THEATRICAL MAGNATE TAKES CHARGE OF AGED ACTOR'S REMAINS

BANKER BEFRIENDED BURT WHEN BOTH WERE YOUNG

Toledo Manager Mourns Sudden Demise in Minneapolis of Man Who Gave Him a Job Many Years Ago When He Was Penniless.

No one will more sincerely mourn the death of Edward H. Banker, the actor, well known to the St. Paul public as Billy Pickler, the blind fiddler, in the "Night Before Christmas," who died suddenly in a Minneapolis saloon Friday afternoon, than Frank Burt, the Toledo theatrical magnate.

A curious romance of business life brought the two together in a life-long friendship which showed itself in the claiming of Banker's body yesterday.

Is Friend in Need.

Years ago when Burt was a young man he landed in New York from a European trip without a penny in his pocket, and without employment. Banker was at that time manager of the Bowery theater and a prosperous member of the profession.

Banker, a man well along in years, had not the ambition or energy to push himself ahead and gravitated back to the stage, where he began to play in minor roles.

Takes Charge of Remains.

Since then Burt has kept a friendly eye upon his course and yesterday, when he learned that Banker was dead, ordered his remains shipped back to Toledo, where they will be buried at his expense.

The autopsy held yesterday morning discovered heart disease to have been the cause of his death. The remains were shipped to Toledo yesterday afternoon.

DAIRYMEN HAVE TROUBLES.

Conflicting Regulations Will Be Tested in the Courts.

The contest between the dairymen of Mound View and the city health authorities over the condemnation of cattle by the city veterinarians for tuberculosis, resulted yesterday in the filing of three more petitions, and seems destined to fall of settlement outside the courts.

The men complained that they are facing bankruptcy. They cannot get the township to kill their cattle because it will have to pay a third of the cost, they cannot obtain a license from the city until their cattle are killed, and they cannot sell milk without a license.

The health department blames the state board of health for not compelling the township authorities to kill the cattle, and the state board refuses behind an opinion of the attorney general and says that it can have nothing to do with the matter until the township authorities are heard from.

A factor in the situation which has made the Minneapolis authorities more obstinate in their attitude towards the dairymen was added when the dairymen employed a veterinarian to inspect the cows already inspected by the city authorities.

At various times delegations of dairymen have called upon the city authorities, but have not been able to adjust the dispute. There is now talk of taking the matter into the courts.

HEIR TO EARLDOM DIES.

Rev. Percy M. Clarendon Passes Away at Minneapolis.

Rev. Percy M. Clarendon, who claimed to be the last male descendant of Edward Hyde, earl of Clarendon, the noted historian of the English revolution, died yesterday morning at 913 Hennepin avenue.

From his proofs of lineal descent, Mr. Clarendon at various times received aid from the more fortunate members of the family to whom the estate had descended.

Mr. Clarendon came to America several years ago, and held several responsible positions on New York newspapers.

He came to Minneapolis a little over a year ago, and engaged in educational work. He had been in the city for some time, and had undergone several operations. He leaves no children. Mrs. Clarendon, the widow, became unconscious upon the announcement of his death, and it is doubtful if she will long survive him.

PORCH CLIMBERS ARE BUSY.

Lowry and Pillsbury Houses Robbed of Jewelry.

Housebreakers were at work in the resident district of Minneapolis, and within the past week have made two large hauls. The home of Thomas Lowry was entered Thursday night and diamonds and jewels valued at $2,500 were taken.

Mrs. F. C. Pillsbury's home was also robbed Thursday night and the thieves secured jewelry worth over $2,000. The robbery was discovered yesterday when Mrs. Pillsbury returned from her summer home.

RECEIVE NO ULTIMATUM.

Western Union Has Not Heard Officially From Chamber of Commerce.

Official notice of the impending ultimatum to the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce to the Western Union Telegraph company ordering it to vacate the chamber or stop furnishing quotations to bucket shops, has not as yet been served upon the telegraph company in Minneapolis.

James Cassidy, the local manager, and Isaac Michael, the superintendent, yesterday denied having received such an order, and neither of them expected to. Said Mr. Cassidy:

"I don't know what the action of our company will be. The matter will be taken up through official channels in New York when we have received some formal communication from the chamber people bearing on the subject. I don't expect the Western Union to come to any such terms as have been proposed."

THRICE STABS HIMSELF.

Joseph Holmes Puts Tragic Finish to Supper Table Quarrel.

Following a quarrel with his wife last evening, Joseph Holmes, a laborer living at 515 Fifth street south, tried to commit suicide. He stabbed himself three times in the left side with a small pocket knife.

None of the cuts are serious. The stabbing came as the culmination of a quarrel which started at the supper table last night. Holmes threatened to take his life, but little attention was paid to his threats, as on several occasions he had said that he would kill himself.

MUST SHOW THE GROCERS.

Manufacturers Will Hereafter Have to Vouch for Cereals.

The protection of the retail grocers, and incidentally their customers, through the regulation of the sales of cereal foods, is a subject to which the Minneapolis retail grocers' association is giving considerable attention.

The flooding of the market with numberless brands of new cereal foods, some of which are not "sell-ers," has occasioned such loss to the grocers, who are compelled to carry large stocks, that a committee was appointed at the meeting of the association held yesterday afternoon to formulate a plan whereby the losses may be obviated.

It was proposed by some of the members that the manufacturers be compelled to prove that their products are not only nutritious but are readily salable, as a condition to their purchase by local grocers.

SENATOR LODGE'S EVIDENT DESIRE IS TO ROAST THE COAL OPERATORS

HIS SYMPATHY IS ALL WITH THE MINERS

In a Speech in Boston the Senator Emphasizes the Necessity of Putting Some Restraint Upon Corporations—He Echoes the Party Cry, "Don't Revise the Tariff."

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 4.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge took the opportunity at a meeting of the Essex club today, held to ratify the recent state nomination, to make a notable speech, dealing with the coal situation, and also with tariff revision. He expressed earnest sympathy with and emphatic support for the president in his efforts to end the coal strike and confidence that the party would be with him in whatever further steps he might take.

"I feel rather strongly in regard to the attitude taken by some of the conferees, but I do not think it is the part of wisdom, while the matter is still pending, to inflame feeling or aggravate the situation, which is bad enough, but there is one thing which I think we can all say, and that is, that the president of the United States has acted in a manner which all Americans, without regard to party, will approve.

"The president will not let the matter rest. Aside from any economic question, the coal companies of Pennsylvania do not today stand in a position where they can ask for protection, even if they needed it.

"I think Roosevelt indulged in the wisdom of what the president has been saying in speeches in regard to the necessities of some government regulation of trusts.

"There is no trust in the anthracite region. There are certain large corporations which it is the fashion to call trusts, and there are certain large corporations in the anthracite coal fields, and this strike shows the necessity of some kind of supervision and regulation of these great corporations which produce the necessities of life, by the national government. These corporations are useful to business. They are necessary to us in the economic contests of the present time. They are as essential to modern business as anything can possibly be. They are good servants, but dangerous masters.

"There must be some power that can control them in the last resort.

"There is a cry to take the duty off coal—the little duty there is, 47 cents a ton. I should like to see congress pass a law authorizing the president to proclaim the removal of the duty on bituminous coal coming from Canada, just as soon as Canada takes off the duty on our coal going into Canada.

"Don't Reduce the Tariff.

Speaking of tariff revision he said: "The removal of the tariff on trust-made goods would be the most destructive to the competitors of the trusts and least to the trusts themselves. We need authority to regulate and supervise these trusts. The greatest safeguard in this country is publicity. If there is any secret, it is the economic policy of the president to send a commission to the coal regions and hear all there has to be said on both sides, and that nothing could be done until that was given to the public, there would be no strike or lockout. This would stop nearly all the strikes and lockouts. We should have a proper accounting from these corporations that have an air of mystery about them. To go about it by reducing the tariff is a silly proposition."

MRS. GALLAGHER NOT GUILTY.

Woman Tried for the Murder of Her Husband is Acquitted.

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Ella Gallagher, charged with Charles Halliday, with the murder of her husband, James Gallagher, was acquitted tonight after a trial lasting a week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—According to the annual report of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad system, shown in gross earnings, although most of this was consumed by increased expenses.

Briefly the report shows: Gross earnings, $10,969,848; increased $4,878,232; operating expenses, $46,863,489; increase $730,450; gross income, $28,916,402; increase $641,214; interest, taxes, etc., $2,829,085; net income, $26,087,317; increase $274,535; dividend (6 per cent), $5,961,411; increase, $211,411; surplus, $2,829,085; increase, $33,327.

This surplus, increased by premiums on the supreme court from the decision of Judge Baxter, of Fergus Falls, requiring the restoration of the station at Bluffton.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Northwest Railroad club will hold a meeting at St. Paul, Oct. 14.

The movement of wheat is still continuing heavy. There have been 25,000,000 bushels carried already, and the crop has been moving but a month.

The rate on the shipment of apples has been reduced by the lines between the Missouri river and St. Paul. The former rate for 28 cents per 100 pounds; the rate is now 25 cents per 100 pounds. The reduction will benefit shippers, and may result in a lowering of the price of apples in St. Paul.

The Northern Pacific has appealed to the supreme court from the decision of Judge Baxter, of Fergus Falls, requiring the restoration of the station at Bluffton.

MEDICAL FEE OF $25,000 FOR ATTENDING ARMOUR'S CHILD

Surgeon Brought From Vienna to Restore Hip Joint to Position.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Prof. Adolph Lorenz, of Vienna, has been summoned to Chicago in the case of Lolita Armour, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, who is suffering from congenital dislocation of the hip. An operation previously performed upon the Armour child for the purpose of curing the dislocation was not successful.

A process of the kind for a restoration of the hip joint to its proper position is the method which will be resorted to. The operation does not call for the use of the knife, but is strictly one of manipulation. Prof. Lorenz is to receive $25,000 and his expenses for his services.

The Metric System.

It is only because precedent is so persistent, and grown people become lazy and hate change, that we cling to our old, unscientific system of weights and measures, and it is the most sensible system in the world. It is easy to reckon change and make up interest. Yet when the attempt is made to apply a scientific system of measures of weight, quantity and length, there are objections that it upsets the mind.

It is considerably upset other things when the learned forces the king to sign the Magna Charta, and when the fathers of this republic signed the Declaration of Independence. Men progress by upsets, paradoxical as that may seem. But the metric system is gaining slightly, yet steadily.—Brooklyn Eagle.

FINDING THE POLE OF REAL UTILITY

The Verdict of Many Is That Its Discovery Would Be Valuable.

Is the north pole worth finding? Walter Wellman, the great explorer, answers: "One might as well ask of what use is science."

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, physician of the Bering and commander of the Miranda Antarctic expeditions, answers: "No particular scientific advantage is to be derived from the finding of the north pole itself. It is not more valuable as a point than any other point 600 or 1,000 miles away."

The great weight of scientific authority, however, sustains Wellman's statement. "We shall never accurately know the laws of aerial and oceanic currents unless we know more about what takes place in the arctic circle."

Dr. Wellman, who himself made a dash for the North Pole, says: "The pioneer who reaches the north pole will bring home valuable information concerning the magnetic and electrical forces of the earth, now so little understood, concerning meteorology and geology, the forms and extent of unknown lands, if any exist; the depth of sea and its currents, the organic life of our own and of past ages and the great problem of glaciation, which involves the history of the human race."

There, for instance, is the problem of the ellipticity of the earth's surface, which enters into every computation of earth areas or directions. Is the earth
