DAIRY DEPARTMENT DETERMINED | REV. DENNIS SULLIVAN SUMMONED TO STOP ITS SHIPMENT INTO STATE

PACKERS WILL TEST THE LAW

Supreme Court to Pass on Test Cases in May-Department Confident of Winning.

The dairy and food department has not ret wholly won its fight against borax meat. The big packing companies are again shipping it into the Twin Cities. At the present time cases to test the con stitutionality of the law are pending in the supreme court of Minnesota. When he first move was made to enforce the law, all the packers paid fines and prom-lsed to ship no more meat containing preservatives into Minnesota. The deartment then went after the retailers ho were making sausage and keeping it by preservatives. Backed by the borax trust the retailers made a fight and car-ried two cases to the supreme court, where they will be argued in May.

Meanwhile it has been discovered that the big companies are once more shipping porax meats into the state and the department has gone after them again. Friday afternoon the Nelson-Morris com-pany representative paid a fine of $100 on the advice of his counsel not to fight the case. On Saturday the Cudahy representative was arraigned on three counts Each was for samples taken from the wholesale markets of the company in the Twin Cities. On the first case no fight was made, but a stay of sentence has been granted until the supreme court has rendered its decision. Other cases against the big packers are pending and will be speedily pushed by the department. Four cases were recently brought in Duluth, two of the dealers paying fines without

The department is confident that the supreme court will uphold the law and will proceed to enforce the present law on that assumption.

OBJECT TO OPEN CARS

RESIDENTS OF ST. ANTHONY HILL FELT CHILLY BREEZES.

Lucky indeed was the St. Anthony Hill resident who rode down town in one of the big modern street cars yesterday. The majority of those living between St. Albans street and the hill bounced unhappily on the hard seats of the small, old-fashioned car, while others, still more unfortunate, were forced to ride down to business on open cars. Yesterday was not exactly a balmy day, and a ride in an open car with a strong northeast wind blowing steadily was too suggestive of pneumonia to be comfortable. The hill inhabitants were quite prepared yesterday morning to take the Rondo street route to business, but many of them are wondering why that ride had to be taken in the small or open cars. That effort forced passengers too pious to "cuss" into a reminiscent strain, and conversation was confined almost entirely to that period of time when the frisky mule ambled cityward with its carload of toilers. D. M. Smith's assurance that within a month the cars will have resumed their regular route will hardly prove consoling to street car patrops unless Weather Observer Lyons backs it up with a statement that the weather during that month will make riding in open cars a pleasure, and not a terture, as It is now. Lucky indeed was the St. Anthony Hill

For this purpose the committee drew up contracts agreeing to pay Manager Scott In speaking on the subject of "Butter" before the Retail Grocers' association, at Columbus hall last night, F. C. McMullen, vice president of the Minneapolis Cold Storage company, made some startling statements in regard to shortweight packages. He declared that in every instance that had come to his notice where firms advertised special sales on butter at prices under those made by the regular retail dealers, the packages were short several ounces. Yesterday, he asserted, he bought a five-pound jar of butter advertised at 32 cents per pound, and after cracking the jar and weighing its contents, found it just ten ounces short. This makes the price about 36 cents per pound, or 2 cents higher than the same goods are sold for by reputable retailers. Pound packages, he declared, are usually one or two ounces short and in many interaces. $1,200 for the rent of his opera house, and It was also decided to expend $2,200 on talent, thus insuring a first-class entertainment with the leading vaudeville peo-ple of the country in the cast. BOARD OF WORKS PRACTICALLY DECIDES TO ABANDON SIR-LEY STREET WIDENING

PROPERTY OWNERS OPPOSE IT

Arguments Presented at Hearing Granted Yesterday Convince Board That Project Should Be Dropped.

The board of public works yesterday practically decided to abandon the wid-ening of Sibley street from Third street to a point opposite the union depot. Those interested have until Thursday to convince the board why it should do other-wise, but unless something more satisfactory and tangible than the numerous protests that have been sent in of late is received by that time, the improvement will be dropped.

In answer to an invitation extended for opinions on the board's action in reducing the amount of the assessment for the buildings to be taken, a representative body of property owners and business men met the members yesterday afternoon. They were all satisfied with the reduction except thoses whose property was to be taken, but only one of the score or more present was willing to admit that it was an improvement which is the fair the fair the fair the score of the score of the present was willing to admit that it was an improvement which is the fair the fair the score of the scor admit that it was an improvement which he individually should be called upon to assist in bearing the expense. Briefly they opposed the improvement almost to a man, unless the city at large could be compelled to bear the burden.

The murmur of protest was too great to be ignored and without further com-ment President Grodde after a conference with the other members announced to the property owners in waiting that the matter would be taken under consideration until Thursday, and unless by that time something more convincing than protests were received the board would order the proceeding dropped for the present at least.

Property Owners May Prevail. The three members of the board are a nit in the matter and the course they have decided upon will pobably be carried into effect. Civil pride favors the improvement, but thoses who with have to pay the bill are unreservedly opposed to it. They say it is not necessary and they will not be benefited.

The action of the board will take the form of a communication to the council recommending that all proceedings bearing on the project be dropped. By a verbal agreement, the Union Depot company was to bear a handsome share of the cost, but its representatives say the old board presumed when it attempted to make its assessment alone, $38,000. Emerson Hadley, the attorney for the company, says the greatest amount the company ever figured on paying was $8,000 or $10,000.

The only one directly interested tho can be said to favor the widening is the Manhattan Improvement company, which owns the building in which Seaoury & Co., conduct a wholesale grocery. By the terms of the lease between the two, Seabury & Co. would have to pay the

SECRETARY RANDALL ADDRESSES MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

GROWTH HAS BEEN RAPID

Receipts Increased From $32,857.86 to $113,833.63 in Seven Years -Good Live Stock Exhibits.

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday morning the at-tention of that body was devoted for the greater part to the affairs of the State Fair association and discussion of plans to further the success of the coming ex-Secretary E. W. Randall, of the Minnesota State Agricultural society read a long and carefully prepared paper, in the course of which he said, in part:

As an illustration of the growth of the fair, the total receipts of the institution from all sources are given for each year since the time of the world's fair in Chicago, during which year Minnesota held no fair:

Environment Is Friendly.

Environment Is Friendly.

One of the causes of the success and growth of this fair is its friendly environments. A spirit of generous hospitality pervades both cities. General invitations are given by those in the cities each year to those in other portions of the state to visit them, and the event becomes a "harvest home." a week of holidays, a jubilee and a time of pleasant reunion. Prejuddices between city and country disappear, and the foundation for mutual respect, sympathy and helpfulness is established. The people of the cities feel a sense of responsibility for the fair and are loyal to it. It is exceedingly fortunate that by mutual understanding carnivals or other features which are competitive or injurious to the fair, and injure it accordingly. Their abandonment, so far as state fair week is concerned, is exceedingly fortunate. The disposition to red ink all the days upon the calendar in the first week of September for the fair, and if anything else is presented for that week, to claim a previous engagement, is growing in both cities. The centinuation of this spirit will mean that the growth and usefulness of the fair is only begun.

The fair of the present year is being planned along broader lines than ever. Last year's premium list has been increased fully 10 per cent. It is certain that 'arger and more comprehensive exhibits than ever before will be secure.

No industry will be neglected. Each department will be in charge of a superintendent, selected because of his competency and experience in that particular line; and each part of the fair will be given well-balanced attention. The grounds will be open continuously from Monday morning until Saturday night, and there will be evening as well as day programmes.

Better Car Service Is Needed.

Additions were made to the power and

Better Car Service Is Needed.

protests that have been sent in of late is received by that time, the improvement will be dropped.

In answer to an invitation extended for opinions on the board's action in recent. Should this rate of development continue the street railway company creasing its capacity 16 per cent per year and the state fair continue to grow year and the state fair continue to grow at the rate of 33 per cent per year, the situation becomes more complicated all the time. To what extent the street railway company can increase its service this year I do not know, but a committee has been appointed from the board of managers to see what can be done. The state fair committee will be glad to have the assistance of this or glad to have the assistance of this or-ganization. Personally, I fear the situa-tion is beyond the ability of the street railway people to meet, and in that end steam railway service or some other means of transportation will be neces-sary. Possibly a cross street car line on Snelling avenue will help solve the problem.

Col. W. H. Liggett, dean of the state agricultural college, and also a membe of the board of directors of the Minne sota State Agricultural society, supple mented Secretary Randall's paper with an address upon the importance to the state and the farmers and stock raisers of the state that every means should be employed to attract attendance to the state fairs from other states. He said the erroneous idea existing in many of the Eastern states as to the severity of the Minnesota climate could be most readily corrected by attracting visitors here and showing them what the state could do way of raising fruits, vegetables and grains.

Live Stock Exhibits.

Col. Liggett, however, gave particular attention to the subject of live stock ex-hibits at the fairs and said that the live stock department of the coming fair would present as fine a show, if not finer, than has ever been made at any state motion prevailed, and $2,000 was appro-priated for that purpose. That occurrence he used as an argument that stock breeders generally look upon Minnesota as an advantageous location for the exhibition and sale of their stock.
