

MINNEAPOLIS

FIGHT BUCKET SHOPS

MINNEAPOLIS TRADERS BEGIN BATTLE BY CUTTING OFF WESTERN UNION

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SUFFERS MOST, HOWEVER

Outsiders Manage to Get Hold of Quotations, Supposedly by Telephone, Despite Efforts of 'Change Authorities' to Prevent—Telephones May Be Taken Out.

The first gun in the battle royal between the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the bucket shops in the city was fired when the order forbidding the Western Union Telegraph company to furnish the bucket shops with continuous quotations direct from the pit was carried into execution yesterday morning.

The conditions which have rendered such a step necessary have been constantly growing worse for the last two years until today the bucket shops have materially reduced the legitimate business carried on in the Chamber of Commerce. The fact that bucket shops charge one-sixteenth commission for handling orders instead of one-eighth per cent charge of the board of trade naturally attracts those who merely wish to gamble upon the turn of the market.

When the board of trade began business yesterday morning the big quotation clock, which silently registers the rise and fall of wheat prices, its conspicuous position above the quotation board was veiled behind a newspaper. Quotations from Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and New York were, as usual, posted upon the board, but not a quotation from the local pit was registered.

Gives Much Trouble.

As a matter of fact the men on the floor suffered more inconvenience than did the bucket shops at which the blow was aimed. The cash men, who always keep their weather eye on the option to govern cash sales, were much annoyed and were obliged to keep sending messengers to the howling mob in the pit to ascertain how wheat was doing. The bucket shop, on the other hand, continued to do a fairly steady, if somewhat jerky, business.

It is impossible to determine just now where the leak is, but this morning it is certain that the commission broker at their quotations without any material interference with their business. With some twenty telephones on the floor of the chamber it is not difficult for them to get word as to the progress of events, and this is undoubtedly the way in which they obtain their information. One of the leading members of the chamber said yesterday:

May Tear Out Telephones.

"This is only the beginning. If we cannot head this business off one way we shall most certainly do it another. The next move will be to take out every telephone which is now on the floor. With the Western Union held in check the quotation board screened and the floor telephones removed I think the bucket-shoppers will have to get a move on to find out what we are doing. If that does not fix them we will take further steps to remove the bucket-shoppers. We are in this fight to stay, and if we cannot win out on the first move we will stay with the game until we can."

PORCHCLIMBERS STILL AT WORK.

Burglar Is Disturbed at Residence of J. W. Christie.

An ingenious porch climber attempted to rob the residence of J. W. Christie, 337 East Sixteenth street, about 7 o'clock last evening. Christie heard a suspicious noise outside of his house and at once rushed to the front door. But when he attempted to pull it open, it would not open.

He tugged away at it for a few moments, when suddenly something came away and the door opened.

When Christie stepped out on the porch, he heard a faint scampering up the street at a rapid pace.

Upon examining the surroundings Christie found a rope dangling from the outside knob of the door. The rope had been fastened to the window sill, supporting the roof of the porch. The climber had evidently reached the roof, when interrupted, and quickly descending had cut the rope and run.

DEATH IN HORSE'S KICK.

Minneapolis Milkman Is Not Expected to Recover From Blow of Iron Shoe.

R. N. Rasmussen, a milkman, residing at 444 Minnesota avenue and Forty-eighth street, was kicked in the head by one of his horses yesterday morning and fatally injured.

His team was standing on the corner of Cedar avenue and Two-and-a-half street, and as Rasmussen passed by one of the horses, the animal raised its hind foot and struck him on the head, felling him to the ground.

Rasmussen was taken to the city hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a compound fracture of the skull. At midnight he had not recovered from his wounds and his death was expected at any moment.

BURDENED WITH CEREAL FOOD.

Minneapolis Grocers Seek Relief From Clogged Market.

The retail grocers of Minneapolis are afraid that the large amount of cereal breakfast foods they are obliged to carry will ultimately be a drug on the market and occasion them a loss there. Accordingly, at the regular meeting of the local retailers association last evening a committee of seven members was appointed to investigate the cereal situation and to report what can be done to gain the desired relief.

MILL CITY BRIEFS.

Minneapolis ministers, representing the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Congregational churches, met at their monthly union meeting yesterday forenoon, appointed a committee of three to work out the subject of Sunday observance. The meeting was conducted by Rev. William E. Blackstone, of Chicago.

Health Commissioner Hall says the quarters provided for the health department in the new city hall are entirely inadequate, and he will send the city council a protest to that effect. Not only are the rooms small, but they are so dark as to necessitate the use of artificial light at all times.

The programme of the banquet to be tendered at the Commercial club tomorrow night is now being arranged by the committee and the department of the Dakotas has been arranged. Thomas Lowry will present the address on "The Future of the State of Minnesota." Gov. S. R. Van Sant; "The Fifth Congressional District," by Congressman Loren Fletcher; "The Business Men," George L. Partridge; "At Large," John T. Fort Snelling and the Department of the Dakotas," Col. Jacob Kline; "The Commercial Club," by Quinton; "The Commissary," Maj. Pond.

Louis Anderson, an eighteen-year-old boy who was arrested a few months ago in this city for burglary, but who escaped from the central police station through the chimney, was recaptured yesterday by Lieut. Neely, Sergeant Rivier and Patrolman Erichson. Anderson was charged with robbing the sporting goods store of Nelson & Mattson.

When the chimney was climbed up the chimney, a distance of nearly fifty feet, and effected his escape, young Anderson was seen by a patrolman.

"I never had any particular training in climbing, but I think I can do a pretty good job. I got into it from something like Dockey, and if they'll but give me half a chance I'll get out of here in a short time."

The grand jury will meet again today, and most disclosures of municipal rottenness are expected.

It is rumored that the action of Mayor Ames in closing two cheap variety houses, the Park and the Standard, will be investigated. The Park theater was allowed to reopen, while the Standard was not, whereupon the proprietor of the latter resort declared he had been "jobbed."

Mamie Hoover, forty years of age, five feet in height, weighing 140 pounds, and having black hair and a dark complexion, has been missing from her home, 129 Fourteenth avenue, for more than six weeks. The police are looking for her.

Bishop S. C. Edsall, of the Episcopal diocese of Minnesota, in discussing the process of divorce in the state of Iowa, goes even further than the Iowa prelate. Bishop Edsall would even prevent any divorced persons from marrying again. Speaking upon the subject yesterday, Bishop Edsall said:

"I understand that Bishop Morrison says that in licensing any of his clergy to solemnize the marriage of a person having a divorced wife living, and who asks to be married by a ministerial cleric, on the ground of being the innocent party in a divorce for adultery, he will not go behind the decree of a court which granted the divorce. This is precisely my own position. Two years ago in North Dakota I issued a pastoral letter announcing this position, and I propose to adhere to the same ruling in Minnesota. I consider it my sacred duty to work a hardship, where some innocent party has been divorced from the other because of the latter's adultery, but for the sake of avoiding scandal, preserving the good name of the children, or otherwise, or to have it entered in the decree. One may sympathize with such a position, but I do not believe it is the duty of a ministerial cleric to do so. A bishop has no power of summoning and compelling the attendance of witnesses. Consequently any investigation and decision of his, not based upon a decree of a civil court, must be ex parte. He may be virtually deciding the case for the absent party, who has no opportunity of defense, has been guilty of adultery. At all events, that is the clear implication."

"The divorce evil is a serious menace to the preservation of American homes. I do not believe that any ministerial cleric should be glad to see our present legislation, which is so far from being for any of our clergy to perform the marriage of any person who had a divorced husband or wife still living, no matter what the cause of the divorce."

CONSOLIDATION IN MEXICO.

Government Buys a Railroad to Prevent Monopoly.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Oct. 6.—El Economista, a leading weekly, discusses the financial world, which reflects official views to some extent, has an article on the recent purchase by the government of the controlling interest in the Inter-oceanic railway between this city and the Port of San Blas, in the Gulf of Mexico. It traces the growing power of great railway companies here, increasing continually by constant additions and purchases of connecting lines, and declares that the Mexican Central railway, with its new acquisitions, is at the head of one group, while the National railroad, whose gauge is standard gauge, is at the head of another. First is the Rockefeller group, and second is the Speyer group.

It is said to have been contemplating buying the control of the Inter-oceanic railway, which would have made the Mexican Central a very powerful in railway affairs here, and the government determined to checkmate the great American railway consolidators by buying the Inter-oceanic for itself and so preventing the approach of monopoly, which it claims to have foreseen in transportation.

It might say El Economista, that have been superficially judged that with the Mexican Central group on one side and the Speyer group on the other, they could not be periled from lack of competition in railway rates, but recent American history shows that great rivalry often combine interests and make the public defensible.

TO AVOID BEING POISONED.

Excuse the Negro Avey Gives for Killing Rachael Davis.

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 6.—Dan Avery, a negro accused of the murder of Rachael Davis, colored, of Milwaukee, in this city Saturday night, was captured today by the police of Waukegan, Ill. Avery fell to his knees and prayed that his life be spared. He was brought to jail at Waukegan and the authorities in this city notified. He will be brought here. Avery claims that he killed the Davis woman to avoid himself being poisoned.

Death of an Orthopedic Specialist.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Dr. Abel M. Phelps, an orthopedic specialist, died today at the postgraduate hospital from abdominal trouble. Dr. Phelps was born at Alburt Springs, Vt., in 1851. He was president of the American Orthopedic society.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF THE IRRIGATION CONGRESS AT COLORADO SPRINGS

DANIEL W. LAWLER, OF ST. PAUL, SPEAKS ELOQUENTLY

He Says There Are No Party Lines in This Work and That Minnesotans Are With the Irrigationists Heart and Soul—President Walsh Gives a Forceful Address.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Oct. 6.

—The tenth National Irrigation congress opened this afternoon under circumstances especially auspicious. Great significance is lent to the congress this year through the fact that the irrigation movement has been taken out of the sphere of merely a propaganda and given a national importance, through the action of the last congress in passing a bill authorizing the proceeds from the sale of state lands to be used for irrigation purposes in the several states.

The indications are that the congress will be the most largely attended in its history. President Roosevelt sent the following letter, which was read:

"Accept my hearty good wishes. Nothing has been done in which I have taken greater interest during my administration than the inauguration of nationally aided irrigation."

High Personnel of the Congress.

The morning was taken up with the

and the American Forestry association, which joins in this convention.

Declared by President Walsh.

"The Humanitarian Aspect of National Irrigation" was the subject of Mr. Walsh's address. In opening he said:

"We are here not merely to discuss measures, to formulate resolutions and map out a plan of campaign as we have so often done on former occasions. But we are here, first of all, to celebrate a great victory, to rejoice at the birth of a new policy which the national irrigation congress has given the nation. It is a happy hour in the history of the great

After paying a tribute to the "patriotic, far-sighted and enthusiastic men who inaugurated the movement some years ago, and referring to the work of the national association as an auxiliary and co-worker of this congress, President Walsh said:

"There could have been no substantial success at this early day had we not been extremely fortunate in the character of our public men in Washington. First and foremost our grateful acknowledgments are due to Theodore Roosevelt, without the powerful aid of the administration we could not possibly have succeeded in inaugurating the new policy at so early a day."

Dream of Home and Independence.

Referring to the importance to the country as a whole of national irrigation, Mr. Walsh said:

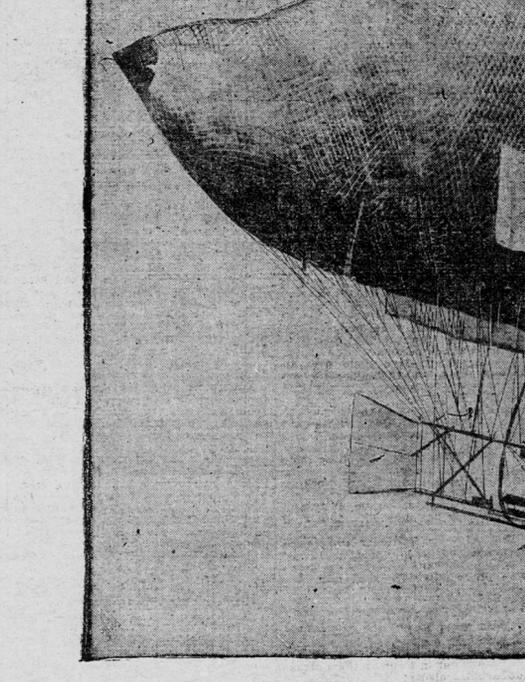

"It is not the dream of empire that may come to a great nation with the conquest of a territory which appeals to my imagination. But it is the dream of home and independence which will come to many a struggling family with the announcement that one more fair valley of arid America has been thrown open to settlement at the actual cost of reclamation, to which I desire to direct your attention."

"What does it mean to the nation to have millions of people who gradually pass from the servitude of the town to the sovereignty of the country? It means, my friends, the enlistment of a new army for the defense of the republic in every hour of need. Give a man a home on the soil and you have made a patriot who will defend your institutions at the ballot box and in the battle field."

Mr. Lawler Speaks.

Daniel W. Lawler, of St. Paul, eloquently told of Minnesota's interest in irrigation and her desire to co-operate with the West as a whole in bringing the greatest possible good out of the opportunities that present themselves.

PROF. STEVENSON, AMERICA'S SANTOS DUMONT.

If the claims of Prof. Stevenson, of New York, for his wonderful aero drome are substantiated, the glory of possessing the first aerial machine that really flies will go to America after all. So far attempts of Prof. Stevenson to make his wonderful craft leave terra firma have not been altogether successful, but the inventor claims this is due to superficial defects, which will be shortly remedied.

reception of delegates from all parts of the West, morning trains having brought large delegations from Minnesota, Nebraska, Utah, Oregon, California and Arizona.

The personnel of this congress is regarded as decidedly higher in character than that of any previous irrigation gathering and Thomas F. Walsh, president of the congress, said today: "I look for the most successful gathering in the history of the irrigation movement."

The congress opened with an invocation by Dr. Edward Brailsford, of Colorado Springs, and the National Candy company was affected yesterday at a meeting held at the West hotel. Those present were: A. W. Paris of the Paris-Morton company; E. H. Newell, of the National Candy company; Frank P. Reed, corporation lawyer of Chicago, and Henry Semple Ames, of the Appippi Valley Trust company, of St. Louis.

Mr. Paris, when seen after the conference, declined to say why he had been compelled. "I do not know that there will be anything to report," was his reply, when asked for a statement.

Mr. Paris denied that the candy business was going into a trust but declared that the interests of the candy manufacturers of the country had become a part of a combine, with a capitalization of $5,000,000.

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

Else No Money Is Wanted.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month and, if it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you. Simply write me a postal card or letter. I will send you my book about Rheumatism and in order for the medicine. Take it for a month, as it won't harm you anyway.

If it fails, it is free, and I leave the decision to you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 761, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At a druggist.

HELD FOUR LADIES

SHARP THOUGHT FOUR QUEENS GOOD BUT FOUR KINGS BETTER

He Was Dextrous With the Cards, but on the Big German Liner He Met His Waterloo—Western Man Gets Into the Game and Gives Costly Lesson.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—While the passengers of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, in from Bremen and Southampton, were being landed yesterday, it was observed that many made further reference to ocean gamblers and that others looked suspiciously at a fellow traveler, one who wore a suit of clothes that was hardly large enough to show the whole pattern and who wore besides a "search-me" sort of defiance in his expression.

No one was eager to talk, but at last one man was found who agreed to explain what so many were hinting at, but only on the stipulation that his name be withheld. It may be said that he represents a well known banking institution in this city, and that he frequently makes trips abroad.

"On the first day out," he said, "I noticed among the passengers one whom I immediately recognized as a card sharp. I had been shipmates with him before—had fallen in with him several times, but recently only on German ships, though I had heard from others that he formerly patronized the English lines."

Four Queens Often.

"As I had no intention of playing cards myself I thought no more about him until at dinner one night I overheard a conversation about a poker game that was running in the smoking room and the frequency with which a certain player always held four of a kind when full houses were held by members of the rival organization. This forced the shop to close and 600 employees were thrown out of work.

Later in the day all the other firms were notified that they would have to meet the same situation tomorrow unless the special order men left their places or joined the Garment Workers' union.

A special order union meeting was held this afternoon at which the women belonging to the organization agreed to join the fight. Tonight two more meetings were held, and at each similar pledges were given, over 3,000 men, women and girls agreeing to enter the contest.

RATS AND EGGS FELL

THREE HUNDRED FEET

Glasses Unbroken, Rats Unhurt, Water Unspilled, Only Three Eggs Cracked

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 6.—Two rats were the only passengers on a record-breaking elevator drop of 300 feet in city hall tower. The animals were none the worse for their rapid trip. Their survival, with the unbroken condition of eggs and trail tumbler that were in the car at the time bore evidence to the effectiveness of the air cushions applied to the elevator just constructed in the tower.

The trial was made in the presence of a score of spectators, who occupied a platform at the top of the air cushion, eighty-five feet above the bottom of the shaft. The safety cushion is an enclosed portion of the lower section of the shaft.

When the rope was cut the car shot by the spectators on the platform at the rate of two miles a minute. Clouds of dust were thrown out, but there was no jar as the car struck the air well with a booming noise and was gradually brought to a stop at the bottom.

It occupied about seven seconds in falling. The rats were safe and sound, but scared. The water was not spilled and only three eggs were cracked.

A BIG, FAT SWEET POTATO EXPLODED LIKE A BOMB

Woman Injured by Singular Accident While Cooking Dinner.

GARDNER, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Jesse Paine, Crawford street, suffered a severe burn on her face from the most peculiar accident that has been reported in a long time. Mrs. Paine was removing a large baked sweet potato from the oven for her husband's dinner when the potato exploded with the noise of a pistol.

Pieces of potato skin hit her face in several places, cutting painful gashes and burning her badly. One eye was turned black and blue by the force of the blow, and a physician had to be summoned to attend to Mrs. Paine's injuries.

It is supposed that the potato was hollow, and that the moisture in the cavity made it possible for steam to be generated. The jar caused by the dropping of the hot potato into the dish caused it to break just as Mrs. Paine was handling it.

Will Troops Be Effectual?

Conflicting Claims as to the Result on Work at the Mines.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 6.—With the whole division of the national guard in the field there will be twenty-three soldiers for each of the 430 mining operations and a little more than one for every two men now at work about the mines.

I have no settled opinion here as to what effect the calling out of the whole guard will have. The operators have maintained all along that it would break the strike by inducing to return to the mines thousands of men who they assert are only deterred now from so doing by fear of violence. The strike leaders have been saying the calling out of the three brigades had no tendency to break the strike, but on the other hand, that it has had the effect of deterring them from returning to work.

But I refused to bet, and lucky for him I didn't, as he would have lost again, providing he had anything left to lose."

MEDIUM IN TRANCE STATE

SAW THE BOLD ROBBERY.

Police Found Money and Got Second Sight of Thieves Very Soon.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 6.—Robbers grabbed $1,000 from the trunk store of George McMaisters at No. 211 Centre street, and as it afterwards proved took it to No. 484 Webster avenue and hid it under a pile of soft coal.

McMaisters is a spiritualist. He called in one of his mediums. The medium went into a trance. In his second sight, he saw the robbery. He saw the robbers to the coal pile and gave a description of the men to McMaisters.

McMaisters then called in the police, went to the coal pile, a mile away, and found the money, minus $10, just where the clairvoyant said he saw it. The police got a second-sight description of the thieves.
