Attorney J. C. Jensen Is Ordered to Make a Showing. Upon the application of Mrs. Theresa McNellis, executrix of the estate of her late husband, John McNellis, probate Judge Bazell yesterday cited Attorney J. C. Jensen to appear in court tomorrow morning and show cause why he should not make an accounting in the affairs of the estate left by John McNellis, which has been in the hands of Jensen since the death of Mr. McNellis.

Episcopalians Will Hold Daily Meetings in Business Center of City. Beginning tomorrow, which will be Ash Wednesday, Episcopal noonday Lenten meetings will be held at 93 East Sixth street every day till April 11. These services will be for the especial benefit of people who would find inconvenience in getting to services at any other hour of the day.

When the matter came up before Judge Bazell yesterday Jensen was unable to give a complete accounting, and the court ordered him to appear Wednesday morning, at the same time commanding him to bring his books and memoranda into court with him. Mr. Jensen is also interested in another matter which will come up before Judge Bazell in the probate court today. This case is the hearing in the final account of J. C. Jensen, as guardian of Herman Hochmuth, insane. The American Bonding & Trust company asked that the final account be filed that it might withdraw from the guardian's bond. The estate consisted of some $1,000 cash, and it is alleged that Mr. Jensen, as guardian, invested $3,500 of this money in a mortgage owned by himself without asking permission of the probate court. The mortgage, it is stated, was on his White Bear house, which had been deeded to his mother-in-law, she giving him back the mortgage. The balance of the money, $500, is said to have been invested in a similar manner. Jensen was named as guardian by Judge Willrich.

ARMY NEWS. The war department has sent notices to the governors of each state that it is prepared to supply them upon demand and according to their legal allowances with "riot cartridges." This is a new form of ammunition prepared by the experts of the ordnance bureau to enable officers of the law and soldiers to repel riots with the least possible loss of life to innocent spectators. The shell is like that of the regular shell used in the army rifle, with the important exception that instead of the long nickel-plated and steel-clad bullet two balls are placed in the mouth. The design was apparently to secure something of greater range than buckshot, yet not dangerous to persons at a distance. The cartridge is charged with about thirty-four grains of smokeless powder. The balls are made of a mixture of lead and tin in the proportion of sixteen to one, and are slightly coated with paraffine. The diameter of it is .303 inch, and the weight is forty-two grains. The service primer for smokeless powder is used. The cartridges have sufficient accuracy for effective work at 200 yards.

COL. W. E. DODGE IS A GREAT BEAR HUNTER. Episode of His Exciting Adventure With Bruin in White Mountains. Prominent among the pictures and paintings which adorn the walls of the residence of Dr. O. W. Archibald is one entitled "How Dodge Got the Bear," and while it is not of priceless value it is much admired by those who have viewed it and its owner refuses to part with it at any price.

Reproduction of a Snapshot Photograph Taken While Bruin Commanded the Situation.

Col. Dodge and his guest tarried a day or so in the White mountains for the purpose of bagging or shooting a couple of bears. The success which attended the bear hunting excursion will be best appreciated by the picture which Dr. Archibald secured of Col. Dodge, who for a time was the center of attraction. The snap shot taken by Dr. Archibald during one of the exciting moments of the trip has been enlarged and is exhibited by the doctor to prove the assertion that Col. Dodge is a bear hunter of renown.

Judges Decide in Favor of Those Contending That Clause Forbidding Dancing, Card Playing, Theater Going, Etc., Should Not Be Eliminated From Church Discipline. Resolved, That the following clause defining imprudent and unchristian conduct be eliminated from paragraph 248 of the discipline of the Methodist Episcopal church: Dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, circuses, dancing parties, or patronizing dancing schools.

Judge Kelly, in Weinholzer Disorderly House Case, Reprimands Attorney. In the criminal division of the district court yesterday afternoon Judge Kelly roundly scored Attorney Stan J. Donnelly for using language in his examination of witnesses in the Weinholzer disorderly house case which the court considered blasphemous.

Law Should Be Repealed. Some of the requirements of the clause in question he knew to be more honored in the breach than in the observance and he believed it would be best that the law be eliminated. Mr. Rissler read a written address upholding the rules and discipline of the church as wisely conceived and counselled strict adherence to them. The church, he said, should not relax in its requirements.

Opposed to Too Much Law. He thought the principle of all Protestant churches was to "make men rather than to get the custody of men's souls," and he believed that too much law would have a detrimental effect. Dr. Givler, pastor of the First Methodist church of Minneapolis, said he believed that, as an individual, was the only person who had the right to determine what practices would have a misleading tendency as affecting his own conduct.
