PLAIN TALK

To Catarrh Sufferers. Every person suffering from catarrh in its many forms, knowing that the common remedy is to use a cathartic, and that it is useless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, because every victim of catarrh knows that for himself.

NEWS FROM THE COURTS.

The motion by the defendant for change of venue from Hennepin county, in the case brought by Warner and others against Peter Schultz and others, was granted by Judge Lewis at the special term yesterday forenoon.

PLAIN TALK

To Catarrh Sufferers. Every person suffering from catarrh in its many forms, knowing that the common remedy is to use a cathartic, and that it is useless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, because every victim of catarrh knows that for himself.

A local application, if it does anything at all, simply gives temporary relief; a wash, lotion, salve or powder cannot reach the seat of the disease which is the mucous membrane.

The mucous membrane seeks to relieve the blood of catarrh by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes coming up the nostrils, descending to the throat and larynx, causing an irritating cough, continual clearing of the throat, deafness, indigestion and many other disagreeable and persistent symptoms.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal treatment; a remedy which gradually cleanses the system from catarrhal poison and removes the toxic and congested always present in the mucous membrane.

The best remedies for this purpose are Eucalyptol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin. But the difficulty has always been to get these valuable curatives combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

KIDNEY TROUBLE CURED

[After Many Years of Suffering Which Doctors Fail to Relieve.]

A Member of the U. S. Census Department Gives Pe-ru-na Great Praise.

Hon. Edward G. Wade, District Enumerator, Assistant Special Agent of the Statistical Department of the United States Census, is a prominent member of the Forestry Service in a letter written from 709 Bush Street, San Francisco, Cal., he says:

"I am gratified to note that Peruna is so widely known, as it is a medicine that deserves a world-wide reputation for merits. I suffered off and on for years with kidney troubles and nervous disorders; had many doctors prescribe for me, but received no lasting benefit except from the use of Peruna. May success attend you."

A man who has suffered for years and years with kidney trouble and nervous disorders, has tried doctor after doctor that he was a track shoveler at Dewey Bluff, Mont., and while working one day he discharged a blast of dynamite exploding, and the flying rock broke his arm. The operation performed upon the injured member left it crooked.

Letters of administration in the estate of Clemens Unger, $210, and Thomas Galvin $200, were asked for in the probate court in connection with the estate of Charles Green, of New York, was also filed for probate, the estate consisting of real estate in Minnesota valued at $17,000.

There will be but one criminal case at the November term of the United States court at St. Paul. That is the case of John Hanson, of Detroit, Minn., who is charged with sending indecent postal cards through the mails.

Judge Brill yesterday appointed Theodore A. Schultz receiver for the stock of the Hlavac-Katz litigation. It is to be sold and the proceeds divided according to the terms of the will of the late John Hlavac.

Harvey E. Hall was yesterday given judgment against W. W. Washburn, garnishee, and scar Henskel, who claimed to be the owner of the property of the late John Hlavac.

John De Young has commenced suit against Mel Owen in connection with certain property owned jointly by De Young and a number of minor heirs, and also against the estate of the late John De Young.

Francis spent $120,000 upon the reception of the czar and zarina. One of the biggest single inventors here, and who has the account of Hotel M. Chabot for the grand dinner which Mel Loubet gave to the czar and zarina, has been asked to tell how much Francis paid to entertain his imperial guests at dinner.

Seeing, however, that I had erred through ignorance, not in respect of the great principles of medicine, but in the details, I added some explanations rather qualifying the absoluteness of my previous statement. "It is true that the soup (tortue a la la Francaise, otherwise the good old city of London green turtle with the floating pieces of fat and Creme du Barry, the most velvety of its kind, and the salad (Salade Pote), which I have given to the world a few years ago) are not novelties, but all the other dishes are entirely new, and specially conceived, thought out and created for the great occasion."

"And how do you make, for instance, the Barbeque of the future?" I inquired, quite innocently. The head cook threw up his arms in horror. "Make it!" he exclaimed. "Does monsieur think I can tell him how to make our soup? He is a great man, but he does not know how to make our soup. He is a great man, but he does not know how to make our soup."

"I am gratified to note that Peruna is so widely known, as it is a medicine that deserves a world-wide reputation for merits. I suffered off and on for years with kidney troubles and nervous disorders; had many doctors prescribe for me, but received no lasting benefit except from the use of Peruna. May success attend you."

"Why, yes I have," responded the interested Indian, and without delay these things also were added to the soup pot. Just then the hungry visitor caught sight of some vegetables in a corner, and without appearing to have seen them he took a little of them, and as if he were to have an onion-why, it will do for me in the vegetable."

"Here at least was a beginning; for the desired articles were at once produced as the murmur of dissent, and the stranger remarked, in a tone of indifference, "Sometimes I add a small quantity of lard and a hand secured the right quantity to have an onion-why, it will do for me in the vegetable."

without benefit, and finally tried Peruna and receives a permanent cure, such a man ought to recommend Peruna. He certainly would be a curious individual if he did not do so.

Yet the fear of notoriety and the prejudice against proprietary remedies keep many men from recommending Peruna, even when they have been practically snatched from the grave by using it. Yet in spite of all these things, men of high and low station are enthusiastically praising Peruna in public print and private conversation.

Hon. Edward G. Wade, of the United States Census Department, is one of the men in high station who believes that the whole world ought to know the virtues of Peruna. Having been cured himself his gratitude is so great that he is willing to use every honorable means to let others know it. No other remedy in the world is making such a multitude of different cures.

W. C. Hamilton, Sergeant Thirty-seventh U. S. Volunteer Infantry, Spanish-American War, who now lives in High Street, Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"When I returned from the army I was nearly dead with bladder and kidney trouble. I consulted myself a wreck for life, and as I have seen so many soldiers whose health was forever ruined, I looked pretty dark to me. Our Colonel had in the meantime been using Peruna for a similar trouble, and as it seemed to help him I advised me to try it. Thank God that I did. It slowly brought me back to life and health. I have been well now for over a year and I would not exchange my health for all the wealth you could offer me. I am a great believer in Peruna and have good reason to believe so."

President Louisiana Commercial Club.

Hon. William Watson Washburn, President of the Louisiana Commercial Club, and a very well known man of New Orleans, La., writes from 67 Canal Street:

"I am pleased that there is not a finer testimonial before the public today than that of Peruna. I have been troubled for nearly twelve years with kidney and liver trouble, and at times I have been a pretty sick man, unable to attend to my duties. I had about made up my mind that no medicine could help me when one of your booklets was brought to my office which I read in a leisure hour. I then decided to give Peruna a trial and in a few days I had secured the right medicine for me. For two months I used it faithfully and then felt so well I was like a young man once more. This record of milk in the model dairy was over a year ago. I have not had any trouble since. Although I am in the seventies I feel better and more active than I did thirty years ago."
