An old darky went to Memphis the other day to get his pension check cashed. After receiving his money, which amounted to $11, the old ex-slave sauntered down Front street to a produce house and bought three crates of cabbages. When they were delivered at the wharf late that afternoon the old man was there and received them with a mouth watering in anticipation of the good time ahead.

"What yer gwine ter do wid dem cabbages" inquired the negro drayman who delivered them.

DEAD LAW IS REVIVED

Saloonkeepers Liable for Heavy Damages if Accident Befalls Habitual Drinker to Whom They Have Sold.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., June 24.—(Special.)—A Republican county convention has been called by the county central committee, to meet in Clear Lake, July 6. This convention will elect twenty-one delegates to represent Deuel county in the judicial convention, which meets in Brookings, July 11.

Arrangements are being made for a baseball game to be contested on the Clear Lake diamond, next Sunday, by the Gary and Clear Lake nines.

The fair association of Deuel county will hold its annual midsummer fair at Clear Lake July 4 and 5. Among other sports will be a hose race between the watertown and Clear Lake fire departments, horse races, foot, bicycle and biquor to an habitual drunkard. In case liquor to an habitual drunkard. In case of violation, the nearest of kin of an habitual drunkard who dies as the supposed result of indulging in intoxicating liquors can commence suits for damages, as Mrs. Garrigan has done. If she wins it will mean that many men who are now enabled to buy intoxicants at will, will be denied that privilege in the future. It is estimated that fully 50 per cent of saloon patrons would be affected by the strict compliance with this clause of the law and would be unable to obtain a law, and would be unable to obtain a drink of liquor at any bar in the state. Both sides are preparing for an energetic fight to a finish, and the case will probably be the most important to be tried at the next term of the state circuit

Sane Woman Committed. JAMESTOWN, N. D., June 24 .- (Special.)—It has been found that Mrs. T. J. Hackett, of Bowbells, Ward county, brought to the asylum here two weeks ago, is not insane. W. A. Blake, a brother of the woman, who resides at Courtenay, made the discovery that she had been the victim of a conspiracy on the part of settlers in Ward county who desired to obtain possession of her homestead. They testified to her insanity in order that she might be removed to the asylum. Immediately after she was placed in the institution a contest was filed against her homestead by one of the witnesses against her.

Mrs. Hackett alleges that, among other things, the parties warned her to leave her homestead, made threats on her life and scared her in various ways. She pluckily stayed on the claim until the scheme to have her placed in the asylum was planned and successfully carried out. The woman will be released from the institution and there is, likely to be considerable trouble for the conspirators.

DAMAGE ALONG TUG RIVER. HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 24.-The caused by a cloudburst along the head waters of that stream on Saturday, is a thing unprecedented in the history of that section, and the destruction of prop erty along the Elkhorn and Dry Fork, and down the Tug river to its mouth, is something most appalling. Though it Johnstown flood, it serves as a vivid reminder of that terrible deluge. Owing to the fact that wires have been down, and no other means of communication available with the sections of country where the greatest destruction was wrought, much is left to be surmised, yet bed was wider and the volume of water had to be much greater in order to sub-merge the valley, the wreckage which has been carried by in the flood furnishes ample evidence of what had taken plac higher up the stream.

The cloudburst occurred near the head vaters of the Elkhorn and Dry Fork rivers, whose confluence near Welch form the main Tug river. Though both of these streams were swollen far beyond ny proportions which they were ever beore known to assume, the former one, which is traversed by the Norfolk & Western railway for a distance of about twenty miles, was by far the highest, and it is reported that for a distance of about ten miles that road is practically a wreck, and several days will be required to repair the great damage which has been done. Along the coal region of the Elkhorn and the numerous big lumber plants lower down box cars wer swept away in the rushing flood, and are lodged along the streams against the rugged mountain sides, and in a few in-stances were carried down the Tug river even as far as below the falls of it be fore being checked.
