

WORKING IN WATER

IMMENSE STONE FOUNDATION BEING LAID FOR MILWAUKEE FREIGHT DEPOT

CANNOT MOVE OLD BUILDING

New Structure Promises to Be a Model, Possessing Excellent Facilities—More Room for Tracks.

Of the many improvements attendant upon the heavy lift being made by the Union Depot company along the river front, none probably attracts more attention than the massive stone foundation now being laid for the superstructure that will be known as the Milwaukee freight depot.

While piles thickly planted forestall any action of the ever shifting sands, the masons are literally laying the stone in water, seepage from the river having filled the trenches to the depth of a foot or more.

Concrete, however, is gradually supplanting the water, load after load, dumped in on top of the piling, furnishing a foundation for the immense bed stones that are resting place.

Yesterday more than one-third of the foundation had been completed and another week will see it ready for the superstructure which will quickly follow.

Through the press, frequent accounts have been given of the intention of the Milwaukee company to move its brick freight depot bodily to its new home on the fill, and the fact that the job would be something new in building annals.

Even if ever contemplated, the scheme has been dropped and instead a new building will be erected, into which will enter much of the material from the old structure.

To move the entire structure would be a costly job, while the delay and annoyance that the road would suffer to its freight interests would more than pay for a new building.

The new depot will be a model of its kind and will have more storage capacity. It will be the same length as the old, but will be wider with better trackage facilities.

WILL ACT TUESDAY

COMMISSION APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE WHITEHORNE CASE SETS A DATE

NEW EVIDENCE IS FOUND

Missing Official Is Said to Be Innocent of Certain Misdealings Formerly Aligned Against Him.

The investigation into the charges of alleged speculation preferred against County Commissioner George B. Whitehorne, who is wanted for tampering with books in the county auditor's office, will begin next Tuesday.

On that day George C. Squires and George O'Reilly, who were appointed by the auditor to take evidence in the case, will meet at the office of County Attorney Kane, who will act as the prosecutor in the matter.

It transpired yesterday that Whitehorne has nothing to do with the delinquent taxes against the property of Mrs. Hanna Getty, of White Bear lake, and that the entry on the books marking her taxes for 1894 as paid, was made in good faith, and perfectly legitimate.

It appears that the taxes were paid on or about the same day when the certificate was purchased by the National Investment company, but by some oversight the receipt which was given to Mrs. Getty was not entered.

As the matter now stands, a double payment was made of taxes, one by Mrs. Getty, and the other by the Investment company, so that the county will have received $35 of the amount paid into the treasury.

SIR THOMAS WELL PLEASED WITH HIS CHALLENGER

OBJECTS TO CRITICISM

H. P. FAHNESTOCK DISCUSSES COMPETITOR'S REMARKS.

H. P. Fahnestock, manager of the Younglophony & Lehigh Coal company does not take kindly to the criticisms of the Holmes-Spencer company, relative to the action of the county board in awarding his firm the contract for fuel for the ensuing year.

As a matter of fact, there was only one bid for the contract being awarded to the two firms, and in speaking of the matter Mr. Fahnestock said: "As to the city and county losing money by the contract being awarded to us, such a statement is false. On 1,600 tons of coal the Holmes-Spencer bid meant a saving to the city of $30. But on 570 cords of wood, the Younglophony bid meant a saving of $14, in other words, the board of control saved, by awarding the contract to this company, the difference between $48 and $14, or $34."

ITALIAN LABORER KILLED.

RAILROAD LABORERS RACE RIOT MAY HAVE INTERNATIONAL FINISH.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 22.—A special to the Gazette from Texarkana, says: An Italian named Gintotti, was killed near Ashdown, twenty miles north of here yesterday in a fight between Italians and American laborers at work on the line of the Kansas City Southern.

The killing may become an international affair. The fight grew out of a dispute over a car of track materials. An American was killed by an Italian and later an Italian foreman was attacked and badly beaten. About fifty armed men went to the Italians' camp and ordered them to leave. They refused to do so and fired a rifle, killing Gintotti instantly. The dead man had nothing to do with the fight and the Italians are greatly incensed. The Italian minister at Washington has been notified and other developments are expected.
