

BIG STRIKE
PRESIDENT O'CONNELL SAYS IN MANY CASES SETTLEMENT WILL BE REACHED TODAY
SOME NEGOTIATIONS ARE ON NATIONAL OFFICERS HOPEFUL THAT SPEEDY AGREEMENTS WILL RESULT
CHECK FROM NAVY YARD MEN

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The strike order issued by the executive board of the International Order of Machinists goes into effect at 7 o'clock tomorrow. President O'Connell said tonight that about 50,000 men will be affected. The order instructs the men to refuse to go to work in all shops where the machinery is of nine-hour workday have been posted at 7 o'clock. The officers of the association expect that in many cases a settlement will be reached during tomorrow and that the men will return to work during the day or Tuesday morning. Word came today that all the firms in St. Louis and also all those in New Orleans had acceded to the demands of the men. Scattered reports from other cities favorable to the men also were received. The estimate now is that 35 per cent of the employing firms have signed. At least 25,000 union machinists were working nine hours or less when the question was taken up by the association. The 50,000 men who will suspend work are scattered all over the country. The national officers are hopeful that speedy settlements will be reached in most of the Eastern cities, but they fear a more prolonged struggle on the Pacific coast. The Union Iron works at San Francisco, where the battleship Ohio is building, and other large concerns, are preparing to resist the demand.

QUESTIONS PENDING.
In a number of the cities there are questions pending between the employers and men which may operate to prevent decisive action tomorrow, but which may be settled for or against a strike in a day or two. These include cities where counter propositions have been made by the manufacturers and where conferences with headquarters at Washington may be necessary before action is taken. In those instances where the men have not reached, President O'Connell received a check for $1,000 from the machinists in the Washington navy yard to all the men who strike. The men are not concerned in the differences with employers which underlie the strike, but in a letter to Mr. O'Connell they stated their interest in the triumph of their workmen and promised him that substantial financial contributions could be expected from them every week towards the support of those who will be out of work.

TIE-UP IS TREMENDOUS.

About 2,000 Machinists on Philadelphia Line Out.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 19.—About 2,000 machinists will go on strike in this city tomorrow for the nine-hour day. According to John J. Keegan, business agent in this vicinity for the International Association of Machinists. There are about 6,000 machinists in the city employed by about 400 firms. The strike will affect more than 100 shops. Committees of machinists will call on the Baldwin Locomotive works, Cramp Shipbuilding works, the Pennsylvania Steel works, Pennsylvania Iron Works company and the Southwark Iron foundry, which firms employ about 1,500 men, and which have not yet acceded to the demands of the men. If the committees are not successful in their efforts, Agent Keegan says the men at these places who belong to the union will be called out. It is expected, however, that only a small proportion of the men employed at the establishments named belong to the union and that the majority in order to strike would not materially affect operations at those places. Three firms in the city which are working more than nine hours are the Midway, the Pennsylvania Steel and the Southwark Iron foundry. The Midway is working on a nine-hour day, but the Pennsylvania Steel and the Southwark Iron foundry are working on a ten-hour day. The Pennsylvania Steel is working on a nine-hour day, but the Southwark Iron foundry is working on a ten-hour day. The Pennsylvania Steel is working on a nine-hour day, but the Southwark Iron foundry is working on a ten-hour day.

INDIANAPOLIS IN LINE.

Hollemakers Join Gigantic Machine Shops' Strike.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 19.—One hundred and seventy-four machinists of 862 in the city, and twenty hollemakers out of sixty-two, will strike tomorrow morning. The Big Four has settled with its men on a scale of 25¢ cents an hour during the strike. The Indiana, Decatur & Western railroad will settle with its men tomorrow morning on the same terms. The Pennsylvania Steel works will settle with its men on the same terms. The Pennsylvania Steel works will settle with its men on the same terms. The Pennsylvania Steel works will settle with its men on the same terms.

SPREADS TO SCRANTON.

Employees of Machine Shops Refuse to Arbitrate.
SCRANTON, Pa., May 19.—The 1,000 employees of the machine shops of the Dickinson Manufacturing company's machine shops, now a part of the Allis-Chalmers combine, today refused to accept the company's offer for a nine-hour day and arbitration. The men will go on strike tomorrow morning. The 300 employees of the Scranton Bolt and Nut works refused a liberal offer from the company. The men will go on strike tomorrow morning. The 300 employees of the Scranton Bolt and Nut works refused a liberal offer from the company. The men will go on strike tomorrow morning.

GOMPERS AT CINCINNATI.

President of American Federation of Labor Assumes Charge of Strike.
CINCINNATI, O., May 19.—No agreement has as yet been reached between the machinist unions and the National Trades association, and one of the greatest strikes in the history of this city will be inaugurated tomorrow, unless the labor leaders who are expected here tomorrow, will succeed in bringing the warring interests together. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, will arrive from Columbus tomorrow to take charge of the strike. Thomas J. Kidd, of the Amalgamated Woodworker's union, and John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here tonight. President O'Connell, of the International Machinists, will remain at Washington and direct matters for the various places where strikes are expected. It was announced tonight by the local machinists' union, that in addition to the firms that have already signed the agreement, a number of leading firms would sign the scale tomorrow morning. As far as can be learned tonight, about four thousand of the six thousand machinists of this city, will be involved in the strike.

SEVERAL FIRMS AFFECTED.

At Plainfield, N. J., 1,200 Machinists Will Quit Work.
NEW YORK, May 19.—At Plainfield, N. J., it is regarded that 1,200 machinists, 1,500 employed in that city, will go out tomorrow morning. The large shops there are the Pond Machine company, Scott Printing Press company, Potter Press works, Aluminum Plate and Press works and the Campbell Press works. The Pond machine company men will not strike, as their demand for an increase will be answered after the meeting of the management on June 2. There is a complicated situation at the Potter works, because of religious belief. No work is done on Saturdays, because the management is of the Seventh Day Baptist persuasion. Very little work is done on Sundays, because most of the men do not believe in working Sundays, but they are in the minority. The cutting out of two days in the week makes it needful for the men to work longer hours each working day in order to get in a week's work. The result of this is that even if the company yields it will be necessary to make a separate working schedule for this shop. Newark, N. J., is expecting a strike in this city as well as the company. The Watts, Campbell & Co., Mines & Pumps, the Crocker-Wheeler company and the Harrison Marine Engine company. The Crocker-Wheeler company agreed to compromise with the men at a rate of a half hour. It is possible they will grant the other half tomorrow.

RECORD-BREAKING STRIKE.

Predictions That It Will Rival England's Engineering Trades' Halt.
NEW YORK, May 19.—Whether tomorrow is to see the beginning of a machinists' strike which shall rival the one in the engineering trades in England, which was so important a part in the opening of the markets of the world to the Americans, is problematical. Leading labor men and representatives of the engineering employers today say that they thought pending questions would be settled without any general strike. It is intimated that J. P. Morgan might be appealed to and requested to use his influence with the government in combinations in the interest of peace, thus preventing any trouble in the same manner as the great coal strikes have been prevented in the past. Meetings of machinists were held at various places in this city today to discuss the local situation. After getting reports from all the shops in the metropolitan district, the general report was that shops employing about half of the machinists in the greater city would grant the nine-hour day and 12½ per cent increase in wages. The men who are not more than 4,000 men at the outside would go out on strike. Among the New York shops, where strikes are regarded as a possibility, are the East Main street company, where about 250 machinists are employed; the Hoe works, with about 500 machinists; and the General Incandescent Arc Light company, with 250 machinists.

FROM OTHER POINTS.

Some Report Probable Strikes and Others No Difficulty.
CONCORD, N. H., May 19.—There will be no strike of machinists in the Boston & Maine railway shops here tomorrow, a temporary agreement having been made.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 19.—The indications are tonight that 500 machinists in Louisville will be idle tomorrow, as so far only one employer has granted the men's demands.
ALBANY, N. Y., May 19.—At a meeting of the Allied Trades Council today the question of the proposed strike for a nine-hour work day was discussed, and it was decided by all the different organizations, except the molders, helpers, tool and die makers, and the machinists, to make one more effort to induce the employers, who have not as yet signed the compromise agreement to accede to the demand. Forty-four of the largest shops in the city have signed the agreement, and only four large concerns which have not signed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 19.—The Lehigh Valley railway, which employs 1,000 machinists employed in their machinery shops here a nine-hour day, and the men will go out on strike tomorrow morning. At a meeting of employees of both roads held this afternoon resolutions to that effect were unanimously passed. About 1,400 men are affected.

CHICAGO, May 19.—The Chicago Federation of Labor, which is the executive board of the International Association of Machinists, and pledged its moral and financial support to the strike. The Chicago Federation of Labor, which is the executive board of the International Association of Machinists, and pledged its moral and financial support to the strike.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 19.—Officials of the International Association of Machinists, representing all union machinists of Chicago and vicinity, the general strike will go into effect in this city tomorrow morning.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 19.—About 200 of the 400 union machinists who struck a week ago to enforce their demands will remain on strike tomorrow in respect to the general demand for nine hours. The other 200 have already returned to work, and the indications are they will not strike.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 19.—The local branch of the International Association of Machinists here met this afternoon and no action regarding a strike until orders are received here from the grand lodge, which is the executive board of the New York Central shops at East Albany.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 19.—The union machinists here met this afternoon and decided to quit work in the shops where the employers have refused to sign the nine-hour schedule.

RUFFALO, N. Y., May 19.—It was announced at a meeting of machinists of the city held tonight, that the machinists employed by the Lehigh Valley railway system would be on strike tomorrow. About 1,000 men employed in the other establishments in this city struck on May 1. The men who have returned to work, their employers having granted their demands, on Tuesday 400 will strike a week ago to enforce their demands. On Buffalo machinists' union.

No Chance for Settlement.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 19.—Representatives of the various plants in Milwaukee employing machinists, announced tonight that there is no chance of the demands of the machinists' being granted. The men will go out on strike tomorrow. The men will go out on strike tomorrow. The men will go out on strike tomorrow.

ALBANY WAS VERY QUIET.

First Day of Active Operations of Allied Unsuccessful.
ALBANY, N. Y., May 19.—The incidents of this first day of active operation of all the allied lines since the strike, have been very quiet. There were two features. The first was the two men shot by the Spanish, who had been kept away the thousands of sightseers that otherwise would have marked the occasion with their presence. The departure of the Twenty-third regiment early this morning was the second feature of the day, and sermons from many city pulpits aided in closing the incident. The funeral of Leroy Smith was devoid of incident except that it was attended by city officials and a great number of interested people. At the funeral of William Walsh there was nearly a riot. While the services

ARRIVED AT SAN FRANCISCO FROM MANILA YESTERDAY ON THE SHERIDAN

HE TALKS OF THE PHILIPPINES

Conditions Are Rapidly Improving and Results Are Surprising.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Brig. Gen. Frederik D. Grant, who returned from Manila on the Sheridan, speaking of the condition in the Philippines, said: "The situation is getting down and we are getting at the work of governing and teaching the people. Their peculiar national character makes them hard to govern for the present. You must remember that they were a people of the fourteenth, not of the fifteenth century, and the tendency to brigandage is so bright among them that it amounts to a disease. In many districts it is a tribute to robbers is considered the regular thing, no more out of the way than the cutting out of two days in the week. It is surprising in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within striking distance for some time after we leave any district, they are naturally averse to a relapse. We must expect much robbery and brigandage and pillage and murder for a long time. It is surprising to see the results that we have obtained in getting along so well, to protect them against themselves, until they learn a taste for order, and then withdraw gradually from active interference. The towns one at a time as we see that they can be trusted, but having our troops within