Dr. H. M. Bracken Advances His Ideas on the Malady. The section on practice of medicine, in the house of representatives yesterday, resulted in a symposium on smallpox, and both the papers that were read and the discussion that followed proved very instructive and exciting.

During the discussion a sensation was produced by the statement of Dr. Frederick Leavitt, of St. Paul, to the effect that the epidemic which has spread throughout the Northwest and in many sections of the country during the past two or three years, is not smallpox as generally believed, but that the malady is a cross between mild, discrete smallpox and chickenpox.

This view was also taken by Dr. W. L. Beebe, of St. Cloud, who read a paper on the "Old and New Smallpox," in which he held that the epidemic now identical with the old-fashioned smallpox, and he gave the peculiar characteristics of the disease, showing where it differed from the other.

Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, took issue with the gentlemen named, and he maintained that the epidemic was genuine smallpox, although of a mild type, and he gave an interesting account of his experience in meeting the exigencies due to the disease.

Dr. T. J. Hoppel, of Trenton, Tenn., read an instructive paper on "Pseudo or Modified Smallpox," and he outlined the anomalies met with in many of the cases he found non-communicability of the disease, while many persons who had been vaccinated were victims of the malady, a number of the unvaccinated escaped. He gave a brief review of the epidemic of 1901, with special reference to his own locality.

DOCTORS ARE DEERKED

LAST OF CONVENTION SERIES CAME TO A CLOSE YESTERDAY

CANTEN RESOLUTION CARRIES ST. PAUL IS WARMLY COMMENDED FOR ITS HOSPITABLE ENTERTAINMENT—DOCTORS GO TO YELLOWSTONE PARK.

The series of medical men's conventions, which have been in progress in St. Paul for more than a week, came to a close yesterday, and the night nearly all the visiting delegates were out of the city. Many hundred left on the Northern Pacific Yellowstone Park excursion, and others went directly to their homes in various parts of the country.

The physicians and surgeons, who have been the city's guests, spoke in glowing terms upon their departure of the cordial and comfortable entertainment they had received, and of St. Paul as a convention city they held high regards.

Contrary to expectations, the pro-canteen resolution was unanimously adopted by the general medical convention yesterday morning in the Metropolitan opera house. As a consequence, the military surgeons are delighted, and those who attended the Women's Suffrage convention are as much disappointed. The matter will now be held in abeyance until the next session of congress. There is a wide difference of opinion among the members of the profession regarding the canteen. Dr. Farrow, of Chicago, said after the meeting yesterday that he is heartily in favor of the canteen. The doctor is a soldier of the late war in the Philippines and a prominent member of the Father Matthews' society, which advocates total abstinence first, and all the time. He was one of the first soldiers to land in Manila, and while there had every opportunity to observe the effects of the canteen in practical operation. He said:

TEETOTALER FAVORS CANTEN. "You would naturally think that I, as a member of the Father Matthews society, would be opposed to the canteen both in and out of camp. I was at first, but as soon as I reached the Philippines I had an opportunity to study things, and it was this that made me change my mind. It is for the same reason that all army surgeons are in favor of the canteen. They know from practical experience what the canteen is. Army officers reason that if a young soldier misbehaves and his prospects because of a canteen, he is not very worthy at any rate. They do not like to tie the hands of the soldiers and make them feel that they are being punished for something they are not guilty of. If he were so anxious to drink, he would get it, canteen or no canteen. When a man wants to drink, he will drink no matter where he gets it. There are bad influences and temptations innumerable around a saloon. Houses of prostitution, can often be found in close proximity to them, especially when an army is encamped in the neighborhood. A canteen is not merely a place where they sell beer, Combs, brushes, stationery, pencils, tobacco, even cakes and candies can be bought at them. They are temptations, contrary to reports notwithstanding. A canteen is not a saloon; it is a place to be comfortable. It is impossible to ascertain just what proportion of the army is in favor of having the canteen, and how many are against it. There were those in the Ryan hotel yesterday, after the meeting in the Metropolitan opera house, who asserted that the disease was contracted through the indifference of many of the doctors. They say it was "railroaded" through the convention, and just at the opportune time, because every delegate had a great deal of work, and thinking about his homeward trip. The members of the opposition, however, are, as a whole, singularly silent concerning the passage of the resolution, and few or none of them care to be named as to their views. Even those in favor of the canteen admit that there was a certain proportion of the delegates against it, but they are not named.

What the board of aldermen did in three minutes yesterday afternoon called for a resolution on the part of the assembly before a conclusion was reached.

The meeting of the two bodies, which had been called in special session at the request of Mayor Smith, was held for the purpose of appropriating $2,600 to be used for special police protection during the period of the Woodmen convention.

Anticipation of next year's contingent fund was contended by the local department and the comptroller to be the only way of raising the money, but a decided aversion on the part of the Republicans to appropriate money for the police commission to spend caused some lively juggling before a conclusion was reached.

Vote after vote was taken only to be reconsidered. Assemblyman Denny, Republican, and Dix figuring foremost in the opposition. After an hour had been consumed the resolution drawn by the legal department pledging the police commission $2,600, besides the $2,000 first mortgage on next year's contingent fund, was passed.

The work of the board of aldermen, who met on adjournment of the assembly, was only of about three minutes' duration, the resolution pledging the money going through with a rush.

Chief O'Connor in supplying extra police protection during the convention next week. It is figured that fully 200 extra men will be necessary to police the city.

NEW DISCOVERY IS MADE IN TAX REFUNDMENT CASE.

The recent disclosures made in connection with the tax refundment case of County Auditor Johnson have led to the further unearthing of a little transaction in which the county may be defrauded $2,500 unless steps are taken to prevent it.

The deal in question happened at a meeting of the board of county commissioners on March 18, when the board at the instance of tax commissioner consisting of Commissioners Lott and Whitehorn, caused to be abated two judgments for delinquent personal property taxes standing against property owned by the London and Northwest Mortgage company. Both the judgments were given by the district court, and in one of the cases information was given by the supreme court.

When news of the affair was conveyed to County Attorney Kane he promptly entered a vigorous protest, and informed the county auditor that he would refuse to recognize the right of the board to pass a resolution ordering the abatement.

By his stand further steps in the abatement were prevented, and now that the matter has been made public, it is not unlikely that the board at its next meeting will proceed to reconsider its action.

Public Examiner Pope is quietly at work on further evidence, but declines to make any disclosures.

PERMISSION FROM CANUCKS. Minnesota Guards May Pass Through Canada Armed.

There arrived at the governor's office yesterday a telegram from Secretary Hay, at Washington, stating that the Canadian government has granted permission for the Minnesota National Guard to pass through the Canadian territory to the United States, and that the guards are to be armed and equipped, en route to the Buffalo exposition. This report has been obtained by a wise provision. The governor has as a result of the telegram, caused the route to the Buffalo road to Chicago and thence to Milwaukee via the Grand Trunk.

WHAT HAS PROVED TO BE THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AND ENJOYABLE GATHERING IN THE HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Only one sentiment is voiced by the visitors, and that is that of St. Paul could not do otherwise than give the most hospitable treatment of the doctors, who cannot say too much concerning the cordiality of their reception.

In reference to the subject, Dr. T. D. Davis, of Pittsburg, president of the Pennsylvania Medical society, said that everybody was delighted and that it would have been impossible to have received better treatment.

"The committee on arrangements is entitled to great credit for the splendid manner in which the convention was carried out," said he, "and I don't recall a place in many years where we were so finely treated."

Similar sentiments more enthusiastically were expressed by Dr. J. C. Clarke and Dr. L. F. Ankrum, of Pittsburg, and Dr. Edwin B. Shaw, of Las Vegas, N. M., the only delegate from New Mexico, and he was more than pleased at the royal manner in which he was treated.

Dr. T. J. Hoppel, of Trenton, Penn., was yesterday president of the board of trustees of the association. Asked about what he thought of St. Paul, he said:

"It is just about the best convention city in the country, and I must say that the doctors and their wives have appreciated the kind and courteous treatment they have received. We have noted one distinctive feature about entertainers in St. Paul. They do not overdo things. The receptions on Summit avenue have been strictly programs, and the ball in the university armory was most enjoyable, and the smoker at the Ryan was all that it could have been."

J. D. Griffin, of Kansas City, one of the leading surgeons in attendance at the convention, said that he was highly delighted at the treatment accorded the members of the association, and he hoped the time would not be far distant when they would again have an opportunity to visit the Saintly City. A friend of his who was talking to him at the time said:

"There's a peculiar thing about St. Paul. They have not taken us for expert drinkers. Some places do nothing to us about a dozen different kinds of drinks. You know they hold receptions there, the same as here. It was different in St. Paul. Champagne, beer, and a few delicacies, that was all. The kindest of treatment in the most pleasing way. We used to feel insulted sometimes down East when hosts set before us a banquet of cocktails and punches of every description. Of course we liked the drinks, but we also liked to observe a sense of fitness of things at the table. The entertainments were not loaded upon us. We made just enough to keep us going and we made the most of our time."

Dr. Kober's Address. The annual oration on "The State of Medicine," by Dr. Kober, of Washington, D. C., was one of the features of the closing sessions of the convention, and he pointed to the fact that the progress of medicine is not only in the death rate, generally of one and a half per 1,000 annually. He thought and gave statistics to bear out his statements that 10,000 human lives had been saved annually in the field of preventive medicine alone.

LARGEST FAIR ON RECORD.

CONGRESSMAN JAMES A. TAWNEY SAYS ST. LOUIS WILL SURPASS EVERYTHING HAS ALREADY $16,000,000 CASH.

Experiences of Chicago and Paris Will Be Useful to the Missourians in Their Big Undertaking.

Congressman James A. Tawney came up from his home at Winona yesterday on a private business errand. Mr. Tawney is spending his vacation quietly and says he will be in St. Louis for the entire summer with the exception of a week or two which he will devote to a visit to the Buffalo exposition and another week at the national capital.

Mr. Tawney spoke in glowing terms of his recent visit to St. Louis, where he is held in special favor now because of his active interest in the great fair to be held there in 1904. He thinks there can be no more cordial people anywhere than those at St. Louis. As to the success of the fair, Mr. Tawney said: "It will be the largest and most successful fair of any kind the world has ever seen. This will be true for the reason that the people are rich in financial resources and are in a high degree of spirit with the determination to surpass all previous efforts."

There is more cash available for the fair than for any other similar purchase than has ever been on hand for the execution of similar plans. The Paris and Chicago world's fairs did not have as much. I believe the exact amount which the Chicago people boasted of when they started out with their fair was $3,000,000. St. Louis has precisely double that amount already, $6,000,000 in hand. Besides this, she can, if necessary, bond the gate receipts for at least $5,000,000, and can get a similar amount from other concessions to be drawn upon. So you see her financial resources are practically inexhaustible. There will be nothing needed which the St. Louis people cannot get if money will get it.

"Besides the money, the people in Missouri have the experiences of the Paris and Chicago fairs before them and can use them to very advantageous ends. There are countless mistakes made in the expenditures of funds for one thing at Chicago—why they fairly burned their money—the St. Louis people will be able to avoid this useless appropriation of their money. Then there are many other ways in which the experiences of the Paris and Chicago events will help them."

"But one of the conditions which assure the success of this St. Louis fair is the character of the laws upon which it is being operated. This is altogether different from the laws which govern either the fair at Paris or Chicago. The possibility of a clash between the local corporation and the national commission has been obviated by a wise provision. You see, of course, there is the local corporation, of which former Gov. David R. Francis is chairman, then there is the national commission (and Mr. Tawney leads this) Now in case these two organizations find it impossible to agree on anything pertaining to the fair arrangements, their differences will be referred to a board of arbitration, which has been provided for in advance. This board is composed of four members, two selected from the national commission and two from the local corporation. In the event of the board's failure to come to terms on any issue these four members have the power to visit the matter to the highest court in the land. He who is said to be following him. Judge Hine dismissed the case, but the silk-hatted gentleman was not at all satisfied. He had been sorely abused. He murmured something about knowing his rights and after the election of officers the members of the county jail and directed the city physician to examine his as to his sanity."

Graded School Examinations. Final examinations for the year in the graded public schools began last Thursday. The subject for the day was history and for yesterday grammar. Questions for the different schools will be distributed at the superintendent's office Monday afternoon.

Old Resident Dead. Joseph Flebotte, who had been a resident of St. Paul for thirty-eight years, died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law, Isaac Morissette, aged eighty-eight. He was born in St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and the funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock and the interment will be at New Canada.

DR. CLARK IS INDICTED.

GRAND JURY FINDS BILL AGAINST ONE OF THE CITY OFFICIALS CHARGE IS EMBEZZLEMENT.

Manager Wittig, of the Dewey Theater, Also Falls Under the Ban of the Court on Alleged Perjury.

Dr. E. J. Clark, house physician of the city hospital, was yesterday brought before Judge McGee upon an indictment returned by the grand jury, charging him with grand larceny in the second degree. He pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $500. This was immediately furnished and the case was set for next Tuesday.

Dr. Clark has been specifically charged with embezzling and appropriating for his own use of the sum of $150 belonging to the city of Minneapolis on May 6, 1900. Dr. Clark refuses to discuss the merits of the charges.

The indictment was not a surprise, for the grand jury had spent considerable time in investigating into city hospital methods. As house physician, Dr. Clark had entire charge of the internal affairs of the hospital, and the one item in question is alleged to have been collected from a "pay" patient. It appears that amounts of this kind had not been specified, but that in the report of City Physician Byrnes the money was handed over in lump.

Late yesterday afternoon Manager Wittig, of the Dewey theater, was arraigned in Judge McGee's court on the charge of perjury. He was arraigned on a charge which was set for trial Monday. It is charged that Wittig perjured himself in the affidavit which accompanied his application for a license for a saloon at the Dewey theater. He swore that theatrical performances were not to be carried on in the same building in which the saloon was to be located, and it is alleged that he knew this statement to be false at the time he made it.

The trial of the second case against Fred A. Briggs, promoter of slot machines, will be concluded yesterday, and the fate of the defendant now rests with the jury. The most noticeable feature of the case was the reference of the case to the grand jury with the exception of Officer J. W. Gibbs, C. W. Erickson and Daniel Petrie, all of the witnesses were remarkable for their bad memories.

LIFE IS SQUEEZED OUT. Laborer Crushed to Death While Working in a Sewer. Ole Johnson, 117 Holden street, Minneapolis, met his death yesterday afternoon in a sewer on DuSable street, between Irving and James avenues south. The cause is such a strange one that it is hard to believe. Johnson was at work about eighteen feet below the surface. Piling had been forced down on each side of the sewer in the usual manner, but the crew had orders to dig deeper than the piling had been forced down. The strain against the piling forced the ends from both sides towards each other, and Johnson was in the vice. Fellow workmen responded to his calls for help, and the unfortunate man was finally extricated.

He died shortly after reaching the hospital.

PACIFIC EDITORS IN TOWN. Western Party Hospitably Entertained in the Mill City.

The forty and more editors and their wives who planned to pass through Minneapolis to St. Paul yesterday morning on their way to the Pan-American exposition are congratulating themselves now that their trip was lengthened several hours. They formed the Puget sound delegation of the National Editorial association, which holds its sixteenth annual convention at Buffalo, June 11-12. As they came into the Milwaukee station a delegation from the Commercial club and the newspapers of the city met them, offering the hospitality of Minneapolis and a breakfast at the Commercial club rooms. The breakfast was followed by a stroll to Lake Harriet and Minnehaha Falls, a view of the city from the Guaranty Loan building and luncheon at the Guaranty Loan restaurant.

At the luncheon several very happy impromptu speeches were made, and a prize bestowed upon the best speech as to the width of the dial of the court house clock. The party viewed the mills in the afternoon and at 7:30 left for Chicago over the Milwaukee line.
