DEFENDS THE TRUSTS

LABOR DELEGATE TELLS CONVENTION COMBINATIONS OF CAPITAL ARE NATURAL

EFFORTS TO DESTROY THEM ARE FUTILE AND REACTIONARY

W. E. McEwen, of Duluth, Secretary-Treasurer of Minnesota Federation of Labor, Says Antagonism Between Employer and Employee Works Injury to Both.

The first defense of trusts made by a representative of organized labor in the employer and employee convention at the Exposition building, Minneapolis, came from the pen of W. E. McEwen, of Duluth, secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Federation of Labor and editor of the Labor World, who yesterday morning addressed the convention on the subject of the "Future Relations of Labor and Capital."

He pointed out that ignorance was the great cause of strife between capital and labor; ignorance of both sides. Employer and employee must realize that their interests are more nearly identical than either think; that antagonism results only in mutual injury. The time is coming for a definition of the status, duties, rights and immunities of the two great producers—labor and capital—but upon the manner of such a definition Mr. McEwen had no suggestion to offer.

Should Eliminate Speculation. Prof. Charles Zuehlke, associate professor of the University of Chicago, was the first speaker at the morning session. His topic was: "The Relation of the Public to Capital and Labor." He pointed out that the public is interested in both capital and labor and should encourage them to work together for the benefit of the community.

Ends in Spirited Debate. After a tranquil course, unfurled save for a few discussions the employees and employers' convention ended in a warm discussion over a set of resolutions favoring an eight-hour day law. The resolution was introduced by E. E. Ward, and stated that in the sense of the convention that the eight-hour day was the first practical step in the solution of the labor problem.

Will Organize Permanently. The success of the convention led to the appointment of a committee, consisting of Prof. J. B. Clark, of Cedar Rapids; Iowa; W. E. McEwen, of the University of Minnesota, and W. D. Wiman, of Minneapolis, to arrange for a permanent organization. The committee met at the West hotel last night and considered plans for a permanent organization. Invitations were received to meet at Chattanooga next year, but were laid upon the table. No business was transacted, and the meeting adjourned until today.

Engineer Olson Denies Marriage. Olaf E. Olson, of Minneapolis, chief engineer of the Twin City Rapid Transit company, who is reported to have married Miss Blanche E. Crane by Rev. Marion Shutter on Sept. 8 was the occasion of considerable comment among his friends, last night denied the truth of the story. The first knowledge he had of his reported marriage came through the receipt of a clipping from Toledo, Ohio, announcing the event.

COHEN WILL TELL ALL. Declares He Will Disgorge All He Knows at Trial. Joseph Cohen, who was jointly indicted with Fred W. Ames on a charge of extortion, now threatens to go on the stand and tell the truth and the whole truth without regard for consequences. His decision to tell what he knows, if adhered to, will, it is thought, alter the status of the case against Ames in a manner very unfavorable to him.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—The immense possibilities of Cuba in agricultural production have often been commented upon, but no very clear idea of the resources of the island exists in the average American's mind. The relatively small size of the island inclines the Yankee who thinks, talks and works on a big scale to regard Cuba as an almost negligible quantity except for sugar and tobacco. He knows Cuban tobacco is first rate, and he knows there is a hullabaloo about sugar, indicating that sugar is a commodity there; but he does not know that Cuba is fully able to feed the whole United States with sugar, tobacco, molasses, tropical fruits and such necessities of life as oranges and lemons.

YOUNG MAN

You Are All Right, But That Secret Trouble MUST Be Cured—Take Gourage, Be a Man and Ask For Help.

That habit of yours has undermined your health and given you that pimply, pallid face, with those lack-luster eyes. Those blue rings tell the story. You have a visible thinness in your looks. Your hands are inclined to be cold and clammy, and involuntary losses occur. There are a thousand things you would like to do, but you lack the ambition to do one of them. Your memory is defective, your thoughts cannot be concentrated, and you lack decision. You have a pain in the back, your stomach becomes weak and your heart beats irregularly. You fancy suspicion in the eye of every one who looks at you, and it is true, you are not ignorant of a secret. Private Nature, for which people dislike to go to their family doctor. Everything confidential.

Out-of-Town

Out-of-town young men, young men living in the country, who cannot come to the Institute for treatment, should write in confidence, describing their case—no secrets given away. Treatment sent in plain package.
