PROBLEM OF PENSIONS

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF TORRANCE

It is expected that within a few days Commander-in-Chief Ell Torrance, with the adjutant general and the executive committee of the Grand Army of the Republic, will take up the pension problem. This was one of the questions left by the national encampment to the committee to attend to. What action the G. A. R., through its committee, will take is a matter of speculation, as none of the men who are to decide the question will tell what he thinks of the subject.

There are nearly 200,000 members of the G. A. R. who are not on the pension list. If a law should be passed granting pensions to men who served in the war, whether disabled or not, these would reap the benefit of it. There is a general feeling in Grand Army circles that the time has arrived for the adoption of such a law, but local members do not believe it will be adopted at the present time.

STEAMBOATS ARE NOW HUNTING FOR WINTER QUAR-TERS

NAVIGATION CLOSES NOV. 15

River Is Low and Will Likely Freeze Over at an Early Date-Boats Had Good Year.

While a few boats still continue to ply the placid and murky bosom of the "Fa-ther of Waters" as far as the near vicirity of St. Paul is concerned, yet the majority of the floating craft have taken the bank and are awaiting the coming Officially, navigation on the upper Mississippi closes Nov. 15. This does not mean that the boats have to stop running when that date arrives, but all who ship goods by river after the 15th do so at their own risk. Between that time and April 15 insurance is denied the ship-per and the boat owner. Lighthouse eepers are laid off and the river is dark. river just now is lower than it has been for years and an early closing is expected. Last year toe made itst appearance about the 15th, and a few days later gorged, tying up navigation completely. It cold weather comes, rivermen say, they would not be surprised if the river closed by the 14th.

The rafting boats have been severely handicapped this year because of the continued low water. Many of them sought winter quarters a month ago, while others have gone into the lower river to finish out the year as packets. The majority of the small boat owners say they had a successful year. The Diamond Jo company as yet has not figured out its profit and loss for the scason, but those in charge say there will be little of the latter. The passenger traffic for 1901 was heavy, while freight business was correspondingly large. Low water called a halt earlier than expected, but in the main business was good throughout. St. Paul's fleet of steamers is mostly given over to the excursion business and the owners have done well. It is expected that the number of boats will be greatly added to next year.

CHARTER REGULATION OF MAR-KETS RECEIVES NEW IN-TERPRETATION

MUST CLOSE MARKET AT NOON BRINGS SUIT AGAINST CITY MINNEAPOLITANS IMPLICATED

Claimed That the Charter Permits Selling of Vegetables Without the Formality of Securing a License.

According to a late interpretation of the new charter, in its relation to mar-ket houses and the sale of vegetables and other products of the soil, the city may be deprived of a fruitful source of revenue, the licensing of vegetable vend-

This particular section, after prescribing noon as the limit of the market hours, and prohibiting the sale of veg-etables at any other place except by regular deals and licensed peddlers, reregular deals and fleensed pedders, removes this embargo after the noon hour. After that hour, it plainly says, the city's jurisdiction ends, so far as the sale of farm products is concerned. Under the present rules and regulations drafted for the benefit of the new veryles house, which will be opened. tions drafted for the benefit of the flew market house, which will be opened shortly, 2 o'clock each afternoon is named as the closing hour. perdefers, but 2 o'clock was hirally accepted.

Peddlers of vegeta'les now pay into the city a yearly license fee of $51, but in the opinion of many attorneys this demand would never be sustained if the courts were appealed to. It is claimed that legitimate fruits of the soil are exempt, something the legal department, while not really saying so in as many words, really concedes. In the neighborhood of fifty gardeners now pay into the city treasury the yearly fee demand-ed, and it is probable that the next time it is exacted, it will be paid under pro-test, with an appeal to the courts for a proper interpretation of the law.

Some of the gardeners are raising the point that they cannot be prevented from remaining at the market the entire day if they so desire, as the city has no authority to close it at 2 o'clock, but the legal department is not doing any wor-rying. Police regulations affect the public market as well as any other institution, it is claimed, and they will be en-

It is plainly evident that the present orinance, which was drafted by Assem-blyman Benson, is defective, and it will be constructed anew. In order to con form with the charter, noon will be made the closing hour, though there is nothing to prohibit it being kept open the entire day if the members so elect. The present ordinance was drafted at the instance of both the Gardeners' and Grocers' associations and received their

LUTHERANS' CREAT DAY

TO CELEBRATE MARTIN LUTHER ANNIVERSARY TOMORROW

Throughout the Protestant world tomorrow there will be special services in honor of Martin Luther, the founder of the great epoch known as the Reforma-tion, which marks not only a tremendous religious revolution, but also the begin-ning of a brilliant era in literature. On the eve of All Saints' day, Oct. 31, 1517, Martin Luther, a profesor in the University of Wittenberg, Saxony, nailed to the doors of the Castle church his famous ninety-five theses, or propositions, denouncing the sale of indulgences—a custom that had reached extraordinary proportions at that time.

This astounding piece of boldness sulted in Pope Leo X. issuing an edict against the reformer, but Luther publicly burned the papal bill and continued preaching to large audiences against the Church of Rome and the pope.

The whole of Germany was shaken to its depths, and Luther was summoned before the diet of Worms. Although that body did its best to induce him to recant, he became only the more determined in his convictions of the

For a while public opinion was in a state of such ferment that he was obliged to remain in concealment. But this was only for a short time. He was soon preaching again, and to larger crowds

Besides preaching, he found time to write a mass of pamphlets and books. In February, 1546, in his sixty-third year, he died from a severe cold contracted while preaching. Narrowly speaking, the Reformation covered the period from 1517 to 1545, but as a matter of fact that great movement varied considerably in different countries. Thus in Germany it can scarcely be said to have reached its consummation until the treaty of Augsburg, 1555; in Switzerland, until the death of Calvin, in 1564; in France, until the massacre on the eve of St. Bartholomew, 1562; in Bohemia, until the battle of White Hill, 1620, and in Italy, England and other European countries until many years later.

"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" will be sung tomorrow by millions to whom Luther is a reformer, while other millions will think of him as a great revolutionist

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

PROMINENT MEN FROM ALL PARTS DISCUSSED IMPORTANT TOPICS.

The first conference of the superintendents of the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing society held for ten years was concluded last night in eapolis after a session of three days. The territory represented at this conference comprised all of the United States except the Pacific coast and the far Eastern states. This is the third con-ference which has been held. The other 256 two were also held in Minneapolis.

The meeting this year was for the purpose of discussing generally the work of the society, and making new plans and improving upon old methods.

More attention will be given to the work among the foreign element in the country, especially in the Middle West and the Northwest.

and the Northwest.

The example of Minnesota in this respect will be followed by the other states.

At the meeting last night several appointments were made for pulpits, but were not given to the public.

The society has many missionaries in the field, whose salaries are paid by it, and some changes were made among these missionary pastors.

Rev. Robert P. Herrick, states uperintendent of Minnesota, states that the work of the conference has been helpful and successful.

A number of the superintendents and missionaries who were attending the conference filled the pulpits in the churches of the two cities last Sunday.

NOW MRS. ELLA M. DICKSON CAN-NOT REALIZE ON THEM

Claims Are Four in All, and Were Purchased From Janitors Employed in the Temporary Jail.

Ella M. Dickson, whose indorsement was found on a number of the warrants that furnished the basis for the investigation now being made in the office of City Engineer Claussen, yesterday brought suit against the city to recover on a batch of claims that so far have failed to realize their face value.

The claims in question number four, and are the outcome of the controversy between the city and the county over the employment of several janitors by the city hall and court house commission for the care and maintenance of the temporary jail on the top floor of the big building. The county paid its part, but the city refused to do likewise on the ground that the jail was clearly a county institu-

The amount in controversy, and which extends over a period of two months, is $220, and Mrs. Dickson says that the holders of the claims properly transferred them over to her for a consideration.

Both Mrs. Dickson and her husband, J. M. Dickson, for a number of years have dealt extensively in the purchase of claims against the city, and, it is said, now have in their possession several thousand dollars in time cheeks that will require considerable trouble and possibly lifigation to realize on. Prior to the investigation by Bank Examiner Pope, the presentation of the time check with its indorsement secured the required warrant without trouble, but this has been done away with. Now the indorsement of the party to whom the warrant is made out, together with satisfactory identification, is necessary.

Mr. Dickson and his wife are also extensive holders of claims accruing to D. W. Moore, a general contractor, but the legal department has refused to sanction their payment. The amount held up is

IN MINNESOTA'S PRAISE

SECRETARY RANDALL HEARS MANY KIND WORDS.

"The Minnesota State Fair is certainly entitied to the consideration of every stock raiser. At no other place have we obtained the prices that we realized last September, or has as much interest been manifested in the displays made. It was a record breaker, and will make itsel. felt in the almost doubling of entries at the next exhibition."

Unreservedly was this compliment given to Secretary E. M. Randall and C. N. Cosgrove, who has been in attendance the past week at the live stock show now being held in Kansas City. Their presence there was for the purpose of securing many of the finely bred cattle-exhibited, for the fair next year.

"Our visit principally," said Mr. Randall last night, "was for the purpose of keeping in touch with the cattlemen, rather than the securing of exhibits. In December there will be a meeting of the heads of all the cattle associations in Chicago, and then will come the active work of soliciting for exhibits."

"The exhibit at Kansas City," continued Mr. Randall, "was a good one, and was well attended, but the exhibitors figured that they fared better at our state fair. Those who had been here were loud in their praise of the fair as an exhibiting point, and the advertising we are receiving because of this fact cannot but redound to our credit."

DRANK CARBOLIC ACID

NELLIE DUNN NEARLY SUCCEEDS IN ENDING HER LIFE.

Nellie Dunn, a well-known womanabout-town, attempted to commit suicide about 8 o'clock last night, by taking carbolic acid in a shed in the rear of a saloon at 410 Jackson street. Sam Lewis, a porter at 412 Jackson street, heard groans coming from some one in the shed, and on investigating found the Dunn woman lying on the ground in a semi-conscious condition. Officer Peter Carroll was notified, and had the woman taken to the city hospital in the patrol wagon. The physicians at the hospital stated last night that the woman was in a critical condition, but it was thought she would recover. She regained consciousness about 10 o'clock in the evening, but refused to say anything about the matter.

One of the prisoners had a thin-bladed hatchet in his posses-

The cases were continued until Friday morning, and Halpin was allowed to go on the promise of his attorney, Horace Big-elow, to have him in court. Sullivan was remanded to the county jail in default of

CONGRESSMAN TAWNEY GETS AD-VANCE REPORT ON TRUST PRODUCTS

HOME PRICES AND FOREIGN

Charles E. Sceleye, in Jail for Start; Investigation by Industrial Commission of Charges That Trust Products Bring Higher Figures Here Than Abroad.

> Congressman Tawney has received advance proof sheets of a publication by the industrial commission at Washington of a compilation of foreign and domestic or a compliation of foreign and domestic prices of American products.
> Mr. Tawney was largely instrumental in having the compliation made. The in-formation Mr. Tawney desired was the price of trust-made products sold in for-government at Washington. It is alleged that the charges have been filed by Charles T. Seelye, who is serving a term of eight months' imprisonment in the Hennepin county jail, having been conjucted in the Wildlich and the control of the county is all the washington to be in the washington to be in the washington to be in the washington in the washington. victed in the United States district court eign countries compared with the price asked in the United States.

The introduction of the report receival when seen at the county jail last night, emphatically denied that he had filed any such charges and also denied that he asked in the United States.

The introduction of the report receival by Mr. Tawney says:

In view of the frequent assertion that exporters of American-made goods often sell them in foreign countries at lower prices than are obtained for similar goods at home, the industrial commission has endeavored to secure from the business interests of the United States a full and frank statement covering the efforts to extend consumption of products in foreign markets. In sending out the schedule of questions a pledge was given that the answers should be treated as confidential. The questions submitted included the following: had employed any attorney.

The first hearing in the matter is to take place today before the secretary of the interior and Indian Commissioner Jones. It is expected that Congressman be present and will make a statement to the effect that Seeleye is the victim of the conspiracy. Seeleye is the man whose petition for a pardon was recently denied by President Roosevelt. When seen the following:

Is the establishment, firm or corporation engaged in exporting to foreign countries goods produced in the United countries goods produced in the United States?

If so, to what country or countries? If so, to what aggregate value during your past business year?

What percentage of the total value of your manufactured product do your exports equal?

What class or classes of goods do you export?

Do you sell in foreign markets for a price less than that charged for exactly similar articles in the United States?

If so, please name leading specific articles so sold and state the price received therefor at home and abroad.

If you sell goods for lower prices abroad, please give the reason.

What business policy or method, if any, would you suggest to secure for our home consumers equality of price with that charged in foreign markets by the same producers for the same goods?

To the 2,000 inquiries sent out 416 pertinent replies were received. Approximately 300 answers stated that the establishment replying did not have any export business, and these answers were accordingly not considered in the tabulation of the other 416. The great majority of the answers indicated that prices are no lower abroad than they are for domestic consumers, and several indicate that foreign prices are higher. Continuing the report says:

Those who state that they sell for low-

Mr. Seeleye explained the situation as follows:

"My wife and daughter had permission from the United States government to cut dead and down fimber on the Chippe was Indian reservation. I was their attorney in fact and transacted all their business. The logs I cut were sold to George F. Porter, of the American Adjustment company, whose offices are in the Temple Court building.

"As a result of our dealings my wife and daughter now have a claim against the government for $11,000 of the money they deposited with the government's Indian agent before any timber could be cut. Porter claims that this money belongs to him, and the hearing tomorrow is to determine to whom this money belongs. The statement that any contracts were sublet to Mr. Porter is entirely erroneous.

"That I was convicted on the perjured testimony of the Indians is an absolute fact, admitted even by the Minneapolis lumberman whose personal friendship 1 do not enjoy, so I am credibly informed.

"That the court must have doubted the honesty of much of the testimony is clearly indicated to my mind by the sentence imposed. The omaximum penalty for starting forest fires is imprisonment for twenty years and a fine of $2,000. Judge Lochren sentenced me to prison for eight months and imposed a fine of $560. Afterwards he wrote a letter to the attorney general recommending my pardon."

The Washington dispatch contained and the foreign trade was several indicate that for eight montant to company, so whost attent that they sell for low-erg prices, which may be classified as permanent reasons and temporary reasons. The permanent reasons and temporary reasons for lover prices abroad, as stated by several e left undisturbed. A few establishments reply that they make lower prices in order to overcome the tariff of other countries. This applies particularly to Canada. Along with this reason for lower prices is given that of the expenses of shipment—insurance, freight and extra boxing and packing preparatory for an ocean voyage. The Washington dispatch contained another erroneous assertion to the effect that Judge Lochren had made a statewrongfully convicted. When seen at his residence last night, Judge Lochren said:

"I did not express any opinion as to the conviction of Mr. Seeleye, but I did write a letter to the department of jus-boxing and packing preparatory for an ocean voyage.

Besides the foregoing permanent reasons for lower prices abroad, there are several establishments which assign what may be called occasional or temporary reasons, especially the need of securing new markets or of disposing of their surplus product. One of the exporting houses quoted states that in order to create a demand for American material, low prices had to be made originally. After this was accomplished, prices could be raised, as the demand had been created and people abroad educated to the ad-States District Attorney Evans told me he entertained doubts as to the truth of the testimony of the Indians on the trial. The assistant district attorney expressed similar doubts and processed and the state of th raised, as the demand had been created and people abroad educated to the advantages of American goods.

A few exporters indicate that prior to 1898 prices were lower abroad than at home, and that this condition was brought about in order to keep a stable market in this country, and as one establishment puts it, "we want the foreign market to cut our price in, so as not to disturb the domestic market."

Other establishments state that prices are more stable abroad than at home, and consequently when they are high here they will be lower abroad, and that they continue to sell under such conditions.

It should be noted that several establishments give a general answer that average prices at home and abroad are about the same, not indicating how this average is computed. An answer of this kind may be taken to mean that the average price of different goods at the same time are equal, in which case one line of goods may be sold at lower prices abroad, while another line is sold at higher prices abroad. Or the answer may be taken to mean that the same god's are sold at lower prices abroad at one time and at higher prices abroad at one time and at higher prices abroad at another time. In such a case the inference might be drawn that lower prices are made to establish a trade or to sell a surplus without disturbing the domestic market, and that at later times, when the trade is established, or when the domestic market recovers, then prices may be higher abroad than at home. It should be noted that several estab-

Mr. McGrail was forty-five years old, and lived at 808 Edmond street, St. Paul. CELEBRATION SATURDAY.

Great preparations are being made for the Grand Jubilee social to be given on Saturday evening next by the Ladies of starday evening next by the Ladies of the Minnesota Territorial pioneers in the state capitol. It is expected that 600 members at least will attend, and possibly a much larger number, and it is to be a memorial occasion. Both houses of the legislature are to be thrown open for their use. The old timers will make merry as only they know how. Only those who came to Minnesota on or before May 11, 1858, are admitted to this entertainment. The Post Office band will welcome the builders of the state with the strains of "Auld Lang Syne." Speeches will be made by Gov. Ramsey, Gov. Van Sant, William Pitt Murray, E. S. Durant, president of the pioneers, and many other speakers, both male and female. Chief of Police O'Connor has detailed seven officers from the force, all of them old pioneers themselves, to duty at the state house on that occasion. The Pioneers' quartette, composed of sons and daughters of the pioneers, will render several selections and there will be other features of entertainment. It will be a notable gathering of the men and women upon whose self-sacrifice and patriotic devotion to duty the greatness of the state was built. The funeral of the tate Mrs. Eliza Drewry, who died at the family residence, 710 Payne avenue, on Monday, will be held from St. Paul's church, Ninth and Olive streets, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Drewry, s death was very sudden and unexpected, resulting from heart fallure, and was a great shock to her many friends. She is survived by a husband and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs. C. D. MacLaren and Mrs. W. S. Batson, of this city, and the sons, Arthur W., Henry and Richard, of St. Paul, Edward J. and Fred W., of Winnipeg, and George, of Rat Portage.

The Prior avenue police are still searching for the assailant of the eight-year-old Friberg girl, at St. Anthony Park last Friday, and it was stated yesterday that they have a clue by which they hope to be able to capture the brute. Don't forget that the Cigarmakers give their twenty-second annual ball in Fed-eration hall Saturday evening. An Alibi for the Dog

Mrs. John Connolly, living on Commercial street, charged by Adolph Lando with keeping a vicious dog, which she refused to surrender to the police, was discharged in the police court yesterday, as the evidence showed she had not refused to surrender a vicious dog to the police. police.

It developed that she has two dogs and that the animal which was demanded was not the vicious one, and that the other dog has not been located.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

CARD OF THANKS TO ALL OUR friends and neighbors who so generously extended their help and sympathy to us in our great bereavement, the sickness and death of our darling daughter Alice, we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and pray that they may not be called on to suffer such sorrow. Mr. called on to suffer such sorrow. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hibbert.

SELECTED—In loving remembrance of Margaret' Alice Hibbert by her grandfather, William Hibbert:
"A lamb, a blessing to behold,
Is taken from its earthly fold,
Mid fairer pasture fields to roam,
Round the Great Shepherd's happier
home,

home,
And though I bow submissive knee
Alas, for me."
