CAUGHT ON FREIGHT TRAIN

Special to The Globe.
GLENCOE, Minn., Feb. 27.—The Bank of Plato was the scene of a most daring robbery at 10 o'clock this morning. The robber was William Matthews, a fireman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. After donning a mask, he entered the bank, and, seizing the cashier, forced him into a back room and locked the door.

Having the cashier secured, he turned his attention to the vault and abstracted $1,500 of currency, and then boarded a freight train carrying the loot.

The news of the robbery spread, and some time after Frank Norton saw the man jump from the freight train at Glencoe, and he seized and held him until Sheriff McInnis arrived on the scene and placed Matthews under arrest.

The man confessed and told the officer where he had secreted the money. All the booty but $10 was found and returned to the bank.

LAWYER WHO KILLS HIMSELF LONG MIXED IN CRIME

Death Chosen in Avoiding Jail Recalls Five Notorious Trials in the Courts of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—To avoid going to jail Ernest Wedekind, a lawyer, indicted on a charge of embezzlement of $4,750, shot and mortally wounded himself shortly after arrest. He was taken to the Alexian Bros. hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

While officers who had arrested him were at lunch he stepped into a side room and shot himself.

Two criminal trials notorious in the annals of local courts are recalled by his act. Wedekind was associated in business with Theodore Schintz, the banker and broker sent to prison on a charge of embezzling money from his clients, and was indicted with the banker on the same charge, but the same jury that convicted Schintz acquitted the lawyer.

Wedekind was lately indicted on complaint of Mrs. Christine Links, formerly Mrs. Feld, who was a prominent figure in the murder trial of Adolph Luetger. Her husband had died shortly after the disappearance of Mrs. Luetger, for whose murder the sausage-maker was sent to prison for life, and Luetger's affection for the woman was alleged by the state to be the motive which prompted the crime.

ENGLAND WILL NOT ENFORCE THE DECREE OF BANISHMENT.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, made an interesting statement in the house of commons today, to the effect that the proclamation providing for the banishment of the Boer leaders did not preclude Lord Kitchener or Lord Milner from accepting the surrender of Boer leaders on modified conditions.

GIVEN A LONG TERM

MURDERERS OF CHARLEY YIM GET TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Special to The Globe.
WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Feb. 27.—Peter Jackson and Charles Woods, both colored, were today sentenced to terms of twenty-five years each in the superior court by Judge Smith for the murder of Charley Yim. They both pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the second degree, and for that reason expected a light sentence, but the judge stated that he could see no reason for clemency, and gave them the longest sentence possible.

Jackson has remained in the city ever since the murder was committed, but Woods left and went to St. Louis, where he was captured by the police. When questioned they broke down, and told the story of the crime. Each, however, blames the other with striking the blows which killed the Chinaman. They said they had planned the crime a week before it was committed, that they did not intend to kill the Chinaman, but merely to rob him of his money. They went to the door of the laundry, and found it locked. The optician, Jackson's signal they were admitted by Yim. According to Woods' story, Jackson was the only one who went in, while Woods remained outside to watch. As the Chinaman turned with his back partially toward Jackson the latter struck him. Yim screamed and he struck him again. This time the Chinaman fell, and Jackson struck him a third time. They were then too frightened to search for money, and fled from the laundry. They both stayed this side of the bay that night, and the next morning Woods went to Duluth, and later to St. Paul, where he was arrested. Jackson remained here until he also was arrested.

Both men are about the same, except that he claims they both went into the laundry, and that it was Woods who had the gas pipe and who struck the blows.

HER SPOUSE A BARGAIN

CHICAGO GIRL ACCEPTS A SUITOR WITH $199.99.

Special to The Globe.
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 27.—When James Colara called upon his sweetheart this evening, she was coy and unyielding until he also had his foot on her feet. The fortune amounted to $199.99.

Miss Thelma gazed first at the man, then at the fortune, and a second later accepted both. Being a woman, she could not resist a bargain.

However, part of the fortune has been dissipated. On his way, the gallant lover mistook detectives for footpads and attempted to draw his revolver. He was taken to a police station and an hour later was released upon his promise to pay the costs, which will leave only $187.39 for the young couple to begin billing and cooing upon.

In addition, the detectives bruised the sighing lover, and his doctor's bill will still further reduce the dowry.

VALET JONES CONTINUES HIS STORY IN NEW YORK COURT

He Declares That All He Was Ordered to Do by the District Attorney Was to Tell the Truth.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—In the trial of Albert Patrick, accused of the murder of William R. Rice, the cross-examination of Charles F. Jones, valet of the late Rice's clerk and personal attendant, was continued today.

"I trusted him (Patrick) so much that I let him leave me out of the will," said Jones. "It was his manner of talking that made me trust him."

"I am not sure," the attorney objected to this line of cross-examination followed by Mr. Moore, but Recorder Goff overruled the objection, saying "I desire to see the evidence, if there is any doubt in my mind, I will reserve it as far as possible in favor of the defendant."

Mr. Moore then questioned Jones about Mr. Rice's condition the day before his death. Mr. Rice was very weak, Jones said, and was out of his head "at intervals" the day that Mr. Osborne died.

"You never saw Mr. Rice awake after he went to sleep on Sunday at 4?" Mr. Moore asked.

"Not awake," Jones said. Dr. Curry told him the day after that Rice died in a critical condition. It was about three quarters of an hour after he took the microfilm from Rice's face that Dr. Curry arrived.

Mr. Osborne tried to recall certain incidents of the witness, Mr. Moore objected to his questions, as leading.

"An attorney," the assistant district attorney declared, "The accusation is made that I supplied Jones with a Jewels concealed in pockets in the sleeves of his undershirt, claims he was hired to take the diamonds from Montreal to New York by a firm in the latter city."

CONGRESS HOLDS SERVICES IN MEMORIAL, ATTENDED BY PRINCE HENRY

JOHN HAY IS THE ORATOR

Eloquent Tribute to Virtues and Ability of His Late Chief by the Secretary of State.

SOLEMN HUSH IN CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—At noon today in the great hall of representatives, in the presence of President Roosevelt, Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the German emperor, the members of the cabinet, the justices of the supreme court, officers of the army and navy, ambassadors and other diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, and the senators and representatives in congress, the Hon. John Hay, McKinley's premier, pronounced an eulogy upon his dead chief.

Four times before national memorial services for presidents who had died in office have been held in this hall, two of them, like this, in commemoration of chief magistrates who have fallen by the hand of assassins. George Bancroft, the historian, pronounced the eulogy on Lincoln, and Blaine was Garfield's orator.

By coincidence today was the twentieth anniversary of the day on which Blaine, in the same hall, delivered a eulogy upon the martyred Garfield. Stranger still the subject of today's memorial service was the chairman of the committee that had charge of the arrangements on that occasion.

Only one year ago, less five days, at the head of an imposing civic and military procession, he triumphantly passed triumphantly along Pennsylvania avenue for his second inaugural.

Again the broad avenue was filled with vast crowds, as they were a year ago. Then the streets were open to gliding bayonets and waving plumes, and the air was filled with the music of resplendent brass bands. Today all was changed. The streets were open to gliding bayonets and waving plumes, and the air was filled with the music of resplendent brass bands. Today all was changed. The streets were open to gliding bayonets and waving plumes, and the air was filled with the music of resplendent brass bands.

No decorations in hall.

The precedent in the case of the Garfield memorial exercises was followed closely. The hall was without decoration of any character. The red-coated Marine band, sixty strong, was stationed in the corridor which separates the hall from the rear lobby of the house. At 10 o'clock the music of the band, in five minutes the spacious galleries surrounding the chamber were filled. But the crowding which has marred many state occasions was avoided. The tickets issued were limited strictly to the number of seats provided.

Gradually the members of the house walked in and took their places. The numerous revolvers were at once being removed and smaller ones substituted in order to increase the seating.

Pearson, who recently resigned his chair of English literature in that institution because of his views on the Bible, has written to the students. He says: "A voice within me commanded me to risk the loss of associations and opportunities to draw my sword."

I should have continued my teaching with diminishing power and increasing condemnations and should have at last gone to my grave guilty and ashamed, feeling that I had shrunk from duty and left my crowning work unfinished."

After giving a course of lectures, Prof. Pearson says he will devote several years to travel and study, going first to his old home in Scotland and later to Greece.

RED MEN PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO FAITHFUL MISSIONARY.

Special to The Globe.
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 27.—A slight was witnessed at the Yankton Indian agency today which will live forever in the memory of those who were present. The occasion was the burial of Rev. Joseph Red Cross, who had labored for thirty years among the Yankton Indians, and who, because of his gentle disposition and lovable character, was generally loved by the Indians, and the whites with whom he associated. At the agency, notwithstanding the drizzling rain which fell all day, were gathered the Indians belonging to the agency. Many drove forty miles to be present.

Right Rev. W. H. ### ANDREW ANDERSON BREAKS INTO STILLWATER PRISON AND STEALS SHOES

JUST FINISHED A TERM THERE

Secures Three Cases of Valuable Shoes by Scaling Walls—Hopes to Go Back for Life.

Special to The Globe.
STILLWATER, Feb. 27.—A man who can deliberately plan to burglarize a prison, while serving time in the institution, and then carry out his plans after his release, might either be a fool, or an ardent knave. This was done by Andrew Anderson, who was released from prison Feb. 5, after serving five years for grand larceny in a neighboring county, and who now occupies a cell in the county jail, awaiting sentence for his confessed crime. Anderson is a man about forty years of age, but according to the prison records, he has been in the prison twenty years has been spent in prison. He has served two terms in the Stillwater prison, but has served two if not three in other prisons, and according to his own statement is anxious to go back to the Stillwater prison for life for burglarizing V. B. & W. G. Jordan's warehouses in the prison yard Saturday night.

After Anderson's release from prison, he was sent to the Minneapolis workhouse to serve a term for drunkenness, and according to his own story, told by Warden Wolfert and Deputy Warden J. S. Glennon, he returned to Stillwater to carry out his plan to break into the prison, and steal shoes.

He reached the prison wall on the west side, followed the north wall of the prison to the northeast corner, where there is an end house. There he found a rope, which is used by the guard for hauling up wood and other things. He waited until the dead of night and descended the rope to the prison yard. The night watchman passed by him and soon afterward Anderson skipped hurriedly into the streets, where he took three hundred shoes, two of them being made in the highest priced shoes made in the prison factory and the other filled with common grain shoes. He carried the shoes to the bank of Lake St. Croix. He hid the cases under the paint shop and finding a large sack he placed sixteen pairs of shoes into the sack and left for St. Paul on the first interurban car Sunday morning. The shoes were pawned in St. Paul and the money secured by Anderson was used in buying a new suit of clothes and getting his coat and vest out of pawn. These articles having been pawned for money enough with which to come to Stillwater. He returned to this city Sunday afternoon, packed the remaining shoes into the grip and took them to Minneapolis, where he pawned twenty pairs in a Washington avenue pawnshop, the proprietor of which is now locked up in Minneapolis on a charge of having received stolen articles.

Deputy Warden Glennon found the first lot of shoes in a St. Paul pawnshop and the description of the pawnbroker gave the man who had left them there, answered to the description of Anderson, who had been seen here by Mr. Glennon Saturday evening. He returned to Stillwater and secured photographs of Anderson, which were placed in the hands of the St. Paul and Minneapolis police and Anderson was found in the Minneapolis jail Tuesday, having been led up yesterday night on stealing a robe. Mr. Glennon took Anderson in charge on Wednesday and Anderson willingly showed Mr. Glennon where the shoes had been pawned. All of the shoes were recovered and Mr. Glennon brought Anderson back to Stillwater on the last interurban car Wednesday night.

He was arraigned before Judge De Warden Wolfert, being asked as to how the theft was discovered, and that the cases were found by some small boys, who notified their fathers and the latter notified Mr. Wolfert.

HAD NOT LEFT HER HOUSE IN SIXTEEN YEARS.

Special to The Globe.
GREENE, N. Y., Feb. 27.—When her body was taken today to the cemetery it was the first time in sixteen years that Mrs. R. P. Crandall was out of her house. She had been perfectly well during that time, but had voluntarily been a recluse because of trouble with her husband.

Dr. Ralph P. Crandall was a prominent physician of Greene and his wife lived in one of the finest residences in the village. One day sixteen years ago Mrs. Crandall went into her husband's office and found with him another woman. Her husband had secured all purchases never see or speak to her husband again and would never see any of the neighbors or former friends.

With the exception of an occasional glimpse that neighbors have obtained through the window, no one except her old servant saw her from that time that she began her self-imposed imprisonment until she died.

ILLINOIS IS SHOCKED

TILMAN - ROOSEVELT INCIDENT MAY HARM EXPOSITION

President Will Not Abandon Trip to Charleston, but Western People May Remain Awary From Fair.

Special to The Globe.
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 27.—Chicagoans who have been planning to take part in the Illinois dog tax bill, which is now before the U. S. Senate, are shocked by the telegram to President Roosevelt by Lieut. Gov. James A. Tillman, reported in dispatches from Columbia, S. C. Strong intimations are made that the Marquette and Hamilton clubs will not participate in the exposition unless the management of the exposition repudiates Tillman.

It is surmised by Republicans generally that Gov. Yates will also desire to leave whether the remarks to the president are sanctioned by the exposition management. The belief is strong that unless amendments are made Illinois day will be wholly canceled at the Southern exposition.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—The statement was made at the White House tonight that the president has not abandoned his proposed trip to Charleston. The action of Lieut. Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, in withdrawing the invitation to the president to present a sword to South Carolina, officer for volunteer services in the Spanish-American war had caused considerable doubt as to whether President Roosevelt will visit the Charleston exposition as he intended to do. Today a number of telegrams on the subjects were received at the White house from South Carolina and other states. The telegram of Lieut. Gov. Tillman has been received at the White house, but no attention has been paid to it.
