

CITY NEWS.

The park board will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. Daniel Abern will take his seat for the first time since his appointment.

The board of aldermen will meet on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and the assembly will hold its regular session on Thursday evening.

Principals of city public schools will hold a regular meeting this afternoon at the office of the school inspector, New York life building.

Painters' Union No. 6 will give an entertainment Friday evening in Assembly hall, Third and Wabasha streets. Addresses will be made by prominent speakers.

At the regular meeting of the Lincoln club, to be held at 8 o'clock this evening, there will be a joint debate on the "New Primary Law." William H. Grimshaw and W. W. Dunn will be the speakers.

A meeting of the assembly committee on streets will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The committee on license of the board of aldermen will meet at the same hour. They may take up the resolution revoking the license of Joseph Nicolai, proprietor of the German Village saloon.

F. E. Packard, Charles Collett and C. N. Or will represent Hamline university in a joint debate with Carleton college. It will be held at Hamline on Wednesday, March 7. The ship subsidy question will be the subject of debate, Hamline taking the ground that the government should subsidize.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. E. P. Green has recovered from an attack of the grip at Canasawaga, N. Y., by the use of Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

Among the victims of the grip epidemic now so prevalent, F. Coyle is now recovering in Canton, O., by the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

W. E. Nibbles, of St. Louis, Mo., who was down with grip, is reported much improved. He used Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

The friends of Mrs. L. Denison will be pleased to learn of her recovery from grip, at her home in Bay City, Mich., through the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

Everybody says that J. W. Udy is looking splendid since his recovery from the grip at his home in Des Moines, Iowa. They all knew that Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him.

Prosecuting Attorney, Charles L. De Wido, who has been attacked by the grip, has had a time with the grip, but when seen at his home in Roscommon, Mich., the other day, he said Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him.

At nearly three score and ten Mrs. Galen Humphrey was fighting against odds when the grip attacked her, but she took Dr. Miles' Nervine, and now her neighbors in Wareham, Mass., remark on how well she is looking.

After an illness of five weeks from the grip, Mrs. Harriet Jackson is again about and looking fine. She began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine after the fourth week. Her home is in Bowling Green, Mo.

Sparks Set Straw on Fire. Sparks from passing locomotives, Saturday night, set the straw on fire, and debris thrown from empty cars along the water front, in the vicinity of the Omaha freight house. The heavy wind fanned the flames until the entire mass was on fire, the effect being like a huge glow-worm. As none of the surrounding property was in danger, the fire was allowed to burn itself out. Some of the pling along the shore line was scorched.

"When the grip left me my nerves and heart were badly affected; but I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure and was soon all right."—Wm. Roericht, Eau Claire, Wis.

Special Rates to California Points via Chicago Great Western Ry. $22.90 to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, and other California cities. Tickets on sale March 15, 1901, 20th, 25th, 30th, 31st, 1901. Tickets good on tourish car via the Seaside, for further information apply to J. P. Elmer, G. A. P. D., corner Fifth and Robert streets, St. Paul.

ALLEGED MISSIONARY FAILS TO HOLD HIS FIRST WARD MEETING

Albert Dahlstrom, the alleged "missionary" who created such a sensation in the First ward a week ago yesterday afternoon by his public confession of sin, did not appear at the hall, corner of Payne avenue and Cook street, yesterday afternoon as he had stated he would. The result was that a number of people were disappointed on arriving at the hall to find a notice on the door to the effect that he would speak at Sherman hall, Sixth and Wabasha streets.

While it is not definitely known what prompted this sudden change in his plans the hypothesis advanced by the First warders is that Dahlstrom feared violence at the hands of some of his enemies, and thought it better to do his "proaching" and explaining in a hall down town, where he would feel safer. It is understood that Dahlstrom met with a few of his followers at his printing office, 824 Payne avenue, Friday evening, and it is thought this meeting was for the purpose of talking over the advisability of his discontinuing his "proaching" in the First ward. Circles printed in Swedish, were accordingly gotten out and they were distributed late Saturday evening. Dahlstrom explained in the circular that he had to leave the audience as it was deemed best to get a larger hall.

Sherman hall was fairly well crowded, all of the seats being taken when Dahlstrom arrived yesterday afternoon, and for nearly two hours he talked to those present on what he claims to be the "correct" version of the Bible. It is understood that a number of the First ward citizens are contemplating holding an indignation meeting for the purpose of electing some plan of riding the ward of the preacher.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dahlstrom has another congregation on the West side, and is staying with N. F. Eklund, 418 Concord street. He will "preach" in Sherman hall again on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DAIRYPLE FOUND HELD

The funeral of Miss Josephine Dalrymple took place from her home, 541 Summit avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Haslam, of St. Paul's church, officiated. The services were simple, there being no music. Rev. Mr. Haslam spoke most feelingly of those who heard him were deeply affected.

The lack of music seemed to make the services the more impressive. The body of the deceased lay in the coffin in the front alcove of the house. A settee near by was literally covered with flowers. Wreaths and crosses and banners hung everywhere. The funeral was a most beautiful one. The coffin was borne by the following: J. Nagle, J. O. Harmon, Clarence Freeman, J. Koher, James Beardsley and Nathan Smith. The interment was at Oakland.

The death of Miss Dalrymple was a great shock to her friends. It occurred last Tuesday at Tarrytown, N. Y., only ten days after the death of her father. She, with her sister Florence, had been visiting Miss Mason's school in that city, and both had always been in good health.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Dalrymple is an invalid, and was in St. Paul when the news of her daughter's illness first reached her. She kept in constant communication with the attending physician in Tarrytown, and at last, fearing the worst, she, with her sister, started for Tarrytown. They reached the bedside of the girl just before her death. Miss Dalrymple was only sixteen years of age.

RUTHLESS SLAUGHTER OF HILLS

The most noteworthy incident of the house proceedings during last week was Jacobson's resolution providing for legislative investigation of the road and consolidation of the St. Paul & Duluth and the Northern Pacific roads and the subsequent debates.

The subject of the resolution is in direct line with the recommendation made by Gov. Lind in his message to the legislature. The resolution was introduced by Mr. Jacobson, so Mr. Pennington and other members of the Republican faction in the house contended, was to make campaign material at the expense of the late Democratic administration. The resolution was, therefore, denounced and its author severely arraigned by prominent members of his own party, who were opposed to the resolution.

The Democratic members refrained from participation in the discussion further than Mr. Pennington's assertion that Gov. Lind and the Democrats were in full sympathy with a movement to have the legislature examine into this transaction.

Aside from this sensational occurrence the remainder of the week was by no means uneventful in the house. Some prominent resolutions were introduced, these were the Dening bill, the effect of which would have been to pardon the Younger brothers at Stillwater. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Another important proposition which was introduced was the bill of Mr. Sweet, which provided for a five-sixths jury verdict in civil cases. Mr. Hickey, of the minority side, succeeded in having the rate of interest to be paid on the purchase price of state school lands, the principal of which cannot be paid until a period of fifteen years has elapsed.

The adoption of the Daugherty plan for reapportioning the state by the committee on reapportionment on Wednesday was one of the conspicuous features of the week, though it was not entirely a success. The senate committee on the matter, which was settled outside of the regular session.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

In the fore part of the week Gov. Van Gieson introduced a bill for the full report of the commission appointed by himself to investigate the board of control system. The bill recommended the system in this state, and in this occurred in the report of the commission.

Mr. Hickey introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association for the purpose of collecting data and exhibits for display at the state fair. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

In the fore part of the week Gov. Van Gieson introduced a bill for the full report of the commission appointed by himself to investigate the board of control system. The bill recommended the system in this state, and in this occurred in the report of the commission.

Mr. Hickey introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association for the purpose of collecting data and exhibits for display at the state fair. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

In the fore part of the week Gov. Van Gieson introduced a bill for the full report of the commission appointed by himself to investigate the board of control system. The bill recommended the system in this state, and in this occurred in the report of the commission.

Mr. Hickey introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association for the purpose of collecting data and exhibits for display at the state fair. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

In the fore part of the week Gov. Van Gieson introduced a bill for the full report of the commission appointed by himself to investigate the board of control system. The bill recommended the system in this state, and in this occurred in the report of the commission.

Mr. Hickey introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association for the purpose of collecting data and exhibits for display at the state fair. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

In the fore part of the week Gov. Van Gieson introduced a bill for the full report of the commission appointed by himself to investigate the board of control system. The bill recommended the system in this state, and in this occurred in the report of the commission.

Mr. Hickey introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 to the Northwestern Manufacturers' association for the purpose of collecting data and exhibits for display at the state fair. The bill was passed by a vote of 110 to 10.

Mr. Peterson, of Brown county, placed himself on record during the week as a foe to some of the conditions governing telegraph company operations. His first move was to introduce a bill imposing a large, by reducing the fees charged for messages.

CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT OF W. R. C. ARE PUTTING UP A HARD FIGHT

The state convention of the Woman's Relief Corps, which begins in St. Paul March 13, promises to develop some interesting proceedings of a political character, that is, politics as it applies only to that organization. There is of course no exterior politics involved in such gatherings, but the election of officers sometimes is fought quite an impossible thing without indulging in what men would call simple politics.

The election of a president for the next term. There are two avowed candidates for the office and a healthy contest has been in progress for some weeks. The women, President of her local corps, show themselves equal to the occasion, when a knowledge of politics and diplomacy seems essential. Such an occasion will be one and these who are acquainted with the pro-convention operations are not ready to deny to the ladies the honor of being adept at the business of politics.

The two women who are most prominently mentioned for the presidency are Mrs. A. M. May, of Stillwater, and Mrs. E. E. Plymatt, of Duluth. Each is a prominent factor in the councils of the fraternity and regarded as a strong candidate. Mrs. Plymatt is the woman, President of her local corps, who has been a power in the doings of that organization, while her contestant at Stillwater is regarded as equally prominent in her home city and deserving of high recognition which her friends seek for her at the hands of the state corps.

The state organization, it is maintained, would be fortunate to secure either of these ladies for its presiding officer for the next term.

The system and skill displayed in the manner of campaigning as adopted by each of the factions supporting these women, is a remarkable thing. Each commend itself to men whose reputation for diplomacy has been well established. The literary feature of the campaign, which is employed in all affairs of good effect, is not omitted, but is resorted to with good results. The decided fairness of the two forces thus striving for the nomination is, however, one feature which they have not perhaps borrowed from their friends of the sterner persuasion.

If there were no other candidates for the position, the selection of one of the other of the two women named above would be a comparatively easy task. It is understood, however, that there are other candidates, and that the women have a large enough following to possibly prevent the election of either one. It is understood that the women are now actively laying the wires to bring about an election.

Mrs. Van Sant, wife of Gov. Van Sant, she is very popular among the members of this organization and although she may not be a candidate, her intentions of her friends, she will be urged to accept the office.

The system and skill displayed in the manner of campaigning as adopted by each of the factions supporting these women, is a remarkable thing. Each commend itself to men whose reputation for diplomacy has been well established. The literary feature of the campaign, which is employed in all affairs of good effect, is not omitted, but is resorted to with good results. The decided fairness of the two forces thus striving for the nomination is, however, one feature which they have not perhaps borrowed from their friends of the sterner persuasion.

If there were no other candidates for the position, the selection of one of the other of the two women named above would be a comparatively easy task. It is understood, however, that there are other candidates, and that the women have a large enough following to possibly prevent the election of either one. It is understood that the women are now actively laying the wires to bring about an election.

Mrs. Van Sant, wife of Gov. Van Sant, she is very popular among the members of this organization and although she may not be a candidate, her intentions of her friends, she will be urged to accept the office.

The system and skill displayed in the manner of campaigning as adopted by each of the factions supporting these women, is a remarkable thing. Each commend itself to men whose reputation for diplomacy has been well established. The literary feature of the campaign, which is employed in all affairs of good effect, is not omitted, but is resorted to with good results. The decided fairness of the two forces thus striving for the nomination is, however, one feature which they have not perhaps borrowed from their friends of the sterner persuasion.

If there were no other candidates for the position, the selection of one of the other of the two women named above would be a comparatively easy task. It is understood, however, that there are other candidates, and that the women have a large enough following to possibly prevent the election of either one. It is understood that the women are now actively laying the wires to bring about an election.

Mrs. Van Sant, wife of Gov. Van Sant, she is very popular among the members of this organization and although she may not be a candidate, her intentions of her friends, she will be urged to accept the office.

The system and skill displayed in the manner of campaigning as adopted by each of the factions supporting these women, is a remarkable thing. Each commend itself to men whose reputation for diplomacy has been well established. The literary feature of the campaign, which is employed in all affairs of good effect, is not omitted, but is resorted to with good results. The decided fairness of the two forces thus striving for the nomination is, however, one feature which they have not perhaps borrowed from their