MR. FORAKER, FOXYPOLICER

PROPOSED INCREASE OF JUDGES' SALARIES CREATES A ROW IN SENATE

TILLMAN'S PERTINENT QUERY As to Porto Rico Being in or Belonging to the United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—In the senate today, at the conclusion of routine business, consideration of the bill to increase the salaries of judges of the United States courts was resumed. The proposed amendment was that offered by Mr. Stewart increasing the salaries of senators and members of the house of representatives to $7,500 per year beginning March 4, 1903. After brief discussion the amendment was rejected, 15 to 44.

An amendment was then offered by Mr. Foraker extending the proposed increase of salaries of circuit judges to the circuit judge of Porto Rico.

Mr. Clark (Wyo.) moved to amend the amendment to increase the salary of the circuit judge of Hawaii.

Foraker Answers Foxily.

Mr. Tillman inquired of Mr. Foraker whether Porto Rico was in the United States or not.

"I will say to the senator," replied Mr. Foraker, "that Porto Rico belongs to the United States."

"The matter of 'belonging to' and being 'in' is entirely different," suggested Mr. Tillman.

Mr. Foraker thought this was not a proper time to discuss the status of Porto Rico.

"Oh, there is plenty of time," said Mr. Tillman. "We've got the whole session before us. We might as well discuss the question now as at any other time."

Mr. Foraker said he would content himself now with saying simply that Porto Rico belonged to the United States.

"The relation of the island to the United States," said he, "was established by congress and approved by the United States supreme court."

Mr. Teller urged that if the salaries of the judges in Porto Rico and Hawaii were to be increased those of the judges in the territories also should be increased.

Considerable opposition was developed to the amendment and Mr. Foraker withdrew it rather than to quarrel with the bill.

Mr. Clark (Wyo.) insisted upon his amendment and re-offered it at once.

The amendment was laid on the table without discussion.

Tillman Attacks Noyes.

Taking advantage of the latitude of debate offered by the senate rules, Mr. Tillman directed attention to an article in the Washington Post relative to the case of Judge Arthur H. Noyes, of the district court of Alaska, who was fined $1,000 recently by the circuit court at San Francisco, and of associates of Judge Noyes who were involved with him.

Mr. Noyes, who was indicted for reading the article, and his associates are drawing large salaries from the United States, while the case against them is pending in the courts.

According to the article, who is serving his sentence, continues to draw salary. Mr. Tillman, directing all his sarcasm, ridiculed at the expense of Judge Noyes, finally inquired: "By the way whose business is it to remove this man?"

Mr. Foraker (Ohio) believed it might injure incoming proceedings to remove Judge Noyes, but Mr. Tillman contended that the president had ample power to remove a territorial judge. He believed there was no question about that. He declared that he had no objection to Noyes had been a "crying shame" and asserted that a "recital of his outrages would startle the American people."

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Expectations of an immediate match between Jim Jeffries and Bob Fitzsimmons were shattered today, when Jeffries and Jim Kennedy, acting for the Xanthos Athletic club, of San Francisco, talked matters over in a newspaper conference.

Jeffries promptly refused to make a match on the terms already accepted by Fitzsimmons, and the most influential promoter for the present, Kennedy's offer, was rejected.

Fitzsimmons agreed to was an equal division of the gross receipts and the club, each to take one-third. Jeffries' future actions regarding a match with Fitzsimmons will be largely guided by what Delaney may suggest.

THE CAUCUSED

REPUBLICAN HOUSE MEMBERS FAIL TO AGREE ON CRUM-PACKER BILL

SENATIONAL TERMINATION OF THE TANKIE MURDER TRIAL

SOUTHERNERS A BIT BALKY

Congressman Morris, of Minnesota, Supports Hoosier Statesman's Proposition, but Action is Deferred.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Republican members of the house of representatives held a caucus in the house tonight to consider a line of policy to be adopted concerning the alleged disfranchisement of voters in the South. The caucus lasted from 8 o'clock to shortly after 11 o'clock, when it was determined to adjourn for one week to consider more fully the different propositions brought forward.

The main discussion of the meeting turned on a resolution offered by Representative Crumpacker, of Indiana, providing for the appointment of a special committee of the house to investigate questions of disfranchisement and to report remedies to the house. This brought out several other resolutions, including one from Southern Republicans, who favored a strong federal election law, including one from Representative Barthold (Mo.) on these lines: "The Republican members were in attendance, out of a full membership of 200. Speaker Henderson, Representative Payne (N. Y.), the Republican floor leader, and the leaders of the house, including about half of the Southern Republicans, were present. The gathering was not as numerous as these figures indicate, however, and this was one of the main reasons for adjourning until next week. Representative Cannon (Ill.) occupied the chair, with Representative Loudenslager (N. J.) as secretary."

Crumpacker's Resolution.

At the outset Mr. Crumpacker presented his resolution, as follows: Resolved, That it is the sense of this caucus that the committee of rules refer to the resolution proposed by those now pending in said committee, providing in substance that a select committee be appointed by the speaker, to consist of one member from each of the states, and who shall have the duty of investigating and reporting to the house the power and authority to investigate and inquire, whether the right to vote of any of the male inhabitants of any of the states, territory or possessions of the United States, is denied or abridged by the constitution and laws of any state, except for crime; and if it is found to be denied or abridged, the committee shall have the right, and it shall be its duty to report at any time, by bill or otherwise, such measure or measures as may be deemed necessary to place the representation of such states in the house of representatives upon a constitutional basis.

The speaker supported his resolution in a vigorous speech, urging the need of an investigation fully authenticating the facts as a preliminary to decisive action by congress.

Morris Backs the Hoosier.

He was followed by Representatives Taylor, of Ohio; Dayton, of West Virginia; Moody, of Massachusetts; Olmstead, of Pennsylvania; Morris, of Minnesota; and Shattuck, of Ohio, all in favor of the proposed investigation. This developed, however, that the Southern Republicans were more favorable to a strong election law than to any resolution which contemplated a reduction of membership from the Southern states.

Mr. Cannon was for postponing action, at least for the present, and the tenor of his remarks was not favorable to any of the plans proposed. Representative Parker, of New Jersey, also opposed action, and Representative Reeves, of Illinois, was for postponement.

Late in the evening Mr. Payne, the floor leader, made a brief speech, adding his views in favor of deferring action until the question could be examined with more care. At this time the adjournment of the caucus was clearly favorable for postponing the subject for another week, and accordingly a motion prevailed to adjourn the caucus until next Monday night.

THE HONDO DISASTER

WAS HORRIFYING TO AN EXTREME DEGREE.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Feb. 3.—Eighty-four bodies and sixteen men, barely alive, some of them horribly mangled, have been taken from the Hondo mines. Search for the bodies has stopped on account of the steady but uncertain account of the stench and the fact that arrived this afternoon and work will be resumed. The shaft had 118 men enrolled, and eighteen are still missing. Twenty-five bodies were taken from the shaft. The damage to property is very great.

The scene of the opening of the mine was horrible. Wives, mothers and children of the dead and mangled men were weeping and crying and refused to retire.

KALISPELL, Mont., Feb. 3.—The people of Western Flathead country are signing a petition against the location of the new Kootenai forest reserve, proposed by Commissioner Hermann. The land all lies in the west end of the county, and it is claimed should all the land incorporated in the recent order of withdrawal be finally segregated and withdrawn from settlement, it will work a hardship upon many actual settlers, who are living upon unreserved land.

The Kootenai forest reserve as proposed will embrace over 1,250,000 acres of timber lands in the states of Montana and Idaho.

JUROR GOES INSANE

Sudden Insanity of a Juror, Adds Another Horror to St. Peter Case—New Trial in Sibley County.

Special to The Globe. ST. PETER, Feb. 3.—The trial of the Tankie murder case came to an abrupt and sensational end this morning. A member of the jury became insane during the progress of the trial, making its continuation an impossibility.

At the opening of court this afternoon the prosecution moved that the case be discharged. When the order for discharge was granted the defense moved for a change of venue on the ground that it will be impossible to secure an impartial jury for a new trial of the case in Sibley county.

At 4 o'clock Judge Davis granted the motion for a change of venue despite a lengthy argument presented by County Attorney Davis. The prosecution was more successful in its objection to BLUE Earth county as requested by the defense, and the court transferred the case to Sibley county.

New Koyukuk District Is Reported Fabulously Rich—Pay Streak Twenty-Eight Miles Long—A $900 Nugget.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 3.—Advises from Rampart give wonderful accounts of the new Koyukuk district, of which Bettles City is a commerce center.

The four creeks in the district have attracted great prominence from their rich returns. They are Lane, Olsen, Hoglund and Glen. Of the four Lane is the most noteworthy. A miner picked out a nugget worth $90, and other pans average from $1 to $70.

Baker flat, on which these creeks are located, it is asserted, will prove as rich as the Klondike, and the pay streak in Glen Creek, burned this morning, is about twenty-eight miles below Eureka.

Mails from Nome, St. Michaels, Council City, Rampart, and other points in Northern Alaska, were brought down by the steamship Dirigo, which arrived yesterday. Scoury is prevailing in and about Nome to an alarming degree. A great lack of all kinds of fresh vegetables was apparent. The poor of Nome are proving a heavy tax on the charity of the camp. Destitution is general. There have been no advice from the outside since navigation closed.

The winter has been mild and an early break is looked for.

GEN. MILES THROWN OUT.

MILITARY GOVERNOR OF ISLAND IS URGENT

Says Cuba's Two Great Industries, Sugar and Tobacco, Are in a Most Critical Condition at Present.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A circular letter has been received by members of the senate from Gen. Wood, military governor of Cuba, which is a most earnest appeal for prompt and efficient relief is given. With the ruin of her two principal industries we must give up all hopes of a stable government, unless Cuba can sell her products at a reasonable profit. It is evident that their cultivation must cease, bringing idleness and hunger to her people.

Relief Needed at Once.

"These great industries are now in a most critical condition, especially sugar, which is being sold at a price less than the cost of production. The planter must grind his cane, even at a moderate loss, for his entire fortune is in the fields and must be swept away by fire or other disaster resulting from the effects of the elements."

After giving figures concerning the cost of production, etc., Gen. Wood says that a reduction of 25 per cent will give an average profit of 35 cents on each 300 pounds of sugar produced and that such reduction should be the minimum. "Each day in giving relief is dangerous. When once the crash comes relief will be of little value except to the few who are able to get out of the wreckage here; the vast majority who have virtually reconstructed it in three years, will be ruined, and we shall have to step in and reoccupy the country."

"And does the senator charge," demanded Mr. Beveridge, "that Gen. Bell does not believe he is engaged in an honest war?"

"I know that there are plenty of officers here who feel they are doing dirty work," shouted Mr. Tillman, "and they have told me they are ashamed of it."

Mr. Beveridge—"It is hopeless. When they begin to discuss the constitution and take their duty on that, they come to censorship. When we say that none exists, then they go to war, bloodshed, pillage and murder."

Again They Clash.

After some sharp personal colloquy in which the Indiana and South Carolina senators ridiculed each other, Mr. Beveridge proceeded to relate an incident of his burning of a village, and said: "The wreckage here; the vast majority who have virtually reconstructed it in three years, will be ruined, and we shall have to step in and reoccupy the country."

"And does the senator charge," demanded Mr. Beveridge, "that Gen. Bell does not believe he is engaged in an honest war?"

"I know that there are plenty of officers here who feel they are doing dirty work," shouted Mr. Tillman, "and they have told me they are ashamed of it."
