BAKERS WANT PRICE OF BREAD FIXED BY LAW

Would Have Loaves Stamped With the Weight at Rate of 5 Cents a Pound.

Local bread dealers want the city council to pass an ordinance compelling the branding of every loaf of bread sold with figures denoting its weight.
Ald. Dobner has been requested to introduce the measure and will do so at the next meeting of the council. The bakers request that if it is a 5-cent loaf "one pound" be stamped upon it, and if a 10-cent loaf that it shall be stamped "two pounds." This is practically dictating the price that bread shall be sold at and the legal department outcomes come doubter. ent entertains some doubt as to

J. W. GATES' BATTLE FOR CON TROL OF COLORADO FUEL SHIFTS TO ST. PAUL

ARGUMENTS TO BE HEARD BEFORE JUDGE SANBORN

John C. Osgood and Other Stockholders Seek Leave to Appeal From Order of Judge Caldwell, Appointing Master in Chancery to Preside at a Meeting of Stockholders.

John W. Gates, multi-millionaire, plunger, the man who cornered wheat last summer, and who for several years has been in the habit of stepping in and upsetting the speculative market, to the undoing of the unwary, was the principal figure in the battle for milons that was transerred to the United there were those among the stock-holders who were not satisfied, and the question of who should direct the affairs of the company has been before the courts in many guises since then. Yesterday the matter came up in the form of a hearing on the petition of John C. Osgood and some of his fellow directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company for permission to appeal from an order of United States Circuit Judge Caldwell, appointing a master in chancery to preside at a meeting of the stockholders of the company, to be held Dec. 10. A stipulation was entered into yes-terday by which the court sent to the clerk of the circuit court at Denver an clerk of the circuit court at Denver an order granting the petition, which, if not countermanded by telegraph before next Saturday, will, on that day, become effective. This action was taken because Saturday is the last day upon which the order may be filed. The hearing of the arguments on the petition will begin this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Sanborn.

Fight Began Year and a Half Ago. The fight for the control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, which possesses properties estimated to be worth fully $50,000,000, began in April 18, 1901, when John W. Gates and some of his associates got control of the company. At the annual meeting in August, 1901, J. W. Gates, J. J. Mitchell and John Lambert, of Chicago, and J. A. Blair, of New York, were elected directors of the company. The board numbers thirteen members numbers thirteen members.
Shortly after this election, a controversy arose between the chairman of the directors, John C. Osgood, and J. W. Gates, Osgood claiming that Gates wanted to sell the company to the steel trust, which Gates denied.

The affair came to a crisis in July of this year, when Gates attempted to control a majority of the stock for the purpose of electing the directors at the meeting, Aug. 20. In July Gates brought successful action in New York against the assistant secretary of the Colorado Fuel company and the Knickerbocker Trust company, to compel the trust company to permit him to ex-amine the stock books of the fuel company. He afterward brought three suits in the Colorado state courts against the fuel company to compel an inspection of the stock books and to require the directors to keep stock books in accordance with the laws of Colorado. One suit was shendered by Gates then brought suit in the Unit-Gates then brought suit in the United States circuit court at Denver to invalidate the by-laws passed in the interest of the present directors and to compel the directors to select the list of stockholders found on the books of the Knickerbocker Trust company.

Closing Out Stockholders. The present management claimed that any member holding stock at the time of the annual meeting had a right to vote. The books of the Knickerbocker Trust company are closed twenty days before the annual meeting twenty days before the annual meeting and the owners of stock by transfers made after that time would be without voice in the meeting.

Judge Riner, of the United States circuit court, decided the case adversely to Gates on Aug. 19, the night preceding the annual meeting. The controversy was then at so acute a stage that it was feared that two boards of directors would be elected and thereupon George F. Bartlett, a stockholder, brought an action in the state courts and obtained an injunction against the States circuit court of appeals in St. Paul yesterday.

The fact that his burly figure was not visible in the court room afforded relief to the people who are battling with him for control of the property of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

As nothing could be done, action was postponed for two weeks, and both sides notified so that they could be present.

Schurmeier Is Backing It. The ordinance proposing the use of the Broadway loop by the two lines is the work of Ald. Dahlquist, and he is being backed by Assemblyman Schurmeier, who has property interests in the East end.
