OVERWHELMED WITH VOTES OF LOYALTY AND APPROVAL. So Much Encouraged by Interest Displayed by Citizens That Dr. Ohage May Withdraw His Resignation—West Side Will Hold a Mass Meeting Monday Night.

The advance guard of the voting coupons that Dr. Ohage has placed in circulation as a test of public sentiment regarding the condemnation of a block of ground on the West side as an approach to the public baths was received yesterday when fully a bushel basket of the little signed slips were dumped on Dr. Ohage's desk in the city hall.

All day yesterday the clerks were handing out small bundles of the coupons to those who called, while orders were received for over 10,000 of the slips. One factory asked for 1,000 for distribution among its employees. Not only those, but the schools have taken up the crusade and the children and teachers formed no small part of the number that asked to be supplied yesterday.

The result of the scheme so far is satisfactory, so much so that Dr. Ohage has taken on renewed hopes and will, in all probability by Wednesday, the close of the contest, notify Mayor Smith of the withdrawal of his resignation, and the acceptance of the reappointment.

For the purpose of clearing the atmosphere regarding the alleged antagonistic attitude of the West side toward the baths, and the statement that a lot of politicians had led the attack on the baths at a so-called meeting of the association several days ago, the citizens of that section of the city have called a mass meeting to be held at Paul Martin's hall, Monday evening. This meeting will be apart from the West Side Improvement association and will be addressed by prominent citizens of the ward. Dr. Ohage has accepted an invitation to be present and address the gathering. The meeting is intended to bring out the fullest expression on the question at issue.

Minneapolis, jealous of the fame that the Harriet Island institution is bringing St. Paul, is preparing to duplicate the plant. Health Commissioner Hall, of that city, is behind the scheme and is now at Washington trying to have turned over to him a small island near Boom Island. It is about two acres in extent and he claims it has never left the government's possession. The health department as a way out of the difficulties that have attended the St. Paul institution, will place it when completed, under the jurisdiction of the park board.

Deposits made on or before June 5 will receive one month's interest on July 1. Security Trust Company N. Y. Life Bldg.

DOES A NOBLE WORK

Catholic Summer School Idea Is Higher Education for the Masses

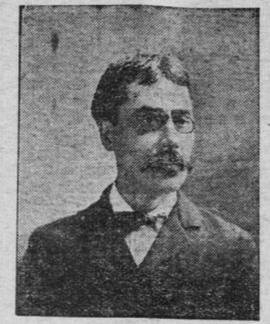

ITS OBJECT IS PATRIOTIC

History of the Origin and Growth of the Institution Which Holds Its Session This Year in St. Paul.

Great expectations exist of wonderful and permanent benefit from the Columbian Catholic summer school to be held in this city this summer. This is the first time the school has ever been held here. Wherever its sessions have been held results of general good have always followed. It is a great institution and a positive educational force, and the community in which it is held is to be congratulated. Local Catholics, and as well all persons interested in education, are enthusiastic concerning the coming session in this city. They are confident that it will be the banner session of the institution since its foundation.

History of Movement. The growing interest in and the success of the Eastern summer school, which held its first session in New London, Conn., in the summer of 1892, and its sub-ceeded it unstinted praise. As in the case of the Chautauqua movement, everybody realized that it was merely a question of time when more than one Catholic summer school would be organized in the United States, and immediately upon the permanent settlement of the site for the Eastern summer school Western Catholic papers began to voice the sentiment of their section for a Catholic summer assembly more conveniently located for Western Catholics. Persuaded by this sentiment, and in response to an urgent invitation, a number of Catholic clergymen and laymen met at the Columbus club, Chicago, on March 11, 1894, to consider the question of establishing a Western summer school. There were present: Rev. John A. Zahm, Notre Dame, Ind.; Rev. P. J. Agnew, Chicago; Prof. Maurice Francis Egan, Notre Dame, Ind.; Hon. William Onahan, Chicago; Mr. H. J. Desmond, Milwaukee; Mr. William J. Amberg, Chicago; Mr. John J. Duffy, Chicago; Mr. Edward Osgood Brown, Thomas F. Judge and M. St. P. Thomas.

A call was issued for another meeting to be held in the same place on June 14, 1894, for the purpose of discussing the scope, purposes and location of the proposed school and to perfect plans necessary to its establishment.

An executive committee was designated with Hon. William J. Onahan chairman, and committee being authorized to select a temporary or permanent site, to make all necessary financial arrangements, to arrange the lecture course and to report at a subsequent meeting.

On the 11th day of October, 1894, this committee assembled. There were present: Bishop Waterson, Columbus, Ohio; Bishop Messmer, Green Bay, Wis.; Bishop Cotter, Winona, Minn.; Bishop McGurk, Duluth, Minn.; Rev. P. J. Agnew, Chicago; Rev. P. Danahy, St. Paul, Minn.; John M. Duffy, Chicago; W. A. Amberg, president of the Columbus club, Chicago; Prof. Maurice F. Egan, Notre Dame, Ind.; H. J. Desmond, Milwaukee, Wis.; Conde E. Pallen, St. Louis; Charles A. Maie, Chicago; Timothy Nester, Marquette, Mich.

Assurances of co-operation and interest in the new project came from many sources. Besides Archbishop Feenah of Chicago, Bishop Foley, of Detroit, and the bishops actively interested as members of the executive committee, cordial letters of approval were received from the following prelates: Archbishop Katerer, of Milwaukee, and Elder, of Cincinnati; Richter, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Marty, Sioux Falls, S. D.; Scannel, sequent sessions at Plattsburgh, N. Y., but more particularly the permanent location of that school in the extreme northeastern part of New York, a site inconvenient to the great multitude of Western Catholics, led to the establishment of the Western, or Columbian, Catholic summer school. This action was hailed with delight. Clergy and laity vied with one another in expressing approval, and the entire press, regardless of sectional or religious views, ac-

Omaha; Fink, Kansas City; Hennessy, Wichita, Kan., and Ryan, Dixon, Ill. The first session of the summer school was held at Madison, Wis., beginning July 4 and continuing to Aug. 4, 1895. It was a much greater success even than was anticipated by its promoters.

Embraces Wide Field. The subsequent sessions of the school have been equally successful. The subjects treated have covered almost the entire field of human knowledge. There have been courses of lectures on the "Sacred Scriptures," "Catholic Education," "Ethics," "Literature," "Historical Criticism," "Church and State," "Economics," "Psychology," "Art," etc. The list of lecturers embraces the names of the best known Catholic orators in the country, among whom are Rt. Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, Very Rev. J. A. Zahm, Rev. Eugene Macevney, S. J., Maurice Francis Egan, Rt. Rev. S. G. Messmer, Marquis Nadaille, Rev. Thomas Sherman, S. J., Miss Eliza Allen Starr, Rev. John M. Poland, S. J., Rev. E. P. D. De Conde, B. Pallen, Ph.D., Hon. M. J. Wade, Rev. H. M. Calmer, S. J., and others.

The purposes of the school are well set forth by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Conaty, D. D., president of the Catholic university, who says: "The object of the Catholic summer school is the crystallization of the idea of higher education for the masses of the people, energizing the velleo spirit that craves for mental development. It calls together to the lecture assemblies all who seek instruction upon the burning questions which agitate the religious, social and literary world, and under the inspiration of men whose lives are consecrated to the study of the questions, it bids all listen to the principles that will answer the questions and confound the sophists.

Its Object Patriotic. "The Catholic summer school aims to place within the reach of our people of every rank the advantage of special instruction upon those topics in which they need to be equipped in the battle of the church against error and infidelity.

Right Rev. S. G. Messmer, D. D., president of the Columbian Catholic summer school, in speaking on this question, says:

"Our object is to follow the admonition of our Holy Father and labor for the angel unity and the angel love of Christendom. It is to show forth the Catholic religion and teach Catholic truth, and to show these in their bearing on the intellectual advancement of man and society. Though the lectures are primarily meant for Catholics, a brotherly welcome is accorded to those of other faiths, to whom is offered an opportunity of learning from proper sources what the Catholic church has been and is in its mission and work. It is one of our fondest hopes that Catholic summer schools will be agents in removing the common ignorance of the dogmas and discipline, the life and religion of the Catholic church, which is for so many a cause of prejudice and unchristian hatred. We desire to be known and to be as brethren with brethren. In the words of our holy father, Pope Leo XIII, we desire the coming of the day when all will unite in 'one gospel, one faith, one hope.' One object of the summer school is to open the way and to hasten the steps of such a happy result."

WHERE DAIRYMEN FAIL

SLOW TO LEARN DIVERSITY OF DAIRY AND COMMON BREEDS

Prof. Haecker Says the Difference in Production Between the Two is $25 Per Year, and Quotes Results of Experiments at State Farm to Prove it.

Prof. T. L. Haecker, of the State Agricultural college, says the essential thing to do in Minnesota at present for the dairy industry is to agitate the need of farmers using dairy breeds, and to educate farmers in caring for cows, and properly feeding them. Prof. Haecker said yesterday:

We have time and again shown by careful experimental work the advantage of employing cows in dairying that are specially adapted for dairy work. Farmers are slow to change to the dairy bred cows, first, because, as a rule, they are smaller than the beef breeds, and, second, because the beef trust and those who are working in its interests have persistently misrepresented the value of a dairy bred steer as a meat producer, and have conspired to prejudice the feeders and butchers against dairy breeds. Farmers would keep more careful records of the performances of the different animals in the herd they would discover that it is invariably the dairy type cows in the herd that are the money makers.

To show the difference in the returns from the dairy and the common cow we will submit two years' records, valuing the net return to the farmer for butter at 15 cents per pound, and skim milk at 15 cents per 10 pounds.

FORESTERS WILL HOLD AN OPEN INITIATION

Innovation in Secret Society Circles Never Before Seen in Any City.

A new departure and something unheard of in secret society circles will be tried tomorrow evening at Odd Fellows' hall, corner Payne avenue and Wells street, when Court Landmark No. 45, United Order of Foresters will publicly, and in the presence of those not members of the order, initiate a large class of candidates into full membership in the order, with full ritualistic ceremonies. This practice is of course rare, and has never been attempted in the Northwest before, and is attempted now for only one, to demonstrate to the doubting and skeptical that there is nothing coarse or vulgar in the initiation ceremonies. The supreme ranger of the order, Judge Southworth, of Chicago, has been petitioned, and has granted a dispensation to the officers of Court Landmark, permitting them to conduct the ceremonies in public on this occasion, which will be the only time that such will be granted in this city.

Admission to the hall will be by cards of invitation, which will be procured from any member of the court. All clergymen in the city are cordially invited to be present, whether they receive invitations or not. The degree team of Court Minnesota will have charge of and conduct the ceremonies.
