

Marvelous Growth of Hair

A Famous Doctor-Chemist Has Discovered a Compound Making Hairs Grow on a Bald Head in a Single Night.

Starting Announcement Causes Doctors to Marvel and Stand Dumbfounded at the Wonderful Cures.

The Discoverer Sends Free Trial Packages to All Who Write.

After half a century spent in the laboratory, crowned with high honors for his many world-famous discoveries the celebrated physician-chemist at the head of the great Altemheim Medical Dispensary, has just made the startling announcement that he has produced a compound that grows hair on any bald head. The doctor makes the claim after long experiments, taking years to complete, he has at last reached the goal of his ambition. To the doctor, the cure is not any man, woman or child to take his or anyone else's word for it, but he stands alone and willing to send free trial packages of this remarkable remedy. If you are ready to believe that there is a cure for the cures already made is truly marvelous and were it not for the high standing of the great physician and the convincing testimony of thousands of citizens all over the country, it would seem too miraculous to be true. There can be no doubt of the doctor's

MISS CLARISSA KERBY and Her Marvelous Growth of Hair.

CODE SAVES MONEY

WAR DEPARTMENT SENDS TELEGRAPHIC CYPHER MESSAGES TO PHILIPPINES

SINGLE WORDS ARE MADE TO REPRESENT SENTENCES

Much Labor Has Been Devoted to Preparation of Code of 25,000 Sentences to Be Used in Telegraphic Communications—Unique Words Are Coined.

The employment of the telegraphic code in transmitting messages between the United States and the Philippines has resulted in a substantial saving under the war department of the public funds. This may be appreciated when it is known that the rate of official ca-blegrams is $1.65 for each word, including address and signature. Great Saving Results.

A good deal of expert labor has been bestowed upon the department code with the result that some 25,000 sentences of frequent use in military correspondence have been embraced in the code book. The code has been devised with special reference to military necessities. In connection with certain classes of business a single word acknowledges the message and conveys to the sender the action taken thereon. Every Officer Nick-Named.

Nearly every officer in the army has a single code word assigned to him, and the same course is followed with

AMERICAN GRASS TWINE COMPANY

TRAINLOAD OF MANUFACTURED GOODS FOR DISTRIBUTION IN EASTERN STATES

The American Grass Twine Company Ships Trainload of Goods Manufactured by Them for Distribution in Eastern States.

Train consists of 40 freight cars, one display car and a boboose. The 40 freight cars carried approximately 1,200,000 pounds of Grass Carpet, Grass Carpet Lining and Grass Rugs, and the third section, consisting of 23 cars, moved from West Superior; the second section, consisting of 12 cars, from St. Paul; and the third section, consisting of 5 cars, from Oshkosh. All three sections moved from their respective points on the afternoon or evening of Nov. 15.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—Almost contemporaneously with the arrival in the United States of the party of Irish Nationalists, with John E. Redmond at their head, on a lecturing and campaign-fund-collecting tour, there has been a curious development here in Orlando, Fla., where a newspaper controversy between Mrs. Dickinson, the sister of Parnell, and Mr. John E. Redmond. Mr. Redmond is anxious to know why the money raised by public subscription in America to save the Parnell estate for the Parnell family was not applied to the purpose of the Irish Nationalist party, who became custodians of the fund.

Mr. Redmond's claim that the estate of Avondale was purchased for the family because of an option previously given by John Parnell to a Dublin tradesman who finally did buy the Avondale estate for the Parnell family, who says that this outside purchaser offered to surrender his rights to the property for a stipulated sum. Naturally, the Parnell family, who says that this outside purchaser offered to surrender his rights to the property for a stipulated sum.

Mr. Redmond, however, says Mrs. Dickinson has indicated she is not

FREE TO LADIES

A week's trial treatment of the old established and world-renowned

By mail on receipt of address or by calling at our Northwestern offices.

A three course positive cure for irregular menstruation, white leucorrhoea, inflammation of the ovaries, ulceration and falling of the womb, backache and all ailments arising from a disordered system, such as nervousness, dizziness, etc.

Fem Cura Drug Co., 91 E. 7th St., Room 1, St. Paul, Minn.

Fem Cura Drug Co., Northwestern Bldg., Hennepin Av., Room 211, Minneapolis, Minn.

Our Lady Agents make big money—write us now for territory.

SHE ATTACKS REDMOND

PARNELL'S SISTER ASKS IRISH LEADER UGLY QUESTIONS

Wants to Know Why He Failed to Buy Avondale With Certain Money—Insists She Has Several Times Asked for an Accounting, But Says She Failed to Get It.

Special Cable to The Globe. DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—Almost contemporaneously with the arrival in the United States of the party of Irish Nationalists, with John E. Redmond at their head, on a lecturing and campaign-fund-collecting tour, there has been a curious development here in Orlando, Fla., where a newspaper controversy between Mrs. Dickinson, the sister of Parnell, and Mr. John E. Redmond. Mr. Redmond is anxious to know why the money raised by public subscription in America to save the Parnell estate for the Parnell family was not applied to the purpose of the Irish Nationalist party, who became custodians of the fund.

Mr. Redmond's claim that the estate of Avondale was purchased for the family because of an option previously given by John Parnell to a Dublin tradesman who finally did buy the Avondale estate for the Parnell family, who says that this outside purchaser offered to surrender his rights to the property for a stipulated sum. Naturally, the Parnell family, who says that this outside purchaser offered to surrender his rights to the property for a stipulated sum.

Mr. Redmond, however, says Mrs. Dickinson has indicated she is not

AFTER FIFTY YEARS

MICHAEL KOOP AND WIFE REPEAT THEIR VOWS OF LONG AGO

UNIQUE CEREMONY AT ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH

Forty-One Descendants of Aged Couple Take Part in a Golden Wedding on the West Side—Six Grandchildren Are Users at the Marriage.

A unique service took place yesterday morning in St. Michael's Catholic church when Michael Koop and his wife, who were married fifty years ago, repeated the vows made half a century ago by them.

Fifty years ago they were married in a little town in Germany, where they had grown up together as playmates. For two years they stayed in the little town and then came to America to seek better fortune in Naperville, Ill. From there they went to Iowa and in 1881 they came to St. Paul, where they have lived ever since, only spending a few years away from here.

Procession Is Impressive. Yesterday, upon the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, they celebrated their golden wedding. The church was filled with spectators, most of them friends of the old people, and the procession was a very impressive one. Preceded by six of their grandchildren, three boys and three girls, Clara, Edna, Stella, Frank, Michael and William, Mr. and Mrs. Koop took their places within the chancel, where they pledged their true love.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of Nicholas Koop, on Robie street, to nearly fifty people, all members of the immediate family. Have Forty-One Descendants. Mr. and Mrs. Koop had thirteen children, six of whom are still living, and all of these with the exception of one daughter, who lives in Wisconsin, were present yesterday with their families. They are Nicholas Koop, T. H. Koop, Frank Koop, Mrs. G. E. McMillan, Mrs. Katie Cogswell and Mrs. William Prince, of Herbert, Wis. All but Mrs. Prince reside in St. Paul. There are twenty-six grandchildren in the family, and the great-grandchildren. Mrs. Koop is eighty years old and her husband is three years her junior.

HARRY C. HOPE MADE PRESIDENT OF CLUB

National Signaling Association Honors St. Paul Man by Electing Him Chief.

J. C. Hope, superintendent of telegraph of the Omaha, returned yesterday from Pittsburg, where he attended an annual meeting of the National Signaling club, of which he was elected president. The membership of this club is about 800 and includes persons who are connected with the construction, maintenance or operation of signals on railroads. The object of the association is the dissemination of knowledge concerning signaling appliances; and the members of the association, by reporting their experiences to others, help to improve and systematize the signaling practice.

All the large railroads of the United States and European countries have representatives in the association. Interest in the movement has increased on account of the great increase in the volume of traffic, necessitating added track facilities for train movements, which creates a greater demand for signals for the protection of the lives of the thousands who travel on the railroads.

A Billville Dilemma. "Fool like," said the rural citizen, "they took an' sent for one o' them city doctors, an' he give the disease sich a long name that the man not bein' able to afford a dictionary, never knowed what killed him, an' now they've got to place it on a stone for an installment plan."—Atlanta Constitution. Feminine Side of a Wager. "George bet me a pair of gloves on the election. Which way did you bet?" "I really don't know. I just know that I bet the gloves either way."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

New Life to Weak Men

Old Men Made Young Again—Weak Men Find Old-Time Strength and Power of Youth.

TRIAL PACKAGE MAILED FREE. To the men who have tried every known remedy to revive their waning power or lost manhood and have given up in despair, the following message comes as a most blessed promise. This new discovered by Dr. Lucius F. C. Garvin, the Democratic governor-elect of Rhode Island, was one that was widely known and he was put up for governor. He is a native of Tennessee, a graduate of Amherst, and an M. D. of Harvard Medical college. For twenty-six years he has taken an active interest in Rhode Island politics, and, although always a Democrat, he has been several times arrested for disturbing the peace. Dr. Garvin has just sixty. He is a veteran of the Civil war, but never talks of that great struggle. As a country practitioner, Dr. Garvin has laid up a considerable fortune.

Prinkhaus, thirty-two years old, of 1818 Hebert street, was fined. This only made him worse, it seemed. "Last night I was in the store alone when he entered. He demanded money. Because of his previous attempts I had placed a revolver in the money drawer, and as I walked toward the till he followed, clutching at my throat and shouldered the weapon and turned on him. "I can use that better than you can," he said, "and wrested it away from me. We struggled and the noise drew a crowd. He then pushed me aside, ran out of the door flourishing the weapon and ran up the street followed by the policemen, who shot after him once to halt him. They finally caught him." Miss Lindhorst says that she will prosecute her whilom suitor to protect her own life. Unacceptable. "Bags—Why didn't Totters, the slack-rope performer, get that job?" "Shaggs—Why, because he applied he was tight and they didn't want a tightrope walker."—Chicago News.

In Humanity's Name I Ask You to Tell Me a Sick One Who Needs Help.

No money is wanted. I ask simply a postal card stating which book to send. I will do all the rest, and accept all the risk, to see that your friend gets well.

I will even do this—I will mail the sick one an order—good at any drug store—for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds, it costs $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it.

I do that so that those who need help will accept it. I have what those sick ones must have to get well, and I want them to have it. I make my offer so fair that no sick one can neglect it.

I do just as I say, and trust the cured ones to be fair with me. I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on those terms, and 39 out of each 40 have paid gladly, because they were cured. I want not a penny otherwise.

My Restorative is my discovery, the result of my lifetime's work. I have personally tested it in thousands of cases as difficult as physicians ever meet. In my past experience I have so perfected it that it does not fail, save when a cause—like cancer—makes a cure impossible.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves. Common treatments merely doctor the organs, and the best results are but temporary. My treatment restores the nerve power which alone makes those organs act. It is like giving a weak engine more steam. Any weak vital organ does its duty when given the power to act, and there is no other way to make weak organs well.

No other remedy strengthens weak inside nerves, and for this reason there is no other treatment for chronic diseases which any man will offer on a plan like mine.

Please tell me who needs a remedy like that. Simply state which book is wanted, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 761, Racine, Wis. Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is sold by all druggists.

Book No. 1 on Dyspepsia. Book No. 2 on the Heart. Book No. 3 on the Kidneys. Book No. 4 for Women. Book No. 5 for Men (sealed). Book No. 6 on Rheumatism.

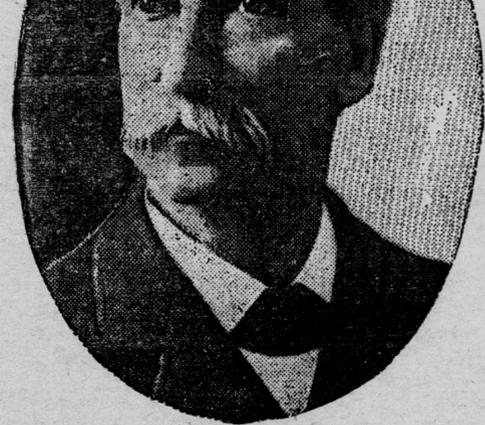

HER FORMER SUITOR CAME BACK TO ROB HER

St. Louis Girl Held Up in a Millinery Store by Man Who Had Proposed Marriage to Her.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 15.—An alleged attempt to rob the till in the millinery store of Miss Emma Lindhorst led to the arrest today of Joseph B.

some of it. Then he took to coming in the store on various occasions and asked for money. Several times he gave it to him rather than have a disturbance before the customers. He generally was intoxicated when he came in. A number of times he made threats to do me bodily harm. "Soon I began to hear discreditable and untrue reports that he circulated about me, such as that he had been engaged to marry, that he had furnished the money to place me in business and that he had helped us more than once. "About four months ago he raised a disturbance in the store and I had him arrested for disturbing my peace. He was fined. This only made him worse, it seemed. "Last night I was in the store alone when he entered. He demanded money. Because of his previous attempts I had placed a revolver in the money drawer, and as I walked toward the till he followed, clutching at my throat and shouldered the weapon and turned on him. "I can use that better than you can," he said, "and wrested it away from me. We struggled and the noise drew a crowd. He then pushed me aside, ran out of the door flourishing the weapon and ran up the street followed by the policemen, who shot after him once to halt him. They finally caught him." Miss Lindhorst says that she will prosecute her whilom suitor to protect her own life. Unacceptable. "Bags—Why didn't Totters, the slack-rope performer, get that job?" "Shaggs—Why, because he applied he was tight and they didn't want a tightrope walker."—Chicago News.

DR. LUCIUS F. C. GARVIN, THE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR-ELECT OF RHODE ISLAND.

DR. LUCIUS F. C. GARVIN, THE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR-ELECT OF RHODE ISLAND.

Advertisement for Dr. Shoop's Restorative, including a list of ailments treated and a testimonial from a woman.

WILL NOT PLAY SANTA CLAUS

War Department Decides Not to Carry Presents to Soldiers.

No special provision will be made this year by the war department to handle Christmas boxes for the troops stationed in the Philippines. Of Christmas packages sent for delivery during the holidays will be cared for and will reach their destination, but no "Christmas ship" will be equipped at San Francisco or New York. On one Christmas while the volunteers were in the Philippines a vessel was loaded with no less than 10,000 packages, many of the contents of which had to be replaced in stronger covering. This work and the work of shipping and delivering the goods was successfully carried out under a system devised by Gen. O. F. Long, then in charge of the army transport system at San Francisco.

SOLDIERS LIKE SAUERKRAUT.

War Department Supplies Them With Appetizers.

There is a great appetite for sauerkraut among the soldiers stationed in the Philippines. This is a comparatively new article of diet and seems to have been demanded since we have had troops in the Philippines, just as the desire for sauerkraut has been stated in recent years under the military conditions we have had to meet since we went to war with Spain. The subsistence department of the army has met these cravings in generous and practical measure. It has kept through its observant commissaries a watchful eye on the gastro-intestinal idiosyncrasies of the troopers who are away from home and has promptly supplied such widely different dietetic necessities by sauerkraut and candy.

BOYS IN BLUE TO SING.

Compilation of Army and Navy Songs to Be Published.

A compilation of songs of the army, navy and marine corps is in progress under the supervision of a committee of officers of the West Point army mess. Letters have been sent out to commanding and other officers of the three services requesting the contribution of such songs as may be regarded as distinctive applying to these branches. Copies of poems which may be set to an air have been solicited. The publication will be a serviceable one and ought to stimulate the interest which is taken in local music. Adjutant General Corbin, in his annual report, has recommended that more attention should be paid to vocal music, and he has suggested the advisability of each regiment having its song.

GET VALUABLE INFORMATION.

Volumes on New Possessions Add to War Department Library.

The war department library is now a very well-equipped institution, possessing volumes to the number of 45,000. Recent additions to the library have been made by the purchase of only, including besides strictly military publications, works of history, geography and administration and kindred subjects of importance to the war department and the army. Especial attention has been paid since the beginning of the Spanish war to the accumulation of works treating of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The official gazettes of Havana, Manila, Madrid and Porto Rico have been added in almost complete series for the past thirty years, and have proved most valuable adjuncts to the proper administration of American affairs in the islands to which they pertain.

DESIRE HORSELESS WAGONS.

Auto-Propelled Vehicles Wanted for Use in the Army.

The war department will continue its search for an auto-propelled vehicle suitable for military use. The difficulty so far encountered is that American ingenuity along this line of invention has been devoted to the design of carriages of the road type with a view to obtaining speed and there has been a neglect of the auto-truck for carrying heavy loads. There is a prospect that something in this direction will be achieved by the American manufacturer. There is no longer any question that the auto-propelled vehicle is a useful adjunct of the army in the field. The foreign services have accomplished a good deal more than this country with the automobile, but there is no reason to despair of American inven-

Little Girl Asleep Walks City Streets

Child Answered the Beckoning of a Beautiful Fairy That Had Appeared at Her Bedside.

CINCINNATI, Conn., Nov. 15.—The sight of a nine-year-old girl, in a trailing nightgown, walking on Seventh street toward Vine last evening caused several people in the vicinity of Wagner's drug store to think that they had seen a ghost—ghostlike the little one look as she moved along, her eyes wide open, but with a vacant stare in them that forced a feeling of the uncanny to invade the fancy. Pedestrians passed her by, some of them stopping to turn around and cast a glance of curiosity at the strange little visitor. The weather being warm, the little one did not suffer from cold, and so she kept her way from No. 12 East Seventh street until a lady, seeing more in the weird face than other casual passers-by, rushed across the sidewalk and swooped the child up into her arms.

It was Mrs. Kilsch, of McKimken avenue, that caught the child, and before the astonished people could understand what was being done, was kissing her, comforting her and telling her not to be scared. Mrs. Kilsch had detected that the child was walking the streets in her sleep, and had been fast asleep when she saw her. With the instincts of a mother she knew what terrors might seize the little one when awakened in such singular surroundings as a street full of people, all open-eyed with wonderment, and forestalled the reaction by grabbing her and foding her to her bosom. In less than a trice at least 100 people crowded about the woman who had so unceremoniously taken charge of the wandering child. In Wagner's drug store all the facts in the peculiar case were soon made known.

The little child was little Alma Rockwell, daughter of Lieut. Ed. Rockwell, of the Fifth district station. For several nights she had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Egan, at No. 12 East Seventh street, and last evening her aunt went out after the little one had been put to bed. Mrs. Egan had locked the door inside with a snap lock and the child had forced the lock back and walked through the door into the hallway on the second floor in her night clothes, and while still fast asleep had come down the stairs and was near the drug store before intercepted.

The child said that she had had a very beautiful dream and that a fairy told her to follow where she went.

Why Be Fat?

When There is a New Home Treatment That Quickly Reduces Weight to Normal—Without the Use of Medicine and is Absolutely Safe.

A TRIAL PACKAGE FREE BY MAIL.

Don't be too fat; don't puff and blow; don't endanger your life with a lot of excess fat; and furthermore, don't ruin your stomach with a lot of useless drugs and patent medicines. Send your name and address to Prof. F. J. Kellogg, 241 W. Main St., Battle Creek, Mich., and he will send you free a trial package of his remarkable treatment that will reduce your weight to normal. Do not be afraid of ill consequences; the treatment is perfectly safe, is natural and scientific and gives such a degree of comfort as to astonish you. It enables the lungs to expand naturally and you will feel a hundred times better the first day you try this wonderful home treatment. Send your name and address for a free trial package sent securely sealed in a plain wrapper with full directions how to use it, books and testimonials from hundreds of cured cases. It is an absolute fact. Send for the free trial package today. It will brighten the rest of your life.

Open Confession.

Judge Jackson and two or three friends were enjoying a little luncheon from the cares of life in the Gibson house the other evening, when Theodore Hallam came and took a seat at the table. The group was talking very earnestly about something, and after sitting down, Mr. Hallam said: "Gentlemen, is this a confidential conversation?" "No, indeed," was the answer. "Well, then, I don't care to hear it," Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Time of Trial. Brudder Simkins—Er man kah'n't know twell he's run inter dahk an' sto'my weather whar he's at, F. J. Kellogg, 241 W. Main St., Battle Creek, Mich. De' boy be a lot ob flies an' insects 'roun' a nig-gah wen he's settin' in de sunshine.—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.

Mr. Redmond's Statement. Mr. Redmond's statement to her that she was to be applied instead to the election in Dublin of a statue to Parnell, was, he said, evidently an explanation which does not explain. Her position here seems quite unsatisfactory. She says that when she wrote Mr. Redmond she was in a state of confusion and that she had been advised to do so by a friend. She had no intention of entering parliament by seeking the suffrages of the electors of the County Meath, in 1873. She is understood to have been deeply interested in his subsequent career and greatly grieved at his premature death. She now comes forward fearlessly as the champion of the cause of Parnell, and is an injustice to his post-obit rights—the diversion of the funds subscribed in America from their specific purpose, the preservation to his relatives of the ancient Irish seat where he, and they, and their ancestors, were born.