LIBRARY BOARD ESTIMATES ITS OUTSTANDING LIABILITIES AT $10,000

NET ANNUAL INCOME, $9,005

On This Basis the Board Figures It Will Be a Long Time Getting Out of the Water.

At the adjourned meeting of the Public Library board, held last evening at the public library rooms, the following report was made by the committee on buildings and grounds:

The committee on buildings and grounds in their report stated in compliance with the resolution adopted by the board July 13, 1900, are obliged to inform the board of the financial condition of the library building which the committee makes its best information which it has or is now able to obtain from the books of the library.

It is not improbable that some of the outstanding indebtedness growing out of the erection and reconstruction of the library building may not be included. From such data as we have obtained it appears that the total amount of the building and fixtures cost $30,815. There have been paid upon same $21,865.

Leaving unpaid upon building and fixtures $8,950.

Other items: Absolute $600. Expense accounts unpaid $600. Gas and electric light and power unpaid $400. Insurance unpaid $420. Advances made by individual members of the retiring board $2,000.

Total unpaid indebtedness $13,370.

We estimate the receipts from the building for the same period $4,370.

Leaving to be applied upon the indebtedness, Jan. 1, 1901, $9,000.

There is also unpaid subscriptions, amounting to about $30, by the public for some of which is distributed by the board.

There is now in the city treasury to the credit of the library board $677.44.

It is estimated that the total amount of the leases which, by its terms, are to expire on Jan. 1, 1901, is not in excess of $10,000. It is not unlikely that better terms may be secured upon the renewal of the lease, but this will not affect the result appreciably. The probable net annual income of the library is estimated at $9,005. The expenses per annum $7,900.

Leaving a probable net yearly income of $9,005, $9,005.00.

Some of the probable net yearly income, and it is for this reason that the total estimate from annual rents is somewhat less than the actual.

The tenant paying the largest rental has paid $9,500 in advance for a lease of five years and, as a consequence, there has been deducted from the face of gross amount of the rents $1,300 for each year of the term.

The net yearly income estimated at $9,005 is based upon a continuance of the present rate of rental, but it is probable that higher rentals will be obtained upon the renewal, but in arriving at this sum of $9,005, the committee has not taken into account any insurance charge for writing insurance upon the buildings and rents, and does not take into account the unpaid premiums upon policies written upon the buildings.

The attention of the board is directed to the fact that insurance upon the building is not being paid as it should be paid as arrangements can be made to do so. The cost of the insurance is extended credit, and many of the persons who furnished labor and material are not being paid for their work.

The item of insurance relates only to insurance upon the buildings and rents, and does not include the insurance upon the books. There are, therefore, unpaid premiums upon policies written upon the books.

The attention of the board is directed to the fact that insurance upon the building is not being paid as it should be paid as arrangements can be made to do so. The cost of the insurance is extended credit, and many of the persons who furnished labor and material are not being paid for their work.

The attention of the board is also called to the fact that electric light and power bills in future, and the fuel bills for the building, should be paid promptly out of the income. A failure to pay future bills for fuel or electric light or power, would probably result in a refusal to furnish either fuel or electric light, and would be another installment of the services on palmtistry.

TRIP TO ENCAMPMENT.

Department Commander Ives Arranging Details.

Gideon S. Ives, department commander of Minnesota, is in consultation with the committee appointed by Acker post No. 21, G. A. R., to make arrangements for the Chicago trip. Acker post has a contract with one of the railroads for a special train and a conductor, and the train will be designated this train as the department train to Chicago. It is expected that the Minnesota delegation will be better represented this year at the encampment than ever before.

Blueberries were the bone of contention in a discussion between John Horejs and Meat Inspector Janen yesterday. Horejs did not follow the instructions of the health officer he was arrested.

Horejs had stored in the St. Paul cold storage warehouse thirty-five crates of condensed blueberries. The health inspector ordered Horejs to remove them.

Horejs ordered his employe to load them and take them away, and later in the day was arrested on a charge issued by Health Commissioner Ohage. The case will be heard today.

IT IS A BULLET THROUGH THE HEART.

Charles Arndt, 380 Winslow avenue, committed suicide at his home last evening about 7 o'clock, by shooting himself through the heart.

Arndt was about fifty-seven years of age. For the last twelve years he had been a sufferer from stomach trouble, and it is thought that the fact that he knew his trouble to be incurable prompted him to commit the deed.

He had been complaining recently that he was feeling worse, and although his wife and children knew that he was a great sufferer, they never had any idea that he would in this way end his life.

Yesterday afternoon he seemed intent on doing something, and he was questioned by his wife and daughters to account for his strange actions, but he would give no satisfaction in his answers. He talked with his wife during the afternoon in regard to his affairs, and it would seem from this and other actions that the deed was premeditated.

A mirror that was found on the floor near his body makes it appear that he stood before it when taking aim. Two bullets were fired, one of them entering the heart, the other passing just below the heart. The gun used was a 38-caliber revolver, which he had owned for several years.

Arndt was born in Germany, and had been in this country for nearly thirty years. He had a family of five children, and for the past twelve years he had been a sufferer from stomach trouble. He leaves two daughters and one son, all of whom are well.

Deputy Coroner Hesselgrave called at the house shortly after the shooting and held the body until the inquest to some time later. The funeral arrangements have not been fully made.

PUT OVER FOR TWO WEEKS.

Manufacturers' Auxiliary Disfranchisement.

The executive committee of the ladies' auxiliary to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association met with the association's committee yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce to determine whether or not the former organization shall pass out of existence.

Mrs. Ansel Oppenbach acted as chairman. Mrs. Ansel Auerbach stated that Mrs. Ansel Hamlin, president of the auxiliary, had suggested the plan of having the auxiliary's work done by the larger body. The fact that the auxiliary's aims are precisely the same as those of the larger body, namely, the fostering of municipal patriotism, and the fact that the league has the more perfect organization for doing the work formerly done by the auxiliary, has commended the plan to the members of the auxiliary, and the five members present at the meeting yesterday seemed anxious to adopt the suggestion of the larger body.

The plan, however, did not appeal to the men. C. J. Whellams, secretary of the association, stated that he thought it would be unwise idea for the auxiliary to be merged into the present auxiliary. He thought there was work enough for all clubs, and that that of the auxiliary had an individuality of its own. Mr. Johnson, president of the association, stated that the latter had several plans, which, if successful, included on a large of its own and a food exhibit which would be held before the auxiliary would then be a necessity for the association. Edward Yanish also spoke against the contemplated disorganization of the auxiliary. On motion it was decided to postpone the matter for two weeks, when the members of the Manufacturers' association will know more definitely concerning their own plans, and the members of the auxiliary will be able to judge exactly what will be expected of them.

In the civic league's plan the suggestion was that the auxiliary be merged into so that visitors coming to the city during the continuance of the pure food exhibit might find a place to rest, and the idea of the resources of the city. Whether the auxiliary disbands or not this idea will probably be acted upon.

LOST IN THE BIG PARK.

Hard Experience of C. C. F. Smith in Yellowstone Recently.

C. C. F. Smith, formerly of this city, had an experience in Yellowstone national park recently which may cost him his life.

It is thought that his mind became temporarily unbalanced, and that while in this condition he wandered from his mother, with whom he was spending his vacation in the park. Thursday evening he was first missed, and since he did not return Friday morning a searching party was organized and sent to look for him, with the result that he was found in a serious condition after a search of three days and four nights. During this time he wandered several miles from the place at which he left his mother and the party which was sent to look for him. Smith will be remembered as a partner of the wholesale grocery firm of Craig, Leikin & Smith, who formerly were in business in this city, but lately he has been interested in sheep raising in Montana.

FUNERAL OF W. M. FARRAR.

It Will Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon at Forest Cemetery.

The friends of the late William Montague Farrar are notified that the funeral service will be held at Forest cemetery chapel Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Rev. Harvey Johnson will read the burial service. The cemetery is reached by taking the Mississippi street car, and alighting at the end of the line on Edgerton street, walking thence north to the cemetery.

The casket containing Mr. Farrar's body will be left at Dampier's undertaking room at Broadway street, until Saturday evening, and friends may view the body there if they wish to do so any time after noon today.

REPUBLICAN SPELL BINDERS WILL OPEN THE CAMPAIGN THIS EVENING.

At Frasez this evening Republican nominees on the state ticket will address what is characterized as a raffish entertainment. Capt. R. Van Sant, Congressman McClary, Capt. C. C. Whitney and several others will leave on the morning train for Frasez and will deliver opening campaign speeches. Ray W. Jones, who was a delegate to the national Republican convention, and on the committee to notify McKinley and Roosevelt of their nomination, is engineering the meeting, at which the opening program of the campaign will be discharged. Mr. Jones was an overjoyed over the honors heaped upon him by the party, following close on the heels of the additional dollar tariff on lumber, that the present finds him in a mood to do almost anything to make it right with the party. As a "beneficiary," he is not ungrateful.

It is noticeable that Congressman Eddy is not down for a speech at the Frasez meeting. It is to be presumed that the campaign managers are saving him for a barbecue or something later.

United States Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, was in the city Wednesday and pronounced himself very emphatically in the presence of several friends during his brief stay in the city. Senator Pettigrew is up at the city shipper, and much less has no admiration for men who are not real heroes. He is authority for the statement that a certain number of the colored troops at San Juan, stated that only seven rough riders went up the hill, and Teddy was not one of them. Further, if any United States senator, other than Mr. Davis or Spooner, who are his personal friends, came to South Dakota for political purposes, he would challenge them to a duel, yearly, to decide the issue of his appearance, the picketed statesman agrees to challenge him for a larlet throwing contest in a eighty-rod field, against any cowboy. If Roosevelt wins it will be McKinley's, and if McKinley wins it will be Bryan's, Bryan and the republic.

Speaking of the condition in South Dakota, Senator Pettigrew expressed himself confident of his re-election, but made no sweeping assertions. It is known, however, that in case there appears to be no chance of carrying the state for Bryan or the fusion candidate for governor, every influence will be brought to bear to return Pettigrew to the United States senate by trading the offices that cannot be carried.

An air of expectancy prevails around the Republican central committee headquarters. The merry hum of a few typewriters in the room indicates that the executive committee of the Republican state committee meets the day previous, Aug. 1, and the entire committee will talk it all over Aug. 10.

The Democratic state committee will doubtless decide the present headquarters at the Merchants' hotel. As previously stated in this column, the committee meets Aug. 2, and will organize and decide a number of important matters that will be before it. The executive committee of the Republican state committee meets the day previous, Aug. 1, and the entire committee will talk it all over Aug. 10.

Chairman Masterman has already received a number of offers to assist in the work of the campaign. He has accepted of Moses E. Clapp offering to give six weeks of his time to missionary work in the doubtful localities. J. Adam Bede is president of the committee, and he is hereby helping the more than any other means. He is locating Republicans living in Southern Minnesota to North and South Dakota, where their votes are more needed.

S. M. Owen is being groomed with no little enthusiasm for the lieutenant governor nomination on the Democratic ticket. His selection would put him in the line for the first time in years, and would make one of the strongest political combinations possible.

Baldwin's election, in the event of his nomination as congressman by the fusion forces of the Sixth district, is practically assured.

Morris is experiencing not a little difficulty in securing enough money to make the campaign on. Towne was so prominent a character that Republicans were willing to spend almost any amount of money to secure his defeat, but with Baldwin the matter assumes an altogether different aspect, and as the national committee has not put up a dollar for over ten years, and he is now along for over ten years, and he is now no longer have a hold on the party in the Sixth district.

At the game of politics Albert Berg is an adept, but there is no reason why he should not be, as he has nothing else to do. He is nominated for the legislature, and is sharing the sentiments of the mass of his countrymen, in their sympathy for the Boers, he came out openly for the English. The sequel now appears in that he is nominated for the legislature. About half the people in his district living near the Canadian border are Canadians, and it may have been hopes of catching that vote that led to his position.

D. M. Gann, J. H. Block and W. R. Baumbach were in the city yesterday.

The Democrats of the First congressional district are endeavoring to center their vote on the legislature. They are pushing as a candidate by the name of the Populist remember that McGovern was the name of the United States senator who spent almost any amount of money to secure his defeat. McGovern, of Spring Valley, is another likely candidate. In the Third district the names of the candidates are W. H. Leeman, of Henderson, county attorney of Sibley county.

Ald. Joseph Kitchell, of Minneapolis, has opened a pin into the little boom that his friends were attempting to work up for him as a candidate for the nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner. He is a candidate for the nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner. He is a candidate for the nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner. He is a candidate for the nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner.

PRIVATE WYNN'S MISTAKE.

Wanted a Long Sentence.

Judge Orr seldom finds a criminal who deserves a heavier sentence than he imposes. But yesterday he was confronted with a case of this kind.

Edward Lamerrou, a clerk in a dry goods store in this city, was in court to answer to the charge of being drunk, and he asked the judge to send him to the penitentiary for a long time so that he might be kept from committing other crimes for that length of time. He was given fifteen days.

He took the clothing to a pawnshop and sold it. He was in court when he saw that the evidence against him was conclusive and asked the judge to send him to the workhouse.
