EDWARDS' HOT STORY

Ingenuity of "Bill" Erwin Could Not Overturn Any of His Testimony

TOOK RAP AT NORBECK

"Big Mitt" Man Had Scant Re spect for Dr. Ames' Plain Clothes Detective, and Made His Position Very Clear.

If "Billy" Edwards is lying he certainly has one of the most remarkable memories on record. The "big mitt" man was on the stand the entire day and gave detailed accounts of his peculations, not ever omitting dates and hours. He cited con-versations that occurred, gave the places in which such conversations were and was at all times able to tell who the minor details of the schemes that had been employed in the big mitt operations were graphically pictured to the jury, who were all interested listener; to the tale that is creating an almost na tional interest. The entire forenoon was taken up in direct examination, and when court reconvened at 2 o'clock everybody was anxious to find out just what Attor ney Erwin would do with the principal witness for the state.

Many expected that the "big mitter" would be tangled up and forced to take to the cover before the "Tall Pine" would get very far with him. They were, however, doomed to disappointment. If anything Edwards was better on cross-exation than he was on the direct. So far as was gone into yesterday afternoon not an iota of testimony was contradicted. Every statement that had been made on direct was clinched, so to speak, on cross-examination.

The defense tried to show through Edwards that he had been promised immunity. If he would go before the grand jury and tell all he knew, but with all the cunning of Mr. Erwin, and his part ner, Mr. Mead, he certainly set at rest the idea that any intimation of immunity had even been broached, if he would tell the truth regarding the matter.

After he had been hard pressed by Mr. Erwin to give a motive for his actions in giving up everything, he said, "It was honest instinct." He said he knew the condition at the time, and it was an outrage on the community, and also that the people from whom he expected to get protection in his crooked work were more dishonorable than he was, and under those conditions he thought it was high time that the truth be known, and that he proposed to tell it, no matter who it affected. The time had come when he was going to wash his hands of the whole thing.

He denied in toto all the allegations set up by defendants, Gardner and Norbeck, in their answer to the indictment, Nor-beck had said that Edwards acted as a beck had said that Edwards acted as a stool-pigeon for the police and assisted in locating criminals who visited the city in part payment of the protection he was granted. This, he said, was a lie, and it there was any stool-pigeon mixed up in the deal, Norbeck was stool-pigeon for the "the mitt" and the "big mitt" gang.

Hard Rap at Norbeck

When pressed as to certain informa-tion Norbeck is claimed to have received from Edwards regarding two criminals which he, Norbeck, wanted to catch, Ed-wards said: "Tell that fellow about crooks in order for him to catch them? Why he even couldn't catch a cold." wards said: Tell that fellow about crooks in order for him to catch them? Why, he even couldn't catch a cold."

Attorney Erwin also tried to show up Edwards' criminal record and asked if he had not been arrested at certain places and under certain conditions. Edwards in nearly each instance denied that he had been arrested, and finally he said to Mr. Erwin: "I'll tell you just how many times I have been under arrest." The attorney: "All right, let us have it." Edwards then said: "I was arrested once in St. Paul, charged with picking pockets; once in Barron, Wis., charged with a misdemeanor, which was running gambling devices, for this I paid a fine of $25, and the last time I was arrested was in Minneapolis for swindling a farmer

$25, and the last time I was arrested was in Minneapolis for swindling a farmer out of $30, and am now in jail awaiting sentence for that crime.

"The time I was arrested in St. Paul I was brought into court and was not found guilty." Mr. Erwin asked the witness if he kad not served a term in Waupun state prison. Edwards promptly replied: "No, sir, I never was in Waupun in my life, and don't know where it is, only that it is in Wisconsin some place."

place."

He also related a time that he was brought before Chief of Police Ames, by Norman King, but he said: "That was not for any crime he had committed, it was merely a ruse of King's to make himself strong with the chief and to Told Norbeck to Unfold.

All the money transactions were then gone into by the defense, but Edwards told all of the minor details in regard to turning this money over to Gardner and Norbeck. Just as it was recounted on his direct examination. The book which the defense has been trying to get hold of, in which was kept the memorandum of all the business transactions of Edwards et al., and the police officers, transpires to have been the property of Charley Howard and that he was the party who made all the entries and that Edwards did not know anything about where it was at the present time, and that he had not seen it since his incarceration.

that he had not seen it since his incarceration.

He, however, knew of the entries having been made, and the times at which they were made, but he himself had nothing to do with it. Edwards told of conversations he had with Norbeck in the county jail, and how Norbeck wished to know what he was going to 'tell. Edwards said: "I am going to tell the truth, and when I do you know what will happen." He said that Norbeck intimated that if he was not afraid of his job, and he could get a chance to appear before the grand jury he might tell the truth. Edwards told him to never mind his job, that the matter under investigation was much more important than the job."

tion was much more important than the job."

He emphatically denied that he ever told Norbeck if he could get before the grand jury and make a clean breast of everything he would be likely to get out of the scrape without any trouble. He did tell him, however, that if he was called before the jury he better tell the truth, no matter who it implicated.

The jury in the case are all bearing their confinement well. They all appeared in court this morning, each wearing a purple necktie that had been presented to them by Juror Ebert, in honor of the Elks' carnival. Each also wore in his buttonhole a red carnation. They were taken out for a tally-ho ride Sunday afternoon, and everything is being done to make their confinement as comfortable as possible. When court adjourned last night Edwards was still on the stand.

OBEY STRIKE ORDER

Majority of Engineers, Firemen and Pumpmen Will Quit Work

PUMPS ARE KEPT GOING

Operators Say That Estimate of Auxiliary Who Walked Out Is Overestimated-Everything Is Quiet at Coal Fields.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 2.—The order of the United Mine Workers of America, calling out on strige all engineers. firemen and pumpmen employed at col-lieries where the eight-hour workday with present wages was not granted, went into effect today, and, as has been predicted, a majority of the men obeyed the order. Neither side can claim a victory at this time because the struggle on this phase of the anthracite coal miners' strike has just opened. There was only partial showing of strength today. The real test of whether or not the mine pumps shall be manned will begin tomorrow. Although a majority of the men quit work, the companies, generally speaking, succeeded in keeping their pumps in operation. The operators feel that at present they have the advantage, but they are not so sanguine of the fu-ture. The exact number of men who quit today cannot be obtained.

Mitchell Issues Statement.

Each side refuses to make public its figures, but gave out information that roughly estimates the number of men afected. These estimates are far apart. National President Mitchell, of th Miners' union, gave out a statement, in which he says:

'Reports received from every important mining community indicate that where the eight-hour day has not been conceded fully 80 per cent of the firemen, pumpmer and engineers have ceased work. The number will be materially increased to-morrow. In some sections mine foremen have positively declined to perform the work of engineers, firemen and pumpmen. In some places foremen have manned the pumps, and clerks have been required to perform this labor.
"A perfect army of irresponsible men has been employed by the coal compa-nies to act as coal and iron policemen. The services of these men are unneces sary, and their presence unwarranted. There have been no violations to date by the mine workers, and I am sauguine there will be no overt acts on the part of the strikers."

Operators Tell Different Story. On the other hand, a mining official of one of the largest coal companies, who received accurate information from the entire coal belt, made this statement:

"President Mitchell's estimate is too high. We have received figures from all our collieries and the general superin tendents of all the other coal companies would not be policy to reveal our weak spots or to betray our strongholds as far

"I can, however, say that about 65 per ent of all the Lehigh Valley's men, who are scattered from near Scranton down to Shamekin, went out. The Delaware Lackawanna & Western, the Delaware & Hudson and the Erie companies, whose operations are mostly located north of here, fared a little better. The Susque-hanna Coal company's collieries, which are controlled by the Pennsylvania rail-road and which are located at Nanticoke, south of here, were crippled less than any big company in the region. The Reading company, with forty collieries in the lower region, was the worst sufferer, more than 70 per cent of its men refusing to go to work. The individual companies all lost more than 50 per cent of thei

"Notwithstanding the big desertion of men, every colliery in the entire region that made the effort was able to get up steam and maintain it. We are satisfied, under the circumstances, with the situa tion as it exists at present, and we do not care to boast of our future ability to keep the mines from flooding. The companies have nearly all the men they want for present needs. We look for intimidation of our men by the strikers, but we will go right along and protec employes and property as best we

Considering the vast number of mer idle, the coal field was very quiet throughout the day. Reports came in from several sections, telling of disturb ances, but these were of a minor natur Early this morning and this eve ing some workmen were stoned as they were on their way from the mines to their homes. The small army of coal and iron policement which is in the field is not much in evidence. The companies have instructed these men to avoid trouble and that they must not make themselves

The several brotherhoods of railroad employes in this locality held a meeting today, at which the general strike situa tion was disussed. No action of any kind was taken. The railroaders are in hearty sympathy with the striking miners, and it is not unlikely that they will give the men financial or other material support.

Denied by Gompers. President Mitchell tonight received a telegram from President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, denying the truth of the dispatch sent from Toledo, Ohio, last night, in which Mr. Gompers is reported to have construed the attitude of the Federation as in favor of the engineers' and firemen's organizations, having complete control. of the engineers and firemen's organiza-tions, having complete control of suc-crafts in whatever line, including mine

AMENDMENTS TO THE BILL

Philippine Committee Brings in a Number of Modifications, Mostly of Verbal Nature.

One Furnace Going at Sharon.

SHARON, Pa., June 2.—The second day of the blast furnacemen's strike finds all but one of the thirteen stacks in Sharon, Sharpsville and West Middlesex in the Shenango valley coked down. The furnace in operation is that of the Sharon Steel company. This plant is under police protection. The ranks of the strikers were increased by 550 men who came out at the National Steel company's furnace and the two stacks of the Shenango company at Sharpsville. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.-Little interest, either on the floor or in the gal-leries, was manifested in the senate de-bate on the Philippine government bill today under the five-minute rule. At two r three stages it almost died of inanima tion. Mr. Mason (Ill.) in a vigorou speech differed from the majority in th treatment proposed for the Flipinos. He urged that no reason existed for according to them a treatment different from that accorded to the Cubans and strongly advised that they be afforded the right to govern themselves. He said he would not have voted for the Paris treaty but for the open understanding among senators that the Filipinos were to be given their independence as soon as they were ready for it.

Other senators who spoke were Messrs Hoar, Foraker, Cullom, Bacon, Patterson, Teller, Carmack and Proctor.

The Bill Amended. At the height of the rejoicing a hearse passed through Piccadilly, and even the undertaker's assistants, who are known as mutes, waved Union Jacks. Early in the session some amendments were made to the bill by the Philippine committee, principally of a verbal nature. One of the most important was an amendment striking out the words "nor Throughout the evening the crowds exd the utmost good humor, and some of the worst elements in Lonmore than 5,000 acres to any association of persons," relating to the disposition of public lands and inserting a provis while some of the worst elements in London took advantage of the apportunity to disgrace themselves, the announcement of peace, on the whole, was received with merely wild "demonstration." her mother, her teachers and her aunts no end of mental anguish.

She is proud of those firm, round arms that are as brown as a berry. Just as proud of their "color" as she was of her tanned face a season ago, when all the belles of the Eastern summer resorts discarded their hats and vied with each other in staying out in the blazing sun from morning till night, to see who could get the healthiest—and the blackest. get the healthiest-and the blackest.

Christy Pictures Responsible. It was the regulation thing at the swagger evening function to see a fair-haired beauty with the face and throat of an octoroon down to "high water of an octoroon down to "high water mark," and then where the dainty evening gown was cut away to have a star-tling vivid line of original white.

Then the golf girl went a step farther and started in to brown her arms as an additional proof of her strenuously athletic proclivities. And sne found the rolled-back sleeves so comfortable, and the pictures that Christy made of her so fetching, that immediately a new fad was Fads travel westward with amazing rapidity. This one reached Chicago before the staid materfamilias and the fore the staid materfamilias and the stern-eyed professors with no nonsense about them were fully prepared for it. The result was astonishment, consternation and horrified disapproval when the fad struck the university with whirlwind force. Every girl who had ever played golf, or ever intended to took advantage of the warm weather. golf, or ever intended to, took advantage of the warm weather to roll up her sleeves and come to classes in comfort. The boys were distracted; likewise the professors. The tling had to be stopped.

Boys Are Horrified, Too, The girls refused to give up one iota of their comfort—and attractiveness—and it was war to the knife. The girls won. The boys and the professors are getting used to it, and in fact are beginning to rather like it.

Then the fad took a turn southward to the Indianapolis high school. the Indianapolis high school. Indianapolis does whatever Chicago does, in a modified sort of way, and old-fashioned professors there are just starting in to struggle with the new problem. Rolledup sleeves are an affront to the dignity of their model institution! The boys will be wanting to attend school in their spirit be wanting to attend school in their shirt sleeves next, if this permicious practice of the girls is permitted to gan a foothold! They are having very warm weather in Indianapolis now-both out-side the high school walls and within.

Man Starts Fashion in Denver.

The weather in Denver hasn't been farm enough as yet to warrant novations. The girls at the university solf links have to exercise to keep warm between "puts." But they've heard of the proper caper with regard to sleeves and are ready for it.

The Wolcott girls long ago adopted the hatless fad. They take their constitutionals and sprints around the block bare-headed as a matter of course. It is only a question of a week's sun when the atless fad. They take th olled-back sleeves will begin to edify the neighbors.

The fad doesn't belong exclusively to girls in the East. The Gibson man really started it, and the Christy man followed suit. Mr. H. R. Guggenheim, who drives a tandem, knows all about it, and is really the Denver exponent of this latest wrinkle of the smart set. During the few warm days of a week ago he was setting the fashion on the street in a sus-penderless shirtwaist with the sleeves relled neatly back beyond the elbows of atly back beyond the elbows of arms that would be a credit to Hercules.

Political Oblivion Perbaps.

A candidate for pubcil office addressed a meeting of voters assembled in his behalf and seemed to make something of an impression. At the conclusion of the speech the chairman of the meeting arose to propose three cheers for the candidate. "Now, gentlemen," he began, "let us give three cheers for Mr.—cur coming — coming —our coming—' Here he halted, tried again, could not think of the office for which the lawyer was a candidate, and then, turning to the blushing and confused hero of the occasion, asked: "Say, what in the d—i are you coming to, anyhow?"—Philadelphia Times. Political Oblivion Perhaps,

Trying to Conceal It.

Trying to Conceal It.

That doughty Pennsylvanan, Thaddeus' Stevens, once displayed so much annoyance and disgust with the decision in a case on which he was engaged that he reached for his hat and started out of the court room in the most informal manner. Near the door, he was stoppe! by the voice of the judge, who said:

"Mr. Stevens, are you trying to express your contempt for the court?"

"No, your konor," replied Stevens—"I am trying to conceal it!"—Philadelphia Times.

Avoided Painful Discussion.

An Irish girl applied in response to an advertisement for a cook. She gave satisfactory replies to all questions except the one concerning her reasons for leaving her previous position. Finally she was asked point blank:
"Now, tell me—did you have any words with your mistress that led to your giving up the place?"

with your mistress that led to your giv-ing up the place?" "Niver a wor-rd, sor!" she was quick to respond—"niver a wor-rd! Shure, Oi jist quietly locked the dure iv the bath-room whin she was inside, tuk all me things, sor, and came away."—Philadel-phia Times, If One Saves Half Two Saves All. Pat, being told by his wife that a firm announced a new klichen range which saved half the fuel, said to her: "Let's buy two, my jewel, and save it all."

MARTIN MELL.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify with my picture and sworn statement before Justice of Peace that the case of sickness that the Heidelberg Medical Institute of St. Paul, Minn, has curred me from what was almost a hopeless one, for I was treated by several doctors, but it done no good for me, but after taking a three months' course of the Heidelberg Medical Institute, St. Paul, Minn., I was relieved. I have not written this statement for a term of six months to be sure that I was really cured. My sickness was a tired feeling, lame back, and when I walked it seemed as if I had a big load to pull. My stomach was out of order and I could not digest my food. Always threw up hot, sour water and belohed gas. I always felt ready to cry at every step I took and I went down from 189 pounds to 120 pounds, and the only relief I expected was the grave. Now, after three months' treatment, I was almost cured, and am now in perfect health. My weight is 180 again, for which I have only the doctors of the Heidelberg Medical Institute to thank for, and wish them success always. I will always remain
