

FOR SUMMIT FLATS

CHARLES F. ARROL WANTS A PERMIT FOR APARTMENT HOUSE

WOULD PUT IT IN FASHIONABLE ROW

Building Inspector's Office Consults Legal Department, and License Is Refused—Appeal May Be Made to the Courts—Flat Plans Are Comprehensive.

A tenement house is planned for aristocratic Summit avenue. Tossled heads in front and the family washing in the rear, can such a sacrifice be tolerated? C. F. Arrol, a well known real estate man, threatens the invasion, and he has filed plans for the building he proposes to erect with City Building Inspector Ellerbe. Yesterday Mr. Arrol asked for a permit, but on consultation with the legal department Mr. Ellerbe refused the permit, and Mr. Arrol threatens to appeal to the courts.

The building, or rather apartment house, that Mr. Arrol desires to erect is located on an eighty-eight-foot lot on the south side of Summit avenue, between St. Albans and Arundel, one of the most select and aristocratic portions of the entire thoroughfare. Already Mr. Arrol's intentions have become noised about and consternation in consequence exists among the residents of the near vicinity.

When his request for a permit was refused, Mr. Arrol informed the department that he intended to invoke the aid of the courts, and mandamus proceedings in consequence are expected at an early date.

Less than a year ago a similar invasion was threatened by Minneapolis parties, and from this was evolved the law which now stands on the statute books forbidding tenement or apartment houses on the avenue. The promoters went so far as to sink nearly $8,000 in the foundation for the structure, but the indignation among the residents of the avenue was so great that it was quickly stopped, the council adding by passing a prohibitive ordinance.

Is the Act Valid?

Doubt then was expressed as to the validity of the act, but as the promoters never asked for a permit for the superstructure there was no chance of testing its constitutionality. The general opinion was that those behind the deal received a cash consideration to desist. Summit avenue is an ideal location for a modern flat building, and not a few have dreamed of the profits that would accrue from such a sacrifice, but those controlling unimproved lots have so far succeeded in keeping it inviolate. Three did manage to get an entrance some years ago, but those who have tried since have run against so many obstacles that they have been glad to desist.

May Go to Legislature.

Much doubt is expressed as to the authority of the council to dictate the class of buildings that shall be erected on Summit avenue, and it is now proposed to go before the legislature at its next session and see if something more binding cannot be secured. The latest effort to invade the avenue has caused not a little excitement, and it is expected that a meeting of the Summit Avenue union will be called in a few days to discuss the situation.

Flat Era Opens.

"If the prices for building material are in reason and the labor market is satisfactory, next year will see the erection of the largest number of flat buildings and apartment houses in the history of St. Paul."

This is the prediction of Building Inspector Ellerbe and he bases it on the statements of a number of architects and contractors who have been advised to prepare for the rush to come. One party alone, W. J. Waldron, who deals in this class of property, says that everything is satisfactory he will put up the coming year between forty and fifty new flat buildings, ranging from three to four stories in height and containing from eight to twenty apartments of six and eight rooms each. Mr. Waldron has already erected twelve buildings of this character so far this year.

"I should not be surprised," said Mr. Ellerbe yesterday, "to see erected this coming year not far from 150 flat buildings. The number may even be exceeded. The only thing this year that prevented the erection of more flat buildings was the high cost of building material."

Others who are figuring on increasing their holdings of flat buildings are M. J. O'Neill, P. J. Arrol, and C. F. Arrol. These men have built a number of flat buildings this year, but next year will double the number.

The majority of the flat buildings in Inspector Ellerbe's opinion will be confined to the hill district. Considerable ground had been bought for apartment houses on the east side of the hill, but the number in that locality will be limited.

The reason for this activity, it is said, is the unusual demand for this character of buildings. Every renting agency in the city has calls for apartments in buildings of this class almost daily, but is unable to supply them. They also rent well, something borne out by the fact that where apartments in flat

ERECT FIRST FORT TO FIGHT BAKING TRUST

St. Paul Baking Company, on Old Y. M. C. A. Site, Will Be Completed Soon.

By the first of the year the baking trust will have a formidable rival in the shape of the St. Paul Baking company, the building and plant for which is now being erected and installed at Tenth and Minnesota streets.

The structure, which will cover the old Y. M. C. A. foundations, adjoining the place of the Collins Printing company, is being erected by D. R. Noyes, and when completed will represent an expenditure of nearly $25,000. This is exclusive of the foundation. Following its completion the most modern baking plant in the Northwest will be installed by Hugo Schlenk, formerly president of the St. Paul Cold Storage company.

Roughly estimated I think the machinery that will be installed will figure in close to $25,000," said Mr. Schlenk last night, "though it may exceed that amount. It will be built on scientific principles and will be modern in every respect. We intend to do a general line of baking, and will make a strong effort to regain for St. Paul its prestige in this particular line of business."

Architecturally the building will be a counterpart of the structure occupied by the Collins Printing company, but will only be two stories high, exclusive of the basement. The plans have been ordered by Mr. Noyes so that additional stories could be added. The building will have seventy feet frontage on Tenth street and a depth of 100 feet.

Mr. Schlenk's company was incorporated several weeks ago, and though the promoters are not inclined to talk as to their future plans, it is supposed to be one of several plants now being constructed in the Northwest for the purpose of attacking the trust, known as the National Baking company.

The St. Paul company expects to have its plant in full operation by the first of the year. Plans for the superstructure were laid with the city building department yesterday by D. R. Noyes. The foundations, which were originally constructed for a Y. M. C. A. building, are now being remodeled to fit the new structure.

OPPOSE FREE LUNCH

LOCAL LIQUOR DEALERS WANT LAW ABOLISHING SALOON HAND-OUTS

Committee Gets Vote of Members, Which Stands 84 to 2 Against Present System—Would Also Do Away With Christmas Bottles.

If expressed opinions count for anything the next session of the legislature will see the passage of a law abolishing the free lunch and incidentally the Christmas bottle.

Recently the Bloomington, Ill., city council approved an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to serve free lunch and make the annual present of a Christmas bottle. The St. Paul Liquor Dealers' association took the matter up and in order to obtain expressions from their members, had printed a perforated blank and mailed one to each. These they were requested to fill out as to their views in the matter, sign and return.

Can It Be True?

Of the 320 sent out, George Hart, the chairman of the committee, yesterday received 86 replies, and of the number 84 favored an anti-free lunch law. All of this number were also in favor of abolishing the Christmas bottle.

Some weeks ago an effort was made to have the council pass an ordinance prohibiting the serving of free lunch, but it was found the measure would be of no effect. Should the remainder of the replies be of the same tenor as those so far received an effort will be made by the local association to secure passage by the legislature of laws abolishing the two evils.

ROSS CLARKE SPENDS SIX HUNDRED ONLY

Advertising Was Cheap for Defeated Candidate for Clerk of the Courts.

Ross Clarke, late a candidate for the Republican nomination for clerk of the district court, yesterday filed a sworn confession that he gave up $595 for the honor of not getting there.

Mr. Clarke declares that his extensive newspaper advertising, in which he attacked the claims of E. G. Rogers to a re-nomination, cost him $320. He also paid $50 for clerk hire, $125 for lithographic portraits of himself and for the printing, 100 for literary bills, postage, etc., and $10 for the filing fee. The items make a total of $605.

Thomas Greely, who failed to get the Democratic nomination for the legislature in the Thirty-fourth district, paid $25.

It cost Peter Bohland $25 to discover that his fellow Republicans would not nominate him for county commissioner.

CHARTER MATTER TO BE CONSIDERED MONDAY

Corporation Attorney Promises Opinion to Council at That Time.

President Haas, of the common council, yesterday issued a call for a meeting of the two council bodies for Monday evening to consider the test charter amendment submitted by the charter commission. Yesterday members of the commission, Attorney General Markham, and that official has promised to be on hand with an opinion as to whether the amendments can be considered at a special election or not. It is expected that Mr. Markham will rule in his former opinion that the amendments can only be voted on at a regular city session.

If this is the ruling, the commission announces that it will begin without delay the agitation for the passage of a new enabling act. The present act is decidedly obscure.

Deposits made on or before Oct. 5 will receive one month's interest on Jan. 1. Security Trust Company, N. Y. Life Bldg.

RECOUNT IS LEGAL

JUDGE BRILL GIVES VIEWS ON PRIMARY ELECTION LAW

Charles Anderson, After Argument, Is Accorded Chance for Reference of Case—Referees Appointed in O'Reilly Matter—Kelly Gets Recanvassed—Hamilton-Tighe Fight Goes Over.

Four Ramsey county contests over the results of the primary election were before the courts yesterday, but the only one in which argument was heard was that of Charles Anderson for a place on the Republican ticket for county commissioner.

The contest of George O'Reilly for the Democratic nomination for clerk of the district court in place of John Wagener, who was returned by the canvassing board as having led the poll, was disposed of by Judge Jaggard in short order. He announced that on the papers filed by the contestant, he would appoint referees to recount the vote. Counsel for Mr. Wagener offered no opposition, and the attorneys consenting, the court named W. R. Begg, Edward Dahl and W. H. Williams to hear and determine the contest.

The Hamilton-Tighe fight over the Republican nomination for the legislature was adjourned till Wednesday, when it will be heard by Judge Jaggard.

Will Name Referees.

Frank Kelly's contest for a place on the Democratic ticket for the county board will be decided, referees to be named tomorrow.

Judge Brill heard the Anderson case. The petitioner was represented by Franklin H. Griggs, while B. H. Scriber and Frederick Zollman appeared for the respondents.

Mr. Scriber contended that the petition should be denied because the primary law made no provision for the determination of contests, nor any reference to the appropriate sections of the state's general election statute. Other grounds of dismissal were alleged, including the insufficiency of the petitioner's affidavits, and counsel's chief point was that the application must fail for lack of jurisdiction in the court to review the findings of the canvassing board.

Mr. Griggs declared that he was ready to produce conclusive evidence that votes cast for his client had been counted out. In one precinct, he said, he had eight witnesses who would swear that they voted for Mr. Anderson, but the judges of election had only returned one vote for him in that precinct.
