INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE REPORTS TO COMMERCIAL CLUB ON AUDITORIUM PROJECT

TO WIDEN OUT IMMEDIATELY

Other Commercial Bodies Are Invited to Co-operate—No Let-Up Until Success Is Attained.

The investigation committee of the Commercial Club yesterday presented its report of the trip to Kansas City and Omaha in search of auditorium details to the Commercial Club auditorium committee. It was received and accepted.

After listening to the report the committee decided to widen out at once by asking the members of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Jobbers' union, the Manufacturers' association, and the members of the Commercial Club committee as individuals.

The committee will hold another meeting Tuesday afternoon, when it is expected that permanent organization will be perfected. It is the intention of the committee to allow only such to become members as will pledge themselves to stay by the auditorium project until it is entirely completed. Nothing short of death will be accepted as a resignation, and those who cannot give a guarantee of this character will be politely but firmly told to direct their energies in some other channel of civic usefulness.

The size, character and other details of the proposed auditorium will be taken up at the next meeting, and the preliminary steps decided upon. An estimate of the cost will be presented, so that the members can start out with some ideas as to what amount they will have to raise to make the project a success.

The work will be split up and sub-committees will be appointed to take charge of the various phases. It is likely that at this meeting there will be a call issued for a mass meeting of citizens who are interested in the project, and the best subscription list will be passed around at this time. While there has been no definite action taken as to the means of raising the funds it is the general opinion of the members of the committee that the issuance of shares of stock in the auditorium at $1 a share is a good plan, as it gives everyone an opportunity to contribute in a business like way.

The plan of giving entertainments, balls and other affairs of this character is also well thought of, and once the ball is started on its roll it is expected that auditorium events of all kinds will follow each other in rapid succession.

BOTH PLEAD NOT GUILTY

S. MASOR AND H. TURNER ARRIGNED IN POLICE COURT.

S. Masor, pawnbroker, 189 East Seventh street, and Harry Turner, were arraigned in the police court yesterday on the charges of having stolen property, preferred by Chester C. Norris, a Minneapolis jeweler, whose store was burglarized last Tuesday morning as stated in the Globe. Masor is alleged to have bought twenty-two watches from Carl Meising, who has been arrested charged with the crime of committing the burglary.

Both pleaded not guilty and waived the reading of the complaint. Their cases were continued until Feb. 21, and bail was fixed at $1,000 each.

HAS BLOOD POISONING

MRS. J. J. HALBACH IN DANGER OF LOSING A HAND.

Mrs. J. J. Halbach, living at 206 Ramsey street, is suffering from a severe case of blood poisoning in her right hand. It is feared that the doctors may have to amputate the hand and arm.

Mrs. Halbach was doing her housework Thursday morning when she scratched her little finger on the right hand with a barber's razor. She did not think it very serious until Thursday evening when the finger commenced to swell and pain her. She retired but was unable to sleep on account of the pain.

Yesterday morning she was much worse and both her hand and arm were badly swollen. She went to see a physician and was told that blood poisoning had set in and he gave her a prescription. The hand and arm continued to get worse all day yesterday, and last night the doctor was called again. The case is considered serious, but the physician hopes to save her hand and arm.

RAISED A MIGHTY ROAR

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS ON THE WEST SIDE TO BE DROPPED.

So much opposition has developed against the proposed boulevard and curbing of the principal residence streets on the West Side that the project has been dropped as a portion of the section is concerned and an unfavorable report will be returned to the council by the board of public works.

The improvements contemplated the curbing of nearly thirty blocks of streets and when the hearing was held last Wednesday the city hall was full of property owners ready for the fray. The majority of them were decidedly opposed in their views.

The West Side Improvement Association was holding the movement, and prevailed on Assemblyman Dix to introduce the necessary preliminary orders calling for the work.

FIRE IN A PRESSROOM

Scare in Premises of McGill-Warner Company Yesterday.

The fire department was called to extinguish a small blaze in the press room of the McGill-Warner Printing company, Eighth and Cedar streets, about 5:30 o'clock last night. The fire caught in a bunch of rags used to clean the rollers and was extinguished by the fire department.

All are heard, some of them are rather tiresome, but the individuals are nothing to the delegations that call. The average individual can be easily gotten rid of, but the delegations generally include someone that is insistent in his demands and refuses to leave until his wishes are either acceded to or flatly refused. Jobs as street commissioners and places in the building department are the most sought by these who call.

MEGARDEN CASE TODAY

Gov. Van Sant is anxious to get the hearing over with and will not allow any further delays except for the gravest reasons.

SAVE THE FORESTS WANT TO KNOW WHY

GEN. ANDREWS THINKS THE LEGISLATURE SHOULD GIVE ASSISTANCE

CONDITIONS ARE CRITICAL

Annual Consumption is Double the Annual Growth—Arbor Day Has Had a Great Counteracting Influence.

State Fire Warden Andrews is very much in hopes that by the time another regular session of the legislature rolls around a public sentiment can be worked up strong enough to secure from the legislature an appropriation which will enable the state to purchase large tracts of non-agricultural land for forestry purposes. For the past two years Gen. Andrews has been endeavoring to state agitating the necessity for a vigorous movement in the direction of saving the forests of the state before it was wholly destroyed by commercial greed. Heretofore the legislature has given little attention to the subject, but he hopes to secure favorable legislation at the next session. "Forestry conditions are becoming critical," says Gen. Andrews, "and what is done should be done rapidly. The people are slow to realize the immense value of our forests, and the menace to our country by their ruthless destruction. It is an absolute necessity that our present forests be protected, and that methods be devised for partly repairing the terrible ravages which have been made upon our forests."

The forest crop of the United States is fifteen times greater than the nominal gold and silver product, and its value for one year exceeds the value of the combined cereal crop (wheat, oats, corn, barley, rye and buckwheat) by $2,000,000. The inroads made upon the forests are threatening to entirely destroy this great national product. At the present time the annual consumption is twice as large as the annual growth, and the authorities say that over half of the timber cut down is wasted.

Arbor day was started to partly counteract this destruction by creating a public sentiment in favor of forestry. Minnesota has already done excellent work in tree planting, and it is estimated that the value of the Arbor day influence cannot be overestimated. In the past ten years the school children of the state have planted over 200,000 trees. Last year more than 20,000 were planted. While these figures seem large there is another side to the question. There are in this state over 2,000 school houses having no trees around or near them.

Next month Gov. Van Sant will appoint an Arbor day, and State Superintendent Olsen will take special pains to have the day more generally observed than it has been heretofore. With every state in the country observing Arbor day, as most of them now do, and with the school children planting 1,000,000 trees every year, the influence for forest preservation is sure to grow. Gen. Andrews feels that this influence could be greatly increased by a little assistance from the legislature.

SPICER PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Assault Charge Preferred by Rosetta Force Continued Until Today.

Grant D. Spicer pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by Rosetta Force, whose name has been printed as Mrs. Ford, in the police court yesterday. When arraigned, Spicer started to read the complaint out loud, but Judge Hine told him they could get along without that, and continued his case until today. Spicer was allowed to go on his own recognizance.
