

LOSS TO MUSICIANS

BURNING OF PEOPLE'S CHURCH DEPRIVES CITY OF ITS BEST AUDITORIUM

AS TO STAGE DECORATIONS

Those at the Lehmann Concert Were Glorious and Well-Arranged—Coming Musical Events in St. Paul.

The burning of the people's church—an event disastrous in itself—has seriously embarrassed two musical organizations and at least two local impresarios. The Schubert club has contracted for bringing Mrs. Schumann-Hahn, the contralto, here in April and her recital was to be given in the People's church. Those grand opera prima donnas are always expensive importations and it was the hope of Schubert club members that the church could be filled. The auditorium of the Central Methodist church is large, but after the members of the club select the seats they are entitled to because of their membership tickets, it is doubtful if enough good seats remain to make the Schubert club financially the gainer from Mrs. Schumann-Hahn's visit. But it is the St. Paul Choral club that will be the greatest sufferer from the fire. Two more concerts are to be given by the club, one Feb. 11 and the other early in the spring. The stage of the People's church was admirably adapted for the grouping of the chorus of 50 voices. That stage was suitably separated from the auditorium to take away that embarrassing effect of closeness to the audience which always interferes with the good work of a chorus, but it was so situated that the voices easily carried to every part of the big auditorium. The Choral club has arranged to give its next concert in the Central Presbyterian church and it remains to be seen how successfully it will be able to manage with the comparatively small space left for stage enlargement. If from the ashes of the People's church there springs the phoenix of a conveniently situated, large, well lighted and well arranged auditorium, music lovers will have more cause to rejoice than any other class of people in St. Paul, for they are the greatest sufferers from the fire aside from those most directly concerned in the financial loss.

Had the big pile on Pleasant avenue which burned last week, arranged of its own accord to make a dramatic exit it would be difficult to imagine a more fitting climax to its long and honorable career. It not only financially satisfied the career than the brilliant concert given last Monday night by Mrs. L. Lehmann. Personally, Mrs. Lehmann was a delight to the eye. An audience accustomed to the funny little mannerisms, the inarticulate restlessness of lesser stars must have found the prima donna's brilliant voice most refreshing. Of the singer's art too much in praise cannot be said. That art made one forget that for considerably more than a quarter of a century her voice has filled concert halls and opera houses with its melody. Mrs. Lehmann is an inspiration to every woman, musical or otherwise, who desires advancing years to be a development, not a decline.

Distinctly well groomed and very modern in her attire, the singer betrayed the German "hausfrau" in one respect. However, this was not very noticeable. In fact, it was only observable when the prima donna raised her gown a trifle as she walked off the stage. She wore the coolest lace that is the pet hobby of all the women of her land, and over these were not the high-heeled, pointed toe slipper beloved of all American women. Mrs. Lehmann was a white slipper that has no beauty curves. Mrs. Lehmann's good health proves her good sense. It will doubtless always be a question, whether it is better, however, whether it is better to be clumsily shod with a good complexion or daintily shod with a sawtooth skin.

Everybody is wondering about the cab-

For the Children

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable remedy for every form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should take Stuart's Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit therefrom.

Mrs. G. H. Crosley, 538 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for old folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say tablets and she drops everything else and runs for them."

A Buffalo mother, a short time ago, who despaired of the life of her babe, was so delighted with the results from giving the child these tablets that she went before the notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:

Children—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended to me for my two-month-old baby, which was sick and puny, and the doctors said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital, but they found no relief. My friend mentioned the Stuart Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sized lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of April, 1897.

Notary Public in and for Erie Co., N. Y.

For babies, no matter how young or delicate, the tablets will accomplish wonders in increasing flesh, appetite and growth. Use only the large sized tablets in every box, unless you are sick and are by all druggists for 50 cents, and no parent should neglect the use of this safe remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles if the child is ill in any way regarding its food or assimilation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been known for years as the best preparation for all stomach troubles, whether in adults or infants.

met—or was it a toilet table—that decorated the stage of the People's church the night of the Lehmann recital. Pretty enough in itself, there really seemed no good reason why the cabinet, if it was a cabinet, should have had a place on the stage that night. Perhaps it was meant as a decorative feature. But, pray, what decorative feature, beyond a few palms, is necessary when a great artist sings? These were not the chairs selected prominently about the stage. Decorative features also, doubtless, or at least intended as such. The good taste of such an arrangement is questionable, and the audience must have felt somewhat relieved last Monday night when a man appeared and removed part of the furniture in order that the prima donna might make company of his secretary to whom an article useful before you put it in your home," says Morris concerning house furnishings. Why shouldn't that rule be applied to stage decorations?

JAN KUBELIK'S RELATIONS.

His Mother's Consent to His American Trip Was Hard to Obtain.

Young Jan Kubelik, the violinist who is to be heard here for the first time during the coming season, is like some other famous musicians, the son of a peasant. He is not the only member of the present generation to go against the traditions of the family and become a musician. One of his brothers is a professor at the Prague Conservatory of Music and another brother is the most promising of the students there now.

After he went under the management of the choral club, the young virtuoso saw little of his own people and was generally with the family of his manager. He is devoted to his manager, whose father he is devoted to. So his return to Prague last summer after his second season in London, his father, who was a market gardener near Prague, died two years before the young man's departure. The father was a comparatively young man and his death was attributed to years of overwork. He was a devoted musician and met the expenses of the musical education he was giving his two sons. He did not know the results of his labor and self-sacrifice, but the gratitude of his children was shown by the way in which the violinist spent the first few days of his vacation in Prague. It was twenty guineas, or $2. Of that amount he kept $2 and spent the rest for the funeral of his father. The father's grave, the elder Kubelik was of gypsy origin and taught himself to play on a violin nearly every instrument in the orchestra.

The greatest opposition to Jan's American tour came from his mother who thought that the journey was too great for one so young to undertake. But she was overruled by the consent of the conveniences of travel in this country were explained to her. After she had read the account of the journey, she seemed settled, doubts came into her mind and she thought again of the danger of the journey. She was willing to let him if she was allowed to travel to America with him and watch over him. It took some time to convince her that it was not really necessary for her to go with him, but she at last consented for the second time to her son's journey. In accordance with his mother's ideas about the trip to America and told his manager that he would come here only on condition that she should give her consent. His mother speaks nothing but Bohemian.

Other members of the family besides his mother were interested in his trip to America, as the visit of his grandfather showed. One day an old man appeared at the hotel in Prague carrying in his hand a bundle containing some food and sweet butter. It was the ninety-year-old grandfather who had walked from the city to his farm. He had heard that his famous grandson was going to America and he had brought him something for the journey. MUSICAL NOTES.

As originally planned the St. Paul Choral club will give its next concert Tuesday evening, Feb. 11, in the Central Presbyterian church. The seating arrangement has been carefully laid out and it is expected that the club's patrons will in no way suffer because of the credit disaster to the People's church. Let it be due Mr. Helne for prompt action.

The soloist of the February concert, Miss Sara Anderson, has had a most remarkable career for one so young. She was born in New York in 1877, and is a daughter of Sara Baron Anderson, the well known and esteemed contralto. Miss Anderson, at the age of fifteen, commenced her training for her professional career under the guidance of Oscar Saenger, and at the age of seventeen was studying under the renowned French master of singing, Jacques Boulay. T. E. Krehbiel said of her debut, when twenty-one, at the Worcester festival, that the talk upon that occasion was chiefly about her. Under similar circumstances a century ago she would have been the boast of the town. During the last three years she has made rapid strides, and is now recognized as the foremost of American concert sopranos. Her repertoire on the present occasion will be groups of songs in which the musical public will be enabled to judge of the growth and maturity of her talent. In addition to a dramatic ability both instructive and cultivated.

She will also sing with the chorus. It is, after all, the work of the chorus that is the most important in the concert at this concert in three important works, forming one with the other strong contrasts in coloring and text.

Miss Harriet Hale will give a recital tomorrow evening in the rooms of the Professional League. A dozen of her younger and more advanced pupils will take part in the recital. It will be given in a month, and early in the spring Miss Hale intends to introduce her advanced pupils at a large recital.

Associate members of the St. Paul Choral association can get their seats for the next concert Tuesday morning at Dyer's. The general sale will open Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McWilliams have moved to Chicago. Mr. McWilliams has been for several years basso of the quartette choir of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Norman Nash McFerran is planning to give a recital for her younger pupils in the near future.

The Arion Singing society will give an entertainment, followed by a social dance, at Pfeiffer's hall, corner Eighth and Washburn streets, next Wednesday evening, Feb. 5.

The entertainment will consist of a few choruses and solos produced at their concert New Year's evening at Mozart hall. This is in compliance with the request of a large number of the past members and friends of the society who could not attend that concert, and who desire a reproduction so that they may have an opportunity of hearing the same.

Part of the oratorio, "The Creation," will be given this evening at the Church of St. John the Evangelist. Miss Genevieve Church Smith and Mrs. Inez von Encke will be the sopranos. Mrs. Yale is the contralto; B. Forster, tenor, and H. E. Phillips, bass. The first part of "The Creation," beginning with the bass recitative, "In the Beginning God Created the Heavens and the Earth" and ending with the tenor recitative, "And God Said 'Let There Be Light,'" will be sung.

PROGRAMMES.

Miss Anna Hahn, the young soprano who sings Tuesday evening at the Park concert, has selected music that, according to musical critics who have heard her, she will give them a brilliant performance. Miss Hahn will be assisted by Arthur Berg, violinist, and Miss Minnie Bergh, pianist. The work of both these young artists is too well known to need to be mentioned in comment. The following is the programme: Mr. Arthur Berg, Grieg Sonata, Opus 13. Lento, allegro vivace, allegretto tranquillo, allegro moderato. Miss Anna Hahn, Aria—"Dich theure Halle," from Wagner's "Tannhauser." Barcarolle, Opus 10, No. 5, by Chopin. Serenade, Opus 10, No. 3, by Chopin. Adagio pathetico, Opus 10, No. 2, by Chopin. Romance from "Mignon," Opus 10, No. 4, by Chopin. "Und wieder blühet der Lindenbaum," Opus 10, No. 1, by Chopin. "Schubmarchen," Opus 10, No. 6, by Chopin. Berceuse, Opus 10, No. 5, by Chopin. Hungarian Dance, Opus 10, No. 1, by Chopin. Aria from "Joanna d'Arco," Opus 10, No. 3, by Chopin. Miss Minnie Bergh, Accompanist.

THE BOARD OF PARDONS WERE HERE

ONLY TWO APPLICANTS GOT COMFORT FROM THE BOARD OF PARDONS

YOUNGER CASE UNSETTLED

Walter Warren, Convicted of Murder, Gets Full Pardon—Ex-Mayor Doran Pleads for Old Soldier.

The board of pardons at its meeting yesterday did not hand out very many pardons, and after seven hours of deliberating only two of the twenty-five applicants brought any comfort coming as the result of the board's action.

It did not take the board long to act on the case of Walter C. Warren, of Lincoln county, serving a seven-year sentence in the penitentiary for manslaughter. Warren was convicted of killing a farm hand in his employ, Charles E. Wilson, Judge Weber, the trial judge, strongly urged a full pardon on the grounds that there was strong doubt as to Warren's guilt. The board took that view of it and issued an unconditional pardon to Warren. This action will be very pleasing to the people of Lincoln county, who have put forth every effort for his pardon. Warren is said to be a good man and very popular, and public sentiment has been with him throughout his trying ordeal.

Michael Kabe, sentenced from Crow Wing county to state prison for seven years for assault in first degree, received a commutation to three and one-half years. The trial judge and county attorney recommended his plea for commutation.

The board did not act finally on the case of the Younger boys, taking it under advisement in order that the members might permit the immediate transfer of letters and arguments received in behalf of the boys. Both Cole and James Younger were present at the capitol conferring with Senator Wilson and other friends who were present in their behalf. It is generally believed that the chances are favorable for the pardon being granted. Gov. Van Sant and Attorney General Pillsbury are also in favor of the full pardon, and it is believed that Chief Justice Start will agree to it also. No opposition to speak of has developed.

The board also took under advisement the case of Fred Briggs, the Minneapolis serving a workhouse sentence for operating gambling machines.

William J. Cullen, the late biographer of Andrew Tappan, the Chaska murderer, and he will pay the death penalty on Feb. 18, the date set by the governor for his execution. Mrs. Cullen, wife of W. J. Cullen, the late biographer, was sentenced from St. Louis county, asked for his pardon, but the board refused to grant it because the county attorney had not recommended the pardon. Application of Ed Manning, serving three months in the St. Paul workhouse for disorderly conduct, was also denied.

The board postponed action on the case of Charles J. O'Brien, the late biographer of the trio sentenced to Stillwater from St. Paul last November for working the three-card monte trick out of two strangers. Former Mayor W. E. Doran appeared before the board in McCoy's behalf, presenting a petition signed by old soldiers. His daughter appeared also and said that her father was an honest and upright man, and she begged the name of Cartney to avoid the disgrace of a trial, and that he was at the present time almost blind.

Several other minor applications were taken under advisement.

NEWS OF THE LODGE ROOMS.

The committee on revision of rates, which was appointed under the instruction of the 1901 head camp, has made its report to the board of directors of the Modern Woodmen of the World. The proposed is a most radical departure from the previous system in vogue by the order. Hailed down, the plan proposed is not more nor less than the step-by-step system.

While it is not doubted that some plan looking towards stability of insurance should be adopted, it is not likely that the proposed plan will be adopted. The committee, instructed to vote for the adoption of the plan submitted, especially as under the proposed plan the burden of the dues will fall upon the younger members longest in the order. In view of the fact that of last year's death losses the average duration of membership was 12.5 years, it is not likely that the plan will be produced during the next two years.

Modern Woodmen.

The degree team of North Star camp gave a fine performance at the hall last Friday. It was well attended. Capt. Charles Rock was in charge. The members of the camp No. 2800 gave a masquerade ball at their hall, corner East Seventh and Rensselaer streets, last Wednesday night. The usual large crowd was present.

Court of Honor.

Harmony Court No. 1068 will hold an important meeting next Thursday evening at Central hall. All members are urged to be present. A card party for the benefit of a member who was burned out will be given on the evening of Feb. 26.

Zodiac.

The regular stated festival (business meeting) of Ninewa Zodiac is called for Monday evening, Feb. 11. It will be held in the probate court room.

Royal Neighbors.

Deputy Supreme Oracle Magale Cushing has just organized a new camp of Royal Neighbors at Farmington with thirty-five members. The camp is a great achievement, as there are but thirty Woodmen in the town.

Woodmen Circle.

The Woodmen circle will meet Monday evening, Feb. 3, at Odd Fellows' hall.

Macabees.

The degree team of Unity tent and about fifty members of the tent will go to Minneapolis to give a concert. They will confer the work on a class of 100 candidates for McKinley tents. This will be the first class of candidates to be initiated in Minnesota. Cars will leave the Ryan tent at 7 p. m. The next regular meeting of the tent will be on Monday evening, Feb. 4, when a class of candidates will receive the degree.

Odd Fellows.

Capital City Lodge No. 12 will have one of its 12 o'clock card parties on Monday evening, Feb. 6, at the Youngest tent in the city, but is by no means the smallest. They are hustlers and propose to catch up members with the Seven Chances tent which gave a card party in their quarters at C. S. P. 8, last West Seventh street, on Feb. 27. Handsome prizes are offered the winners.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Tells How He Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters by Using Pe-ru-na.

Mr Brock's Age is 114 Years.

MR. ISAAC BROCK, BORN IN BUNCOPTBE CO., N. C., MARCH 1, 1788. His age is 114 years, vouched for by authentic record. He says: 'I attribute my extreme old age to the use of Pe-ru-na.'

Born before United States was formed. Saw 22 Presidents elected. Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes. Shod a horse when 99 years old. Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na. Witness in a land suit at age of 110 years. Relieves Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal diseases.

SAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 114 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas. A short time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his membership, and invitations are therefore restricted to one couple for each member. The St. Paul lodges will hold one of the circle of joint meetings at Post Street on Feb. 6. Canton Apollo will make a fraternal visit to Canton Minnesota, of Minnesota, on next Monday evening. Rebekahs had a well attended card party for the benefit of the Odd Fellows' home on Friday evening.

Sons of Veterans.

St. Paul Camp No. 1, Sons of Veterans, had a successful smoke last Monday. The attendance was larger than ever. It has been a most successful evening, was pleasantly passed with happy remarks from members of the camp and grand army visitors. On Feb. 18, the camp will probably observe Lincoln's birthday, which is a national holiday for the order, known as Union Defenders' day. The event takes place at Garfield Post hall, and all members of the Grand Army of the Republic and all allied organizations are welcome to attend, and, in fact, are urged to be present. The programme will be a good one.

Church Notes.

Sunday will be observed as the "Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin," commonly called "Candlemas Day." The holy eucharist will be offered in all the Episcopal churches, commemorating the feast.

At the evening of St. Peter's Day.

Fournier Exhibit This Week.

Alexis Fournier, a former resident of St. Paul, who has won distinction in Paris as a painter of landscapes, will bring his collection of St. Paul, this week. A place has not yet been secured for the exhibit, but it will be announced early in the week. The exhibit will open with a reception and private view Friday evening and will continue for a week or ten days. Concerning the artist's work, Zangwill recently wrote from Paris to a friend in this country: "I saw the salon today. Tell Fournier that I think his picture is a veritable dream. The picture referred to was one exhibited by the artist at the last salon. Mrs. G. R. Metcalf, of the Monday Art and History class; Miss Laura Williams, supervisor of drawing in the public schools; and Miss Chislett, instructor in art at the Mechanic Arts high school, are actively interested in bringing Mr. Fournier's pictures to St. Paul.

BOERS SCORE VILONEL

Leaders Call Him Benedict Arnold of South Africa.

Special to The Globe.

Berlin, Feb. 1.—Gen. Vilonel, a former Free State leader, who has been authorized by Lord Kitchener to raise a corps of 1,500 burghers, in addition to those who have already taken service with the British against their former comrades, is hotly denounced by the Boer leaders in Germany, who call him the "Benedict Arnold" of South Africa.

It is further stated that Vilonel's title of "general" was assumed by him, and that he possesses no real military rank. In the period before the war Vilonel is said to have been known as "general attorney" of South Africa, and to have been in partnership with a man called "Kitchener." The Boers allege that the new commandant was later detected in an attempt to negotiate the surrender of the Winburg commando, and imprisoned by Secretary Reitz on a charge of treason.

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable remedy for every form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little
