fallon denied having fought with Larson. They denied having ever had any trouble of any kind with him.

An examination of Larson at the hospital showed no marks of violence save the discolored and swollen eye. There were no cuts nor abrasions about the head, and the bruises about the eye do not appear to have been made with a weapon. The physicians say, however, that a heavy blow about the eye might have ruptured a blood vessel in the brain, as well as a blow on some other part of the head.

Large advertisement for GLOBE Excursion, featuring 'Return by Special Train' and 'Next Saturday Afternoon'. Includes details about fares (.75 cents for round trip), music by Siebert's Band, and ticket information.

Advertisement for Rochester, Minn., June 12-14, 1900, mentioning the biennial convention of the Minnesota branch of the A. O. H. and the Chicago Great Western Ry.

Advertisement for Week-End Excursions to Fishing Points on Great Northern Railway, listing various routes and fares.

Advertisement for More Trains to New York, listing routes and schedules.

Advertisement for American Association of Nurserymen, Chicago, June 13-14, 1900.

Advertisement for MARRIED, FRIEND-SCHERMANN, St. Paul, June 5, 1900.

Advertisement for VITAL STATISTICS, listing marriages, births, and deaths.

Advertisement for GRAND, Tonight, First Time of the Charming Play, 'LITTLE LORD FAUNTEROY.'

Advertisement for FREE NON-PARTISAN MASS MEETING, To Receive the BOER ENVOYS.

Advertisement for Hamm's Preferred Stock Beer, brewed from imported malt & hops.

Advertisement for Burlington Route, 'JUST LIKE THE CLUB-ONLY', featuring buffet-lunch cars and ticket information.

Advertisement for ROCHE'S WHISKIES, featuring 'BEST FOR THE HOME AND CLUB' and 'MELLOW GOOD AND PURE'.

Advertisement for THE N. W. LIFE ASS'N, Of Minneapolis, 'This is a Home Institution.'

Advertisement for AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS, offering paper plates and films.

Advertisement for WEAK MEN, featuring 'FREE NON-PARTISAN MASS MEETING' and 'BOER ENVOYS'.