

BARGAIN BUYING JOYS

DELIRIOUS TIMES HAD BY WOMAN WHO SHOPS

Scenes at a Counter During a Special Sale—Women Mix and Don't Wait to be Introduced—The Englishman Who Came to Wed.

The man who said that women loved a bargain came very near telling the truth. Whoever believes it would have had his belief strengthened if he had been at one of the down-town shops the other morning when a silk sale had been advertised to begin at 9:30 sharp. By 9 o'clock a crowd of perhaps fifty women constantly being augmented, was standing about a bare table where at the hour mentioned the silks were to be piled. There were all kinds of women there, rich and poor, stout and thin, women who could touch the floor with their hands and other there who would break several bones should they have attempted it.

They all had an eager, intense gaze; there was no conversation, but a death-like silence pervaded the crowd something like there is at a funeral that is late. No woman would move an inch lest she lose her place and newcomers patiently took their stand on the outer rim of the crowd and watched. By the time the hour arrived the aisle was impassable, so packed was it with shoppers. Presently two men clerks appeared laden down with pieces of silk and their way through the women and threw them on the table whereupon every woman made a wild grab and got an end of a piece of silk as the bodies began to pull. The hitherto silent crowd was now exceedingly active and newcomers who tried to push their way through at this stage of the game were in imminent danger of having their clothes torn off.

No introductions were necessary, every one talked to every one else and each asked her neighbor if she thought this piece was as pretty as that piece. One woman would pull out a piece and find it was only a yard and a half, while another woman would find herself attached to a piece that would reach to seven corners.

They were buying Christmas presents and the remarks one heard were somewhat like this: "How do you think mother would look in this?" "Mamie can't wear pink." "No, don't buy that's too green." "I'm getting this for Maud." "Yes, that will do for Jessie."

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fall me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Reading, Mass.—$2000 for full size of above letter proving value cannot be produced.

the lady of the house was being married. The story ends right there, but it is whispered that on the way to the hotel he was heard to murmur: "Elast those Americans, don't you know, they're always in such a hurry!" Of course if he had only come in time the story would have ended differently.

The Christmas shopping has now begun furiously, and the delights of it are absorbing society almost completely. There are some persons, however, willing to admit that the giving of Christmas remembrances has been carried to such an extreme that it has become a sore tax and financial burden.

One St. Paul woman who is well supplied with this world's goods declares that her Christmas gifts cost her from $1,500 to $2,000, and her list, as may be imagined, is a long one. Not the rich giving to the rich, but this particular woman has a long list of poor with large families, and it is her delight to make the Christmas a merry one for the children. It is her pleasure to see the children's faces lit up at that day of days. Christmas is the time for good cheer and generous hearts, and St. Paul, according to the store people, is to have a merrier and more elaborate celebration than ever before.

For the girls there were pink velvet chrysanthemums, dainty work bags, hat pins, Japanese hair ornaments and Japanese fans, strings of pearls and wands, wound with pink and with a bunch of pink roses tied with ribbons of pink tulle. For the men there were bamboo canes, long clay Dutch pipes, toys, leather fobs and boutonniere of violets.

A unique idea, that of having the girls lead the figures, was carried out last night. During the first half of the programme Miss DeCoster and Miss Saunders led, and later Miss Finch and Miss Dean led the figures, some of which were new and very pretty. The chaperons, Mrs. DeCoster, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Judson, distributed the favors from little tables at one end of the hall. Dr. and Mrs. Archibald MacLearen, Mr. and Mrs. Wilder Merriam and Mr. and Mrs. John I. H. Field were also among the older guests.

Miss O'Shaughnessy, of New York; Miss Matter, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Brown, of Toledo, Ohio; Miss Dewing, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Miss Dillingham, of Texas, and Miss Field, of Elizabeth, N. J., were the out of town guests. The other dancers were Miss Lanpher, Miss Stickey, Miss Judson, Miss Ferguson, Miss Millard, the Misses Rogers, Miss Newport, the Misses Saunders, the Misses Finch, Miss Sloane, Miss Laura Furness, Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Katherine Abbott, Miss Grace Robbins, Miss Constans, Miss Marion Sanborn, Miss Marvin, Miss Stevenson, Miss Margaret Myers, Miss Gottlieb, Miss Louise Cochran, Miss Adelaide McConville, Miss Miriam

New York city to legislate against dogs. The board of aldermen was to consider an ordinance last week which would banish dogs from all buildings in which more than one family resided, and on the day of the meeting more than 300 elegantly dressed and very indignant women presented themselves. There has been so much trouble in New York over dogs in flats that this ordinance was directed toward the dog lovers beside were there to add their voices to the general clamor. The alderman who introduced the measure was named Goldwater. One woman, whose name was Niles, gave a very touching description of losing her dog and her joy at getting him back.

"Now I have him again, and I wouldn't part with him for all the Goldwaters, dogwatsers and sodeties in the world." The meeting finally degenerated into an uproar, with women shouting about their dogs, and several men who have suffered from dogs in apartment houses declaring there was no more reason for canines to be tolerated in flats than for horses and cows. This man was loudly hissed by the women, and the sentiment developed by women about dogs and the use of having them in the house very good one with his name and address inside in gold lettering. But do not send him perfumed handkerchief cases, or a thing that is padded and supposed to go round his neck when he is in evening dress, for he feels more or less obliged to wear it, and ten to one he doesn't like it.

SOCIAL.

The Cotillion club gave their first german last night in Runmaly's hall. Last year there was a similar club known as the Debutante's club, but at the end of the season it was disbanded. This year the club is larger and includes nearly all of last year's debutantes, as well as the buds of this season, besides several other girls, there being in all about thirty members of the club.

The decorations were very simple at last night's party, but the favors were particularly attractive. Some of these were made by the girls themselves and so were especially dainty, but all of them were original and appropriate.

PICTURE PUZZLE.

"Do you know the latest? Elsie is engaged to Dr. Smith. Here they come." Solution for yesterday's puzzle: One sheep is on the side of her left foot, one just above her head, and the third alongside of her right arm.

RINGEN CONCERT A SUCCESS.

It Netted the Schubert Club a Balance After Paying All Expenses.

Mrs. W. S. Briggs, president of the Schubert club, announced at yesterday's meeting of the students' section of the club, held in the Odeon, that the recital given Monday evening by Miss Ringen, of St. Louis, was a financial success, $175 having been realized from the sale of tickets. The expenses of the concert amounted to $150, so there remains in the treasury a balance from this concert.

A group of talented students gave yesterday's programme. Miss Eleanor Ware presented the current musical notes, touching upon the successes of Gabriowitzsch, the Russian pianist, who has recently returned to the country; and Kocian, the Bohemian violinist, who made his American debut recently in New York.

The vocalists on yesterday's programme were Miss Faith Martin, Miss Rose Schoch, Miss Jackson, Miss Richeson and Miss Marjorie Hall. Flute numbers were given by Miss Louella Snow, Miss Hattie Mounts, Miss Mabel Carmichael and Miss Lucille Larkin. Miss Larkin's interpretation of the prelude and Riquelme from the Hoberg suite by Greig was excellent. The closing number of the programme comprised two songs, "Summer Night" by Miss Gade; and "Ride of the Elves," Mendelssohn-Anderson sung by a choir of eight voices that included Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Brush, Miss McKown, Miss Jackson, Miss Richeson, Mrs. Tisdale, Miss Hackney and Miss Hall.

Following the programme yesterday the club held a housewarming in its new studio in the Odeon. Mrs. W. S. Briggs, Mrs. Denis Follett, Miss Elsie M. Shave, Mrs. Russell B. Dorr and other members of the reception and house committees of the club assisted in receiving.

Brown-Garlick.

Special to The Globe. WINONA, Minn., Dec. 3.—A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Garlick, when their daughter, Miss Maggie M. Garlick, became the bride of Charles M. Brown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. F. Kerfoot.

Mr. "Dooley" Will Wed.

"Mr. Dooley," a bridegroom-elect and a New Yorker—that's the news that has gone back to Archey road to astound "Mr. Hennessey and 'n' boys." It's a real romance and Miss Margaret Abbott, the bride-elect, is Mr. Dooley's boyhood sweetheart. She is living in New York with her mother and when he came back here for several months now, and the wedding, the date for which has not been announced, will take place in this city.

Mr. Dunne is already a New Yorker, residing in apartments at the Lorimer, No. 30 West Fifty-ninth street. Last Wednesday it became known that he had leased the three-story and basement house at No. 30 West Thirty-sixth street, and this was that led to the discovery of his romance.

Miss Abbott is an unusually pretty young woman, tall and of the blonde type. She is distinctly athletic and before she left Chicago she achieved local reputation as a skillful golf player. Her mother was well known in Chicago literary circles and Miss Abbott had won a name for herself as an illustrator and

WISDOM OF HAVING A FAD.

If you haven't a fad, acquire one. Fads are the charm of life. A fad may be anything; some people make a fad of their work; and better work would be done if more of us tried it; but if you get enough of your work in working hours, take up something else. The trouble with a great many young men who go the way they shouldn't go is that they have nothing to occupy their minds. When spare time comes it hangs heavily on their hands. The natural inclination is to be sceptical, and that leads to taking a drink. That in turn leads to more drinks, and by-and-by the crash comes. Take up something—golf, amateur photography, physical culture—anything that will arouse your enthusiasm and hold it. You won't know yourself in six months. It will get your mind out of the rut, and you will be broader, stronger and better for having a fad.
