BIG STRIKE PROBABLE

Continued From First Page. Established in all localities in those regions, and he felt confident that the non-union men will respond to the strike call as readily as did the anthracite miners in the fall of 1901. A point has been raised that the United Mine Workers cannot call out the men employed by companies with whom the miners have yearly contracts or wage agreements, but Secretary Wilson said that such is not the case. He said that the Mine Workers' organization respects such contracts and agreements, but added that a general convention has power to abrogate them if it deems such action necessary. This is seldom if ever done. If the life of the mine was endangered, Mr. Wilson said, then a convention would call out men working under contracts or agreements. There is nothing in these contracts, he said, to prevent such action. If a company working under an agreement or contract should send coal into the territories where a strike is on by the Mine Workers' union, Secretary Wilson said, the men employed by that company would be ordered out on strike, as the organization would consider it a breach of faith. Steps Toward Sympathy Strike. An effort was made to learn what steps, if any, had been taken in the direction of a sympathy strike of other trades unions. It was learned that some of the labor leaders of the country had informally discussed such a movement some time before the present strike was inaugurated, but that no definite plan presented itself. Such a strike, it was thought, probably would not be inaugurated for four or five, or possibly more months, and only in the event that the union was in danger of going to pieces. Secretary Wilson left here today for national headquarters at Indianapolis, where he will look after the West Virginia and Central Pennsylvania bituminous troubles. If a call for the sympathy trouble is made, it will be issued by President Mitchell at strike headquarters in this region, the location of which has not yet been settled. Will Protect Property. The matter of calling out the engineers, firemen and pump runners from the anthracite mines taken in the direction of the convention to the discretion of the national and district officers. What they will do cannot be definitely learned, but it seems probable that they will be permitted to remain at work for the present at least. It was said at strike headquarters today by an official of the United Mine Workers' organization that it has all along followed a policy of protecting "mine property on the ground that the destruction of accumulated wealth, as a rule, ultimately affects the workmen seriously. No disturbances of any kind have been reported here. The region is extremely quiet. All of the local unions throughout the coal field held meetings this afternoon or tonight. Steps were taken to give relief to the members if needed. They expect a long strike. Business generally is stagnant and coal in this section is becoming scarce. Many of the foreign mine laborers, in anticipation of a prolonged struggle, have left the region and are preparing to follow. A carload of the workmen from the Schuylkill region passed through here today, some en route to other coal fields and a number of hours for their native land, where they purpose remaining until the strike is ended. CIVIC FEDERATION MAY ASSIST. Is Considering How It May Help to Adjust Miners' Difficulties. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—The National Civic Federation has under serious consideration means whereby it may be helpful in bringing about a termination of the anthracite coal strike. A tender of the good offices of the federation with a suggestion of arbitration of differences, among other things, has been discussed, but no definite conclusion has been reached. Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the federation, came over from New York this afternoon and had a conference with Senator Hanna and Samuel Gompers, at the senator's house this evening. The conference ended with the understanding that the gentlemen attending it would think over the several views expressed in order to be prepared to reconsider the matter later should it be thought advisable.

SOFT COAL MEN AGAINST STRIKE. Illinois Coal Operators Say the Miners Are Well Satisfied. HAZLETON, Pa., May 16.—A delegation of bituminous coal miners and operators and mine workers' officials from Illinois met in a conference here today with President Mitchell regarding local differences as between mine owners and their employes at Springfield, Ill. Herman Just, commissioner of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, acting as spokesman for the operators, said that he did not think that the efforts of the anthracite miners to involve the soft coal men in the anthracite battle would succeed. He said that the men had good jobs, and also that they would not quit.

Coal Up a Dollar. NEW YORK, May 16.—The retail coal dealers on this city advanced the price of anthracite coal $1 a ton today as a result of the strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 16.—Retail coal dealers here today advanced the prices of domestic sizes 50 cents a ton.

THE DISCARDED JESTER. Once more to sit beside the king. In jingling cap and pibaid vest. And hear the audience chamber ring. With laughter at my latest jest!

Once more to stand behind his chair. And with the lords and ladies dine. To take from his own hand my share. Of dainty meat or fragrant wine!

Once more to hear my merry quip. Run rippling round the joyous court! Yea, 'tween once more to feel the whip. For the sharp wound bestowed in sport!

Men tell me now the ancient fere. Has left my words, my wits wax dull. They say I am not worth my hire; That I may be no longer fool.

Another site where erst I sat. And I—once went to dine with kings— Strive with the beggars at the gate. For broken meat the scullion brings.

And yet methinks his jests are tame. Forged in their method—framed by rule; They surely lack the vital flame. Of mine—the poor discarded fool.

TO AWAIT GRAND JURY That Body Will Not Meet Until December, and Court Decided Not to Hold Him—Charged With Opening Another's Mail.

Special to The Globe. WINONA, Minn., May 16.—Albert W. Neibuh, a United States prisoner, who was being held here on the charge of having opened and destroyed a letter addressed to John Freese, was released today by order of the court upon his executing his individual bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance in court at the December term. The reason is that there will be no grand jury at the June term of the United States court to be held here, and the court did not wish to impose the hardship on Neibuh of compelling him to remain in confinement until December. MADRID ALL AGLOW

Continued From First Page. graceful black mantilla, and are soberly attired. There was a brilliant banquet at the palace tonight. Dr. Curry, the United States special envoy, and the other envoys were present. The surrounding streets were illuminated, draped, dazzlingly illuminated and crowded with sightseers. The ambassadors of Denmark, Prussia, Greece and the crown princes of Monaco and Spain arrived in a royal train. The events of the day coincided with the festival of San Isidro, the patron saint of Madrid.

WHEN THE ROYAL TRAIN ARRIVED. Killing of 100 Bulls to Mark the Advance of Civilization. MADRID, May 16.—The weather was auspicious for the official ceremonies in honor of the majority of King Alfonso, which opened here yesterday. The duke of Connaught, Prince Albert of Prussia, Princes Vladimir and Christian of Denmark, Prince Nicholas of Greece and the crown prince of Monaco and Spain arrived in a royal train. The events of the day coincided with the festival of San Isidro, the patron saint of Madrid.

THE SCENE AT THE RAILROAD STATION upon the arrival of the royal train was most brilliant. An escort composed of the Spanish military, the ambassadors, and the regent and King Alfonso, and conducted by the prince of the Asturias. The various ambassadors and their staffs, all clad in handsome uniforms, formed a striking group of color.

THE TRAIN ARRIVED AT 4:30. A bugle sounded, the guard of honor presented arms and the band struck up the Spanish march. The ambassadors were formally welcomed and drove to the palace escorted by the royal guard and the dragoons. At the palace the ambassadors were received by the queen regent and King Alfonso, and conducted by them to their apartments. A banquet in their honor was given at the palace last night.

A SPECIAL BULL FIGHT, in which eight bulls appeared, was held in the afternoon at the Puerta del Sol. Fifteen bull fights are to take place and over 100 bulls are to be killed.

FREDERICK THE GREAT was given to 3,000 persons. This charity will be repeated daily until May 24. Fifty thousand pesetas have been distributed to the poor, and small sums will be deposited in savings banks in the names of all children born Saturday, May 17, the day the king takes the oath. Altogether, gifts amounting to 200,000 pesetas will be distributed.

A DISCORDANT INCIDENT in connection with the festivities has been the sending by the Society of Dramatic Authors of a circular to all the theaters in Spain prohibiting them from giving any performance next Saturday, because the only gala performance in the honor of the majority of the king is "Don Juan," to be given at the royal theater.

THE SOCIETY OF DRAMATIC AUTHORS points out in its circular that "Don Juan" is a foreign opera, and, with one exception, the entire cast of the opera is foreign. This circular says that the date, May 17, will be made memorable by the taking of the oath by the king and by giving striking proof that there still exist some new religion to bring home with silent meekness.

LIKED HIS ARCHBISHOP BEST. When Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, who has just been appointed a member of the board of Indian commissioners by the president, was a very young priest he was stationed at a parish in St. Louis, where Archbishop Kendrick presided over the diocese. The latter was a very strict disciplinarian, and the young priest was in a great deal of trouble with the archbishop. One day the archbishop was visiting the house of the archbishop, accompanied by a Chicago priest, who was visiting the archbishop. The Chicago priest said with surprise that the date, May 17, was the day that the archbishop was born.

"Why you should give the splendid residence we have in Chicago for our archbishop!"

"Yes," responded Father Ryan, "but you should see the splendid archbishop we have in St. Louis for our residence."—New York Times.

BEHIND TO BREAK RULE.

There is a hard and fast rule against "flirting" in the building at 52 Wall street, which is supplied by various banking establishments. A uniformed man with a firm mouth sits at the door and enforces this rule by verbal injunction.

John W. Gates entered the building a few days ago whistling an air from "Dolly Varden." The man with the firm mouth roared: "Stop that whistling!" Gates nearly lost his balance. A half hour later he came down again and started out of the building whistling "Dolly Varden" again.

"Don't do it for spite?" said the man with the firm mouth. "I am not whistling in uniform with a whistling setting. There are pulled out a roll of bills and handed them to the man. Then he said: "There are yours if you whistle 'Dolly Varden' with the soft pedal on." The man with the firm mouth made an attempt that almost resulted in an apology, but failed miserably.

MR. GATES left the building whistling merrily thirty times over—N. Y. Times.

MISPLACED MAN. If I was a running—the earth you would see. How very convenient an earth ought to be. I've number of schemes that I'd quickly put through. If I had the funds and an army of two.

They are makin' some terrible rows, 'pears to me. 'Bout things that are simple as plain as the nose on your face. Of feed an' of comfort there'd ne'er be a death. We'd be happy if I was a-running' the earth.

But Fate landed me—I donno why or how— By some pesky trick at the back of a man's bodyguard in the West Indies. An' the men with the wealth an' the power, you see, Are so guided by me.

The farm's goin' slack, I am worryin' so That I don't feel inclined to plant or to mow. It tries a man's patience fur all it is worth. To farm, when you ought to be runnin' the earth. —Washington Star.

Condolent Too Heartily. Senator Chauncey M. Depew was visited in his committee room at the capital by a New York farmer whom he had met on one of his campaigning tours through the western counties of the state.

The senator, as is his wont, exhibited a lively interest in his constituent's health, and thus encouraged the visitor began to unburden himself as to his family troubles, and the warm-hearted senator responded sympathetically to the remarks related how his wife drove him out of the house in her temper.

"The senator," said the farmer, "said the senator in his most sympathetic voice, and he grew eloquent in his efforts to comfort the disconsolate farmer."

"Why," said the senator's visitor, astonished at this outburst of feeling, "are you married, too?"

"The senator's mirth pretty nearly overcame his sympathy for his unhappy constituent.—New York Times.

Mailed Right Letter. Frank R. Lawrence, president of the Lotus club, recently related the adventure of a New Yorker who was in love and very bashful. Finally, he made up his mind to write his proposal to the young lady. After sending it, he began to worry as to the possibility of a refusal, and at last concluded to send the following telegram: "Serious mistake. Have sent you wrong letter. Please return it without reading." He was very much relieved to receive the following reply: "Too late. No mistake. Right letter mailed. It was about time.—New York Times.

No Popular Religion With Duties. When the late Bishop Phillips Brooks, of Massachusetts, sailed for Europe on his last trip abroad, a friend jokingly remarked that while abroad he might discover some new religion to bring home with him.

"But be careful of it, Bishop Brooks," remarked a listening friend. "It may be difficult to get your new religion through the Custom house."

"I guess not," replied the bishop, laughingly. "For we may take it for granted that any new religion popular enough to import will have no duties attached to it."—New York Times.

Not Alone in This Affliction. The minister was a great hand-shaker, shutting down like a vise. One day he shook a little boy's hand, and absent-mindedly gave it an awful squeeze as he said: "My little fellow, I hope you are pretty well today?"

With tears in his eyes the little boy answered: "I was till you shook hands with me."—The Little Chronicle.

While the outbreak of the volcano on the island of Martinique killed more people outright, more territory has been ruined in St. Vincent, hence there is greater destitution here. The injured persons were horribly burned by the hot geyser which was driven along with tremendous velocity. The hospital here is filled with dying people. Two days elapsed after the disaster before there were any burials, as the negroes refused to dig the necessary trenches, though they were offered three times the usual wages by the local authorities.

The nurses employed are incompetent, but they are willing to learn and are working hard. The negroes are indifferent.

SEISMIC THRILL EXTENDED FAR. West Indian Eruption Makes Its Mark in Bohemia. VIENNA, May 16.—The hot springs at Tepitz, Bohemia, delivered water of reddish brown color yesterday. The water was permeated with iron and occurred. Geologists attribute this phenomenon to the shaking of the subterranean sources of the springs and believe it is connected with the volcanic eruptions in the West Indies, inasmuch as a similar phenomenon was recorded at Tepitz, Nov. 1, 1765, shortly after the Lisbon earthquake.

Danish Rescuers. ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., May 16.—The Danish cruiser Valkyrien has returned here from Martinique. One of her officers said: "We saved 60 people from the north side of St. Pierre, where, on account of the wind, there were not so many ash-covered. We take great pride in the fact that the Danish flag was the first foreign one at the scene of disaster. We proceeded to Port de France, where we landed and there the people we had rescued, as well as some provisions."

Two Million Tons of Dust. KINGSTON, Jamaica, May 16.—According to a report received here from Barbados, E. W.
