depends upon the food you eat. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder adds to the healthfulness of all risen flour-foods.

Not only this, it makes the food lighter, sweeter, finer-flavored, more delicious. It is worth while to exercise care in purchasing baking powder to see that you get the kind that makes the food more wholesome and at the same time more palatable.

NOTE—There are many mixtures made in imitation of baking powder, which it is prudent to avoid. They are lower in price than pure powders, but they are made from alum. Alum in food is poisonous.

In Labor's Field.

The Trades and Labor assembly met last night with President Henry Glase in the chair. A committee was appointed to wait upon the mayor asking that labor unions be represented in the different city boards. The committee is composed of E. C. Ives, John F. Krieger, J. L. Gieske, John Fuerner and T. C. Jones. Credentials were presented by F. Dorrier and F. Kuehke, from the Bakers' union, and by Gus D. Brockmann, from the Retail Salesmen's union. Delegates from the different unions reported business in all branches of trade as being good. A vote of thanks was tendered the Globe for its daily reports of union meetings. A resolution was adopted favoring the public ownership of public utilities and favored the project of the city engineer for the establishment of a city lighting plant, urging upon the council the importance of taking steps to that end, believing that it will be of great benefit to the citizens only mitigating against the interest of a private corporation whose monopoly and extortion is almost unparelleled. The union adopted a resolution favoring the issuing of a Christmas edition by the Union Advocate. Receipts, $5; disbursements, $7.

Granite Cutters.
The Granite Cutters' union met last night in Assembly hall, with President J. Duffie in the chair. The meeting was their regular monthly meeting held jointly with the Minneapolis union, the members of which were in attendance. The meeting was of a routine character, matters in connection with the international union being under discussion.

Painters.
The Painters' union held a largely attended meeting last night devoted to business of importance to the members of the union. Charles Lundgren was reported sick and was donated the usual sick benefits. Receipts, $34.80; disbursements, $22.50.

LABOR NOTES.
The following unions hold meetings tonight: Bakers and Brewers and the Pressers a special meeting. The Steamfitters' union met and adjourned last night for want of a quorum. The Tilelayers' union held a special meeting last night devoted to matters of interest to the union. Almost every delegate to the Trades and Labor assembly last night endorsed the application of E. B. Lott for the position of labor commissioner. The Sheet and Metal Workers' hall committee met last night and appointed subcommittees, all of whom are enthusiastic in their intention to make the hall a great success.

Motion for New Trial to Be Argued Next Friday—Other Cases.

The hearing of arguments in the police court, on the motion for a new trial in the case of Chief Cook, of the fire department, found guilty of assault and battery on Patrolman David Hennessey, was continued yesterday until next Friday, for the reason that a transcript of the evidence, taken at the trial, had not been completed. The case against Edward Quilivan and Albert Wagner, charged by Arthur E. Ramsey, of Duluth, with assault and battery, was dismissed as the complainant failed to appear to prosecute the case. J. O. Linsinger, charged with stealing a guitar from the home of Mrs. M. Castle, Ninth and Jackson streets, was sent to the workhouse for thirty days on a former charge of drunkenness, when arraigned in the police court yesterday. The larceny charge was stricken off. William Liggins, colored, charged with selling liquor without a license, was bound over to the grand jury and bond fixed at $100. Archie Stewart, arrested with him for the same offense, was discharged. Charles Trombley was sent to the workhouse for ninety days on the charge of drunkenness, it being his third offense.

TOLD OF PASSION PLAY

REV. MR. SINCLAIR'S INTERESTING NARRATIVE.

Rev. John Sinclair, who recently witnessed the presentation of that wonderful production, "The Passion Play," as given by the simple yet devout villagers of Oberammergau in far away Germany, gave an interesting lecture on the play, as he saw it, at the Central Presbyterian church last evening. "The Passion Play," said the speaker as a prelude, had its origin in 1622, when the villagers of the quaint village of Oberammergau located some hundred miles from Berlin, made a vow that in the event of their being saved from the plague, which was then raging with great severity, they would dedicate to God some great mission of good and perpetuate the same. From that vow came the "Passion Play," the idea being to perpetuate in drama and song the life and sufferings of Him who had intervened in their behalf.

That the vow has been kept, history has recorded up to the present date, and it is with a spiritual realization of the importance that thousands of all over the world gather at this quaint village to witness it. It was at first intended to be a yearly occurrence, but the work entailed in its production as the years grew apace called for greater elaboration, and in consequence it has in the last century only been given at intervals of ten years. "The village of Oberammergau," said Mr. Sinclair, "numbers about 1,300 souls, a population which has maintained without increase or decrease for the past three centuries. It is not a modern city in the common sense of the word, but maintains ancient customs and lives. I might say, judging from the ancient looks of the houses in the very buildings that the founders of this remarkable play once occupied. The play is the one principal happening in their simple lives, and the several hundred who take part in its presentation enter into it with a spiritual realization of the holy life of the one they are impersonating. "The villagers are Catholic to an intense degree, and those selected for the many parts in this beautiful drama are not alone taken for their aptness in impersonating some particular character, but for their display of faith."

"The drama is interspersed with tableaux, each scene in the life of Christ being preceded with a tableau taken from the Old Testament, the subject of which is associated with the scene that follows. The orchestra is hidden from view, beneath the stage, but this does not detract from the beauty or volume of the music. The acoustic properties are excellent, and every word spoken is perfectly audible. "The receipts from the play last year reached nearly $300,000, so that one can see the attendance must have been enormous. The admission ranges from $2.50 to 50 cents, according to the location of the seats. "Many have been heard to question the sincerity of the villagers, calling it a money-making scheme, but my observation refuses to allow me to take this view. The money, a rather small amount, is distributed among those who take part, while the balance is used in paying the town's expenses and in keeping up the municipal institutions for the poor and sick. "It is the grandest thing it has ever been my fortune to witness, and I can not but believe in the sincerity of the good people of Oberammergau."

AMERICAN GIRL IN EUROPE.

Entertaining Lecture by a Minneapolis School Teacher.

Miss Sadie Geer, a Minneapolis school teacher, who has recently returned from a trip abroad, gave an entertaining lecture last night at the Knox Presbyterian church.

She regretted by those who had made the preparations for the lecture that the church was not of larger seating capacity, for when the speaker of the evening appeared before her audience, many were standing.

Miss Geer has marked distinctive talents, and her rapid, pointed remarks left an impressive effect.

She commenced her lecture with her farewell to America, afterwards describing her life on the ocean, and then rapidly carrying her listeners to Switzerland and Italy, to which countries the major portion of the evening was given.

Of most absorbing interest was her description of the passion play. She spoke of a personage of the characters, Mary and John, Pilate, Calaphas, Josephus of Arimathea, Judas and the Master. She said that the play left an awe-inspiring effect on all who saw and heard. The young man who took the part of the Master was one of the best looking and one of the most graceful and gifted persons she had ever seen.

It was almost as interesting as the word painting of the speaker.

KENDRICK IN THE STARD

VICE PRESIDENT OF NORTHERN PACIFIC WITNESS IN THE LACY CASE

CASE HAS GONE TO THE JURY

Plaintiff Wants $4,100 for Injuries Sustained in the Row-Mrozinski Case Brought Out Forty-Two Witnesses.

Not a little interest was manifested yesterday by district court loungers in the case of H. W. Lacy against the St. Paul Street Railway company, the finish in which was reached late yesterday afternoon.

Lacy asked the court for a judgment of $4,100 against the street car company because of forced ejection from an interurban car, and the same is now being considered by the jury, which retired shortly before 5 o'clock.

The interest manifested arose from the fact that a number of prominent people had been summoned, one of them being no less a personage than J. W. Kendrick, vice president of the Northern Pacific railroad. Others testifying were two well known physicians, Dr. Odendahl and A. C. Heath.

The ejection came about as the result of an attempt on the part of Lacy and two companions, named Peter Eastlen and Patrick Ludden, to bring aboard three live turkeys, which they had won at a raffle on the West side. The car officials kicked, and in the scrimmage the birds were dumped out in the street and Lacy given a broken nose.

Mr. Kendrick was a witness of his own free will, and was not slow in giving evidence favorable to the contractor. An mortormonger who had figured in the ejection. A sealed verdict will be returned.

FORTY-TWO WITNESSES PAID.

Mrozinski Trial Cost the State a Nice Sum.

During the Mrozinski murder trial forty-two witnesses were examined, about one-half of this number being credited to the state. At the conclusion of the trial Thursday afternoon those subpoenaed by the state were paid, the line-up before the jury was the clerk of the court's office keeping a couple of clerks busy making out the orders. Stanislaus Mrozinski, sons of the dead fisherman, they each being credited with seven days.
