

MARRIED 50 YEARS

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK WARWICK CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

MANY FRIENDS CALL ON THEM

In the Evening Aged Couple Entertain Members of Their Family Living in and Near St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Warwick celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday at their home, 722 Simpson avenue, Hamline. A reception was held in the afternoon, about twenty-five of their friends calling to tender congratulations.

clery of the House of Hope Presbyterian Church will meet this afternoon in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. R. T. Eldridge, of College avenue, will entertain the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Christian Church Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ernest Mabon, of Aurora street, will entertain the Missionary Society of Plymouth Congregational Church this afternoon.

St. Paul chapter, D. A. R., will hold a social meeting this evening in the parlors of the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church.

Mannheimer Bros. Benefit association will give its annual entertainment and dancing party tonight at Cambridge hall.

Mrs. C. E. Dodge, of Holly avenue, will entertain the Lincoln club this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Avery, of Ashland avenue, will entertain the Octavia club this afternoon.

Ether Lodge No. 20, D. O. H., will give a card party and raffie this evening at Central hall.

Mrs. Funk, of Marshall avenue, will entertain the Woman's Home Missionary

SOME GOOD TALENT

PROGRAMME AT PARK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH WAS MERITORIOUS

TALENTED YOUNG PIANISTE

Miss Parnell's Playing Displayed Exceptional Ability—Proceeds for Memorial Evangelical Lutheran Church.

A number of St. Paul's musical folk presented an excellent programme last evening in the auditorium of the Park Congregational church. The church was comfortably filled and a discriminating audience found much to applaud in the admirable selection offered them.

One of the newest wall papers is called the "grotesque" and shows sprays of richly tinted wallflowers against a background of moire stripes.

TO OPEN NEW QUARTERS.

In place of the regular meeting of the Woman's Civic League, Friday, the league members will give a large studio tea in their new rooms on the tenth floor of the new building.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. F. H. Hunter, the guest of Mrs. J. P. Bassett, of Arundel street, has returned to Red Oak, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Blackett, of the Marlowe, will leave this week for a month's visit at West Baden Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Penbody, of East Congress street, will entertain the Magazine club Thursday evening.

The Octavia club will be entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William Avery, of Ashland avenue.

Mrs. William Clark, of Omaha, and Mrs. Thomas Post Bowen, of Toronto, will come to St. Paul to attend the Lyons-Strait wedding Thursday.

Mrs. Eliza Evans, of the Buckingham, has gone to Gladstone, Mont., to visit her sister, Mrs. Fitzgerald. Miss Evans will visit California and the South before returning to St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Keefe, of Pleasant avenue, have returned from Chicago. Mr. Keefe is on his way to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eddy have returned from their wedding trip and are at home at 598 Laurel avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White have returned from their wedding trip, and are at home at 598 Laurel avenue.

Mrs. Henry A. Boardman, Dayton avenue, left last evening for the East. She will spend some time at her old home in Massachusetts, and also visit New York, being away about a month.

J. M. Hawthorne has gone to New York.

Mrs. C. Treat Spear, of the Marlborough, who has been visiting her parents in Chicago, has returned.

J. W. Sanderson and family have moved to 624 Ashland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keefe, Pleasant avenue, have returned from Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Phillips, Laurel avenue, have removed to Macalester. C. H. Ward and family have changed their residence to 809 Iglehart street.

Miss Craig, Dayton avenue, has gone to Nashville for two months. Mrs. Murray and Miss Catherine Murray, of Burlington, Iowa, are guests of Mrs. Purcell, the guest of Mrs. Hustin, of the Ashland, have returned to Omaha.

at the association rooms on Jackson street. Mrs. F. P. Wright was appointed visitor for the month. Miss Bertha Robbins was elected to fill the place of Mrs. George Lyman, who resigned from the board. The secretary reported that during the month there had been an attendance of 19, at the rooms.

League Will Celebrate Birthday.

The Luther League of the English Memorial Lutheran church will celebrate its seventeenth anniversary at the church Tuesday evening, Feb. 18. An interesting programme is being arranged.

Miss Hahn Arrives.

Miss Hahn, the young soprano who appears in recital tonight at the Park Congregational church will arrive in St. Paul this morning. Miss Hahn, before her departure for Germany to study music, attended the graded schools and the high school in St. Paul.

MENU FOR WEDNESDAY.

- Breakfast: Cream of Wheat, Sugar and Cream. Broiled Kidneys. Hashed Potatoes. Farina Muffins. Coffee. Lunch: Corn Chowder. Pim Oats. Stewed Prunes. Cookies. Tea. Dinner: Celery Soup. Beef Croquettes. Mashed Potatoes. Stewed Turnips. Chichey. French Dressing. Wafers. Fruit Roll. Soft Sauce. Coffee.

NEW WRINKLE IN WALL PAPER.

One of the newest wall papers is called the "grotesque" and shows sprays of richly tinted wallflowers against a background of moire stripes.

Another odd paper shows conventionalized palm leaves of ceru and green against a background of maroon, and geraniums in deep reds on an orange ground are new and pretty.

A cream-white moire paper is striped with blue—a clear, vivid turquoise shade—and between the stripes are scattered light colored flowers.

Charmingly gay papers for bijou bouidors are of blue, powdered with pink flowers, or pink powdered with blue flowers.

A new nursery paper is a Watteau version of the Kate Greenaway papers so much used a few years ago. It is in clear, light colors rather "flat" in effect, like those painting-book pictures which children dote on.

There is altogether too little of the quality to be found among St. Paul singers, among the women, especially. Mrs. Park's voice possesses a plaintive cadence that makes it decidedly appealing.

CHIC NEW VEILS.

The shops are showing novel veiling in immense quantities, and I hardly know of a single department of dress where more striking innovations are to be found.

Black mullin crossed with wavy lacelle lines alternating with serpentine rows of white and black round dots, but wait until you see it before deciding that you will have none of it.

WAITING FOR HOWARD'S RELEASE.

Faithful Wife and Eight-Year-Old Son of Convicted Bigamist, Who Patiently Await the Expiration of His Sentence.

Copyright, 1902, by Daily Story Pub. Co. "And I love you, dear, but I was just imagining you among my friends back east. It seems so funny."

He colored under the heavy tan coating his handsome face and pulled his sombrero down more closely over his eyes.

"Am I, then, so different—such a wild man of Borneo—that you would hesitate to introduce me to your friends?"

"Yes, I would hesitate, for it would set all the girls flocking to the West in search of other wild men of Borneo, and there are no others—none half so dear as my wild man. Careful there, Vinco, careful, careful. Oh, see Guthrie, a rattle snake!"

The pony had shied to one side and trembled from head to foot.

Quick as a flash Guthrie Blacklock drew his revolver from his belt and shot the serpent dead. Then, hastily dismounting, he knelt among the stones and cactus, detached the string of rattles, ten in number, and handed them to the girl.

She received them calmly and fastened them in her belt. A few months ago she would have shuddered and screamed.

But she had learned much during her short stay at her brother's cattle ranch. Under Guthrie Blacklock's tutelage she had developed into a true daughter of the plains.

She stepped off the train after a long journey from the east, and few into her brother's arms, every gentleman and rancher standing around the station began nuzzling a secret hope in his own breast.

Such a bright, willowy figure, such a bright winking face, such merry blue eyes, and such a silvery, contagious laugh, all bound up in one young woman, could not be produced a sensation, especially where women were as rare as a cloud in the perpetual blue of the sky over head.

Every man in the country suddenly developed a desire to do business with Bob Lyman. They all had bunches of cattle to dispose of, but, strange to say, they could never come to terms. Each visit called for another.

Bob said to his

this side the water, will, no doubt, soon give recognition. Something the same effect is given by a complexion veil of white maline overlaid by a fine black mesh to some three or four inches from the edge, at which point it finishes, leaving the face and neck in shadow.

DELICIOUS PINEAPPLE SALAD.

Few people are aware that, owing to the cultivation of pineapples for medicine they may be found ripe, highly flavored and inexpensive, even during the winter months.

For these annual carnivals the Chicago Great Western Railway will, on Feb. 3-5, sell through excursion tickets to New Orleans or Mobile.

An Odd Gown.

An odd idea expressed in an afternoon gown of white silk is a skirt and blouse made of lines of pleated silk alternating with narrow panels of plain silk.

Those really pretty and useful enamel candlesticks in blue and other colors are only 10 cents now. They have been more than double that price.

Mardi Gras—New Orleans, La., and Mobile, Ala., Feb. 4-11, 1902.

For these annual carnivals the Chicago Great Western Railway will, on Feb. 3-5, sell through excursion tickets to New Orleans or Mobile.

There is no part of a big shop which is so fascinating to most women and to many men as the kitchenware department.

Here is something new in the way of a match scratcher. If you look at it you are sure it is a grater of some kind, but it is not. It is of tin and has a raised wire front and is about the size and shape of the ordinary nutmeg grater.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

There is no part of a big shop which is so fascinating to most women and to many men as the kitchenware department.

Little wooden napkin rings of an old-fashioned kind are 5 cents each. These are useful when one is staying at a country boarding house where napkins are not changed for each meal.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

Every other woman will call these for picks, and they look so strong and sensible that she will wish to buy one.

than an inch in diameter, and covered with large prongs. The other end is thin and narrow. They are most pounders, the squares end of the head is the pounder proper and the other is for breaking home. They are most pounders, the squares end of the head is the pounder proper and the other is for breaking home.

TO LADIES

DO YOU READ THE St. Paul Globe EVERY DAY? SPECIAL FASHION CUTS HINTS FOR THE HOME A Woman's Page That is Famous

Seventy-Five Per Cent Off. Getting Prices—Mr. Skimp—What would you charge to paint my portrait full front view? Answer—Three hundred dollars. Mr. Skimp—Dear me! Then what would you charge for a three-quarter view?—Boston Post.

Salary Too Irregular. "Don't you appreciate the opportunity of getting away from your rainy days?" asked Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "Do only trouble is that do job ain't stiddy enough."—Washington Star.

Just Have Irrigated Days. "In the southern part of California they very seldom have any rainy days," said the mamma. "Well, they don't have to save up much, do they, mamma?" said little Esau—Yonkers Statesman.

Got It Reversed. Grandfather's—Do all old people have rheumatism, grandpa? "No, rheumatism has all old people."—Indianapolis News.

Grandfather's—Do all old people have rheumatism, grandpa? "No, rheumatism has all old people."—Indianapolis News.

Grandfather's—Do all old people have rheumatism, grandpa? "No, rheumatism has all old people."—Indianapolis News.

Grandfather's—Do all old people have rheumatism, grandpa? "No, rheumatism has all old people."—Indianapolis News.

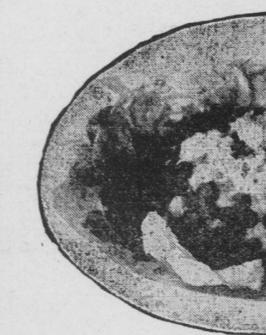

DRAWING PUZZLE.

Outline a pencil or ink and obliterate the lines not needed so as to leave in white outline a boy and an elephant.

Solution for yesterday's puzzle: The wives are formed by the rocks under the lighthouse. One is at the base, the other near the square stone to the left.

A WINTER SALAD.

The fitness of a crisp vegetable salad in a hot weather menu is easily recognized, but it isn't always as well remembered that a salad is just as essential in cold weather. It helps to counteract too much meat and highly seasoned food.

Lettuce is of better quality in the winter than in summer and lower in prices as a rule. Wash it, shake dry and lay in a bag of mosquito netting in the ice chest; it is not improved by soaking in cold water.

Beets and carrots need longer cooking in the winter; be sure that they are tender and cold for the salad. Boil potatoes in their jackets, peel and let stand several hours, otherwise they do not chop or cut smoothly. Chop the three vegetables and marinate each with a French dressing made with one-half teaspoon of onion juice to two tablespoons of vinegar and six of oil and the usual amount of salt and pepper.

Arrange the vegetables in distinct rows of each kind, a border of lettuce leaves; garnish with overlapping row of carrot and beet cut in fancy shapes and sprinkle chopped white of a boiled egg over the top.

—Alice E. Whitaker.

Of Social Interest.

Miss Agnes Peterson, of Holly avenue, will give a reception tomorrow night for Miss Julia von Braunschweig, of Alexandria. Mrs. W. G. McMurry and Miss Henrietta Glesman will assist the hostess in receiving the guests.

Mrs. George Bonney and Mrs. C. D. Andrews will give a euchre this evening at the home of the former on East Sixth street.

Miss Edith Morrow, of Ramsey street, will give a linen shower Friday evening for Miss Beattie Flick's whose marriage will take place next week.

Mrs. John Ryan, of Laurel avenue, gave a sleighride party Saturday evening for her daughter Miss Cleme Ryan. The guests were entertained at supper after the ride at the hostess' home.

Mrs. J. B. Brimhall, of Central terrace, will give an informal musicale Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Orrin Ripp, of Dayton avenue, will give a luncheon today in honor of Mrs. Emma S. Lyons, a bride of the week.

CLUBS AND CHARITIES.

The Interparochial missions club will hold its regular monthly meeting in Christ church guild house this afternoon.

The Young Men's League of the First Baptist Church met last night in the lecture room of the church.

Miss Harriet Merrill, of Dayton avenue, entertained the Young Woman's Missionary League of the First Baptist Church last night.

Mrs. W. H. Crary, of the Seville, entertained the Monday Shakespeare class yesterday afternoon.

Capitol Tent No. 57, Knights of the Macabees, held its annual ball last night at Bowley hall. T. T. Strauss, J. E. Lindberg and Joseph Nolan had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. R. T. Crigler will entertain the Ladies' Social Union of St. Paul's Universalist Church this afternoon.

W. T. Hunts, of North street, will entertain the Men's Club of St. Peter's Church this evening.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society

Advertisement for 'A Skin of Beauty' featuring a woman's face and text describing skin care products.

Society of the First M. E. Church this afternoon.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. F. H. Hunter, the guest of Mrs. J. P. Bassett, of Arundel street, has returned to Red Oak, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Blackett, of the Marlowe, will leave this week for a month's visit at West Baden Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Penbody, of East Congress street, will entertain the Magazine club Thursday evening.

The Octavia club will be entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William Avery, of Ashland avenue.

Mrs. William Clark, of Omaha, and Mrs. Thomas Post Bowen, of Toronto, will come to St. Paul to attend the Lyons-Strait wedding Thursday.

Mrs. Eliza Evans, of the Buckingham, has gone to Gladstone, Mont., to visit her sister, Mrs. Fitzgerald. Miss Evans will visit California and the South before returning to St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Keefe, of Pleasant avenue, have returned from Chicago. Mr. Keefe is on his way to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eddy have returned from their wedding trip and are at home at 598 Laurel avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White have returned from their wedding trip, and are at home at 598 Laurel avenue.

Mrs. Henry A. Boardman, Dayton avenue, left last evening for the East. She will spend some time at her old home in Massachusetts, and also visit New York, being away about a month.

J. M. Hawthorne has gone to New York.

Mrs. C. Treat Spear, of the Marlborough, who has been visiting her parents in Chicago, has returned.

J. W. Sanderson and family have moved to 624 Ashland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keefe, Pleasant avenue, have returned from Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Phillips, Laurel avenue, have removed to Macalester. C. H. Ward and family have changed their residence to 809 Iglehart street.

Miss Craig, Dayton avenue, has gone to Nashville for two months. Mrs. Murray and Miss Catherine Murray, of Burlington, Iowa, are guests of Mrs. Purcell, the guest of Mrs. Hustin, of the Ashland, have returned to Omaha.

Mrs. V. R. Langford has returned from Milwaukee.

Mrs. E. N. Saunders, Summit avenue, has returned from the East. She will spend some time at her old home in Massachusetts, and also visit New York, being away about a month.

Mrs. M. E. Stewart, Laurel avenue, has returned from Cannon Falls.

Board of Managers Met.

The February meeting of the board of managers of the Young Women's Friendly association was held yesterday

Ramsey County Nurses.

There was a small attendance at the February meeting of the Ramsey County Graduate Nurses association, held yesterday at the association rooms on Oakland avenue. Miss Wood presided.

The matter of district nursing was laid over until the next meeting of the association.

Waiting for Howard's Release.

Faithful Wife and Eight-Year-Old Son of Convicted Bigamist, Who Patiently Await the Expiration of His Sentence.

Copyright, 1902, by Daily Story Pub. Co. "And I love you, dear, but I was just imagining you among my friends back east. It seems so funny."

He colored under the heavy tan coating his handsome face and pulled his sombrero down more closely over his eyes.

"Am I, then, so different—such a wild man of Borneo—that you would hesitate to introduce me to your friends?"

"Yes, I would hesitate, for it would set all the girls flocking to the West in search of other wild men of Borneo, and there are no others—none half so dear as my wild man. Careful there, Vinco, careful, careful. Oh, see Guthrie, a rattle snake!"

The pony had shied to one side and trembled from head to foot.

Quick as a flash Guthrie Blacklock drew his revolver from his belt and shot the serpent dead. Then, hastily dismounting, he knelt among the stones and cactus, detached the string of rattles, ten in number, and handed them to the girl.

She received them calmly and fastened them in her belt. A few months ago she would have shuddered and screamed.

But she had learned much during her short stay at her brother's cattle ranch. Under Guthrie Blacklock's tutelage she had developed into a true daughter of the plains.

She stepped off the train after a long journey from the east, and few into her brother's arms, every gentleman and rancher standing around the station began nuzzling a secret hope in his own breast.

Mrs. Annie R. Kuylenstierna

Although George W. Howard fell in love with and married Miss Hawkes, of Brooklyn, whilst having a wife and son living at East Cambridge, Boston, wife No. 1 writes to him constantly in prison, and will welcome him back to lead a new life when the term he is serving at Sing Sing for his offense has expired.

The Globe's Daily Short Story

The Love of a Man of the Plains

By ANNE SHANNON MONROE.

Copyright, 1902, by Daily Story Pub. Co. "And I love you, dear, but I was just imagining you among my friends back east. It seems so funny."

He colored under the heavy tan coating his handsome face and pulled his sombrero down more closely over his eyes.

"Am I, then, so different—such a wild man of Borneo—that you would hesitate to introduce me to your friends?"

"Yes, I would hesitate, for it would set all the girls flocking to the West in search of other wild men of Borneo, and there are no others—none half so dear as my wild man. Careful there, Vinco, careful, careful. Oh, see Guthrie, a rattle snake!"

The pony had shied to one side and trembled from head to foot.

Quick as a flash Guthrie Blacklock drew his revolver from his belt and shot the serpent dead. Then, hastily dismounting, he knelt among the stones and cactus, detached the string of rattles, ten in number, and handed them to the girl.

She received them calmly and fastened them in her belt. A few months ago she would have shuddered and screamed.

But she had learned much during her short stay at her brother's cattle ranch. Under Guthrie Blacklock's tutelage she had developed into a true daughter of the plains.

She stepped off the train after a long journey from the east, and few into her brother's arms, every gentleman and rancher standing around the station began nuzzling a secret hope in his own breast.

Such a bright, willowy figure, such a bright winking face, such merry blue eyes, and such a silvery, contagious laugh, all bound up in one young woman, could not be produced a sensation, especially where women were as rare as a cloud in the perpetual blue of the sky over head.

Every man in the country suddenly developed a desire to do business with Bob Lyman. They all had bunches of cattle to dispose of, but, strange to say, they