which he believes is not too much burdened and that it should be a sinecure. The author believes the office is a sinecure. With the present board of appeals, consisting of three persons, he says there is no actual need of the chief grain inspector. He also says that all disputes and controversies are settled by the board anyway. All other work formerly assigned to the inspector, he says, could be done by the commissioners and thus save to the state the salary of the inspector, $3,000 a year.

The bill, if passed, will take effect at once. This will remove the present inspector, John Rehsus, who was appointed under Gov. Lind's administration, and who would probably serve until the close of the present crop year, July 31, since the new commissioners have inclined to the plan of retaining the old force until that time.

HOUSE SCREENINGS.

S. P. Peterson introduced a memorial from the farmers to congress, praying that all second-class postoffice towns in the state be given federal buildings to use as postoffices for general purposes. The measure was designed to benefit New Ulm in particular, where the federal building is needed. The memorial was passed under suspension of the rules.

Herbert E. Blair will be reimbursed in the sum of $1,111.22 by the state for his services against W. R. Mahood, for the latter's seat in the house. Blair introduced yesterday by Mr. Torson.

The Mallory bill giving two additional county commissioners to St. Louis county, passed the house yesterday under suspension of the rules.

Paupers will hereafter be cared for by the county at the expense of the town or village in which they are found, and under the same relation as the bill of Mr. Cummings becomes a law.

A large number of petitions for a constitutional amendment were filed yesterday in the house.

The Morris bill, requiring insurance policies to indicate on their faces the plan of the company issuing them, passed the house.

COMMITTEE ON ILLUMINATING OILS DESIRES TO CONSIDER HURD BILL

SENATOR EVERETT GOT ANGRY

General Wilson Makes a Remark That is Characterized as an Insult.

"I regard as no less than an insult the remarks of the gentleman from Hennepin in regard to the committee on illuminating oils. I would like to know the purpose of the committee on illuminating oils, if it is not to consider just such measures as this bill. It will be the only bill this session which the committee can possibly consider. The gentleman has no right to guess that will be the report of the committee, if the bill is referred. I have no doubt, if I get a chance to study this bill, for one, I will find myself able to consider it and vote upon it just as intelligently and honestly as can be."

The above impassioned remarks were made Senator Everett yesterday, in a voice quivering with anger. They were in reply to a response made by Gen. Wilson to Senator Everett's request that the Hurd bill be referred to the committee on illuminating oils yesterday. Senator Wilson had suggested that he could plainly see that friends of the bill would cause it to run the gamut of the committee and that it would probably be referred from the committee on illuminating oils to the finance and judiciary committee and follow the course of its passage through two or three committees in transition from one committee to another for four weeks.

Senator Everett's motion to have the bill referred to his committee, was a splendid vote. The question arose as to whether the bill should retain its place upon general orders. Senator Sheehan proposed that the bill be referred to the committee on illuminating oils, and his motion the request that the bill retain its place.

Garnishment Bill Fails

The senate yesterday failed to pass the Wilson measure, which exempts but $9 per week from garnishment. The bill was introduced by Senator Schaller and carried by a vote of 15 to 12.
