

THIS MAGIC MONEY GAME

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE GIVES COVER MURRAY AND STANDS BY MR. MARRIHAM

JUDGMENT FUND WIPED OUT

It is Decided to Follow the Suggestions of the City Lawyer With Respect Thereto.

The conference committee yesterday completely wiped out the judgment fund, which was estimated by Controller McGraw at $83,232.45.

Provision for the purchase of a market street was made by including $90,000 in the budget, the amount appropriated was increased to $4,000, $25,000 was set aside toward lowering the grade on the Third street hill by remodeling the approach to the bridge over the railway tracks.

REPAIR THIRD STREET BRIDGE. The allowance for the remodeling of the Third street bridge was not passed without considerable argument and discussion.

FOR FAMILIES OF FIREMEN. Manager Hays, of the Grand, Makes a Handsome Offer.

Manager Hays, of the Grand, has written Chief Cook, stating that more money should be raised for the families of the firemen killed at the Transfer fire.

THOUGHT TO BE FIREBUGS. Six Young Boys Arrested Yesterday on Suspicion.

John Peel, aged eleven; Arthur Peel, aged eight; Willard Long, aged eleven; Arthur Reinhardt, aged nine; and Edith Johnson, aged nine years, were arrested by the Duane police yesterday afternoon.

BELONGED TO ST. PAUL LODGE. Funeral of John Davis to Be Under Masonic Auspices.

A special communication of St. Paul Lodge No. 3, A. F. & M., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of attending the funeral of John Davis.

READY FOR NEW USES. Old Federal Building is Undergoing Extensive Repairs.

The first of the coming year should see the old federal building in a fair state of repair, provided the improvements contemplated are carried out.

SENATOR DOLLIVER'S LECTURE. He Will Be Heard in the People's Church Monday Night.

Senator Dolliver is being taken in Senator Dolliver's lecture to be given at the People's church next Monday night.

SEND US 97c and mention this ad and we will send you this new PORTLAND CEMENT CUTTER.

CHILEAN CLAIMS. Joint Commission is in Session at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The United States and Chilean claims commission appointed to adjust claims made by the citizens of either country against the other is in session here.

ever heard. The Boston Globe said he possessed "inimitable wit and satire, one of the most graceful, polished and forcible orators in either branch."

NOTED IN POLICE COURT.

Minor Offenders Were Various Disposed of Yesterday.

Charles McCall, arrested at the Sterling Wine house Thursday night for the alleged larceny of a coat belonging to J. McMahon, was discharged.

HER BABY WAS SMOTHERED.

Tragic Discovery of a Mother in East St. Paul.

The infant daughter of John Holland, 388 East Fourth street, was found dead from suffocation last Wednesday night caused by having been wrapped so closely that it died without waking up.

FOR FAMILIES OF FIREMEN.

Manager Hays, of the Grand, Makes a Handsome Offer.

Manager Hays, of the Grand, has written Chief Cook, stating that more money should be raised for the families of the firemen killed at the Transfer fire.

THOUGHT TO BE FIREBUGS.

Six Young Boys Arrested Yesterday on Suspicion.

John Peel, aged eleven; Arthur Peel, aged eight; Willard Long, aged eleven; Arthur Reinhardt, aged nine; and Edith Johnson, aged nine years, were arrested by the Duane police yesterday afternoon.

BELONGED TO ST. PAUL LODGE.

Funeral of John Davis to Be Under Masonic Auspices.

A special communication of St. Paul Lodge No. 3, A. F. & M., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of attending the funeral of John Davis.

READY FOR NEW USES.

Old Federal Building is Undergoing Extensive Repairs.

The first of the coming year should see the old federal building in a fair state of repair, provided the improvements contemplated are carried out.

SENATOR DOLLIVER'S LECTURE.

He Will Be Heard in the People's Church Monday Night.

Senator Dolliver is being taken in Senator Dolliver's lecture to be given at the People's church next Monday night.

SEND US 97c and mention this ad and we will send you this new PORTLAND CEMENT CUTTER.

FAVORED BY CITY PLANT

WITNESSES WHO APPEARED BEFORE CITY HALL AND COURT HOUSE COMMISSION

CITY CAN SAVE A GREAT DEAL

That Was the Judgment of Experts Who Were Called Before the Commission at Its Session Yesterday.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

SOCIAL LIFE IN ST. PAUL

A genuine musical treat is always afforded the audience that hears Miss Ella Richards play and those who were present last evening at the Park Congregational church to hear this young woman in her annual public piano recital found as much if not more than usual to applaud.

Miss Richards is an ambitious pianist, but her playing is seldom short of the original demands made by her programme, that one would not care to have a slight number of that programme omitted.

Her recital is always excellent, often brilliant. Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

TIME CHEATED

Vigor, Youth, Health Restored to Weak and Old

DROP—drop—drop. The sands of time fall fast. The grey hair, the sunken cheek are upon us ere we know it, while we cling, with bated breath, at the feet of Fate, begging for life.

That is not the way to obtain health. If you have squandered your vital forces, dissipated your energy, and feel old before your time, you have simply robbed Nature—you must repay her. You must yourself electrify your nerves, enrich your blood, and purify your entire physical system.

DR. GREENE'S Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy

Nature foresaw this result and supplied Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy for this need—a tonic absolutely wonderful in its effects. It is not to stimulate or "brace up" for the time being, but it makes you well. It brings back the freshness of youth, the exuberance, the vitality, which always accompany perfect physical health. It will build a fresh, new, bright fire, scattering the ashes of weakness and disease to the four winds.

Mrs. E. W. Hinds, 8 Beacon St., Fitchburg, Mass., says:

"I have been terribly afflicted with rheumatism and wish all to know how I have been cured. One year ago last December I got so bad I had to call in a doctor. He came a few times and he could do nothing for me. I must wait until warm weather. I grew worse until I was perfectly helpless. My sufferings were great. Warm weather came and got a little benefit from it. I commenced taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and in six months I wrote to Dr. Greene telling him I could go up stairs and down as easily as any one. I had taken a new lease of life. Dr. Greene's Nervura has cured me. I have since died with pain, but now rain or storm does not affect me. I can enjoy life now, and ride between five and six miles a day to work and go out alone and feel perfectly free from rheumatism. I thank God and Dr. Greene for restoring me to health."

There are many complex cases which patients cannot fully understand. Dr. Greene cordially invites all such sufferers to consult with him fully and freely, personally or by letter, at his office, 35 West 14th St., New York City. There is no charge for such consultation and every case is given individual attention.

There are many complex cases which patients cannot fully understand. Dr. Greene cordially invites all such sufferers to consult with him fully and freely, personally or by letter, at his office, 35 West 14th St., New York City. There is no charge for such consultation and every case is given individual attention.

FAVORED BY CITY PLANT

WITNESSES WHO APPEARED BEFORE CITY HALL AND COURT HOUSE COMMISSION

CITY CAN SAVE A GREAT DEAL

That Was the Judgment of Experts Who Were Called Before the Commission at Its Session Yesterday.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

Mr. Knapp stated that the saving to the owners of the Manhattan since putting in their own plant was considerable and cited the same in connection with other owners' office blocks who had put in private plants.

The meeting of the joint city hall and court house commission was held last evening for the purpose of considering the question as to heating and lighting the big building in their charge, but beyond hearing discussion pro and con little was done in determining a course.

J. D. Roberts, a contractor; Frank Knapp, engineer at the Manhattan building; Engineer McGery, of the federal building; and others were present and gave statistics and data as to the great saving accruing from a private plant and were enthusiastic in advising the commission to do their own heating and lighting.

SOCIAL LIFE IN ST. PAUL

A genuine musical treat is always afforded the audience that hears Miss Ella Richards play and those who were present last evening at the Park Congregational church to hear this young woman in her annual public piano recital found as much if not more than usual to applaud.

Miss Richards is an ambitious pianist, but her playing is seldom short of the original demands made by her programme, that one would not care to have a slight number of that programme omitted.

Her recital is always excellent, often brilliant. Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

Her reading is subjective, but the subjectiveness is not servile. In Bach's "Chaconne" and "Pavane" and "Rhapsody" her opening number last evening, a slight nervousness and consequent lack of surety were noticeable, but this passed away before the completion of the number and did not entirely mar the recital.

NEWFOUNDLAND ELECTION.

Speculation as to Probable Result of Reid's Defeat.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 16.—The Newfoundland general election being virtually over, much speculation is now indulged in regarding the next move. Mr. Bond's unqualified victory makes it certain that Mr. Reid, the conservative, will be unable to procure government sanction for the transfer of his concessions to a limited liability company, unless he can secure the support of the Liberal party.

Apparently he is disinclined to alter his anti-election attitude, and a political struggle is expected. The financing of an enterprise involving $250,000 is involved unless Mr. Bond forces Mr. Reid's hand by legislation and compels him to surrender.

Mr. P. S. Hendrickson of the Argyle gave a luncheon yesterday for Mrs. J. E. Penick and Mrs. Penwick, of New Brunswick. Covers were laid for twelve.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beitzinger have moved into their new home, 725 Fairmount avenue.

Mrs. Eva McDonald-Nahles, of Washington, D. C., is visiting friends in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Oppenheim will return today from New York.

Mrs. Charles Smith, of Carroll street, is entertaining Mrs. C. J. Wilson, of St. Paul.

Mrs. E. P. Sanborn, of Oakland avenue, is entertaining Mrs. George Du Toit, of St. Paul.

Mrs. Donaldson, of North Exchange street, is entertaining Mrs. F. Fisher, of St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hogland, of Fairmount avenue, are entertaining Mrs. William Trego, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. C. W. Wright, of Crocus hill, is entertaining Mrs. Howard Kimball, of Kansas City.

C. A. Horst, of Whitcomb, is entertaining Mrs. Deringer, of St. Paul, a former schoolmate.

Senator Dolliver, "the great statesman and master legislator," Monday night at the People's church. Secure seats at Y. M. C. A.

Grand Army Posts Will Ask Preference for Veterans.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 16.—Judge Leo Rausch, of this city, Monday night at the People's church. Secure seats at Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tooth Powder

AN ELEGANT TOILET LUXURY, Used by people of refinement for over a quarter of a century.

BLOOD POISON. A New Hampshire housekeeper was troubled for several years with biliousness, which often developed into even more serious symptoms.

Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tooth Powder. AN ELEGANT TOILET LUXURY, Used by people of refinement for over a quarter of a century.