Games Today.

St. Paul at Louisville, two games. Minneapolis at St. Paul, one game. Kansas City at Toledo, one game. Milwaukee at Columbus, one game.

Special to The Globe.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 7.—Pitchers' battles were the order of the day today and St. Paul split even on their double header, and in doing so played two games of the best baseball that has been seen here so far this season.

The home team captured the first game because the visitors were able to make but half a dozen hits off Flaherty and saved themselves from a shut-out merely by the grace of good luck and a bad error. Chech's delivery was a very different proposition from the local batsmen. They rolled up an aggregate of seven teen hits, five of which were triples and one two-bagger.

In the second game conditions were almost exactly reversed, the local batsmen were sorely puzzled by the delivery of Cribbin, who officiated on the slab for St. Paul. He allowed them but seven badly scattered hits and would undoubtedly have shut Louisville out but for a couple of errors and rather a doubtful decision, all falling together in the eighth, on top of which Cribbin hit Gansel and forced home the one run.

At every other critical moment the St. Paul twirler handled his delivery with deadly effect. While he was as effective in the second as Flaherty had been in the first, the visiting team was unable to take so many liberties with Dunkele's delivery as the home team had with that of Chech in the first contest. The big fellow gave but nine hits and only one of the lot was good for more than a single sack.

Schriever's Bad Play.

In the second, when the St. Paul's started their run getting, Schriever was guilty of an error in the third and sixth innings, would have resulted in the side going out without a run. Two scratch hits and a clean one following did the business.

Again in the fifth an error and a passed ball were bunched with a free ticket and two clean hits, which permitted the rest of run getting. Barring these two innings, Schriever's work was very effective, though he lacked, at times, first-class control. In both contests the fielding was fast and fine. Both the work on the bases and the way the things stacked up should certainly finish in the first division.

Regular umpire Haskell did not officiate in today's games. He sent word to Toledo that he was ill. A local substitute, Jack Sheridan, handled the indicator in his place, and on the whole his work was very satisfactory.

The First Game.

With one out in the second, Spies singled and Schriever followed suit; Tannehill went to center scoring. Spies, Shaub sent another safe one in the same direction and Schriever made an effort to score, but was caught between third and home. Shaub's single tallied Tannehill and Flaherty was safe on Dillard's wild throw. Shaub going to third. He came home on Kerwin's hit to center.

In St. Paul's half Shannon got a life on Flournoy's error and went to second on an out, second to third, and a fly to right field scored him. Flournoy was hit by a pitched ball in the third, stole second and scored on Spies' triple. Spies was caught at the plate.

The Second Game.

Shannon reached first in the second inning, when Schriever dropped the throw from his grounder. Lauer batted, and one toward first. McCann struck out, and Flournoy was retired on Grady's great stop and throw. Shannon scoring, Cribbin's single scored Lamy. Cribbin went to second on the throw. He crossed the plate on Geler's single. In the sixth, Geler, the first man, walked, and Dillard was safe on Tannehill's error. Both moved around one each on a passed ball. Shay scored them on a double to right, and was himself scored on Shannon's single to left. Shaub began the eighth with a single to center, and Dunkele was safe on Shaub's error. The next two went out, but Flournoy, reached first on Dillard's wild throw, Gansel was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Shaub home and scoring the only run.

YALE GOLFERS BEAT HARVARD

Sons of EH Win Annual Intercollegiate Tournament by an Easy Margin.

GARDEN CITY, Mass., May 7.—The Yale golf team beat Harvard by an easy margin today at the annual intercollegiate tournament on the links of the Garden City Golf club.

The system of scoring employed—whereby one point is scored for each hole won and one-half a point for each hole—the New Haven collegians defeated their old rivals, 13 points to 5. Four of the six men on the Yale team won their matches and two of the Harvard six won theirs. Of the latter W. Egan, of Chicago, who played the amateur championship finals last year, did the best work.

The lowest card of the day was that of C. Hitchcock Jr., the Yale champion, who in the afternoon play made a splendid card. This is five under bogey and only two more than the record of the course, which Travis holds. Hitchcock's card for the afternoon was: Out, 35; In, 35; Total, 70.

The weather was hazy in the morning, but not unfavorable for golf. In the afternoon a shower threatened and a considerable wind confronted the players on the Yale course. The Yale team won by a margin of 13 to 5.

ELECTRO-MEDICAL TREATMENT.

WHAT IS IT?

It is a scientific and skillful combination of all the curative powers and forces of both Electricity and Medicine—Discovered, perfected and used only by the able and skillful Specialists of the State Electro-Medical Institute. Any other claiming to use it, is an imitator. Our progressive Specialists, realizing that in many cases the ordinary medical treatment is disappointing and uncertain, also the electricity as usually applied was not satisfactory, determined to perfect a new system whereby all of the curative powers of both medicine and electricity were combined to get their combined curative effect at one and the same time with the result that we now cure what would not yield to the powers of either medicine or electricity, when applied separately.

Safe and Positive Cure. Decline of the powers of manhood signals the presence of one or more of the following: Genito-Urinary system, which are due to inheritance, habit, excesses or the effects of Specific Diseases.
