NORMAL BOARD PETITION FOR QUO WARRANTO ACTED ON BY SUPREME COURT

PRELIMINARY WRIT GRANTED

Made Returnable Thursday, When Matter Will Be Fought Out Between the Two Boards—Less Stay Is Granted.

After several months of controversy, interrupted only by ineffectual efforts toward an understanding, the conflict of authority between the state board of control and the normal school directors has finally been taken to the supreme court for adjudication. The petition on behalf of the normal board for a writ of quo warranto against the board of control, which has been hanging fire for several weeks past, was filed yesterday and argued before the entire court. In an order signed by Chief Justice Ross a preliminary writ was granted, returnable Thursday next at 9:30 a. m.

The text of that order is as follows: New, therefore, to the end that justice be done, you, the said state board of control of state institutions, and Silas W. Leavitt, William E. Lee and Ozro B. Gould, and each of you, are hereby required and commanded to appear before the supreme court of Minnesota on the 31st day of October, 1901, at 9 o'clock on said day, then and there to respond to this writ by answer, plea or demurrer, as you may be advised, and to show by what right or warrant you and each of you have usurped and intruded into, or interfered with, the offices, powers, rights, functions, privileges and duties of the state normal school board, and the members thereof, in the manner and to the extent as in said information it has been made to appear.

It is possibly a significant fact that in enumerating the members of the normal board the petition states that a vacancy now exists in the office of one member of said board, caused by the resignation of W. B. Mitchell, which said resignation took effect on the 10th day of October, 1901.

ON DANCE SUIT

BOY KICKED WHILE LEADING LIVERYMAN'S HORSE TO WATER FATHER SUES FOR $5,000

Judge Bann Directs Verdict for Defendant in Kuschke Case, It Appearing That the Man Is Too Ill to Work.

Judge Brill and jury yesterday were engaged in hearing rather a peculiar damage action for personal injuries. The suit is brought by one William Conley, who is suing George and Ida Ritter for $5,000 damages for injuries sustained by their year-old son while leading one of the defendant's horses.

The defendants operate a livery stable, and according to the testimony offered by the plaintiff's witnesses, they have been in the habit of allowing the small boys in the neighborhood to lead the horses to a watering tank a few blocks from the stable.

It has also been the habit of a number of precocious youths in the vicinity to throw stones and other missiles at the horses that the boys were leading. Such was the ground for the action in this case. The little boy had gone to Sunday school on the afternoon of June 16 last, and on his way home saw a crowd of men around the defendant's livery barn pitching horseshoes. He went over, and shortly started for the watering place with a horse. A number of boys began to throw stones at the horse, and he either thrown to the ground by the horse or kicked and sustained injuries of such a nature as to compel him to go to a hospital for a couple of weeks.

FINE POINT OF LAW FIRE BOARD TO ACT

MEMBERS HOPE TO PREVENT REPETITION OF ROBERT STREET EXPLOSION

Storage and Handling of Naphtha and Rubber to be Regulated So as to Minimize Danger.

If the fire board can bring about the change there will not be a repetition of the explosion that nearly resulted in a fatality on Robert street yesterday afternoon. A mixture of rubber and naphtha was the combination that did the damage, and from the investigation made by the firemen the mixture seems to be a common article of use in many stores.

In view of this fact the board is contemplating the passage of an ordinance which will regulate both its storage and handling, with the addition of heavy fines in case of violation. President Warner has taken the matter up, and will bring it to the attention of the board at its next meeting.

At the majority of the big shoe and rubber factories in St. Paul this dangerous mixture is enclosed in iron tanks, which, as a rule, are kept apart from the main buildings. Pipes conduct it to the workmen.

In the case of the Robert street explosion the barrels contained but a few pounds of the explosive material, and what the result would have been had the explosion taken place when the barrel held fifty or two gallons of material, which according to experts would have been sufficient to wreck the entire block.

Bicycle repair shops, shoe repair shops and other places all over the city use a rubber cement daily in their work, and in many instances, it is said, little precaution is taken in handling it.

CHICAGO WOMAN ANXIOUS TO PERPETUATE HIS MEMORY

Proposed Memorial May Take Form of a Cheap Boarding House for Workmen.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Should the public respond to her request for contribution to build a memorial to Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, Miss Helena Tice, of 390 Fulton street, will be further interested in their work, and to his memory and will build and run a cheap boarding house for workmen.

She has changed her mind, and now believes that the best memorial is not a fitting testimony to what she terms his "warm and lovable nature."

Miss Tice styles herself a "revolutionist" and has captured the entire order of government to obtain a state of society. She considers Czolgosz a protesting human sacrifice to the present order of human race. She lives in the rear rooms in a tenement house, and two-story frame building, and her neighbors say that she spends her time reading socialism and anarchistic literature.

"I would not marry a man," she said last night, "for his heart beats too fervently for his fellow men to be represented in cold stone. Like Ben Adams, she loved her fellow men wisely, but too well. He could not do other than he did, for he was one of those men who are compelled by circumstances to step in and to protect their lives against the present system. He was a martyr for his down-trodden fellows, and they can better appreciate a Chicago boarding house than a cold marble slab."

"That is why I now want such a memorial. I say that I am a revolutionist. You are not an anarchist or a socialist. I don't care what you call me, but I would upturn modern society. My great-grandfather was Brig. Gen. Hand, and he was a revolutionary war hero, and my grandfather was Emory Hand, who was a hero in the Revolutionary war, and my father was Emory Hand, who was a hero in the Revolutionary war, and I am an American. Though my forefathers fought for the republic, I don't love it. I was born in La Grange county, Ind., and I have lived here since the world's fair. In this plan I would like to have men of the proletariat help along, and for this reason I used the daily papers to get what you call a memorial."

Over the signature of Abraham Isaak Jr., there appears in the last issue of Free Society, the anarchist publication, the following notice by the editor: "In the issue of Sept. 1 of Free Society there appears a note of warning against a person as a spy. It is now practically certain that the person alluded to was Leon F. Czolgosz. Although at the time the warning seemed justified, it was an error. No matter what opinion one may have of Czolgosz, it will be admitted that he was not a spy. For that note I, or Leon F. Czolgosz, hated and despised as he is by all the world, an apology."
