ZIONISTIC MOVEMENT CAN'T BE REALIZED

Rabbi Rypins Says It is Visionary and That No Sultan Would Sell Palestine.

"The contention of the more rational element among the Jews is that the Zionist movement is visionary, a dream, and cannot be realized," said Rabbi Rypins, of the Mount Zion Temple, last evening, when shown a cablegram stating that France and Russia had stepped in to prevent the proposed sale of Palestine to the Jews by the sultan of Turkey.

"I have not heard of this action on the part of France and Russia," continued Rabbi Rypins, "but my idea has been from the start that even if the money to purchase Palestine could be secured, no sultan would sell the territory in opposition to European powers."

"It is a mistake to call those who do not favor the purchase of Palestine anti-Zionists; there is no such class. It is true there are Zionists who favored the purchase of the country, not as a return to a religious worship, but for the purpose of colonization. There is a concerted effort to scatter the thickly populated districts of New York into different sections of the country, and this plan is being carried out with good results. It has been instrumental in securing homes for a large number of Roumanian and Russian war refugees. It is the hope of the plan of colonization along the line of the Palestine scheme is so large and visionary that in my opinion it will not and cannot be successful."

FLOWER SHOW WILL OPEN THIS AFTERNOON

Arrangements Are Completed for a Most Attractive Social Event.

The St. Paul flower show, which promises to be one of the events of the season, not only from the horticultural, but from the social standpoint, will open informally at the Army this afternoon.

The formal opening of the show will not take place until this evening, when Gov. S. R. Van Sant and staff, Mayor Smith, of St. Paul; Acting Mayor of Minneapolis D. Percy Jones and the executive committee of the show will be present. The decorations for the occasion will be of the most brilliant and the hostesses will all dress in colonial costume.

The daily programmes have been carefully arranged. Each day will be featured by representing some country in the costumes of women attending. The colonial, the Japanese and German costumes are among those which will be worn. The decorations for the occasion will be of the most brilliant and the hostesses will all dress in colonial costume.

LAYS CORNER STONE

BISHOP EDSELL OFFICIATES AT A MOST INTERESTING AND SIGNIFICANT CEREMONY.

Officials of the Great Northern Have Received No Report of His Whereabouts.

Nothing was heard at the Great Northern offices yesterday regarding Benjamin F. Egan, superintendent of the Kalpel division, who has been lost in the mountain districts of Montana for over a week.

What has happened to Mr. Egan can only be conjectured. He may have fallen a prey to the grizzlies or other large game that inhabit the mountains, or may be lost within a few miles from where he was separated from his hunting party.

C. C. Ponsbury, chief train dispatcher for the Great Northern, said last night that nothing was heard yesterday from the parties in charge of the search. A. H. Egan, a brother of the missing man, has gone to Montana to take personal charge of the hunt.

KALISPELL, Mont., Nov. 9.—There have been no developments in the Egan search, notwithstanding a reward of $1,000 has attracted more men into the district. Another party left Columbia for Hungry Horse this afternoon. It is now impossible to get

LARGE ASSEMBLY WITNESSES THE EVENT

Impressive Procession Follows the Bishop and Assisting Clergymen From the Old Church and Foundation Stone of New Church of St. John the Evangelist is Laid.

Amid impressive ceremonies and in the presence of a large concourse of people, the corner stone of the new church of St. John the Evangelist was laid yesterday noon by Rt. Rev. Sam. C. Edsall, bishop of the diocese of Minnesota.

The service in the church and those of laying the corner stone occupied nearly two hours and were followed with deep interest by the assemblage which gathered to take part in the exercises. In spite of the chilling wind, which blew over the city, a crowd that blocked both Kent street and Portland avenue, participated in the services to the end and was constantly augmented by persons attracted by the ceremonies.

The services in the church which preceded the laying of the corner stone, were presided over by Bishop Edsall, assisted by Archdeacon Haupt, Rev. E. P. Johnson, of Chicago, and Rev. Daniels, of the colored mission of St. Phillips. Bishop Edsall preached the sermon. His subject was "Christ, the Foundation Stone of Christianity." His discourse was woven about the theme that the church is the spiritual building, visible and beautiful, founded upon Christ, and made by individuals in whom exists the Christ life.

An Impressive Procession. At the close of the service in the church, a procession, headed by Bishop Edsall and his assistants, the clergymen of other Episcopal churches in St. Paul, the vestry of the church, the choir, the congregation and the Sunday school, marched out to lay the corner stone, the choir singing as the processional hymn "The Church's One Foundation is Jesus Christ, her Lord."

The bishop and his assistant clergymen gathered about the corner stone and the crowd arranged itself in a semi-circle and huddled together for warmth. Bishop Edsall read the first part of the ritual, the people responding. Then with a sign of the cross he marked the stone with a trowel, saying:

"In the name of the Father, of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. O Lord, Holy Father, almighty Everlasting God, vouchsafe to bless and consecrate this stone for the foundation of a church in honor of St. John the Evangelist, and grant that whosoever, with pure mind, shall assist in the building of the same by the help of his hands or by the offering of his substance, may obtain health of body and grace of soul, through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

Following this invocation came further reading of the ritual and notice of the contents of the corner stone.

Corner Stone is Laid. The corner stone was swung and lowered into place and tapping it three times the bishop said:

"In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. 'I lay the corner stone of this building to be here erected by the name of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, to be devoted to the service of Almighty God according to the belief, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States. This stone is laid, even Jesus Christ, who is God over all, blessed for ever more, and through whose blood we have obtained the forgiveness of sins. Amen.'"

Bishop Edsall then delivered a short address and offered a prayer, closing the services with his blessing.

NEW TASK ON THE HANDS OF SENATOR KNUTE NELSON

He Will Help Investigate Statehood Claims of Three Territories.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Senators Beveridge, of Indiana; Nelson, of Minnesota; Dillingham, of Vermont; Bate, of Tennessee, and Hefelford, of Idaho, will leave Chicago tomorrow night for Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona to investigate those territories' claims to statehood. The five senators are the members of the senatorial committee on territories, and it is likely that their report will have much weight with the upper house of congress.

The first meeting will be held probably tomorrow afternoon. At this meeting plans will be discussed and a rule that will cover all of the important cities of the three territories will be mapped out.

ARBITRATORS DISALLOW THE CLAIMS OF DR. SCHADLE AND C. H. F. SMITH.

The suit of Dr. Jacob E. Schadle for $21,000 against Charles H. F. Smith, of the brokerage firm of C. H. F. Smith & Co., over the sale of 1,000 shares of Manhattan stock on May 9, 1901, has been compromised by the board of arbitrators to whom the controversy was submitted. By the terms of the award both the claim of Dr. Schadle against Smith for $21,000 and the counter-claim of Smith against Schadle for $15,000 are cancelled, and neither party receives anything from the other on account of his respective claims.

The note and mortgage for $15,000 deposited by Dr. Schadle as security on margins remains a valid obligation. The findings close with a recommendation that Emerson Hadley fix the compensation of the arbitrators.

Dr. Schadle brought suit in May this year to recover $21,000 damages for the alleged illegal sale of 1,000 shares of Manhattan stock during a stock flurry on May 9. Smith denied that the sale was unauthorized and in a counter-claim for $15,000 for an alleged balance owed him by Dr. Schadle on the deal.

Suit Was Tried Twice. The suit was twice tried in the district court and in both instances the verdict was for Dr. Schadle. The suit entered into a stipulation for an arbitration of the suit. Cyrus Wellington was selected by Dr. Schadle and W. J. Upham, H. P. Upham. The matter was submitted Oct. 19 and the award handed down Saturday.

Dr. Schadle when interviewed in regard to the decision of the arbitrators said:

"I claim this as a victory for myself. If I had not brought suit for $21,000 they would have sought to collect $15,000 claim and would have been out that much. Now, although I do not get my claim, neither do they get theirs, so it is a practical victory for me."

The decision of the arbitrators is as follows: Decision of Arbitrators. Jacob E. Schadle, claimant, vs. Charles H. F. Smith, respondent, before H. P. Upham, C. Wellington, J. W. Lusk, arbitrators.

The above matter came duly and regularly to be heard and determined by the arbitrators on the 19th day of October, 1902, and the parties appeared in due form by the parties under the articles of agreement dated October 19th, 1902, and the arbitrators considered the testimony submitted and full and lengthy discussions of all the facts and law, and on both the principal issues between the parties and the pleadings.

The written articles of submission, to the effect that the arbitrators were not to be bound by the strict rules of law, and that they were to be guided by their own sense of justice, was agreed to by both parties, and the arbitrators were to be guided by their own sense of justice, and to that end may compromise matters in and about the pleadings.

Acting under that clause and believing in the interests of both parties that the differences between them should be fully and finally settled, we unanimously and by a majority of three to one, as a compromise, the following award:

Both Claims Disallowed. "First—We unanimously award and agree to dismiss the claims of both parties that the claim of said Schadle against said Smith be and the same hereby is disallowed, cancelled and extinguished, and neither party shall receive anything from the other on account of his respective claims, and the mortgage referred to in the articles to remain a valid obligation.

"Second—That the claim of balance due to said Schadle by said Smith be and the same hereby is disallowed, cancelled and extinguished, and neither party shall receive anything from the other on account of his respective claims, and the mortgage referred to in the articles to remain a valid obligation.

"The arbitrators, Emerson Hadley, Esq., attorney at law, who has acted in this arbitration for both parties, fix the compensation of the arbitrators as follows: 'Witness our hands this 8th day of November, 1902.' Henry P. Upham, J. W. Lusk, Cyrus Wellington, Arbitrators."

REMOVE HAIRPIN FROM YOUNG WOMAN'S BRAIN

Physicians Perform Successful Operation and Miss Lindquist Will Recover.

Miss Lillian Lindquist, the North St. Paul young woman who is suffering from brain fever, as a result of running a steel hairpin into her brain, was somewhat improved yesterday. For several hours during the morning Miss Lindquist was conscious, although she suffered great pain.

Yesterday afternoon the attending physicians operated upon the woman and removed the wire, which penetrated her skull, and was broken off when the main part of the hairpin was removed by Mrs. Lindquist, the girl's mother.

Immediately upon the removal of the wire Miss Lindquist appeared to get relief and for the first time in several days made an attempt to speak. While still in a serious condition, the physicians now have hopes of the young woman's ultimate recovery, although it will be several days before she is out of danger. Her fever is still high and again last night she was delirious for over an hour.

CROWD IN ST. LOUIS TRIES TO LYNCH MOTORMAN

He Runs His Car Into a Wagon and Hurts Eight People.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 9.—A run containing three men, one of whom was a street car driver, tonight and eight were injured. The crowd attracted made an unsuccessful attempt to lynch the man and car conductor, but the police interfered. The wagon was turned over by the collision and the occupants thrown in every direction. Loretto Ford, a fifteen-year-old girl, was injured internally. The other three received severe bruises. The carmen were taken to the police station for safety.

Several persons were seriously injured. The murderers escaped, but Odziejewski was arrested two hours later. He is said to have struck the fatal blow. Mortura is still at large.

TELLS MEN NOT TO BE ASHAMED OF FAITH

Judge Seldon P. Spencer, of St. Louis, Addresses a Y. M. C. A. Mass Meeting.

Seldon P. Spencer, a judge of the circuit court of Missouri at St. Louis, addressed a mass meeting at the Young Men's Christian association rooms yesterday afternoon on "Men Who Are Not Ashamed." The meeting was attended by about 200 men and a sprinkling of women. W. M. Parsons, of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., presided over the assembly.

Rev. George M. Morrison opened the meeting, with prayer, and Rev. W. B. Bly, of the Pacific Congregational church, pronounced the benediction. A pleasing musical programme was contributed by the Orpheus quartette and the Globe Business College orchestra.

Judge Spencer made a stirring plea for belief in the Bible as an inspired word of God, and for a more open acknowledgment of religious faith. He said in part:

"If ever the nation needed men who are not ashamed of their faith, it is now in this present age. Not only in the city of New York, but throughout the nation, we must look to them in this hour of need. The man who has faith must be the bulwark of the nation."

"I am constantly reminded of the command of the Apostle Paul: 'Be not ashamed of the testimony of God's word.' There has been in the progress of the world an inclination to throw doubt upon the inspiration of the Bible, upon the miracles, upon the story of the sun standing still, but all these things are the nations' man's puny brain fade from sight when they stand upon the solid ground of the Bible. 'When God told Noah to build an ark of gopher wood and gave him the dimensions, he said, 'I will be with thee and will prosper thee.' Why Noah probably lived in a little valley, howed through by a rivulet where there had been a flood, and when Noah started to build, his neighbors laughed at him; made fun of him; and when he had finished, they said, 'You are a fool. You have wasted your money and your time. You have built a fool's errand. You have never portended a flood. But Noah built his ark because he had faith. He was not ashamed.'"

Judge Spencer made two addresses in St. Louis yesterday, and is completing a tour of several states.

MRS. D. C. SHEPARD DEAD

SHE WAS THE WIFE OF THE VETERAN RAILROAD BUILDER

During the Past Three Years Mrs. Shepard Had Been a Confirmed Invalid, Hence the Fiftieth Anniversary of Golden Wedding Was Not Celebrated—Was Seventy-Two Years of Age.

Mrs. Frances Aurelia Shepard, wife of David C. Shepard, the builder of the Great Northern road, died yesterday at the family residence, 224 Dayton avenue. Death resulted from heart failure and came as the culmination of three years of illness, during which time Mrs. Shepard had been a confirmed invalid.

Several times within the past year her condition became such that her life was despaired of, and she was only her great abundance of latent vitality that brought her through several spells of severe sickness.

Began to Fail Two Weeks Ago. About two weeks ago there was a decided improvement in Mrs. Shepard's condition, and since then she sank rapidly, although at times she rallied. However, little hope of her ultimate recovery existed, and the family because of Mrs. Shepard's advanced age and her extremely weak state.

Mrs. Shepard was born in New York seventy-two years ago. She was the daughter of Philip Parsons, a western New York pioneer. Miss Parsons was educated at the schools of her native state. In 1852, when twenty-one years of age, Miss Parsons was married to David C. Shepard, a railroad contractor. Five years later she and the railroad bond in the Northwest was just in its infancy. Mr. Shepard and his wife removed to St. Paul and since then have resided here.

During her forty-five years of residence in St. Paul, Mrs. Shepard had been prominently connected with the work of the Episcopal church, and also many charitable and benevolent institutions.

Married Fifty Years. Several weeks ago the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard's marriage occurred. Owing to Mrs. Shepard's illness the event was not celebrated.

Mrs. Shepard is survived by her husband and one son, Frank P. Shepard. The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Rev. Charles D. Andrews, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, will officiate at the services. The interment will be at Oakland cemetery will be private.

GERMAN AMERICANS HAVE A FEAST DAY

Deutscher Tag Observed for the First Time in New York City—A German Prince Present.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—"Deutscher Tag," a German festival which has been celebrated in other parts of the country for over twenty years, was observed for the first time in this city this afternoon and evening. Ten thousand Germans gathered in Madison Square garden and made festival in honor of the first landing of Germans in America.

The ceremonies were honored by the presence of Prince Henry von Fleiss, the representative of the German emperor at the dedication of the new Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Herr Herman, representative of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce.

The family of the late Gen. Franz Sigel occupied a box as special guests of honor. L. A. Wiseman, president of the Baltimore Saengerfest association, accompanied by a delegation of German Americans of that city, took part in the garden was decorated in the German colors, black, red and white, alternating with the American colors.

Dr. H. A. C. Anderson, president of the German-American societies, under whose direction the "Deutscher Tag" was given, delivered the address of the day. He called attention to the fact that other nations, such as Italy, have a distinctive national holiday, while the Germans make no such demonstration. He said a German day such as the Inmenen's St. Patrick's day was the design of the Deutscher Tag. He declared that since the days of Herkimer and Steuben in the Revolution, and Sigel and Carl Schurz in the Rebellion, Germans had done their duty to the adopted fatherland in war and peace, in science, art, music and agriculture.

Dr. Anderson reviewed the flag-bearers of all the societies, and to the accompaniment of orchestra and band, the crowd marched to the German anthem, "Deutschland, Deutschland, Über Alles."

CHILDREN'S HOME

A Well Run Place. At a children's home in Fort Wayne, Ind., the children are given a abandoned coffee because of the bad effect of it.

Mrs. M. B. Gorsline, who is the matron, is meeting with great success. She is compiling a book and hopes to discontinue the use of coffee and after making several experiments concluded that Postum filled the bill and has used it ever since.

She has charge of a family of children numbering from 22 to 30 and writes us: "I give Postum Coffee freely, using no coffee at all. The children are always well; we have had no sickness for two years, except such as they contract at school like whooping cough, measles, etc. No bilious attacks, no fevers, no skin diseases. The children are all plump and in good condition. Clear complexion, no red or muddily looking faces, such as result from the use of coffee. We always make Postum strictly according to directions and it gives pleasure and health to all."

RUNAWAY KATE OBEYS HER MASTER'S "WHOA"

Frightened Mare Gallups Madly Through the Streets Until Halted by Her Owner.

"Whoa, Kate." Instantly obeying this command the wild runaway came to a standstill. The horse turned at Fifth and through the business district of the city, traveling at a high rate of speed. All attempts to stop the half-crazed mare proved fruitless until her master was called and commanded the animal to stop. As if by magic the word had the desired effect and "Kate" came to a halt.

Shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday morning "Kate" broke away from where she was tied, near the old postoffice. Frank O'Lea, a Globe carrier boy, was in the street at the time. Before he had traveled thirty feet the wagon was upset and the rear wheels separated from the box.

Dragging the remnants of the wagon, the horse turned at Fifth and through Wabasha streets and dashed down toward Fourth street. Here it again turned, and in front of the Germania Life building the horse fell to the pavement, but before it could be secured, was again on its feet rushing madly down Third street.

Without another jump, Kate stood still and then allowed her master to lead her home. The wagon was completely demolished but Kate was all over.

"Bross," the Barber, Explains Just What an Eclipse Means, and Cites a Few Figures to Make His Meaning Clear—Meanwhile the Crowd Clears on Him.

When Jack, the negro janitor, went into the Ralph Avenue saloon in Brooklyn, he found Bross, the barber, explaining to Kib-nee-kamp, the boss, just what an eclipse meant.

It was almost midnight. Salvo, the bootblack, was asleep in the corner. Three tired letter carriers, who had completed their day's work, were at the end of the bar purchasing postage stamps with iron on.

At a table in the rear, room old Constant Reader was sipping beer from a glass held in his left hand, while with his right he studied the newspaper file.

Pincoble Pete and his pal "Donovan" were making the lunch counter look like a subway station of Fourth Avenue on rainy day. They had turned the cheese and were hoisting the scrap material with both hands when they heard the barber say:

"Sure a eclipse is der shadow from der moon across der earth's elliptical."</
