The new pumping station to be constructed at the reformitory has been completed by the contractor, and is now being tested. It is hoped that when the new main is all in place, the perplexing question of water supply will have been overcome for all time.

The Court Decides When Doctors Disagree. ST. CLOUD, Minn., Nov. 26.—Dr. Robert L. Hubert, one of the most prominent practitioners of this part of the state, was placed on trial in the district court this morning on the charge of having failed to report a contagious disease to the proper authorities.

The warrant for Dr. Hubert's arrest was issued by Judge Hubert, and Dr. J. B. Dunn, city health officer, by direction of Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health. The complaint on which the arrest was made at the time specifically charges that on May 4 Joseph Wegler was taken ill with smallpox, and that Dr. Hubert failed to report in writing the presence of a contagious disease to the city board of health, as is required by law in such cases.

At the time of the issuance of the warrant Dr. Hubert was doing the Pan-American exposition, and it was not served until a week later.

COURTS

MRS. LEROY F. OSTRANDER WILL GO TO BULGARIA TO TAKE THE PLACE OF MISS STONE

WILL BE A HONEYMOON TRIP

Is a Good Revolver and Rifle Shot, and, if Necessary, Will Employ Force to Convert the Heathen.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Leroy F. Ostrander, until Thursday of last week Miss Mary L. Roys, of this city, will sail from Boston, Dec. 4. However, she will not go direct to her new Bulgarian home, but tarry awhile in Europe, and especially in Scotland, where her new husband has relatives, before taking up their missionary work in the far East.

Miss Roys was married to Mr. Ostrander at Lyons, N. Y., last Thursday, and will accompany her husband into the heart of Bulgaria, in spite of the late Miss Stone kidnapping incident. They will be located at the American board school at Samakov, the very point from which the unfortunate lady was abducted.

Mr. Ostrander is an instructor in that institution. The new Mrs. Ostrander is a niece of John Holley, of this city, one of Wisconsin's foremost bankers, and has some her home here for several years past, as have also her brothers. Mrs. Ostrander is a crack revolver and rifle shot, and quite a devotee to athletic sports, which fact will make her friends here about her welfare in her new Oriental home surrounded by Bulgarian brigands.

A BRILLIANT IDEA. How a New County Can Be Formed

Special to the Globe. ST. CLOUD, Minn., Nov. 26.—The residents of the southern portion of McCook county have got it all figured out. They have a brilliant idea for a new town situated within easy reach of them.

The present county seat, is located in the town of Bridgeview, at the junction of the Omaha and North-Western railroads. Residents of the town and vicinity, when they want to go to the county seat by railroad, at present have to travel southeast over the Milwaukee road to Parker, in Turner county, and then northward over the North-Western road to Salem.

The plan is to divide the county into two parts, one to be called Bridgeview, with the town of Bridgeview, a Milwaukee road town, as the county seat. The promoters of the plan are in earnest, and will send a strong lobby to the legislature to secure the necessary legislative action.

HARRIS SWINDLED MINISTERS. Friend Supposed to Have Murdered the Husband of Her Lover.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 26.—Robert H. Harris, who has been in real estate business here since 1885, was sentenced to Stillwater on the reformitory plan this morning for grand larceny in the second degree, to which he had pleaded guilty.

Several other indictments against him were returned by the grand jury. Harris, the first degree, but they will be dismissed.

His attorney urged as a mitigating circumstance that Harris was a man of high character, and that he was engaged in enormous business deals, and that he was a member of the church, and that he was a man of high character, and that he was engaged in enormous business deals, and that he was a member of the church, and that he was a man of high character.

SMALLPOX SPREADING

Stricken People Ignore the Restrictions of Quarantine. Special to the Globe.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 26.—There is a well grounded fear that, in spite of the hitherto successful efforts of Health Officer Murphy, La Crosse is to be subjected to an epidemic of smallpox. This apprehension is based upon the fact that certain town officials regard the disease, and on the stubborn failure of the people in stricken communities to cooperate with the officers in their efforts to wipe out the malady.

In the danger to La Crosse has come from surrounding Wisconsin towns, and it has been possible to meet every danger. Now a new and formidable menace to the health of the city appears in a general epidemic, covering almost the entire state of Wisconsin, which joins La Crosse county on the Minnesota side.

Smallpox has appeared in Wisconsin, and in some instances in malignant forms. Twice within the past two weeks has the La Crosse health department compelled the institution of quarantines by threatening to exclude entire townships from traffic with La Crosse. One case was in the town of Campbell. The second was in the town of New Hartford, Minn., where nearly thirty cases of the disease, which joins La Crosse county on the Minnesota side, Smallpox has appeared in Wisconsin, and in some instances in malignant forms.

THE BONNE TRIAL

MRS. BONNE MADE PRIVATE CONFESION BEFORE TAKING POLICE INTO HER CONFIDENCE

WAS KIND TO THE SICK

Mrs. George B. Gardner, to Whom the Accused Confessed the Truth the Next Day After the Killing, Testifies.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The fact was brought to light in the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Byrne for the killing of James Seymour Ayres Jr., that she had made a private confession of her part in the tragedy on the evening after the homicide, several days before she took the police officials into her confidence. This recital was made to Mr. George B. Gardner, an attorney employed in the law division of the interior department, who was a boarder at the Kenmore hotel, and usually sat at the same table at which Mrs. Bonne took her meals. Mr. Gardner was on the witness stand today and told his story for the first time. He said that Mrs. Bonne had sought him out and asked his advice as to whether she should make a public statement, and that he had suggested the delay her confession until the theory of Cuba, which was first entertained should be fully exploited. A number of other witnesses were heard during the day, several of them being men who had taken Ayres to the neighboring saloons during the evening of May 14, and one of them had taken him to his room after midnight, about two hours before he met his death. The witness, who took Ayres to his room was a young man named Burns, who stated that when he left Ayres the latter was perfectly sober. These witnesses generally agreed that Ayres had had a few drinks of beer, and that he was not under the influence of liquor.

Burns said that on one occasion he had seen Ayres treat Mrs. Bonne contemptuously. He said she had appeared at his room both day and night. Other witnesses testified that Mrs. Bonne had nursed them when sick.

DIED IN FLAMES

Heart-Rending Scenes.

As soon as the gravity of the accident was realized, calls for additional help were sent, and apparatus came from the scene.

Part of the firemen directed their efforts at the fire, which was burning fiercely in the center of the wreck, the greater number of them seized axes and crowbars, and began to dig out the victims who could be seen or whose faint cries were audible.

The department of public works was notified of the horror, and immediately sent a team of horses and men to the scene. In a comparatively short time all the laborers who could work to advantage were feverishly throwing and pulling the wreckage out of the floor and into the smaller testing boiler was blown over his prostrate form in such a way that one end rested on some debris high above him, thereby causing a second and more terrible death.

Engineer Riley was among the first to be dug out from the wreck. His escape was little short of miraculous. When the boiler exploded he was hurled into the air, and fell into the smaller testing boiler was blown over his prostrate form in such a way that one end rested on some debris high above him, thereby causing a second and more terrible death.

Gradually the rescuers worked their way downward through the pile. By this time there were no cries or groans to be heard, and the flames had destroyed those unfortunates who were not killed by the explosion or the fall. But the work of rescue continued with unabated haste. When a heavy beam or piece of shaft was encountered, a team of horses was driven in and the piece of wreckage hauled to the street. Stretcher bearers stood by and bore away the burned and blackened bodies of the victims.

The property loss was converted into a temporary morgue; here the bodies were placed in coffins and taken to the nearest morgue. In several cases the charred corpses were so badly burned that they could hardly be handled by the undertakers and assistants.

The hospitals were beseged by relatives and friends of the injured. The Emergency hospital, which was only a short distance from the scene, and where many of the injured were carried in wagons, the floors of the reception rooms were even the hospital had been destroyed those unfortunates who were not killed by the explosion or the fall. But the work of rescue continued with unabated haste. When a heavy beam or piece of shaft was encountered, a team of horses was driven in and the piece of wreckage hauled to the street. Stretcher bearers stood by and bore away the burned and blackened bodies of the victims.

There were a dozen girls among the employees on the four floors of this building and there was something of a panic among them, but they were not injured. The property loss, according to Secretary George W. Childs, is about $150,000. The firm carried $50,000 fire and some boiler insurance, but how much of the latter Secretary Childs could not say.

Nothing is known as yet about the cause of the explosion. The boilers had been recently inspected, and the engineer was known as one of the most careful men in the city.

T. JOHNSON ON DECK

GEN. MASO ASKS THE PRESIDENT TO PRESERVE AMERICAN IMPARTIALITY IN CUBA

AMERICANS FAVOR PALMA

Gen. Gomez Refuses to Stump the Island for Palma Because He Regards It Unnecessary.

HAVANA, Nov. 26.—That part of the National party which is supporting Gen. Maso, the Democratic candidate for the presidency of Cuba, has voted to send a cablegram to President Roosevelt, asking the latter to recommend that the representatives of the United States in Cuba observe the strictest impartiality in the approaching election for a Cuban president. This communication reads as follows:

We make this request because certain official elements are trying to mean that the board of railway equalization has the power to increase the valuation of railroads for the purpose of taxation over and above the grand total as fixed by the act of 1898.

Attorney General Sheets will file a demurrer to Major Johnson's petition, and this will bring the case to a hearing on its merits. The case will be heard, or submitted on briefs, in time to be disposed of before the holiday recess.

Johnson's contention is that the railroads of Ohio, which are on the duplicate for $17,000,000 in round numbers, are only appraised at about 23 per cent of their actual value, while real estate in Ohio is appraised at about 60 per cent of its value. Johnson wants railroad valuations increased so as to bring them up to a 60 per cent basis. This would place on the duplicate for about $36,000,000, instead of about $17,000,000.

GOOD-BYE. Kiss me, and say good-bye; Good-bye; there is no word to say but this, Nor any tears to shed when these tears dry; Kiss me, and say good-bye.

Forewell, be glad, forget; There is no need to say "forget," I know, For youth is youth, and time will have its way; And though your lips are pale and your eyes are wet, Farewell, you must forget.

You shall bring home your sheaves, Many and many, and with blossoms twined; Of memories that go not out of mind; Let this one sheaf be twined with poppy leaves, When you bring home your sheaves.

In garnered folds of thine, The ripe good fruit of many hearts will lie; Somewhere let this lie gray and salt with tears, Of life, this love of mine.

This sheaf was spotted in spring, And over-long was green and early ere, And never gathered hold in the late year, From autumn suns, and moons of harvest, But failed in frosts of spring.

Yet was it thine, my sweet, This love, though weak as young corn withered, When you to man may gather and make bread, Thine, though it never knew the summer sun, —Andrew Lang, in Toronto Mail.

Chicago—Judge Kohlsaat, in the United States court, today passed sentence on the men accused of violating the injunction against the strike of Chicago machinists, Alexander Storer, sentenced to thirty days in jail, while Herbert Pennington and Fred Crevie each were fined $50. The other defendants charged. An appeal was taken and the prisoners were allowed to furnish bail.

Terrible. Chicago—The coroner's jury, which investigated the Smuggler's Union mine disaster, in which twenty-five men were killed, today returned a verdict censuring some of the mine owners for attempting to keep the mine closed for some time after the company were not guilty of criminal or willful negligence.

Malone—A man has been ranging throughout Northern New York for the last eighteen hours. The fall of snow has been very heavy. Trains are late and the country round about is very desolate.

Chicago—George Harlan, a special officer employed at the Alhambra theater, was shot and fatally wounded during a performance while attempting to quell a disturbance in the gallery. He was shot by St. Lee's hospital with a bullet in his left breast. Physicians say his chances for recovery are slight. George Hunter, James Giles and George Brown, who were in the fight, have been arrested.

Chicago—The branch appellate court, through Judge Waterman today, ruled that a police officer or other public official could not assign his salary. The decision is based on the ground that the public interest is served by the point arose out of a suit by loan agents to secure the wages of Policeman O'Connell, who had assigned his salary for three months to them.

New York—A large square-rigged vessel possibly went down in the recent gale off the Delaware capes. Whether the crew went down with her or were saved may not be known for some time, for it picked up, they may be taken across the Atlantic. On the survival of the crew will depend whether the name of the ship will ever be known.

O'Neill, Neb.—Judge Clarence Selas died at his home early today of typhoid fever. He was a pioneer editor, having published papers at O'Neill and Ewing during the early history of the state. He was prominent in politics for many years, and had been a member of the legislature, and in 1877 was elected judge of Holt county. He was a Populist state commissioner at the time of his death. He leaves a widow and one son.

STREET RAILWAY MAGNATE WILL FORCE A REASSESSMENT OF RAILROAD PROPERTY

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 26.—The supreme court today allowed the motion of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, for leave to file a petition in mandamus against the state board of equalization of railroads, compelling it to reassess the railroad property of the state at a valuation based upon the market value of its securities. The petition was filed immediately following the court's consent.

The petition, in effect, asks the court to construe the statute to mean that the board of railway equalization has the power to increase the valuation of railroads for the purpose of taxation over and above the grand total as fixed by the act of 1898.

Attorney General Sheets will file a demurrer to Major Johnson's petition, and this will bring the case to a hearing on its merits. The case will be heard, or submitted on briefs, in time to be disposed of before the holiday recess.
